This single-barrel Kentucky rifle was first used about 1750 by early settlers in the vast uncharted country west of the Alleghenies. Muzzle loading, this weapon was fired when a piece of flint hit the frizzen and sparked, igniting powder in the pan.

TODAY, this Remington 410-gauge autoloading gun, weighing slightly over six pounds, is one of our most modern sporting guns. The peaceful use of firearms provides healthful, competitive sport. The thousands of marksmen who use our ranges each year have developed a high standard of self-discipline, keenness of eye and steadiness of hand necessary to successful rifle shooting.

TO GUIDE BOMBERS

Winnipeg Blue Bombers Coach Is on Spot When Season Opens

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Al Sherman, new head coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, is on the spot as he takes the helm for the 1954 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

Bombers won the western title last year after finishing third in the regular schedule, and their championship came despite club dissension that ended in the dismissal of coach George Trafton, who still had a year to go on his three-year contract.

Winnipeg fans will be looking for big things from Sherman, 31-year-old former backfield coach of the New York Giants of the National Football League. His club is reputed to have the best Canadian talent in the game, and Winnipeg has the best Grey Cup record—three wins—and league record—14 titles since 1921—in the West.

DEEP IN HOMEBREDS

For years, writers, announcers and fans have been quick to ballyhoo American imports, yet no Canadian team can operate or has operated successfully without good local players.

It is on its great depth of Canadian players that many "experts" base their predictions that Bombers will successfully defend the western crown won last year in a sensational playoff against Edmonton Eskimos. Bombers had first sidelined second-place Saskatchewan Roughriders in a two-game, total-point semi-final.

Sherman isn't too worried. He says:

"Sure Edmonton must be improved with the addition of such stars as Jackie Parker and Bernie Faloney. . . Calgary has a whirl in quarterback Eddie Lebaron. . . watch out for Regina (Saskatchewan Roughriders); Frankie Filchock is being awfully quiet. . . but we've got some good boys of our own."

He referred to such well-known former National Football League players as quarterback Jack Jacobs, tackles Dick Huffman and Buddy Tinsley, ends Nelli Armstrong and Bud Grant, centre John Brown and half Tom Casey.

TERRIFIC REPLACEMENTS

Behind those imports, Sherman has terrific replacements in both the line and backfield, despite the retirement of guard Jimmy McPherson and the transfer to Calgary of all-star guard Dean Bandiera and defensive end Normie Hill.

"We've still got two of the best defensive ends in the business in Tommy Lumsden and Tom Harpley," claims Sherman.

Other front-liner homebrew stalwarts include ends Keith Pearce and Ron Vacchery; guards Al Wiley, Steve Patrick, Winty Young; tackles Kas Vidrick, Roger Savoie, Don Manzur and Ed Norvack; and centres Gar Baxter and Buck Rogers.

Behind them are such repeaters as flying wing Bud Korchak, the league's leading scorer in 1953; fullback Lorne (Boom Boom) Benson, who set a western record and tied the Canadian record last year with six touchdowns in one game; Gerry Jarrard, the 19-year-old who threatens to become one of the best backs in the country; speedsters Tommy Ford, Nick Miller and Len Meitzer; and all-round backs Andy Sokol and Ernie Becker.

Holes were plugged in both the line and backfield by the addition of such imports as: quarterback Vince Drake of Fordham University; scatback Evan Slonac from Michigan State's famed pony backfield; Ray Feitrey, pass-catching and kicking end and back from New York Giants; speedy Jesse Thomas from Michigan State, who

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Branch Rickey, baseball's mastermaker of pennant teams, took command of the National league's last-place Pittsburgh Pirates in 1950 by choice —not by mishap or circumstances.

"I could have gone elsewhere with the same financial inducements and to a club of a higher rating," comments Rickey. (He draws $100,000 a year with the Pirates) "But I believed the Pittsburgh club had the nucleus of a good team."

Rickey left Brooklyn in what he calls a "poor but solvent" state. He sold his 25 per cent interest in the Dodgers for $1,025,000.

Ralph Kiner, National league home-run king, was with Pirates. So were Wally Westlake, Murry Dickson, Bob Chesnes, Danny O'Connell, Gus Bell, Bill Macdonald, Paul Pettit and others.

Sherman says could be a "real sleeper" in this league; and linebashers Floyd Huggins from Pincher Creek and Byron Townsend from Texas.

In 1952, the promising Macdonald and several others were drafted into the army. Chesnes came up with a sore arm—so did Pettit. Pirates' $100,000 bonus baby, Pierro almost died of encephalitis.

"My disillusionment in the spring of 1953," recalls Rickey, "was complete. . . . I had an ownership in Pittsburgh that urged me to produce a winner as quickly as possible and regardless of the cost."

He said in his first year he spent $496,000. He worked fast "and with my very best judgment" following the recommendations of scouts whose opinions he regarded highly.

"It is very true I never before had the rapid loss of great young stars such as I have had in Pittsburgh," he said. It is unusual, permanently to lose the prospective abilities of pitchers like Scott Kenny, Bob Chesnes, Bill Pierro, Bill Macdonald and the great boy who might have been the greatest, Pettit.

"I made the Kiner deal thinking at the time that first baseman Preston Ward was indeed worth all of the players Kgave the Chicago Cubs, plus all the players I got in return and also cash to boot. But club was incidental in the deal. Ward was the man I wanted and Ward has been a disappointment."

Refresher Course for Busy People

Said the gal with the lofty I. Q.
"I commend Coca-Cola to you—
When you're feeling the pressure,
It's such a refresher
And a bit of quick energy, too!"

Yes, ice-cold Coke has a wonderful way of giving you satisfying refreshment—renewing your energy for busy hours ahead. And Coke has as few calories as half an average, juicy grapefruit. Have a Coke.

Four generations have made Coca-Cola by far the most asked-for soft drink in the world.

Major Leagues Leaders Jog Along At Same Old Pace; Brooks Edge Closer

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

According to the sports tub thumpers around the Viaduct Ontario Baseball League circuit the semi-final playoffs will see the top team clash with the third and the second with the fourth. Betas' officials, as has been quoted more than once in this column, were given to believe the series would be played by the first and fourth teams and second and thirders.

However, Oshawa's Campbell comes up with the statement that during a conversation with the league secretary he was informed there is a record in the loop minute book, (God, men, they have one), to the effect that the first and third teams will meet and the second and fourth.

Campbell comes up with some wishful thinking in a hope that Hoskings finish third with Belleville second and the Petes fourth. "Then," he says, "the final series might easily prove to be a 'Central Ontario' affair."

Then he adds mysteriously: "That would annoy somebody greatly—in fact we think there will be a great big argument when playoff time rolls around—just because of that possibility."

Reading between those lines, and knowing the love the Oshawans have for the Toronto entente in the loop after they spearheaded the move to ban American imports, it would seem that Mr. Campbell takes it for granted the Transporters would knock off the Hoskings club in the semi-finals and that even Belleville would be there without a representative since it appears the Caterers will be eliminated. Neither can we imagine Fal Bunny, he of the Morgansen clan, going into raptures over such a possibility.

However, as has often been proven there's many a slip twixt the baseball cup and the lip, and has been mentioned so often the baseball world over, the game is not over until the last batter is out.

The Oshawa Transporters have compiled a splendid record in schedule play, but when playoff time comes, it is just so much water over the bridge. It is a brand new ball game, and records go by the board. The playoffs will bring out the "chips down" teams and that is what counts.

The Petes, meanwhile, are battling for that fourth spot. They, however, have a better chance to cop a playoff berth than do the second-place Betas. Oshawa's Betas still have three games to play while the Oaks finish the schedule at home Saturday night with the Batas. The Petes go to Oshawa tonight for a fray with the Transporters and they play both Toronto teams. The Oaks are a mere half-game in front of Joe Lowery's Liftlockers, but the Petes can't afford to take any chances. He's do or die for them from here in.

Rumor has it and quite likely it is what Campbell hints at with his prediction of a big argument regarding the playoffs, that the Toronto clubs, Hoskings and Caterers, will demand a six-team playoff, 1-6, 2-5 and 3-4. That should get a reception from the other four clubs that would make Akhtrik look like the Florida Everglades.

If our memory is correct the clubs were given to understand at a pre-season confab that four teams would participate in the playoffs. However, while the suggestion will precipitate some red-hot argument, if and when it is presented, the "middle clubs" would vote against it, in this department's opinion.

Meanwhile negotiations are going on between the Batas and Hoskings regarding the playing of their scheduled game. Hoskings were asked to come here tonight, but they balked at the announcement. Stronger things have happened.

Manager Carson announced today that the Batas will hold a practice at the Exhibition Park tonight starting at 6.30. All players are requested to be on hand.

CRYSTAL BEACH REGATTA

There will be nautical high jinx at Bill Hawthorne's Crystal Beach out Madoc way come Sunday, August 15, when the cream of the district's outboards will vie for honor, glory and prizes. The regatta, approved by the Canadian Bottling Federation has already attracted some seventy entries in the five fastest classes extant, and there should be some thrilling moments for lovers of the nautical putt-putts. The course out thataway is said to be one of the finest in the district and with the Oshawa Frontier Club in charge of operations, the regatta should easily be one of the best staged in the district. Mine host Hawthorne has everything in readiness and if the right weather prevails there will be a thrill, chill and perhaps, a spill a minute for the speedboat faithful.

HOSKINGS HERE ON THE "WEEK-END"

It was announced late yesterday that the Toronto Hoskings will play their last scheduled game of the Viaduct League with the Batas at Batawa on that "week-end day," starting at three p.m.

The Batas, as was said before go to Oakville Saturday night and they come right back the next day with the Hoskings clash. The Batawa diamond has been readied, thanks to the efforts of Art Duncan and a group of Batawa stalwarts, and the grounds will be in first class condition for the game.

Incidentally, the Batas took over second place in the league standing when the Toronto Caterers edged Hoskings 5-4 the other night for their first win over their intra-city rivals this season. The defeat gives Hoskings a record of 14-13 for a percentage of .514, while the Batas have 15-13 for .536. Batas can clinch second spot with wins over Hoskings and Oakville.

COULD BE!

The Mighty Ursus, who tackles the mat sensation, Argentine Rocco in Toronto tonight, may be softened up for his tag-team fray with Paul Baillargeon and Ray Villmer here Friday night, but his corpulent pal, George "The Zebra" Bollas, will more than make up for any lapses on his part. The Paul-Ray combo is one of the best team efforts seen here yet, but they will have tough nuts to crack in Urey and Zebby. Then there's Vern Taffy and Luther Lindsay, also Tiger Tasker and Bob Jackson to get things off to a lively start.

Indians, Yankees, Chisox Win, 'Bums' Grab Nod from Phils; Trucks Scores 17th Victory

The Sox rallied to gain in the pennant race since Cleveland and the Yankees also won. The Indians edged Detroit 2-0, New York beat Philadelphia 3-1 and Boston pounded Washington 10-1 in an afternoon game, losing to the Senators at night 5-4.

TRIBE STILL AHEAD

Cleveland leads the Yankees by three games and the White Sox by seven.

In the National League the Brooklyn Dodgers clipped the idle New York Giants' lead to 3½ games with a 3-2 squeaker over Philadelphia. Third-place Milwaukee moved within seven games by shading St. Louis 6-5 in a game shortened to seven innings by rain. Cincinnati hit five home runs in beating Chicago 11-3.

Yogi Berra and Joe Collins hit home runs and the Yankees banged out three more walks by Philadelphia rookie Johnny Gray.

Both of Cleveland's runs against Detroit were unearned. The Tiger infield contributed two errors and the Indians scored without a hit in the second inning. Mike Garcia pitched a four-hitter for his 14th victory.

WILLIAMS TIES MIZE

Ted Williams hit a pair of two-run homers, his 21st and 22nd of the season, in Boston's daylight triumph. His career total now is 359, good for a tie for sixth with Johnny Mize on the all-time list of home run sluggers.

Duke Snider scored two runs and drove in three Dodger runs in Brooklyn's triumph at Philadelphia. He hit his 28th homer with the bases empty in the fourth as the Dodgers came from two runs behind.

A double by Danny O'Connell and a single by Joe Adcock in the seventh inning provided the winning margin for Milwaukee in an unfair battle. Two runs came on Eddie Mathews' 32nd homer.

In the home run romp at Cincinnati Ted Kluszewski and Jim Greengrass each hit two out of the park and Ed Bailey hit one.

Wings Defeat Buffalo 3-2; Leafs Rained Out

(By The Associated Press)

Memo Luna, a supposedly sore-armed pitcher from St. Louis Cardinals obtained from San Diego in a $100,000 deal last year, still is doing all right with Rochester Red Wings.

Memo, who was farmed to the Wings by the parent St. Louis club, racked up his eighth victory Wednesday night with a neat six-hit, 3-2 victory over the Bisons at Buffalo. He issued only one walk as the Wings closed to within two games of the leading Toronto Maple Leafs.

Toronto's game at Syracuse, and the Havana at Montreal tilt, were postponed because of rain.

In the battle of the basement, Richmond Virginians and Ottawa Athletics split a double-header at Ottawa. The Athletics took the opener 4-3 as Leroy Wheat pitched a three-hitter and Bill Stewart slammed two homers for Ottawa. Tom Fine scattered nine hits as Richmond took the nightcap 11-3. Rochester moved a twice in the second inning as Bison starter Hugh Pizarro issue errors and three wild pitches. Dick Gernert hit a homer and single to drive in both Buffalo runs.

London Paper Suggests Probe Into Marathon

LONDON (CP) — The Star said Wednesday in its sports gossip column that there are "calls" to be calls for a full enquiry into the Empire Games marathon at the next meeting of the general committee of the England Amateur Athletic Association.

"For some time there has been dissatisfaction in the usual sundial circles because the care of marathon runners has not been given by a special team manager," said the newspaper, referring to the Jim Peters accident in Vancouver in which the English marathoner tried vainly to complete the course despite severe exhaustion.

Added the Star:

"With a saline drink just before he reeled into the stadium, Peters might at least have walked the last lap and still have shattered the record."

Two lessons learned, said the newspaper, are that all future teams must have an honorary marathon manager and that England must use her influence at the International Amateur Athletic Federation congress in Bern, Switzerland, later, this month "to enlarge the scope of this is a marathon run at high noon."

MAKING 'EM SAFE

TORONTO (CP) — Boisterous college stud its won't have a chance to knock down any goal posts at the Senior Intercollegiate Football Union games here this season. The wooden goal posts at Varsity Stadium are being replaced by steel posts imbedded in cement. They will be padded to prevent player injuries.

Moore Retains Crown With Spectacular 'Call-Shot' KO Over Hard-Punching Johnson

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—A spectacular "call-shot" technical knockout over able Harold Johnson in the 14th round clicked tonight for heavyweight champion Archie Moore's great record today.

Now the 37-year-old Moore marvel will seek to fatten his battering total of 23 title KO's in Omaha against either Joey Maxim or Jimmy Bivins.

Maxim, beaten three out of three by the magnificent Moore, appears more likely to get the payday. His wily manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns will meet something today with Charley Johnston, Moore's manager, and members of the Omaha commission. Details will be talk-turkey.

Moore was ready when Johnston told him to go out and "get" Johnson in the 14th.

HE DID IT

"I'll knock him out in this round," Johnston said Moore calmly told him. He did, in just 26 seconds.

The crouching champion tore at Johnson, staggered him with a right to the jaw and then rained blows on his sagging rival. Johnson fell all the way back in his corner.

The Philadelphia Negro clambered up at six but his legs were rubbery. Then the aroused champion arose and struck down with both hands. As Johnson started to sag against the ropes, Referee Frank Sterger stepped in and stopped the slaughter.

Although Moore was trailing going into the 14th—two of the three officials had him ahead by the 175-pound ruler said he had no doubts about the outcome.

"I had to get him," said Archie. "He started to tire in the eighth. So, I got a little fire back with that knockdown (in the 10th) but in the 14th I was hitting him and knew I'd catch him in the 14th."

Johnson, who had piled up points with his superb counter-punching against the ever-swinging champion, caught Moore in the 10th as Archie was charging in. He clipped Moore on the chin and Moore went down for the first time in five fights with Johnson.

Moore bounced up at three but Goldstein, erring on the eight-count side, continued counting until he had rung at six.

The best drew $37,807 and grossed $94,694. Moore supposedly got 40 per cent and Johnson 30 but it was believed that the champion got Johnson's share of the $50,000 TV money. He told Archie collected about $27,000 and Johnson about $8,000 under this deal.

Yank Golfers Edge Foreigners

CHICAGO, (AP) —In a scrap that went down to the final match, the Americans edged the foreign team, 7 1-2 points to 5 1-2 in the first international matches for Tom O'Shaughnessy Wednesday.

Thanks to a 3-1 lead in Tuesday's opening alternate-ball team play, the eight Americans squeezed to victory after taking only two of Wednesday's eight individual matches.

Three forefathers, British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia, Antonio Cerda of Argentina and Mario Gonzalez of Brazil won their matches Wednesday. Three other matches were halved.

Lloyd Mangrum, ace at the host Tam O'Shanter Club, and Gene Littler, who fired a 5-under-par 66 for the day's best round, turned in the two American victories.

Enter Junior Lacrosse Finals

TORONTO (CP) — Newmarket and Long Branch will meet in Ontario Lacrosse Association junior finals, the OLA announced Wednesday night. First game in the best-of-seven round will be in Newmarket Saturday night.

In semi-final games Wednesday night, Newmarket defeated Brampton 6-5 in Brampton while Long Branch beat St. Catherines 10-9 in Long Branch. Newmarket and Long Branch each won their best-of-five semi-final series 3-1.

Crack Amateurs Open Play For Americas Cup

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Eighteen crack amateur golfers from the United States, Canada and Mexico tackled the short but hazardous London Hunt Club course today in the first day's play for the Americas Cup.

The two-day international team matches between the three countries opened 10 days of golf for the event's course at C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, Canada's golfer of the 1953 Canada Cup, and Charlie Coe, ever to win the U.S. Amateur.

Somerville opened the match with the 6,400-yard par-70 layout in the annual Willingdon Cup interprovincial tournament and the Canadian junior championship. Went went 185 players set out in quest of the Canadian Amateur crown with defending champion, Richard Chapman of Victoria Golf Club, Vancouver, in the field.

Coe, the individual-play Saturday in the Willingdon and junior, it will be match competition all the way.

SIXSOME MATCHES

Today the three international teams, using six men a side, Canada, United States and Mexico in "some" matches with two men from each country in each match playing alternate strokes. Friday they play six 36-hole three-ball matches, two men from each team in each match.

The U.S. team, a lineup of its leading amateurs, was pre-tournament favorite to retain the trophy it won from Canada in 1953 and when the competition was inaugurated in 1949. Matches are played every two years.

Harvey Ward, Jr., of San Francisco, 1954 British Amateur champion, teed up Wednesday morning in shirtsleeves. But in chilly autumn-like weather, with a brisk wind whistling down the course, Billy Joe Patton, the sensational player from Morganton, N.C., was wearing a heavy sweater.

Athletics Get Dinners, Gifts

OTTAWA (CP) — Sam Suplizio, Ottawa Athletics' centre-fielder, may have less trouble catching long flies from now on. Baseball fans gave him a wooden Wednesday, one of the foot, not motor, kind.

George MacDonald, general manager of the International League team, got a barrel complete with suspenders, presumably in case the club finishes the season in the red and he loses his shirt.

It was "Player Appreciation Night" and Ottawa merchants showed a generous sense of humor between games in the Athletics' doubleheader with Richmond Virginians.

Each player also received a chest of silverware and a blue blazer bearing the team crest. One restaurant donated 36 steak dinners and another 24 spaghetti.

Terriers Whip Elgins 10-2; Panthers Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Senior Intercounty Baseball League teams might have better luck if they sent their players to training quarters. It worked for one of Galt Terriers' players, Bill Richardson, a highly-rated pitcher for the Terriers, couldn't win a game at the start of the season. But Wednesday he showed an ism. Then he left for the United States Army for several weeks. Since coming back to the Terriers he has been setting quite a pace. He's posted three consecutive victories—two of them shutouts—against one tossed which defeated him before he left for the army.

ELGINS BEATEN

Wednesday night, he held St. Thomas Elgins to two hits on their own field to lead the Terriers to a 10-2 victory. The victory was the 10th in 12 games, increased the league lead of the Terriers to four games and left Elgins in fifth. It was the sixth consecutive loss for St. Thomas.

The only other night's only other game London Majors defeated Kitchener Panthers 5-3 to London to strengthen their hold on third place.

Terriers' hitting power was supplied by Joe Parise. The first baseman got three hits in four at bats, including a double and two runs batted in. Right-fielder Jack Steele added three tallies and got the only Terrier home run.

HITTING SHOW

Batsmates Bob Deakin and right-fielder Joe Bechard, both of the Majors, stole the hitting show in Wednesday's 10-3 win over Hank Borowy in 1942. Spec Shea (right) was made in '47 if he hadn't come up with a sore arm and Whitey Ford might have been under 20 if he had left with the club all season. But these are "might have been" and Grim's feat is an accomplished fact. With 42 more games to go, Mr. 20-or-out right-hander might even hit the 30 mark.

Marlene Comes Up With 3-2 Victory Mud-Puddle Tourney in 3rd Round,

By GREN TMARTIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRIGHTWOOD, N.S. (CP)—Five Canadians and three Americans set off today in the third round of a Canadian open golf championship that will end up to the one who can shoot best from a mud puddle.

They've been shooting from them, over them and into them since Tuesday when the 32 championship qualifiers drove off the first tee into the haze of a chill Atlantic mist and rain. Only eight of the 16 matches Tuesday failed to go the limit and the game players all went the distance Wednesday over fairways dotted with pools of water and so sodden that the 300-yard drives didn't bounce an inch.

The weatherman promised more rain for today when little Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., comes up against hard-driving Rae Milligan of Jersey, Ont., in the third round of play.

Mary Of Kitchener, Ont., who tied Marlene with an 18-hole 78 in Monday's qualifying round, meets Victoria Jr. Junior Shirley Fry, Miss Fry engineered the biggest upset of the tournament when she eliminated veteran Mrs. C. F. Spalding of Greenwich, Conn., 4 and 3, Wednesday.

Barbara Brunning of Armonk, N.Y., struggles with Grace Lencsyk of Newington, Conn., in a third match. Miss Lencsyk posts one of the greatest threats to Marlene's hopes of carrying begin the Open title in addition to the Ross crown she won last week. The American is a two-time Open winner.

The fourth match today will see Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md., go off against Ruth Wilson of Vancouver in a contest that should go to the American. Mrs. Glick finished only one stroke off Marlene and Mary Gay in the qualifying round. The field will have been whittled down to four at the end of play today.

Marlene advanced Wednesday with a neat 5 and 3 victory over Roma Shendorf of Scarborough, Ont.; Miss Gay defeated Mrs. J. H. McIntyre, Trenton, Ont., on the 19th hole; Mrs. Glick eliminated Anne Sharp, Fonthill, Ont., 4 and 3, and Miss Lencsyk downed Norma Grant of Fort Credit, Ont 7 and 5.

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob the bartender is New York Yankees' candidate for rookie of the year honors in the American League. They call Bob Grim the barkeeper because his family runs a tavern in Brooklyn and he has the splodge during the off season.

When Grim beat the Philadelphia Athletics Tuesday night, he became the first Yankee rookie to win 15 games since Hank Borowy in 1942. Spec Shea (right) was made in '47 if he hadn't come up with a sore arm and Whitey Ford might have been under 20 if he had left with the club all season. But these are "might have been" and Grim's feat is an accomplished fact. With 42 more games to go, Mr. 20-or-out right-hander might even hit the 30 mark.

Group Will Pay $495,000 For Race Horse

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — Andrew J. Crevolin disclosed a proposal Wednesday to syndicate his thoroughbred race horse, Imbros, to a Kentucky group which he said will pay him $495,000.

Crevolin, whose racing stable is the leading money winner in the United States this year, said the Kentucky breeders, headed by Calder and Keeneland Builder Hugh Quirk, owners of Hurstland Farm, have 60 days under their option to complete their syndicate.

The syndicate will consist of 30 shares, at $16,500 each.

Imbros, who holds the world record for seven furlongs, is a son of Polynesian.

Want Import Quota Raised

KITCHENER (CP)—Sarnia Imperials want the import quota in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union raised from four to six players.

Officials of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen said Wednesday they had been asked by Red Wilson, coach of the Imperials, if the Dutchmen would support the proposed increase of United States players. The Kitchener-Waterloo club officials don't appear to be too much in favor of such a move.

Toronto Balmy Beach probably will also oppose the move. Beaches had asked for a reduction from the four U.S. players now permitted.

Soccer Results

In the first game of the home-and-home, goals to count series for the Charity Cup played last night, Northern Electric downed 4-0 win over Batawa.

Alouettes Corkscrew BC Lions' Tail With 22-0 Win Before Record Crowd

Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Football, major-league style, returned to British Columbia Wednesday night with a record turnout of fans and Alouettes.

Lions, making their gridiron debut, absorbed a decisive defeat on the field but scored a smashing success at the box office. The 15,371 fans who paid their way into Empire Stadium for the pre-season exhibition game set a record high for western Canada football.

Besides a game that provided plenty of thrills and excitement despite the one-sided score, the fans were entertained by six bands, including four from Washington state, in one of the classiest half-time displays ever witnessed on a Canadian gridiron.

WON AS THEY PLEASED

Alouettes entered the game 100-1 favorites over the babes of Canadian football and won as they pleased.

The British Columbians showed their fans, who stayed glued to their seats until the final gun, flashes of offensive brilliance and a powerful line. But their inexperience showed up in fumbling on key plays and a woeful lack of pass defence.

Etcheverry was a standout for Alouettes, who move on to Calgary for a game with Calgary Stampeders Friday night. They complete their western tour at Regina Monday.

The Montreal signal caller tossed a touchdown pass to rangy end Hal Patterson for Als' first touchdown in the opening period and his aerial artistry set the stage for the two that followed in the second half. Halfback Jimmy Johnson clipped over from the one yard line in the second period and Alec Webster scampered 10 yards for the final mad.

Jack Parker added all three touchdowns and added a third-quarter field goal for good point-scoring came in the fourth when Tex Coulter's booming punt from the centre field stirg went far behind the Vancouver goal line and Lions' Doug Kiela was tackled.

Best for Lions were former New York Giant Arnie Weinmeister, who repeatedly broke through from his tackle position and halfbacks Jerry Fogal and Jack Hill.

Alouettes showed their mastery in the first five minutes as they marched 70 yards on 16 plays for their first major. The final three plays were passes by Etcheverry, to Patterson, Red O'Quinn and

Large Entry In Bowls Tourney Doubles Event

TORONTO (CP) — Semi-finals and finals will be played today in the doubles competition of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association tournament.

Entries from Ontario and eight states numbered 126 for the pairs event. States represented are Ohio, New York, Michigan, Florida, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Among the bowlers competing is 85-year-old Frank Raney of Toronto Boulevard. Mr. Raney has been bowling for 52 years, and is adept at curling as well as lawn bowls. He and his partner, W. Ball, were eliminated in the third round by last year's Parkes Pen Trophy winners, C. N. Sedgewick and H. Bloxham of West Toronto.

E. Matthews, from Wilshrow Park, Toronto, last year's winner of the Townsend-Clark Trophy, is for an all-star trip with W. Batterbury of that club.

FORMER WINNERS ENTER

Archie Mayo, last year's Birks Trophy winner, has entered with W. Holland, both of Withrow Park, Toronto, in the Essenhigh-Clark run for the Rennie Trophy, N. Salkeld of Caledonia, will not enter. Matches are being played on five city greens, due to the large field of entries. Hosts for the doubles are Victoria, Rusholme, New Beach, Boulevard and High Park.

All pre-final competitions for the Essenhigh-Clark trophy are 16-end games. Finals will be 18 ends. Parker Pen and Birks games will be 12 ends, with the exception of the 14-end finals.

Pt. Anne Hands Northern 2nd Defeat, Scores Four in Seventh to Win 4-3

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Overcoming a 3-0 deficit with a seventh inning rally highlighted by Roger Mallory's two-run single, the Point Anne Cementmen handed Northern Electric's Chatham nine loss to take a two-games straight-hold in the best of seven O.A.S.A. series. The game was played in a drizzling rain at the Alemite Field last evening and the fifth game is scheduled to hook up in the third fixtures at Point Anne Friday night.

Northern got off to a fast in the initial frame and added a pair in the third. They looked like a comfortable margin as the Pointers went down without much trouble until the third seventh. The Pointers clotched all their runs in this inning.

Jake Wade opened the rally with a walk and Sero popped out. Bob Strahan singled to right field to left-field and Leo Goyer, pinch hitting for the pitcher made the second out with runners on first and second. Pat Maracle took matters into his own hands at this point with a sharp single scoring one and putting Strahan on third with Jackie Wardhaugh also singling for a 3-2 score. Doug Hull drew a walk and it stepped Mallory. He came through in the clutch with a hard single through the infield with Maracle and Wardhaugh both crossing the plate to put Ox-Pointers ahead to stay. Tom Green came on to put out the fire, getting Green on a fly ball to centre.

Pat Maracle went the distance for another victory as he set the Northern lads down with four hits and only one single after the third inning. He whiffed four while giving up three walks and was never in trouble during the last six innings, not allowing more than one runner an inning.

Don Boyle hurled excellent ball for the first four frames as he got the first ten batters he faced before waiting a man on following a hit. He took the loss while giving up all four runs off seven hits. Boyle fanned one and retired four. Carson gave up one hit in 2 1-3 innings, getting two on strikes and walking two.

Soules led off with a free pass for Northern in the first and after an error and two sacrifices, Vern Goyer scored a single to put one run. An error and John Batchelor's single preceded Goyer's second appearance at the plate and a sacrifice "bunbo" lined a double off the fence to drive in the other two Northern tallies. Doug Soules played an excellent defensive game as centrefield for Northern while Jake Wade's somersault catch off the back of Don Boyle was the best play of the night.

Roger Mallory led the Point Anne hitters with two singles while the other six were divided among Wardhaugh, Hull, Wade, Sero, Bob Strahan and Maracle. Vern Goyer with his double and single paced Northern while Batchelor and Sousins also singled.

The lineup:

Point Anne: J. Wardhaugh, D. Hull, R. Mallory, J. Green, J. Wade, M. Sero, Bob Strahan, Bill Strahan, Goyer, P. Maracle.

Northern Electric: D. Soules, V. Goyer, T. Green, J. Batchelor, V. Goyer, D. Locke, E. Cousins, D. Whiting, H. De Ruhle, D. Boyle, L. Carson.

Line score

Point Anne ... 000 000 400— 4 8 0
N. Electric ... 102 000 000—3 4 0

Maracle and Green. Boyle, Carson (7) and Young.

CONTOURS WRONG

OXFORD, England (CP)—R.W. Howard, master of St. Peter's Hall, Oxford University told a women's convention: "Few things make me so sick as to see men dressed in a long boat trying to row in an eight like men. The contours are all wrong."

COLDWELL BRITAIN BOUND

MONTREAL (CP)—CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell left Tuesday aboard the Empress of Scotland for Britain with plans to get a first-hand report on conditions in China and the Far East from British Labor Leader Clement Attlee when Mr. Attlee returns from Red China.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

It matters not how complicated is your method of determining the value in your bridge hand. What you try to tell partner is the number of tricks you can take. Also the kind of cards, if possible.

An opening one bidder shows at least five tricks. An immediate one-jump response from partner shows what? The jump signals enough to help make game. The immediate one-jump signals two sure tricks.

Thus, if the immediate one-jump is an assist in a suit which it is a guarantee of six tricks; in a major, five tricks. In either case it is also a promise of at least two aces.

If immediate one-jump response is taken to a new suit it is always a guarantee of six tricks. Even if such response is a major in reply to a different major; as from one heart to two spades.

Why is this so? Because the trump suit has not yet been agreed upon. Consequently, guarantee is made that the tricks are enough to make game in anything. Even if it ends in a minor suit.

SOUTH	NORTH
♠A Q 7 5 2	♠2 3
♥A 9	♥K 8 5
♦7 2	♦K 7 5
♣A K 10 4	♣9 8 7

North has a heart suit that is biddable. He has a count of five tricks. Two sure tricks are among them. But North's response is a non-jump takeout to two hearts. Why?

Trumps are not yet decided. True, each partner has mentioned his own major suit. But both trumps have not yet been decided on as agreeable. Until then a jumper says he sees 11 tricks.

It is not unlikely that north is confident a game will make in some suit or no-trump. And a jump is a signal for showing enough for a game. Then why should he wish one for him to jump to three hearts?

His immediate jump takeout would promise six tricks. He would know it meant only five. His partner would not; and go to slam.

You may as well tell the truth. It goes farther.

SPORT IN BRIEF

HOPE FOR RECORD

WESTBURY, N.Y. (CP) — The harness racing fraternity won't be surprised if a world record goes to the boards tonight when nine speedy pacers tangle in the $35,000 Roosevelt International's newest way.

Heading the list as the 2-to-1 favorite is Philip Scott, second in a photo last year to Chuck Volo, in a thrilling match race clocked off the current world standard of 1.59.3 set by Adios at Hialeah, Nassau.

Another certain to get heavy parimutuel support is Canadian-owned Prince Adios, winner of the $25,000 National Pacing Derby at Roosevelt in July. Clint Hodgins trains Prince Adios for owner Grant Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont.

NAME CUP PLAYERS

BRIGHTWOOD, N.S. (CP)—The Canadian team that will meet the British Curtis Cup squad in an international match later this month will be announced next Wednesday by captain Ada Mac-Kenzie of Toronto.

Miss MacKenzie Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., 1954 Close champion; Miss Fay Kitchener, Ont.; Dorothy Herbertson of Victoria, Anne Sharp of Fonthill, Ontario and Marlene Stewart Streit, Jane McCarter of Toronto Lambton, Noreen Laing of Port Credit, Ont., Mrs. J. K. A. Brown of Winnipeg and Ruth Wilson of Vancouver.

COOKE WINS SINGLES

WATERLOO (CP)—Bun Cooke of Waterloo has won the western Ontario men's tennis singles championship by defeating clubmate Barney Lawrence 3-6, 6-3 and 7-5. Cooke and Ralph Talby teamed to defeat John and Don Coles 6-1, 6-4 for the men's doubles title.

BACKS WITH PAT

ST. THOMAS (CP)—A Mount Forest, Ont., fan, intent on seeing Rochester Red Wings outbrake Toronto Maple Leafs for first place in the International Baseball League, is doing more than "putting hoping." The anonymous fan has donated a fine hickory baseball bat which will be given to Tim Burgess, a native of London, Ont., who is playing outfield for Rochester. The bat will be taken to Burgess by Barney Smith, scout for St. Louis Cardinals who are sponsoring the trout school for young players here.

THEBERGE SIGNS

KITCHENER (CP)—Leftwinger Gerry Theberge, sixth highest scorer in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League last season, has signed his 1954-55 contract with Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen. Theberge, second - hi best scorer on the Dutchmen, now lives in Kitchener.

TOLEDO HORSE WINS

NEW HAMBURG, Ont. (CP)— Warpath, owned by Saunders Mills of Toledo, Ont., won the feature of the 19th Canadian Pacing Derby at a harness-race meet here Wednesday. It was the first time that an American-owned horse had won the event. Warpath won both heats in the ~~t~~ctical time of 2:05 2-5.

CANADIANS LAG

OAKLAM, Eng. (Reuters)—The touring Canadian cricketers were 76 runs behind Rutland and Leicestershire after the first day's play in their two-day match here Wednesday. The Canadians did well to dismiss their opponents for 134 in the first innings, but they themselves collapsed and were all out for 58. By the close Rutland and Leicestershire had made 40 runs one wicket in their second innings.

FOUR OUT OF SEVEN

SARNIA (CP) — Coach Hugh Wells of the Sarnia Imperials will have to pick four out of seven American imports on the club's roster before the third league game this season to reduce to the Ontario Rugby Football Union's import limit.

AT THE CAPITOL — Fibber McGee and Molly are co-starred with Lucille (I Love Lucy) Ball and Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy with the great Gildersleeve. A galaxy of top radio and television stars and screen favorites combine their talents with signal success in "Look Who's Laughing" a comedy riot. On the same program and having its first Belleville showing "The Silver Lode" in color by Technicolor starring John Payne, Lizabeth Scott and Dan Duryea. The big double bill opens tonight at the Capitol Theatre.

AT THE McCARTHY — Francis has some new friends — Karen Kadler and Mara Corday (top), Mamie Van Doren and Julia Adams (bottom) — with Donald O'Connor trying to retain his franchise, in Universal-International's newest comedy about the fabulous talking mule, "Francis Joins the Wacs," now playing at the McCarthy Theatre. Chill Wills, Lynn Bari and Zasu Pitts are also starred.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Walt Disney today defended one of his movies which has been criticized by the New York state censor board because it contains a two-minute scene showing a bobtailed calf being born.

"It's high time we started living in an up-to-date world," said the cartoon wizard. "You simply can't ignore such things as birth any more."

The movie is "The Vanishing Prairie," one of Disney's true-life adventure films, a series which has won six Academy awards. The New York censors have denied the film a licence because it showed the actual birth of a buffalo calf.

The action got Disney's dander up, and he's a fellow who doesn't anger easily. He claimed the board's thinking was outmoded.

"There have been many scenes in these animal pictures which I have thrown out for reasons of taste," he remarked. "But I felt this scene belonged in the film. It was a clean birth and very fast. I don't see how anyone could be touchy about it."

SAYS GOOD FOR CHILDREN

"I think it should be good for children. I know it had a good effect on my daughters when they saw it. They're 18 and 20, and one is married. The scene took the fear out of children for them.

"I showed the picture to the Catholic League of Decency in New York, and they found nothing objectionable in it. They said it should be one only for every adult, but every child, too.

A tiff with censors is a rare event for Disney. For various reasons, his films seldom if ever draw any criticism from the scissors of the censors. Both times over the years, however, have been exceptions in the past.

AT THE BELLE

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, Favorite "I Love Lucy" TV Stars, Finnier than ever on Screen in,

"THE LONG, LONG TRAILER"

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, whose uproarious adventure in the "I Love Lucy" TV series have made them the most popular and endearing couple in show business, join forces on the screen in M-G-M's uproarious Color DeLuxe picture, "The Long, Long Trailer", currently showing at the Belle Theatre.

Arnaz and Miss Ball again are seen as Lucy and Ricky, the time as Lick and Tacy Collini, newlyweds who embark on a cross-country honeymoon in a trailer. Their adventures, comic mishaps, semi-tragedies and countless crises, as they start out from California to Nick's engineering job in Colorado, are punctuated and punctuated with one calamity-bowling situation after the other in their valiant attempts to set up housekeeping in their dazzling but dangerous mob in mansion.

It began when Tacy decides that, since her husband's job takes him to all parts of the country, it would be more efficient and economical to live on wheels. The young couple are mighty disillusioned about the economy part when what starts out as $2,700 investment proves a $5,345 one, plus extras. But this is only the beginning of the headaches, backaches and heartaches!

Lucille Ball as the well-meaning, loving, but blundering wife, and Desi Arnaz as the perplexed, harrassed but equally devoted husband, have become America's ideal of the typical young couple, and they are completely captivating in their film debut. Supporting aids to their laugh complications as Mrs. Hittaway, the amiable busybody who attends the wedding night, and a helpful cast also including Keenan Wynn as Private traffic officer, Gladys Hurlbut as Tacy's mother, Marge Blaker as Aunt Anastasia and Bert Davis as a loquacious trailer show foreman.

TOM & JERRY COLOR CARTOON

The enjoyment of the feature attraction is enhanced with the presentation of a funny Tom & Jerry Color Cartoon "Hatch Me If You Can" and a Color Technicolor Sportsfilm concluded with an interesting resume of World News Events.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 13, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This day will be better perhaps for finishing tasks, activities already started than undertaking new ones. Be mindful of promises, agreements, be cheerful and uncomplaining and you will be rewarded.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You can benefit by heeding lessons learned from previous experiences, from the counsel of elders, those qualified to teach and inform. And remember, "A wise man changes his mind, a fool never."

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — It may be wise to curtail too broad an extension of new, perhaps bizarre ideas, plans. Astute judgment a must now—and you have it to exercise. Self-restraint also a big help—always.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Do you have matters already started and awaiting action? Finish as many as you can today rather than commence new tasks. Get things in order for a pleasant weekend and a fresh start on Monday.

July 24 to August 22. (Leo) — "Skill is greater than strength." Remember this today and don't strain health or nerves. Seek to use your talents and capabilities to attain worthwhile goals.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Mercury's and other planets' aspects today strongly stress a calm, serene attitude toward day's duties as well as any new responsibilities that may crop up. No need to worry or overdo.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Do not take your cares to bed with you. Do a good day's work (this could be healthy recreation, too) and you'll have no need for worry or regret. Everything in its place—and at the right time.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Make your best efforts now for there's some opposition, perhaps little outside help. As a rule, this does not stymie Scorpio natives so don't let it today. Be happy, ambitious.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Don't go out looking for "tough" propositions or tasks. Influences suggest that you handle usual daily affairs quietly, serenly —without overdoing.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Mild rays in the early hours but very benefic ones begin at midnight and continue through Saturday. Plan, act with this in mind. Avoid worry and don't feel sorry for yourself; you have much for which to be thankful.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—"He who lives without restraint, will die without honor." A wise saying for all to heed. Today calls for self-restraint, especially where personal pleasures tempt.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—You have more generous indications than most of us. Take advantage of them and opportunities but without straining to be exhaustion point. Rest, recreate in free time.

YOU BORN TODAY are virile, dignified, show capability and talent in your every move. You may have a few faults, too. These could be obedience, arrogance, hatred. Do not listen to flatterers; they are not true friends. Those who really love you will tell you when you criticize and tell us of our faults. This is something we all need occasionally so don't resent it. Keep developing your fine qualities, improving your education by good reading, study and associating with intelligent people. You can advance even late in life if you are true to your self. Birthdate: Sir Geo. Grove, Eng. musical critic and writer.

Escapee Returned

WHITBY (CP)—Nicholas Marchuk, 36, of Brantford, who escaped from Whitby jail two years ago, is being extradited to Canada from Detroit where he had been held by immigration authorities.

Sentenced to two years in penitentiary for car theft, Marchuk was being held at Whitby for transportation to penitentiary when he escaped with Gordon Reid, 18, of Toronto. The escape was made by tying rope and blankets to a ventilator. Reid gave himself up to Toronto police the day after the escape.

CLAIMS BALANCING RECORD

WANNE - EICKEL, Germany (AP) — A German performer claimed a world record Tuesday after remaining balanced in a chair on a tightwire for 24 hours and two minutes. Richard Schneider, 27, known professionally as Ricardo, showed little sign of exhaustion when he hopped off the tightrope string eight feet above the ground.

Iron Curtain Clerics Pose New Problem

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Churchmen from the East and West are heading for a religious arena which is charged with tensions — both religious and political.

The stage is in the cause of Christianity, but around this central purpose swirls a haze of doubts and discords that threaten to frustrate the meeting — the assembly of the World Council of Churches starting here Sunday.

Although the council faces a host of thorny social and religious questions, probably the most explosive is the relationship of Christianity and communism, and the presence of delegates from Communist countries.

At least 18 churchmen from Redruled lands — eight from East Germany and five each from Hungary and Czechoslovakia — will be here. The 1,500 representatives. Others from Poland and Yugoslavia also may attend.

REPUBLICAN INDIGNANT

"Communist collaborationists" is the label applied to them by Alvin M. Bentley, Republican member of the U.S. Congress from Michigan, who says he will hold hearings simultaneously with the assembly to show they "are not protestors."

He has called them "servants of world communism who must cooperate as one God." Others, including two midwestern American Legion posts, also have protested admission of the delegates.

None of the Orthodox, Old Catholic, Anglican and Protestant denominations in 48 countries belonging to the council have opposed representation of the Iron Curtain churches.

Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, the council's general secretary, says "some of us may disagree with positions taken by Iron Curtain churchmen, but council membership is based solely on a "spiritual criterion" — recognition of Christ as divine lord and savior.

It was "terribly important for this movement to keep in touch with 'the churches" behind the Iron Curtain, he said. "Everything we can to strengthen the links with Christians in those countries."

Melrose

MELROSE — The W.M.S. met this week at the home of Mrs. Harry Davis. A splendid temperance program was presented by the group leader, Mrs. J. C. Milligan and her assistants. Mrs. Charles Macfarlane, a former member, was a visitor at this meeting.

Mrs. Grant McLaren had dinner on Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Macfarlane.

Much excitement was aroused in the community when a fire alarm was heard on Saturday afternoon and many volunteers worked to aid the fire department in extinguishing the grass and bush fire on the farm of Charles Brennan, just west and south of Donaldson station. Section hands were on duty all Saturday night. A second fire broke out on Sunday but local men were able to get it under control.

Church re-opened on Sunday morning after being closed for 3 W. Scott and Mrs. Scott were welcomed back from their most enjoyable trip to the Rocky Indian Rockies and Regina.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Holmes, Belleville, attended morning church service at Melrose and spent the remainder of the day with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur English and family. Mr. Percy L. John English, with John and Nancy, were guests at the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McLaren and boys had dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lloyd, Hilton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lloyd, of Wellington, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lloyd, Melrose. They were accompanied by their daughter, Thelma, from Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. William Blatherwick, Belleville, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Grant McLaren.

Mrs. Graydon Ackerman, of Belleville, spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Demille.

Farmers - Attention!
WANTED: A number of progressive farmers in Eastern Ontario who would like to set out a commercial block of Red Raspberries, either for your local trade or for shipping to Ottawa, and Montreal dealers. Recent Ontario-Quebec yield figures, prices at 40-50c per quart and dealer reports would indicate short supplies everywhere.
To encourage a limited planting of new high yielding patches, a well known nurseryman is sending a special representative of many years experience in commercial production to personally interview and advise interested farmers in raspberry culture. $1000.00 per acre should be easy, based on present conditions.
Because of the acute shortage of certified planting material, bookings can only be made for FALL PLANTING 1954, limited to one acre.
If genuinely interested in berry growing as a sideline to farming, write Box 400 Campbellford, Ontario, stating age, present location of your farm. Our specialist will call later and completely analyze the business, soil requirements and preparation, up-to-date cultural practices, hand markets, and surplus shipping, cost of planting, estimated yields and profits per acre. Late replies cannot be covered.
TREMENDOUS OPPORTUNITY FOR SPECIALTY SELLING ORGANIZATIONS

Here's Good Advice for All STOMACH SUFFERERS

This Man Had Sick, Burning, Upset Stomach, Became Very Nervous, Irritable, Got Headaches, Rheumatic Pains. Tells How Syntona Helped Him. Recommends It Highly.

Here is good advice for all sufferers from stomach trouble. Syntona Herbal Compound has helped thousands of men and women suffering from weak, nervous, upset stomach. It may well be the means of helping you, too. Mr. John Fitzsimmons, 215 Edinburgh Street, London, Ontario, tells his experience with Syntona as follows:

"My stomach kept giving me trouble quite some time and it kept getting worse as time went on.

Couldn't Eat

"After awhile I was having so much gas with pains and burning in my stomach, that I had no appetite to eat my meals. What little I did eat gave me a sick, upset stomach. There would be a burning pain in the pit of my stomach and I'd get sick, bilious attacks. I became very nervous, irritable, got splitting headaches and had to be taking laxatives all the time. Rheumatic pains set into my back, limbs and muscles.

First Real Relief

"The things I was taking didn't seem to be doing me any good, so finally a friend told me about Syntona. I decided to try some. Now it can be said that this medicine has given me the first real relief I've had from this condition. I feel like a new person. I am free of headaches and other pains and I have no real difficulty. Instead of being nervous and all tired out from morning to night I now feel more relaxed and have more energy.

"I can recommend Syntona very highly to anyone suffering as I did."

How It Acts

Syntona is made from 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots and acts on the stomach, liver and bowels, improving digestion, helping to clear away acids and impurities from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Churchill River Mill Expected To Produce Plenty of Radium

STANLEY, Sask. (CP)—Just six miles from Saskatchewan's oldest Anglican church is a mill harboring one of the province's newest and potentially wealthiest industries.

It is a small mill, snuggling beside an inlet on the Churchill river in this wild area of northern Saskatchewan. But here it is hoped to produce uranium. And if geologists are correct the whole area is heavily-laden with uranium.

A giant tractor claws at the rocky terrain and squelches through mud, tearing out a town-site from the virgin land; a pilot mill, extraction plant and shops have been erected; lumber and machinery have been hauled in across ice-bound lakes.

Houses for the mill's 40 employees have been built and a substantial guest house will soon open its doors.

SEEK CHEAP METHOD

A great deal has been done in the last few months toward finding a cheap method of producing some form of uranium from the district's millions of tons of rock. If the first tests of mining procedure are a success, operations will be expanded and wealth will come pouring in.

Chemical engineer Marcel Pochon, who has years of experience with uranium in England, France, Portugal and Canada, estimated recently there are 10,000,000 tons of uranium ore close to the new mill.

Mr. Pochon said the mill likely would handle one ton of rock daily when operations started—A small-scale operation but one which would obviously be expanded enormously if the method of obtaining uranium is successful.

"We're sitting right on top of the ore," he added. "There's no extensive shaft to sink, no timbering. The rock cracks easily and it appears a most interesting proposition since it is easy to mine and relatively cheap.

"We'll know better in a few weeks."

The uranium-bearing rock was discovered five years ago by the late A. W. Boland. Many claims have since been staked in the district.

Will Reorganize

MONTREAL (CP)—The Gazette says today Canadian locals of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America (AFL-TLC) will discuss plans for reorganization of the union in Canada at a meeting in Regina Aug. 21-22.

In a newspage story the morning newspaper says it learned delegates will discuss organizing locals on a regional rather than on the existing national basis—a policy now being followed in the United States.

Present membership of the Teamsters in Canada is 19,000.

RAILWAY TO HEAVEN

LONDON (CP) — A clergyman sent the following suggestion to the Church Times for a level crossing warning:

Our last gate crasher went to heaven.

Outside a more exalted gate.

CAMPBELLFORD

Graham Warren Shows Water Safety Films

CAMPBELLFORD — Graham Warren, swimming supervisor for the Canadian Red Cross Society in Eastern Ontario, was the guest speaker at the Monday meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club.

In commencing his address, Mr. Warren answered the question "Why is the Red Cross Society interested in swimming?" The answer is simple enough in that 1,000 persons, 600 of whom are in Ontario, lose their lives annually in the waters of Canada. In most cases these fatalities are avoidable. In this connection Mr. Warren showed films on water safety.

FOUR SERVICES OFFERED

He said that the Red Cross Society offered four services to the community and complimented the Rotary Club on their work in regard to the swimming classes held during the summer under the direction of Mr. Allan Taylor.

The Red Cross Society offers instructor training, promotional and educational material, advice on the physical aspect of a safe water front, and awards to swimmers. In the last mentioned field, the Society gives medals, etc., on a basis which is uniform throughout Canada for beginners, juniors, intermediate and senior swimmers.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian David Burgess and thanked by Rotarian Hector MacMillan.

U.S. Senate Votes 85-0 To Outlaw Communist Party

Bill Provides Penalties Of $5,000, Five Years

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unanimous Senate passage of a bill to outlaw the Communist party confronted Republican leaders of the House of Representatives today with the politically tricky question of what to do with it in the face of administration opposition.

The Senate action Thursday gave an ironic twist to the administration's efforts to drive some anti-Communist measures through Congress in the closing days of the session.

With time running out for many of the proposals urged by Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, the Senate unexpectedly whipped through something he didn't ask for but had consistently opposed as an ineffective weapon.

UNANIMOUS VOTE

Democratic senators, led by Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, came up with an anti-Communist measure that proved to have an irresistible appeal to the lawmakers in this election year.

The Senate started off its topsy-turvy day with a call by Senator John Marshall Butler (Rep. Md.) for hearings into the Communist-dominated labor unions and wound up by tacking it, in modified form, on Humphrey's bill. It didn't stand for but had consistently opposed as an ineffective weapon.

The result was a combination measure that would outlaw the Communist party and also would strip Communist-dominated labor unions of the right to be certified as bargaining agents by the National Labor Relations Board.

It passed 85 to 0, leaving the next move to the House.

JAIL AND FINES

Humphrey's bill would provide penalties of up to five years in prison and up to $10,000 fine for persons who willfully join or remain members of the Communist party and commit an overt act to carry out Communist party purposes.

The bill also would make it illegal for a Communist party member to "hold office or employment with any labor organization."

$1,314,000,000 COLLECTED BY PROVINCES

Expenditures Rise

Deficit of $12 Million

OTTAWA (CP) — The provinces collected an estimated record of $1,314,000,000 in net general revenues in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1954.

Their expenditures also rose, to a peak $1,326,000,000, resulting in an over-all deficit of $12,000,000, the same as in the previous year, the bureau of statistics estimated today.

EQUAL INCREASES

Both revenues and expenditures rose by $93,000,000.

Heaviest collections showed in sales taxes on gasoline and fuel oil, charges for vehicle and motor licences, and royalties and permit fees for the use of natural resources.

On the expenditure side, the largest increases were for transportation — mainly highway building and upkeep — health, social welfare and education.

Sales taxes on gasoline and fuel oil yielded an estimated $220,000,000, up from $197,000,000 in the previous year, while revenue from motor licences and permit fees rose to $301,000,000 from $253,000,000.

MORE FROM LIQUOR

Liquor profits increased slightly to $123,000,000 from $121,000,000.

But the record total expenditure bill came to a peak $409,000,000, up from $371,000,000 in the previous year, largely for health grants. Such grants increased to $214,000,000 from $202,000,000; social welfare to $104,000,000 from $91,000,000; and education to $234,000,000 from $218,000,000.

Japan, Beaten Nation in 1945, Has Been Spectacularly Rebuilt

By JIM BECKER

TOKYO (AP) — Nine years ago Japan surrendered. Today, dazed, defeated nation of 1945 has been spectacularly rebuilt and tied economically and militarily to its former enemy the United States.

Nine years ago this Sunday, Emperor Hirohito broadcast Japan's surrender in a quavering, high-pitched voice. Japan was shattered, humbled. The vast empire had collapsed like a soap bubble.

More than 40 of Japan's cities were wrecked by firebombs. Millions of Japanese in rags roamed the ruins.

If the handful of U.S. soldiers who landed gingerly a few days later could have foreseen the years and seen the Japan of 1945 they would have called it a miracle.

Japanese walking the streets are working on farms and in the fishing villages look well fed and healthy. Stores are crammed with attractive goods.

But the prosperous facade hides a deep economic illness inevitable in a nation shorn of its overseas conquests and forced to support a population half as large as that of the U.S. on four home islands whose total area is about that of California.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's conservative administration has adopted a tight austerity program to force Japan to live within its income. This austerity has caused business firms — most of them fly-by-night — to collapse right and left.

Yoshida's administration is beset by growing criticism aimed both at him and at the U.S. The Socialists accused Yoshida of covering up the shipbuilding bribery scandals. They demanded he quit.

The right-wing Socialists called for peace treaties with both Red China and Russia. There is much talk in Japan that co-existence with Red nations is possible.

The Communists have combined attacks on Yoshida with propaganda designed to woo Japan. They have received gifts from Peiping and Moscow has had little trouble stifled it.

The United States is Japan's best customer, and the U.S. spends immense sums in Japan.

In everything, from hairdos to home guns, the Japanese still appear to look to the U.S.

25,500 CIO Rubber Workers Call Strike for Higher Wages

CLEVELAND (AP) — The rubber industry's second major strike erupted across the United States today as 25,500 CIO United Rubber workers walked off their jobs at Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. plants in eight cities.

Union officials, who called a strike of 23,000 Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. workers last July 7, triggered the second industry-wide stone to coincide with their contracts' expiration deadlines.

Together the two actions put more than 48,000 rubber workers — a third of the industry's total members — on strike.

The union posted pickets around most entrances to the Firestone plants in Akron, Los Angeles, Memphis, Noblesville and New Castle, Ind., Fall River, Mass., Memphis, Penn., Des Moines and Williamsburg, Va.

About 250 pickets turned back the midnight shift at the Akron factories, which employ 9,000 workers. Goodyear has 13,000 striking Akron employees.

No disorders were reported.

The union has been bargaining with Goodyear in Cleveland, and has ordered work stoppages at the Los Angeles and B. F. Goodrich Co. in Cincinnati.

U.S. Rubber has 35,000 workers in 19 plants and Goodyear has 17 employees in nine plants. Contracts with both firms have expired.

The union has demanded from Goodyear raised of 7½ cents an hour plus 5½ cents to correct interplant "inequities." Demands on Firestone are similar.

But, though details have not yet been made public,

Firestone and Goodyear have offered smaller raises on an industry average of 6.9 and 6.15. The union rejected the offer as inadequate.

CANADIAN ARMY HAS MANPOWER TROUBLE REPORT

Strength Said to Have Dropped 800 in 2 Months

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The army is having manpower trouble.

On April 14, it announced that its strength had reached 50,000. A few weeks later, this figure was up to approximately 50,400.

Though the army has declined to reveal the latest figure, it was learned authoritatively today that the strength has dropped to about 49,600, a drop of roughly 800 in the two months.

This is only 300 more than were on the roll-call at March 31, 1952—28 months ago.

The army had hoped that increases in service pay and allowances last December would help it attain its manpower target of 55,000. Figures show they haven't, though Canada's privates are the best-paid in the world.

SEVERE SHORTAGES

One informant said recruiting is holding up fairly well but that the number of men signing on for second or further hitches in the army seems to be falling off.

Defence Minister Claxton said in June that the re-engagement rate was "very good"—that is, 60 out of 100 men whose term of service is up sign on for another hitch.

Both the navy and RCAF have been able to increase their strengths at a faster rate than the army although the army, with 21,000 men, has the greatest need to recruit from a larger group.

Between April 1, 1952, and March 31 this year, the navy showed a net increase in strength of 3,450, the air force 17,135 and the army 700.

Workers Will Not Be Asked To Take Cut

HAMILTON (CP) — Studebaker workers in Canada will not be asked to take a wage cut, a similar one to that accepted by their counterparts in the United States Studebaker plant, Canadian president Dennis C. Gaskin said Thursday night.

"The union members' decision to allow their wages to be lowered would not affect the pay scale in Canada," he said. "What it does mean, however, is that we'll be able to retain our present 5,000 employees as was originally planned."

Mr. Gaskin said Studebaker here is paying the same wages as General Motors, Ford and Chrysler in Canada. The U.S. workers are receiving a higher wage than the Canadian workers, but their companies, he said, and the company here would ask employees to take a voluntary cut to lower production costs.

But U.S. employees had refused to take a pay cut, it would mean a loss of 1,000 workers, he said. "We have to depend, to a large extent, on the American market.

"But we hope to reduce our costs by negotiating for better prices from suppliers, not by cutting wages."

World's Deepest Cavern Scene Of Catholic Mass

SAINT-MARTIN, France (trout-in-the-mud) — Belgrian wearing mountaineering boots and parachutes today said mass 1,000 yards at the bottom of the world's deepest cavern over the body of Marcel Loubens, who fell to his death here two years ago.

The priest knelt lowered down the 1,150-foot shaft Thursday, with a tag containing vessels and wine around his neck, and then tied round his waist, to hold the first religious ceremony in the depths known.

Six cave explorers, camping in a small tent near Loubens' body, left the bottom some early this week, watched by the glow of an alcohol lamp, to celebrate communion. But the priest set up a makeshift altar in the pitch-dark cavern.

The priest draped his altar cloth over the aluminum coffin in which the expedition plans to begin hauling up the body of 29-year-old Loubens from the depths.

The coffin's journey will probably take about 36 hours, as cable-carrying explorers, wailing under cut in the walls of the cavern, guide it aloft.

Labor Minister Announces Meeting Will Be Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg announced today railway unions and companies have agreed to resume contract negotiations at 10 a.m. Monday.

Mr. Gregg made the announcement after the unions agreed at Montreal to reopen the talks and he confirmed the time with the railways.

Resumption of the long-stalled negotiations follows a request to the disputants Thursday by Prime Minister St. Laurent, who called them here for conferences.

The negotiations will be held in the Senate railway committee room of Parliament's centre block, where a strike threat by trainmen was averted in government-sponsored negotiations in the winter of 1953.

Government representatives will not sit in on the conferences.

ST. LAURENT PLEADED

"We are just making the facilities available for their own discussions, which will be in secret," Mr. Gregg said.

The moves Thursday and today eased the threat of a general strike, and the prime minister expressed optimism over a settlement.

Mr. St. Laurent indicated Parliament might be asked to back legislation to end a general rail strike. He had said an emergency session would be called if necessary.

SIMPSON, Sask. (CP) — An RCAF twin-engined aircraft crashed and burned Thursday night near this town 80 miles northwest of Regina. There were no survivors.

The Mitchell aircraft crashed at the height of a violent thunder and hailstorm which swept the Simpson district. It was based at Saskatoon and was on a training flight.

Jack Caught, a Simpson district farmer, said pieces of bodies and wreckage were strewn around a 20-foot crater the plane dug in the ground.

Identities of the victims were not known.

RCAF and RCMP personnel were sent from Saskatoon to investigate.

Unions and Rail Companies Agree To Resume Talks

Five Dangerous Convicts Object Of Wide Manhunt

NORFOLK, Mass. (AP) — Five dangerous convicts who broke out of the state prison colony Thursday night after overpowering six guards and taking one of them as hostage have thus far eluded a New England-wide manhunt.

Police departments in key New England cities which were alerted to join in the search were warned by Massachusetts state police that at least one of the escapees has a gun and all five are dangerous.

The convicts took as hostage prison guard Walter D. Adler, 29, of Lawrence, Mass. in whose car they escaped toward Rhode Island and Connecticut.

FOOLED GUARDS

Adler, on Thursday, 26, of Cambridge, serving 12 to 15 years for shooting a policeman during a holdup, was taken as hostage as the escape.

Prison authorities said Halliday, locked in his cell, created a disturbance which attracted the attention of guard Ralph Haley. They able to quiet Halliday, Haley called guards Joseph Rivet and Donald Langdon.

When the two guards opened his cell door Halliday whipped out a revolver and ordered Rivet and Langdon to walk in front of him.

Using them as a shield, Halliday ordered the two guards to disrobe and open the electrically-controlled doors to the 39 cells in the block.

OTHERS JOIN BREAK

Halliday then was joined by the four others. Thirty-two other prisoners remained in their cells.

The quintet pushed guards Rivet and Langdon into cells and stalked to the locker room where the guards were compelled to go on night duty. Here they overpowered three other guards and forced them to strip.

The men then marched to the main gate and forced night supervisor John Silver to open the gate.

On the prison yard, guard De Adder was sitting in his car before going on duty. They pulled a gun on him and sped away in his car.

Reporter Fired, Did Not Heed AFL Directives

NEW YORK (AP)—AFL president George Meany said Thursday the federation has fired Frank Edwards as its radio news reporter because he disagreed with AFL directives that "opinions should be clearly labelled as opinion and interpretation."

Meany said at a press conference that Edwards submitted his resignation effective Dec. 31 but the executive council exercised its option under its contract and terminated Edwards' services Wednesday.

Although Edwards had agreed verbally that opinion and news should be separated, Meany said, he disagreed with Meany after he was put in writing and issued an AFL directive Aug. 2.

In Washington Edwards said Meany imposed "without my agreement a strict censorship" on the selection and use of news material.

"It was both a violation and vitiation of the terms of my written contract with the AFL," Edwards said.

CLAIMS CENSORED

He also said he had been ordered to "channel" all news and information for his broadcast through "the AFL censor."

This, he said, "in practice amounted to a direction to slant the news to fit his (Meany's) personal ambitions, animosities and prejudices."

Edwards had been the news reporter and commentator on the AFL radio news program since its inception four years ago. The program was heard on 160 Mutual Broadcasting System stations five nights a week. Meany said Harry Flannery had replaced Edwards "on a temporary basis."

Philip Pearl, AFL public relations director, said the federation "wouldn't put Edwards on the air putting on a colored presentation of the news."

"News should not be mixed up with opinions," Pearl said. There should be a physical separation so that hearers wouldn't get the idea the AFL was putting out a biased news report."

Trumpet Band Banned at Union

TORONTO (CP)—The 2nd Signal Corps trumpet and drum band was banned from half-time shows at Argonaut football games here because its musicians are not union members.

The ban was a result of a ruling by Walter Murdoch, president of the Toronto Musicians' Union (AFL-CIO).

He said the AFL American Federation of Musicians holds contracts with both the CBC and National Broadcasting Company, the giants in television Canadian football this fall.

A spokesman for the Signals band said its members cannot afford to join the union because they do not play for profit.

Replacing the trumpet band will be three regular brass bands made up of union members.

CAN'T STOP

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) The dream of all service station operators came true the other day for Johnny Hagan when because of road repairs, traffic on Highway No. 17 was diverted away from his station property. The only hitch was that the traffic moved so steadily, no one had a chance to stop for gas.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Considerable sunshine Thursday brought afternoon temperatures back into the 70s throughout most of Ontario. Many sunny and warmer weather will continue today and Saturday across southern Ontario, but a few showers or thunderstorms may be expected tonight and Saturday in northern regions.

Five Navy Motor Drivers Fined For Speeding

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five navy motor drivers have been fined for speeding despite a naval officer's statement that he had been told Edinburgh requested that they not be prosecuted.

In neighboring Saanich police court Thursday, magistrate A. I. Peterson fined four of the sailors-drivers in the duke's procession here—$50 for speeding.

Larry Mason, fifth driver, interrupted to say: "This is rather an odd request to make in this court. The highway regulations were broken."

The men received $30-hour fines on appeal of the days in jail. The men were out prior to the duke's arrival with instructions to learn the route. The five were Vernon R. Briskman, Leonard Goodwin and Bryce L. Merrill. The fifth driver, Clifford Ellis, was fined $50 for failure to force the hearing and paid his fine in advance.

The four other sailors are on admirals report at HMCS Naden.

France Delays Army Debate

PARIS (Reuters)—The European Army debate in the French National Assembly will be stalled four days later than originally planned.

The steering committee of the Assembly today fixed the debate for Aug. 26 to Aug. 31 inclusive.

Aug. 26 and 27 have been set aside for a full debate on the government's speech by Dunlia.

The change in the date for the EDC debate was made in agreement with Premier Mendes-France.

Duke Tours Canada's Armament Research Centre to Learn Secrets

By DAVE STOCKAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—By the end of the day the Duke of Edinburgh will know quite a number of Canadian military secrets.

He leaves this morning for Valcartier army camp 15 miles northwest of here, the site of Canada's Armament Research and Development Establishment.

And he won't just duck in and out. The defence research board says armament secrets known to but a few will be revealed in their entirety" to the duke during a three-hour tour.

Before the CARDE tour he will watch how recruits for the paratroops are trained and will lunch at headquarters.

Thursday the royal C-5 carried the duke from the most treeless tundra of the sub-Arctic to the green and orderly farmlands of central Quebec. He arrived in Quebec after a 1,225-mile flight from the Churchill port on Hudson Bay.

He was met at Ancienne Lorette airport by Governor-General Vincent Massey, Lieutenant-Governor Gaspard Fauteux and Premier Duplessis.

The ceremony was short but had all the trimmings—the 21-gun salute and a guard of honor. The duke wore the uniform of a field marshal for the inspection.

The royal party travelled to Quebec City after the duke will stay until Saturday afternoon when he leaves for Sept-Iles, Que.

Kingston Gets $14,334 Grant

OTTAWA (CP)—Kingston is getting a $14,334 grant for a program of preventive dentistry for school and pre-school children, it was announced today by the health department.

The announcement said the federal government has approved a general public health grant to Ontario to back up work under direction of the Kingston health department and that city's public health committee. The grant will help provide additional nursing and dental health services for the city's dental health clinic.

An intensive oral hygiene drive in Kingston is expected to result in teaching about 1,000 children early in life, correction of faulty habits, improvement of oral hygiene and prevention of early loss of teeth through decay.

A survey among Kingston school children has shown that 60 per cent have unsatisfactory dental conditions, and the campaign is aimed at preventive dentistry rather than repair and restorative work.

Mental Hospital Will Be Started Within 2 Weeks

TORONTO (CP) — A start on construction on a $10,000,000 mental hospital near North Bay is expected to be made within two weeks, it was reported Thursday night. The hospital, at Cook's Mills about 5½ miles south of North Bay, will accommodate 1,200 bed patients.

Clearing of the area will start in a few days and it is expected tenders for the project will be called within the next several weeks.

Mrs. Cook's name was chosen because it is served by three railways, five highways and an airport. Plans also include construction an administration building, a diagnostic and treatment centre and wings for medical and surgical patients.

Narcotic Agents Smash Dope Ring

NEW YORK (CAP)—Federal narcotics agents have smashed an alleged multi-million dollar dope smuggling ring, authorities announced today.

Seventeen persons were by some 30 agents who played roles of addicts or dealers in heroin.

The alleged ring leaders were described as "top flight narcotics dealers in the United States" by James C. Ryan, district supervisor of the federal bureau of narcotics.

Ryan said the ring's yearly profit was "far into the millions." He termed the roundup the largest ever made here of drug peddlers and dealers.

Ryan said the ring had "a constant flow of supply in Mexico City and Montreal."

Dull Razor Threatens to Blight Romance of Dare-Devil Texan

Gene Thompson, the 6-foot-3 cop-duster from Stinnett who loves bridges Wednesday in a bid for the hand of honeymooner Helen Brown, radioed a tale of unrequited love from his homeward-bound liner.

Helen, he told the Daily Express in a telephone talk Thursday night, "isn't even speaking to me" because he took her dare and flew a Piper Cub between the towers of London's Tower bridge and then underneath the span of London bridge.

The couple met touring Europe with a party of Texans. A friend of Helen's agreed to marry Gene if he would emulate a daredevil Texas flier who performed stunts around the bridges of the Thames. The party sailed for home before Gene could. British police caught up with the American bridge jumper.

"Promised to marry me if I'd quit cussing, shave every day and fly under bridges.

"She's very beautiful and I'm so in love.

"The London razor didn't hurt so bad I could fulfill requirements. . . ."

DIRECTIONAL LANES BEING PAINTED

With the view to speeding up traffic along the No. 2 highway route through the city, special traffic lanes are being painted in the downtown section of the city this week.

Aside from painting the traffic lanes special attention is being given to directing traffic into the proper lanes for through traffic and for making right and left hand turns. Large directional arrows painted on the pavement direct motorists into the right lane in preparation for making a right-hand turn, and into the inside lane for through traffic or to make left-hand turns. The directional lanes are being painted on the direction of the city traffic committee.

MEMBER'S MOTHER MUSIC TEACHER IN THIS CITY

The Montreal Junior Symphony Orchestra recently returned to Canada after a enthusiastically-received tour of the United Kingdom.

With the orchestra was James Bridgel, 4229 Westhill avenue, Montreal, whose mother, the former Flora Moore, was a music teacher in Belleville for many years. Mrs. Bridgel, a music specialist for Montreal High schools, is saxophone and clarinet instructor, to the orchestra.

There were 56 young members of the orchestra on the tour, whose ages ranged from 11 to 22. Under its regular conductor, Lewis V. Elvin, the orchestra gave 13 concerts on the tour, including a performance in St. James's Palace, London, before Princess Marie Louise and an invited audience. An unscheduled telecast was a sprung on the orchestra by the BBC, which widened audience appreciation for it through the U.K.

BOYS PRACTISE AIM ON GRADER TIRES

Yesterday provincial police received a complaint from the Dilcon Construction Company that youths armed with a .22 rifle had fired at the tires of a large road grader stationed at a stock pile in North Park street. One shot bullet punctured one of the big tires, leaving it flat and damaged another tire.

DR. JOHN A. DOYLE GIVEN HIGH POST AT DETROIT HOSPITAL

Dr. John A. Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Doyle, 6 Pine St., has recently been appointed Director of Pediatrics at the Detroit Receiving Hospital, and instructor in pediatrics of the College of Medicine at Wayne University.

After graduating from the University of Toronto with a degree of Medicine, Dr. Doyle interned at the Ottawa Civic Hospital. He then completed post graduate work at the Children's Hospital and Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., Children's Hospital of Michigan, and the Receiving Hospital in Detroit.

A prowler was also reported in the city with the first fall of snow, an calling police in alarm at 2.30 this morning. Police cruiser was promptly on the scene and as it rolled to a stop in front of the residence a man was seen running through the back yard toward the next street The prowler made good his escape.

Masked Intruder Threatens Trent Rd. Housewife

Threatened with a butcher knife a she surprised a masked intruder in her living room, Mrs. Cleo Potter, Trent Road, late Thursday afternoon ran from the house and telephoned police.

Mrs. Potter, who lives at Jones Creek, had been upstairs doing some re-decorating when she heard a noise downstairs. She investigated and found a man with a woman's silk stocking pulled over his head and shoulders under cushions on the chesterfield.

The man, described as being "a fair size, and wearing a white shirt," darted toward Mrs. Potter brandishing a knife he was holding in his hand. Badly frightened, Mrs. Potter ran from the house, slammed the door and went across the highway to telephone police.

Police were soon on the scene but the intruder could not be located although the butcher knife used to threaten Mrs. Potter was found a short distance from the house.

It is believed the man entered the house through the kitchen where he had picked up the butcher knife. Mrs. Potter later identified the discarded butcher knife as her own. The matter is being investigated by Provincial Constables Cockburn and Oliver

LABOR VISIT TO RUSSIA, CHINA STIRS CRITICISM

Clement Attlee, leader of Britain's Labor party and former prime minister, is flanked by Dr. Hewlett Summerskill, and Aneurin Bevan, members of the Labor party delegation visiting Russia and China. Their visit, on invitation of the Russians and Chinese, is to investigate the possibility of "co-existence with Communism." Violent criticism is stirring in Britain over the Labor party's trip. Recreation Committee Sponsors Arts and Crafts Exhibition

An exceptionally fine display of arts and crafts sponsored by the Recreation Committee of Belleville, under the direction of recreational director, "Red" Doran and Miss Dolly Cain, members of the Theatre Guild and Quinte Players, is on view at the Y.M.C.A. this afternoon and evening. The display will be opened by Mayor Bolbin this afternoon.

This includes oils by various artists at the city, lithoing landscapes, still life, and seascapes; woodwork, ceramics, Daily Vacation Bible School arts and crafts, playground activities, Theatre Guild, pottery, paintings by the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School of different crafts.

OILS

The oil displays showed some fine works by Mrs. B. Williamson, a study of rocks, water and foliage done at the Don Valley Art Club; a seascape with birches bordering a rustic landing with pond, by G. Simpson; a winter scene by D. A. Heaven, showing dark pines, distant hills and water with colorful birches, a waterfall with rocks by M. Whitfield, also done at the Don Valley Art Club; an intriguing portrayal of flowers and still life by Mrs. M. Robbins; a Muskoka scene done by Gibson, showing simplicity of design; a colorful autumn river scene by Daniel; a Scottish loch scene with purple heather, by Mrs. Gilchrist; ships with purple and white lilacs by M. Moult, as well as a barn on the 2 highway, and an attractive Atlantic coast scene with fishing boats. The "Old Mill on the Moira" was well depicted by Mrs. D. Cain; Miss M. Peck had two autumn scenes, one wintertime, one in summer, both attractive; Phillips Faulkner showed the old harbor scene; F. Vaughan, the "Mill at Queensboro" and "Moira Lake"; Mrs. Stevenson, a winter scene, depicting stark elms about a small barn building beside a winding creek; and L. Riggs a Florida home scene, quiet and subdued. These are but a few shown.

STILL LIFE

The still life pictures included a large painting by G. Simpson showing a gleaming round table top in walnut shade highlighted by a spray of colorful orange, red, and crimson zinnias, a tall, blue jug, and a walnut chair.

A most attractive collection of articles in walnut, made from an old tree, were shown by F. and H. Vaughan. These included a sectional hang stand; a large bowl of varying shades of wood, and a delightfully and intricately carved spinning wheel.

There was but one sample of the work done. This was done some years ago, by Miss Helen Sulman, and was of reed in the type of a modern chair.

The ceramics, included floral centrepieces; plaques, bowls and boxes and necklaces, and other designs, by M. Jamieson and E. M. Gibson. The latter had two delightful aluminum trays also done by Mrs. Gibson, having pretty designs as centre floral arrangements.

D.V.B.S. DISPLAYS

The Daily Vacation Bible Schools of the city, including Christ Church, Alliance Tabernacle and St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill also had fine displays of the work done by the children during the sessions held. Christ Church showed an illustrated story of "Moses", wall plaques, dainty figurines, lapel pins, placer cars, white angels, and various stories depicting the birds, bees, rabbits and others.

The Alliance Tabernacle's display included colorful pictures depicting Gospel messages, as "Ninety and Nine"; "Behold, I Stand at the Door and Knock", and "Let the Lower Light be Burning. There were also memo pads made from plywood; wallmade leather billfolds with stitched edging, key purses, artificial flowers, and little figurines.

ST. MARGARET'S

St. Margaret's display included knit doll blankets, scrapbooks, the story of the creation in book form, showing flowers, and animal life.

The Men's Club of St. Margaret's had a nice collection of animal toys made from wood, and Military White markers, and a child's lamp.

A large frilled crocheted centrepiece and dressed dolls were also displayed by the Junior W.A. and the Women's Guild of St. Margaret's.

The Altar Guild showed some lovely Bible markers in white with gold couching embroidery, and a bedroom fall in purple velvet, while the Sunday School teachers displayed a missionary story in Japan by Hildegarde.

St. Thomas' Girls' Auxiliary displayed cards, books, ceramics, knit dolls, cone turkeys, and baskets made from Christmas cards, made originally. Fashioned with red stitching.

PLAYGROUND EXHIBIT

The playgrounds were also represented: Stirling, by metal waste paper baskets, colorful slippers cone swans, and artificial fruits. Another exhibit from the general playgrounds of the city; included a rakish giraffe made from tissue paper hat; various animals in plasticene, and papier mache, soap cars, and other toys.

Pottery was exhibited by Mr. R. H. Tindale and Miss M. de Farlane, all in attractive colors, and designs.

The Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational Schools Crafts class had a splendid collection of leather work showing a tooled purse in light brown done by Miss R. Hunter; a key purse by Miss L. Moran. Other exhibits included a book cover in leath, "Field Guide"; ceramics by Mr. A. White, and flower holders and cigaret ash trays.

There were other exhibits too numerous to mention, all showing that Belleville has a wealth of artistic talents.

New Industry To Be Opened In Napanee

According to reports, a new industry will be opened in Napanee in the near future. This industry will be located on the Newburg Road, a half-mile east of Vine's Corners and on the north shore of the Napanee River.

The site of the new factory will be in Richmond township, where the interests involved have recently acquired more land in addition to that obtained on the south shore of the river. In North Fredericksburg township.

The name of the new plant has not yet been disclosed, but the products it will manufacture, but it is understood that it will be a Canadian company and this will be the first factory it has constructed.

The building will be of brick construction, 5,000 feet by 2,000 feet, one floor. Construction may be started within a month or two, depending on several factors yet to be ironed out, but production will probably not start before early spring.

When production is started the plant will employ from 40 to 60 persons but the personnel will be quickly expanded to at least 100.

Harry Robinson, 47 Canniffon Road, was in a reminiscent mood. In fact after the end of the week he will have plenty of time to reminisce, for it marks the end of 42 years of faithful service with the Canadian National Railway.

Actually Harry is retired now, but it does not become official until August 21st. He reached his 65th birthday on August 11 and is marking his retirement with a holiday in England. He sails on August 18.

Harry never felt the throb and thrill of a crack locomotive from the engineer's cab. He never travelled the steam gauge from the fireman's seat. But he saw to it that the "Iron Horse" were kept in tip-top condition from his position in the roundhouse.

"Forty-five years in a roundhouse" could be the title of Harry's story.

WAS SPORTSMAN

While Harry took his work seriously, he never let it interfere with his sportsmindedness. A fan of no mean ability himself in his younger days, he has rarely been seen over world championship bouts than any other man in the city.

Harry recalled the day, 42 years ago, when he emigrated from his native England to Belleville and secured a job in the Grand Trunk round house.

"It was one of the best roundhouses of the G.T.R. with 24 pits, machine shop and blacksmith shop, (for the "Iron Horses")." All engines were changed at Belleville in those days", Harry said.

The 300 employees worked in two shifts of 10 and 13 hours. Mechanics received 45 cents an hour and their helpers 27 cents. The work was heavy for the roundhouse was not equipped with air jacks and electric cranes as are those of today.

Harry was promoted to foreman when the eight-hour day came in Richmond.

"Times have changed a lot during the forty-two years," he said. "Steam is being replaced by the diesel electric type. The Belleville-Ontario branch is being done by diesels 7373 and 7576 which are maintained in Belleville. Diesels 8508, 8514 and 8515 are operating in the Belleville yards."

He predicted that in the very near future diesels will be used on the main passenger runs.

CHANGING TIMES

"The changing times have had their effect on the roundhouses, too," he said. Today it contains little or no steam engine and fires for diesels. The men work a forty-hour week and the wages have increased from 45 cents an hour of 100 is employed.

Harry has worked under the following locomotive foremen, H. H. Towner, J. Walsh, F. Ward, Albert Jones, E. Babbs, and the present one, Mr. E. D. White. "Mr. White has made many improvements for his staff", says Harry, "such as installation of lockers for engineers and firemen, and washrooms, lunch-room and showers for the shopmen.

Harry received the best wishes for a long and happy retirement from the staff of shopmen, engineers and firemen.

Flyer Girls Hand Northern 5-1 Setback

The Trenton RCAF Flyers threw cold water on the Belleville Northern Electric Ladies' hopes for the Lakeshores league title last night by turning back Leo Luccida's gals, 5-1. It was the first game of the finals played at the airport with the second clash scheduled for the Alemite Field tomorrow night.

King pitched all the way for the Flyers, giving up six hits, whiffing four and walking eight. Linda Wagg was on the hill for Northern being banged about for twelve hits including a homer while fanning two and walking none.

King paced her team at bat with a home run and single while Johnson had two singles. Carole Wagg was best for the losers with a triple and single.

On to Ottawa and competition for the Governor-General bowling trophy. The tourney will be held on September 4th in the Capital with four cities represented by two rinks each and composite scores will be taken into consideration in each game.

The Belleville Bowling Club will represent District 16 in this event, two rinks from the club winning the right to compete in a thrilling and exciting sudden death game with Campbellford on Brighton greens on Thursday evening.

The contest was not decided until the last bowl had come to rest. One rink of H. Parker, lead, Ernie Jones second, James Hanna vice-skip and A. E. Wonacott skip, of the Belleville club had been defeated by a rink of Fred Rutherford lead, J. McMullan second, C. Singleton vice-skip and William Brady skip, of Campbellford, by a score of 24-10.

On the other green, a local rink of Claude D. Vice lead, Austin Watkin second, Gordon Watkin vice-skip, and Harold B. Ryder, skip, were waging a merry duel with A. Putman lead, Archie Meyers second, Walter Wiggins vice-skip and H. J. "Bert" Taylor skip of Campbellford. With three ends to play the Belleville club was tied with Campbellford on the round. On the 24 end the local club went two shots up and only by an scantiest of margins, because the second shot had to be measured in by a neutral bowler. The Campbellford rink scored a shot on the deciding end, the last end, after the end had changed many times the Belleville rink laid one shot which was impossible to come. Mr. Taylor missed and Belleville had won by taken 23-22-10 and the round by two shots. Mr. Hyde did not have to throw his last bowl.

The other Belleville rink was the victim of many bad breaks in their game with Campbellford. Many times they were lying shot when the opposition skip would get a lucky wick or a good roll to take one point counter. The rink was certainly not outbowled.

The greens were in fine condition and the hospitality of the Brighton club was extended to the visitors.

TORONTO STOCKS

Price changes were extremely small.

The industrial index climbed about four-tenths of a point to a three-year high of 354.17. Papers led the group's strength and steels, liquors and manufacturers also showed scattered gains. Contractions eased but too few issues were traded in other groups to determine a trend.

The ff2nsRSfxxxf?xxxf?%xxf?% traded in other groups to determine a trend.

Senior base metals eased fractions and juniors were mixed. Western oils drew comparatively little interest and were mixed.

Golds moved ahead narrowly. Mentions included Bathurst issues drew little interest.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was firm on large grades and steady on other grades. Offerings were light and demand steady.

Quotations provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, graded, in fibre cases; A large 55; A medium 37; A small 29; B 33; C 26. Wholesale to retail: A large 59; A medium 42; A small 34; B 38; C 31.

DISCOUNT RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 3 1-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon, EDT, today. Thursday's noon rate was 97 cents. Pound sterling $2.73 against $2.73¼.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle trading was active at prices strong to fully 50 cents a hundredweight higher this week at the Ontario stock yards. Hogs showed further losses while sheep and lambs were unchanged.

The run of 8,500 cattle was twice the run of last week. The bulk of the run was steers and heifers. Meagre numbers of bred yearlings, cows and bulls strengthened these classes on an active demand.

The dressed beef trade was active at strong prices due mostly to unseasonably cool weather. Shipments east were back to normal at 15 cars. There was a moderate seasonal decline in replacement cattle with the heaviest share of common to medium quality. A practical clean-up is anticipated.

Choice steers, all weights, $21-22; one load of choice weighty steers $22.15; numerous single sales reached $22.50; good steers $20-21; mediums down to $19; heifers were 50 cents higher with good heifers at $18-18.50; top choice lightweight heifers up to $19; medium heavy heifers down to $18; common light boner type steers and heifers as low as $16; cows were 50 cents higher with good quality selling at $11.50-12.50; light beifery cows to $13; canner and cutter cows down to $7; demand for bulls improved and good heavy bologna bulls brought $12-12.50; a few tops to $13; good butcher bulls sold up to $14; common light bulls down to $8; fed yearlings 50 cents higher with choice heavies at $21.50-22.50; a few small lots to $23; one truck load averaging 700 pounds $23.50; medium fed yearlings down to $19; good quality replacement cattle $18-19; common down to $14.

Hogs were 2,523 head; prices were 50 cents lower than last week's close with the bulk selling at $28 for grade A; several small lots $28.25; B1's $27; sows unchanged at $16; stags $12.

There were 1,741 sheep and lambs which opened last week's close with lambs delivered by rail $23; by truck $22; bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight; common lambs $15-18; good light sheep $8-10; common down to $14.

Band Concert Much Enjoyed By Large Crowd

One of the largest crowds of the season enjoyed the sparkling melodies rendered by the Band of the 16th Heavy Anti Aircraft Regiment at a concert given at the East Hill Playgrounds last night.

The band under the direction of Lieut. MacNamara, demonstrated fine artistry in a varied program of marches, overtures classic and popular scores.

The concert was followed by the usual mid-week movies sponsored by the Belleville Recreation Commission.

After the concert officers and other personnel of the band were entertained by officers and sergeants of the 9th Anti Tank Regiment, RCA, at their respective messes in the armouries.

The band which leaves for its home in Sydney, Nova Scotia, on Sunday, will play an impromptu concert at the Canadian National Railway station starting at approximately 10.30 a.m.

The commission and the general public thank the band for their fine gesture of voluntarily giving of their time and talent in arranging a splendid program.

Morning Paper

HAMILTON (CP)—B. R. James, general manager of tri-weekly Hamilton News, announced Thursday that, when the paper becomes a daily next month, it will enter the morning field.

Silly Season Is With Us Again

SORRENTO, Italy (AP) — The third International Congress of Star Gazers, Palm Readers and Students of Things Unseen closed Wednesday after hearing a warning to the world not to throw its weight around.

Awful things happen when it does, said Dr. Raphael Ver Eeche, a dental surgeon from Brussels. He declared troop movements generally disturb the world's equilibrium, and added:

"If the Russians were to attack Europe and march toward the Congo, they would move the axis of the earth so much that Moscow would become the North Pole and Australia the South Pole."

Here's what has happened in the past 12 days:

Several trucks delivered beer to a few residents. Nobody ordered beer.

A priest was called on a sick call. Nobody was sick.

A truck delivered flowers. Nobody ordered flowers.

Firemen roared down a street. No fire. They got a second call. False Alarm.

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) —City detectives raced out of police headquarters Wednesday night on a telephone tip that "a burglar is trapped inside a building at 323 east Oglethorpe avenue."

They were speeding away in a car before the awful truth dawned—the address given was that of police headquarters.

BEAULAH, Wyo. (AP) — State representative E. Keith Thomson got carried away with himself in campaigning Wednesday for the Republican nomination for Congress.

Finally a rancher tipped him off. He had crossed the state line and was soliciting votes in South Dakota.

Commonwealth House Members To Hold Conference at Nairobi

By RONALD BATCHELOR

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Members of Parliament from 25 Commonwealth countries will meet here Aug. 21 to talk about the problems of government within the British community of nations.

More than 400 delegates from Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, South Africa comble the first Commonwealth and the colonial territories will assemble the first Commonwealth Parliamentary Association conference ever to be held in Africa.

These delegates, representing almost every parliament and constituent assembly of the 580,000,000 peoples in the Commonwealth, will spend 19 days here conferring on the complex and changing economic, social and political patterns in the federation.

Despite the Mau Mau emergency, which is costing the colony so much in blood, disruption and finance, Kenya is sharing the task of host power with South Africa and Northern and Southern Rhodesia.

When the conference is formally opened by Governor Sir Evelyn Baring in the new Parliament buildings here, Kenya will become the first colony to be "at home" to this gathering of Commonwealth parliaments since the association was founded in 1911.

SESSIONS PRIVATE

All the official conference sessions will be in private, to make it possible for delegates to speak freely and frankly.

It is expected that one of the main topics will be multi-racialism which in Kenya now is taking its first tentative steps. Delegates of practically every race and religion at the conference will be able to examine at first hand how the first African self government in a British possession in Africa is functioning.

Kenya's minister of finance, Ernest Vasey, says delegates of all races will find in his colony the pattern of future harmony between racial groups in this part of Africa, in spite of the bitter struggle still being waged against the Mau Mau.

Canada's parliament will be represented by seven of its members and delegates will be coming from the legislative assemblies of Saskatchewan, New Brunswick, Manitoba, Alberta and Newfoundland.

W. A. Mather, left, president of the CPR, and Donald Gordon, CNR president, have made no further concessions following the strike vote taken by the 145,000 rail employees. The government is considering compulsory arbitration in the dispute. (Central Press Canadian).

Papers of All Shades Applaud Eisenhower's Rejection Of Idea of 'Preventive War'

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers ranging from the Communist Daily Worker to the staid Times of London and the right-wing Daily Express today applauded President Eisenhower's rejection of the idea of a "preventive war."

The Times said of Eisenhower's Wednesday press conference remarks: "The president has made to his fellow countrymen clear, firm and sensible observations on co-existence, on not withdrawing from the United Nations, on the Indo-China settlement, on the inability of deciding now and forever what was to be China's ultimate role, on the folly of a preventive war."

PRAISE LEADERSHIP

The paper commented that in his own time and in his own way, Eisenhower is exercising a growing leadership, and said: "A world often startled by other American pronouncements will hope that he will make his own voice increasingly heard."

The mass circulation Daily Mirror said: "At last President Eisenhower has publicly slapped down the fools who urge a 'preventive' war against the Communists."

The Communist Daily Worker urged the president to meet Russian leaders. It saw his repudiation of "preventive war" as an "indication of the alarm that is felt by sober people in America, and by America's allies, in the bluster-ing of the war-crazy American generals and politicians."

The Daily Express said: "Let the president's declaration be known throughout Britain. Let the timid and ungrateful recognize the falsity of the motives they impute to American policy."

DOES WORLD SERVICE

The Labor Daily Herald said President Eisenhower does a world service, because "he sootches the 'preventive war' cry by saying it is unthinkable and impossible, for what would be preventive about a war that laid several cities in ruins?"

The Independent Scotsman commented:

"Today it is practically certain that if America were to wage a preventive war against China or Russia she would wage it alone or with inconsiderable allies like Mr. Syngman Rhee (president of South Korea). But President Eisenhower has surely exploded the idea that any such action is seriously contemplated."

ASTOR REMARRIES

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—Millionaire John Jacob Astor, 41, was married Friday to Mrs. Dolores Margriet Paulman, 32-year-old blonde divorcee from Miami Beach, whom he met two months ago. It was Astor's third marriage, the two previous having ended in divorce.

Art Collector Makes Fortune

NEW YORK (AP)—A Chicago art collector paid $450 for a painting which an expert declares is worth more than $1,000,000.

The picture is a Leonardo da Vinci "Madonna and Child," says Dr. Maurice H. Goldblatt, director of the art galleries of the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind.

Dr. Hanns R. Teichert, Chicago decorator, bought the painting here about four months ago from a New York antique dealer who said it was done by an unknown artist.

RETURNS LOOT

SUDBURY (CP)—Two $60 lawn chairs stolen last June from hotel owner Nick Perkovitch were returned to his lawn a few days ago with a note saying the person who took them has since become a Christian and seeks forgiveness. Said Perkovitch: "I am glad to get the chairs back."

THE GAME WITH DEATH

Automobile accidents took more than 1,000 lives in Ontario last year. The grim slaughter will be increased this year. Increasing traffic, excessive speed, drunk driving and driving while under the influence of alcohol, jaywalking pedestrians and level crossings have all been given as a reason for the increase.

One cause of the increasing number of traffic fatalities that has not been stressed is the failure of the public to demand laws harsh enough to curb violations of traffic regulations that lead to accidents.

At a recent convention of the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police 600 officers from 200 cities adopted a resolution calling on the legislature to increase maximum fines for first offences to $500 for speeding, $1,000 for reckless driving and $2,000 for hit-and-run driving or driving while intoxicated. The maximum fine for first offences at present is $100 for each.

In the province of Quebec recently, a magistrate dispensed entirely with fines for traffic offences and sentenced violators to jail terms. Many offenders were compelled to serve and from which they were not absolved for any reason. Traffic violations in his jurisdictional territory, we think, had been mounting at a disturbing pace, and there is almost nothing like the full impact of the magistrate's decision was pressed home by convictions and sentences ranging up to 60 days in jail.

Chiefs of police of New York State seem to feel that severe fines for traffic violators would reduce the incidence of accidents. A Quebec magistrate has proven that jail sentences will work.

The public as a whole is convinced that something drastic should be done to reduce the number of motor vehicle accidents. But the individual motorist, while he would like to see the law enforced, which drastic measures would give him by making traffic violations unprofitable and extremely unpleasant, is reluctant to press for necessary legislation because he has the feeling that the chance might call him to account. He is more ready to believe that he will be fined before he is killed because it is always "the other fellow" who is killed. He thought of a severe fine or jail sentence on the other hand, is a definite possibility which the motorist entertains with a greater fear than any thought of death. And good deal more restraint on the road is less than death because fines and jails seem more real to him than death he is unwilling to increase the possibility of his being asked to pay a fine or to go to jail.

Motorists have been more content to take their chances exceeding the speed limit and breaking traffic laws and risk the possibility of death than they have been to press for measures that would penalize them severely for such conduct. As long as motorists continue to play this catand-mouse game with death, the more deaths there are going to be on our highways.

DANGEROUS AND DESTRUCTIVE

Sir Winston Churchill, who has coined many memorable phrases, while not responsible for "peaceful co-existence," has given the term a prominence and a prestige that demands close scrutiny.

"Peaceful co-existence" implies a "live-and-let-live" attitude in a world of peace. Unfortunately, when this term is applied to the Western world's association with Soviet Russia, it not only loses its meaning but distorts the facts.

It takes two to start a fight and at least two are involved in "co-existence." It is folly to assume that "peaceful co-existence" on our part, without similar "peaceful co-existence" by the Communists, is anything but fatal. In fact Soviet Russian co-operation "peaceful co-existence" by the West might more properly be described as "appeasement," "unpreparedness," or "surrender."

Communism is inherently evil and, by anarchists, grew in strife and revolution, and was ripened by purges and conquest. The goal of Communism has been world domination by aggression and subversion. There is no need to suspect that aggression has been abandoned as one of Communism's means to world domination. The strife caused by Communist elements in France, Italy, British Guiana, Guatemala, and West Germany; the emergence of a strong Communist party in India, and the subversion ring of Communist spy rings in Canada, the United States and Australia, is so recent that elimination of subversion and treason can not be included among Communism's reforms.

"Peaceful co-existence" with a nation that uses aggression and subversion as the basis of foreign policy has proven disastrous to many nations and it is not surprising and understanding that responsible Western leaders would suggest its practice by the free countries which have not, as yet, been overrun.

The unrealistic adherence of Western leaders to the idea that "peaceful co-existence" is possible with Communism, is, to a large extent, responsible for the decisions that insured the Communist conquest of Eastern Europe, China, Mortis Cerea and more recently French Indo-China with all its attendant effects on France and the stresses which it placed on that country's alliance with the West.

"Peaceful co-existence" is not only the dream of many responsible statesmen, but is an actuality among the nations of the West in their dealings with one another. That "peaceful co-existence" is possible we need look no further than Canadian-U.S. relations. But to speak of "peaceful co-existence" with Communism as Canadians and Americans understand it is not only a gross distortion of meaning, it is destructive and dangerous.

A DIFFERENCE IN CEREMONIALS

The different approach employed by Canadian and American dignitaries in joint opening ceremonies of the St. Lawrence seaway project are interesting in the extremes.

The Canadian delegation, headed by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Ontario's Prime Minister Leslie Frost, assisted by Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York State, launched the Canadian portion of the program by lifting cut sods with silver spades.

In Massena, N.Y., where Governor Dewey was on his own, New York State signalled the start of the seaway with bursting rockets and detonations that blew tons of rock from the river bottom.

The difference in ceremonials may be significant. And

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

MODERN PAGANISM

It is disconcerting to have to face the fact that some people actually do the best and most beneficial, lacking in stability, rather than to regard some people as sinners. Some of the most pleasant people in the world are pagans. We like them and they like us and treat them very far. We laugh with them. We dine and wine with them, spend an evening or for a brief holiday, but they are not to be leaned upon with any confidence.

In olden days pagans were the people who worshiped heathen gods. Their deities had all the people who worshiped heathen gods. Their deities had all the weaknesses of the creatures over whom they presided. This was ancient paganism, and modern paganism is much the same. To the unregenerate it is the best life.

Because these pagans are often so pleasant we excuse a great many things in them which we ought not to excuse in anybody, and after all we run the danger of coming to the place where we will excuse similar weaknesses in our own lives. We should not be over serious and judge our fellows under any circumstances. But we should realize that some people are infected with a worldliness which quickly transfers it through contact.

Every individual with whom we come in contact influences us in some way. It is all to easy to giggle ourselves out of resolute purpose.

CAMPBELLFORD

Town Council Had Busy Night On Minor Issues

CAMPBELLFORD—All members, except Councillor G. Nicholls were present at the August meeting of the Campbellford Town Council, Mayor R. J. Locke presiding.

Mr. Morley Tanner asked permission to paint a "No parking" sign to assure him ingress and egress at his place of business. He was allowed to put the sign on the pavement, allowing him a 12-foot entrance.

Cyril Johnston asked, on behalf of the Kinsmen Club, permission to hold a carnival on Bridge street on Saturday, August 21st. Permission was granted.

Mr. A. C. Newman asked for a sewer to serve lots between Oliver Road and Cromwell street. This was not granted as council cannot finance the project this year, and no building will be done in 1954 on this street.

A letter of the Fire Marshal was turned over to the fire, water and light commission.

Council was advised of the short course in municipal work put on by the Department, authorized payment of expenses of E. M. Ibey, R. H. Townsend and Alfred Framing for the sessions concerning their departments.

Mr. E. F. Marsden, county engineer, thanked council for their co-operation and by letter introduced his successor, Mr. D. H. Gorrie.

Councillor Townsend said his committee recommended holding off in the purchase of a new truck, and gave the report of the police concerning the month's work.

Councillor Coleman also reported on necessary repairs on the scales and Councillor Free on legal matters.

INDIGENT PATIENTS

Councillor Tatham brought up the matter of indigent patients being admitted to the hospital without notice being sent to the hospitalization committee. This, together with matters of relief, required considerable discussion.

Mayor Locke said that an advertisement had been placed in the Campbellford Star on behalf of the Industrial Committee.

The road and bridge committee was empowered to take steps to eradicate the rats, which have been evident in the area on South Front street.

They were also empowered to remove a large elm tree between Mr. George Lucy's home, and the Baptist Church, as it is of the right-of-way and is a menace to adjacent property.

Councillor Rutherford was asked to look into the matter of erecting signs at the entrance to the town.

Mayor Locke reported that Mr. A. P. Wales, an Industrial representative in England, will visit Campbellford early in September

The bicycle by-law was given two readings and passed on the consent of the Board.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS

The by-law for transfer of property to the northeast Northumberland high school area board was passed. This property was purchased several years ago by the H. S. Board, but evidently the legal papers had been lost.

Easements are required, agreements and by-laws authorized in connection with the sewer to serve Rodney Glenn, John Wilks, Doug. Robertson and Ted Cryderman.

The sewer was passed and council adjourned.

THREAT OF RAIL

"We hope, and I think they hope, there will not be," he said, "but any other intervention by the government," he said. Then he left to resume an interrupted vacation at St. Patrick, Que., saying he didn't think the rail situation would bring him back to the capital.

The cabinet summoned spokesmen for the railways and their 140,000 non-operating union employees for Thursday's meeting with the government's second direct intervention in the dispute. The invitation went out shortly after the union turned down a Monday announced a membership vote had authorized them to call a strike to enforce demands for fringe benefits.

UNIONS CAUTIONED

Mr. St. Laurent said after the meeting with union officials that he told them they should not expect to get everything they sought.

Mr. Hall said the issues on which the prime minister gave his views were paid holidays, vacations and sick leave. The unions sought higher overtime pay for Sundays, eight paid statutory holidays a year, improved vacation arrangements and 18 days a year sick leave.

Before Mr. St. Laurent nor Mr. Hall would say what the prime minister said on particular demands, and Mr. Hall would not say how the six-man union group received the prime minister's statements.

The company group had no statement whatever.

The first government intervention — behind the normal government conciliation procedures — came in June. The labor department succeeded in restoring broken-down negotiations, but these quickly collapsed.

The railways turned down the unions' demands completely when negotiations started eight months ago. They said they could not afford the cost, which they set at $60,000,000 a year. Publicly neither union nor the company has backed down.

CONCESSIONS RUMORED

There have been reports that in the June negotiations the railways offered some concessions, but there was no information on what they may have told Mr. St. Laurent in this respect Thursday.

Mr. St. Laurent, however, suggested there was willingness to compromise.

Mr. Hall told reporters: "We do not visualize any prolonged negotiations."

But in reply to a reporter's question, Mr. St. Laurent said he did not consider the negotiations, which he emphasized would be new, already settled.

Regents Blow Three-Run Lead And Lose 4-3

INDIANS RIDE DIFFERENT STEEDS ON WESTERN PLAINS

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Blowing a three-run lead, the Belleville Reid's Regents dropped a close 4-3 decision to the Deseronto Athletics in a Belleville and District baseball league game played at Exhibition Park Tuesday night.

The Regents scored all three of their runs in the initial frame while Gord Oliver held the "A's" off the score sheet until the fifth when they massed three hits and an error for four runs and the victory.

Vern Green led off the Regents fifth inning rally with a base on balls after one was out. Lorne Mercie, the next batter tapped one through the middle for a single and Fish lined another single to right field to fill the bases initially. D. Dellor promptly towered a wrong-field triple over Malkin's head in right and with the snow-fence down the alley. Dellor scored, the ball rolled far before the fielder could catch it. Dellor rounded third on the relay to second and appeared to be a certain out but threw to home bounced by Elliott for an error and a 4-3 score.

Green failed to beat the distance in defeat, giving up a total of eight hits in the first with single through second base and Ted Stephens stabbed a triple down the left-field line for one marker. Jack Elliott drove him in with a sharp single to right and continued to third on an error. He danced off third on a third strike to Mercier and when the catcher fired to the base he headed home with Marsden dropping the ball for an easy run. The Regents were never allowed another one bit per line ning from then on.

Bud Green set the Athletics pace with the wood, chopping a pair of singles while Dellor had his all-important triple. The other hitters were. Vern Green, L. Marsell, Fish, L. Lewis and Ron Green with a single each.

Jack Elliott and Duke Doran each met Brady's stride a dozen or of singles each while Stephens and Oliver split. Don Barclay had a double with a one-base blow going to Dolan.

Line ups:

Deseronto: V. Green, L. Marsels, Fish, Elliott, Doran, Lewis, Tinney, Stewart, Brady.

Regents: Barclay, Dolan, Stephens, Dellor, Donly, Marner, Hander, Casey, Oliver.

Minor Baseball

The Point Anne midgets scored a 5-2 victory over Robb Rockets at Point Anne Reid field last night in a round-robin semi-finals series. The winners used a bases loaded double in the fourth inning to gain the victory before a fair-sized crowd. The game was close all the way.

Track Expert Raises Level Of Records

NEW YORK (AP)—Brutus Hamilton has for the third time in 20 years raised the level of the records he thinks men can achieve in athletics in the foreseeable future.

Out of his 18 "perfect records" first started in 1934 for the stand-ard Olympic events, all but four have been broken, and one of these has been tied. Of his revised list of 1952, two already have fallen. Now he has listed the eights on seven more marks.

SUPER-ATHLETES

Hamilton named the super-athletes who might achieve his new, glittering goals. Among them are Roger Bannister of England, John Landy of Australia and Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia. The Americans, with their past or present collegiate affiliations, included Parry O'Brien, Olympic shot king; Jack Davis and Ernie Shelton of southern California; Bud Held of Stanford; Johnny Bennett of Marquette; Fortune Gordon of Minnesota; Jim Dillon of Auburn; Lee Jones of Manhattan and J. W. Mashburn of Oklahoma.

Peering into the crystal ball, Hamilton can see the 50-foot shot put, a 275-foot javelin throw, seven foot, one inch in the high jump, 200 feet in the discus, 18 feet in the pole vault (admittedly distant), :45.0 in the 400 metres and :50.0 in the 440-metre hurdles. These are the records where he raised the objectives.

Hamilton is recognized not only as a great track coach but also as an authority on records. He is director of athletics at the University of California and was head coach of the sensationally successful 1952 American Olympic team.

Defection of Otto John to Reds May Weaken West Germany, EDC

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government feels that defection of Dr. Otto John to the Communists has more serious political than security implications for the West.

John, former West German intelligence chief, said Wednesday that he has gone over to the Reds because he is convinced west German and United States policies are leading to a revival of nazism and militarism in West Germany.

"It's a serious thing that John has specific information helpful to the Communists," one official said Thursday.

"But it's even more serious that his defection damages up the division between East and West Germany."

"His words carry weight with a lot of people in Europe," an official said. "His defection, and explanation for it, will weaken the prestige of the West German government and probably have strong repercussions in France.

"It will affect chances of ratification of EDC. It will affect the French."

Minor Softball

In the first game of a best of three semi-finals for the city championship of the baseball league played last night, Checker Boys secured a 6-3 decision over Maund's cleaners.

Sunny MacDonald of Checker and Reid for the losers hooked up in an even pitching duel most of the way with MacDonald giving up nine hits, fanning two and not walking a man. Reid allowed the same number of hits while whiffing five but he walked nine to provide the difference.

Sunny MacDonald was best at bat in his own cause with a double and single while Young and Masters had a brace of singles each. Pamela Crighton, Forsythian doubled and Larry MacDonald had a single.

T. Keller had a triple and single for Maund's with Scrimshaw getting a double and single. Sevigny tapped a pair of singled, E. Keller doubled and other nine-base hits went to Dever and Doxtator.

Batteries — Checker: Sunny MacDonald and Masters.

Maund's: Reid and Sevigny.

Gov. Dewey Takes Time Out to Rib Windy Politicians

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, in a jovial vacation mood, took time out to rib what he considered, for the day—but he picked a Canadian audience.

At the ground-breaking for the Province of Ontario's half of the St. Lawrence river power project, Dewey made address followed one by Canada — obviously the main speech for the crowd in Cornwall, Ont.

The custom is different in the United States, Dewey noted, where the biggest name usually speaks last.

SMALL FRY

He theorized that American politicians probably figure their audiences wouldn't sit through leiter oratory after hearing a bigwig speak—this having the small fry facing a lot of empty seats.

"Canadians must have a greater capacity for courtesy or a greater capacity to stand punishment," Dewey added, as the Canadian crowd laughed.

Prime Minister Frost of Ontario had his say about Dewey on the dedication day:

"May I thank Governor Dewey, as a great American and a good neighbor, for his part in the accomplishments so far which culminated in this day. But for the power project the seaway project could not be."

And the Canadian crowd appeared to like Dewey, who spoke in his friendliest informal manner. His black hair and briefly moustache made a definite break with usual custom for 52-year-old the greyheaded Canadian leaders

NEW INTEREST

McCarthy's Appeal to U.S. Senate To Pay Lawyer's Fee Is Approved

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) today won his appeal for the Senate to pay the salary of a lawyer to represent him in a forthcoming new investigation of his official conduct.

Senator Hubert Watkins (Rep., Utah), chairman of the special committee which will conduct the hearings on a censure move aimed at McCarthy, announced the decision. He said the Wisconsin senator will be allowed to select the lawyer.

Members of the sub - committee which investigated McCarthy's row with high army officials said they hoped to release their report by next Wednesday or Thursday.

Senator Karl Mundt (Rep., S.D.), who presided over those 36-day hearings, told reporters the sub-committee's seven members met behind closed doors Tuesday, and that he expected action on the agreement among them — "much more than I had dared hope for." He declined to give any hint as to the verdict.

McCARTHY ANSWERS STAR

Watkins told reporters he doubted his committee would be interested in a published report that McCarthy may soon be billed for additional federal income taxes. The internal revenue service declined comment on the report, published Thursday by the Washington Evening Star.

McCarthy denounced as "baloney" the Star's story that the internal revenue service was getting ready to bill him for about $30,000 in income taxes and interest for the years 1946 through 1952. One year said tax officials do not contend the senator acted with fraudulent intent.

McCarthy said no one in the revenue service has indicated he owes "one cent" more tax than he had declared. On the contrary, he said, "there is the indication that they owe me a debate for what I was overcharged by the old Truman administration."

On another front, McCarthy said he is ordering a staff study of a one-time Voice of America official's report that he was fired for talking to the FBI about "Communist leanings" in the agency.

Made public Thursday was a letter to the rules committee in which John G. Dorsey of New York City protested that he had been fired for "co-operating" with McCarthy's investigation. He is a "Voice" and because "I gave the FBI much information" a large part of which referred to a high official of the "Voice". The letter did not name the official.

CANADIAN ARMY

One high air force officer summed up the situation some months ago when he said: "The armed forces are in a buyers' market for manpower."

BEYOND THAN U.S., U.K.

If, in his three years in the army, a soldier has learned a trade and feels dissatisfied, he can apply to Civvy Street good when his term is up. He is more than likely won't sign on again.

Authorities said the rate of re-engagement is still more than twice as high as in the United States and "much higher" than in Britain for equivalent voluntary personnel. Both the U.S. and Britain have conscription, Canada's service.

Compared to other countries, we are in a happy position," one official said. "We would like to see it still better because if we lost a man who has been trained we have to expend time and money to train a new one."

Another, however, said: "You can't get away from those figures. The army is barely holding its own. But with fairly high employment in civilian life, perhaps it's lucky to be holding its own."

BUNT RAPIST

STANFIELD, Ariz. (AP)—"He was a naughty man! He was a naughty man!" sobbed a frightened three-year-old girl who was whisked from her bed Tuesday night, raped and left a half mile from her home. The child, Bobbie Holliday of Stanfield, was discovered about 5½ hours after her abductor tore open a screen on a window, and lifted her out of bed.

Marines to Storm Old Fort Henry But in Peace

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) United States Marines are going to storm Old Fort Henry at Kingston again next week—but this time in peace.

The invasion will be part of a military show for tourists and townsfolk, it was announced by U.S. and Canadian officials, at the historic fortress guarding the entrance to the Rideau Canal.

Arriving next Wednesday, the units will march across the Thousand Islands International bridge to Fort Henry at Kingston, Ont.

There it will join with Canadian military units in ceremonies in tribute to the Ogdensburg Agreement of 1939, which initiated the joint defence of North America by Canada and the U.S.

It will recall, too, the War of 1812—when an American fleet with 1,000 thousand U.S. marines assaulted the British naval base at Kingston. This time, the American Marines are not only to be welcomed but will be given a Canadian military escort to the fort and then given the "keys" to the bastion.

Other events expected to be witnessed by more than 14,000 vacationers are the firing of a 150-year-old cannon, a torchlight tattoo, a jet plane aerial show, band programs and firing of old-type war rockets.

Weddings

NEIL—RODGERS

A quiet, but pretty summer wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Donald Jay, of Toronto, in Trinity United Church, Hastings, Ontario, on Saturday, July 31st, at 2.00 p.m., when Annie Pearl Rodgers of Trenton, formerly of Belleville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Rodgers, of Stoney Lake, Ontario, was united in marriage to E. Roy Neil, of Trenton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Neil, of Hastings, Ontario.

The bride was attired in royal blue nylon lace over satin, in street length, with white hat and white accessories. She wore a corsage of mauve orchids.

Mrs. William Chamberlain, of Norwood, was matron of the bride, was her only attendant, gowned in grey figured crepe with matching grey hat, and accessories, and corsage of pale mauve orchids, and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. William Chamberlain, of Norwood, attended the bridegroom.

Guests were present from Peterborough, Toronto and Centre Dummer, Ontario.

NORCOTT—ANDRESS

White gladioli formed the setting in the First Presbyterian church, Brockville, for the marriage at 2.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, July 17, of Virginia Evelyn Andress, first daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Andress, Brockville, to David Eric Norcott only son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Norcott, Brockville. The Rev. W. Merrilees performed the ceremony.

Mr. Edward Flanigan played the wedding music. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Margaret Eland sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over white taffeta with long-sleeved lace jacket and fingertip veil to match. Her flowers were white French carnations and an orchid.

Miss Betty Andress, of Brockville, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a gown of pink nylon net over taffeta. Her flowers were a Colonial bouquet of white carnations and Sweetheart roses.

Miss Carol McClintock, Belleville also attended the bride, as bridesmaid and wore a gown of blue nylon net over taffeta. Her flowers were a Colonial bouquet

Women of Moose Present Wheel Chair to Club for Disabled Persons

The Women of the Moose highlighted their bi-monthly chapter meeting last night with presentation of a wheelchair to the Belle Haven Club for Handicapped and Disabled Persons.

The wheelchair was the responsibility of the Alumnae committee of the Women of the Moose, who decided only a week ago to donate it.

The presentation last night was made by the committee chairman, Mrs. Marguerite Wright, and was accepted on behalf of the club by John Nisbett, chairman of the Belle Haven club's Citizens' Home Services committee.

Frank Follwell, MP, who was a guest at the session complimented the women on their presentation and said "it is a very great thing that they should seize the opportunity to help the disabled."

"Their efforts will be appreciated and long remembered by recipients of the wheel chair," he added.

He also extended an invitation to the members to organize a party to visit Ottawa while Parliament is in session, and assured them "I will make it a most interesting time for you."

Thanking the members for the wheelchair, Mr. Nisbett said: "It gives us a great start in helping handicapped and disabled members of the Belle Haven Club."

TO DEFRAY COST

To help defray cost of the chair the committee organized a dinner prize for which was $50 cash or a week-end trip to Toronto. The prize was won by Mrs. Dorothy Tinkess. On Saturday, the committee is also sponsoring a carnival at Byron Street, Hillcrest, in an effort to raise more funds.

Members on the committee who provided the chair are, Ruth Mintz, Mary Van Dusen; Anne St. Denis, Marguerite Wright, Pearl Way, and Florence Carubel.

Two new members also were initiated into the Women of the Moose at last night's meeting. They are Mrs. Mary Gaffney, and Mrs. Helen Kellar.

Following the meeting a supper was served by the Alumnae committee to members and guests.

The chapter was chaired by the senior regent M. Calbury, while the chaplain for 1st night was Lena Connell.

Piano selections were given by Mrs. Irene Reid.

Parents Need Spanking at Times Says Director of 'Big Sister'

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Sometimes parents should be spanked, instead of the children, says Mary Luggin, director of Toronto's Big Sister organization.

In a discussion on delinquency she said "our job here at Big Sister is often a matter of re-educating both parties."

Big Sister in Canada is still small, but its work of aiding adolescent girls has far-reaching results. It has been established in Toronto, Hamilton and Calgary, and similar services operate in other centres.

"The girls who come for help are not bad girls," says director Luggin. "Most people think we deal only with girls who are in trouble with the law, but our work is mainly preventive. They are just mixed-up kids who have vital questions on home, family and sex which need straight answers."

FROM ALL CLASSES

In recent years an increasing proportion of girls have been referred to the association by their own families. These are usually girls having trouble at school, running away from their homes or fighting with their parents.

Case workers deal with girls from every strata of society, with girls from high income families and private school backgrounds as well as children of less fortunate homes.

Last year about 381 cases reached the Toronto group. This year they will cope with twice as many.

Big Sister originated in New York City around the turn of the century. Work was done by volunteers for girls from 12 to 18.

ELDORADO-BANNOCKBURN W.I.

ELDORADO — The Eldorado-Bannockburn Women's Institute held its August meeting at the summer cottage of Mrs. Frank Palmer on Yokom Lake, with 16 members and three children present.

Owing to a severe electric storm, the meeting was much disturbed.

Mrs. Beryle Carman took charge of the program, this being the "grandmothers' meeting." "Grandmother's Clock" was sung; a reading, "A Modern Piece of Literature," and several others were given.

Several of the grandmothers showed treasures they had kept for years.

After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

MISSION BAND ENTERTAINED

Stirling—On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. L. Rodgers, president of St. Andrew's, W.M.S. welcomed the Mission Band children, Cradle Roll members and their mothers to a special children's meeting. Mrs. Vernon Matthews presided at the piano.

Mrs. James Johnston was in charge of the program. Mrs. Clarke Rodgers and Miss Carlyn Fargey each outlined a missionary story.

Miss Heather Rodgers rendered a vocal selection.

Following the program the W.M.S. ladies served refreshments and all enjoyed a brief social hour.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IT'S LIKELY THIS CHAP IS "JUST PLAYING AROUND"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17, and the guy I go out with is 24. He will be 25 very soon.

I know that I'm too young, but I'm not sure that he loves me, because he never actually tells me he does except in a joking way. He also takes another girl out, but she and myself are the only girls he dates. You might say that we take turns.

Could you please tell me how I could find out if he really cares for me or is just playing around?

— S.W.

Dear S.W.:

I don't think it would take very much detective work to find out what you want to know. Right to the face of things, I would say it is far more likely that this chap is "just playing around" than that he is in love with you.

No doubt he likes you well enough, but I doubt very much if he is taking you seriously in the least, and I think you are very foolish to dream any dreams about him. Very few men of his age are interested in teen-agers, and the fact that he does take you out makes me think that he is not mature for his age, or else he is just amusing himself with you. I advise you to be very conservative about going out with him and, especially, to refrain from kissing him or permitting him to fondle you.

I'm sure that your feeling for him is largely a matter of being flattered because a young man so much older than yourself has noticed you and paid you attention. You would be far wiser to stop accepting his invitations and stick to boys closer to your own age.

TRY TO WIN PARENTS OVER BEFORE DEFYING THEM

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a young man of 20 who is in love with a girl my parents dislike. She is 19.

My parents have no real reason for disliking this girl, and I feel quite sure it is only their desire to keep me at home with them that makes them constantly try to break up my friendship with the girl.

Can you tell me if there is any state in which we could be married at our ages without the consent of our parents. — Phil

Dear Phil:

There are a number of states in which it would be possible for you two to be married without the consent of your parents, but if I were you I would consider that course only as a last resort. In other words, I don't think you should just walk off and get married without any warning.

What would seem to me a sensible thing to do would be to wait until you are 21, and so of legal age for marriage in your own state. Then, if your parents still oppose your marriage, tell them as friendly a way as you can that you would be very sorry to marry against their wishes, but that you are in love with this girl and, if you cannot marry her with their consent, you intend to marry her without it. Prove now until then, however, by to be just as thoughtful and considerate and devoted to your mother and father as you can. Don't allow yourself to be drawn into any arguments, but give them an opportunity now and awhile to be friendly to the girl by, for example, inviting them to accompany the two of you on some outing.

Take your girl into your confidence on what you are doing and get her help. If you both work together and handle things diplomatically, you may win out in the end. If not, then I think you would be fully justified in making your own decision and taking independent action.

ROYAL DOCTOR DIES

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Stanley Hewett, medical adviser to the Royal Family for over 40 years, died Wednesday at his home here. He was 74. After being surgeon apothecary to King George V and Queen Mary, he was appointed to a similar position by King George VI, and in 1953 became extra surgeon apothecary to Queen Elizabeth.

Books read during the month 17. Community Friendship paper 42. Supply secretary, Miss Holmes, gave hints on suitable articles for overseas bale and suggested a towel-kit shower.

The worship service with theme "My brother's keeper," was conducted by Mrs. L. Bennett and Mrs. Noyler. Jesus did not give each one rules of life, as to what His followers must do in war, slavery of all types, and obstinence, but He did lay down principles of life and moral conduct. Anything that hurts personality either one's own or another's, is opposed to the gospel of Christ.

Mrs. Empey presented a thoughtful and challenging talk on stewardship. "We need the wisdom of Abraham Lincoln. The field is the world." Dr. Allan Knight of Africa, reports in regard to the work, "We are gospel by natives. When cattle wandered and ate the corn of a native and died, missionary wanted to make restitution, the money was refunded. Instead a plea for help to be given to his village. "He Liveth Long Who Liveth Well" was sung.

Mrs. Lawson closed the meeting. A social time followed.

The following evening several members enjoyed the hospitality of Hazard's lodge at the home of Mrs. Max Burnside.

YOUR VACATION POST-CARDS SHOW YOUR TASTE

Vacation post-cards are fun to send, fun to receive. With a minimum of space and effort, they can be charming messengers of good (what horrors we see on exhibition!), or ones that will not be many short cuts that we have anticipated they would be when you chose them in your "holiday mood."

Choose with sure taste your vacation post-card and on them write "becoming" words.

HOW TO SIGN THOSE VACATION CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When my husband and I, with our two children, 6 and 8, are on our vacation and we send picture-post-cards, how should they be signed? (We want to send a lot of cards, for we've never been away together before, and this is no chance to send cards to relatives and friends who have been so thoughtful in the past in sending us cards.) Should we sign "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" or perhaps just "Mr. and Mrs. Smith and family" on the cards to neighbors and acquaintances, and our first names to cards to relatives and friends? — Anne

Don't ever sign a card "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" or "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and family." Signatures are informal names. You would, actually, sign first names to cards to relatives and friends; when children are included in the signature, the first name comes first: John and Anne and Nancy and Peter, Or, to neighbors and acquaintances, "Greetings from the Travelling Smiths, John and Anne, Nancy and Peter." Or: "Hi! The Four Smiths send you!" Use your greetings and best wishes. Our trip is wonderful, and we wish you were with us!

SHOULD FIND OUT CHOICE OF INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A college classmate of mine is being married in October, and I am planning to give her a medium -size silver tray, of the kind I know she very much wants. I'd of course like to have this marked. But I don't know if she is using the initials of her maiden name or of her married name in her silverware. Do you advise that I send the tray to her unmarked and let her have it marked as she wishes? — Dorothy K.

No, this is very often most inconvenient for the receiver of a gift of silver. You should write to your friend and ask her what initials she is using, also the type of engraving she prefers, perhaps enclosing the send you a sketch of the marking she is using. It is, of course, not so important that the marking of a tray exactly match the marking of a flat-silver piece, but you would be able to achieve the general type of her choice.

IS THE towel usually in a heap on the floor after Junior washes his hands? Try clipping it on a snap clothespin tied to the towel rack. It's easy to reach and can't be dropped. Use a different color clothespin for each child's towel.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

FASHIONS AND FADS AFFECT HAIR

Think of all the industries that are going full blast because women would be lost if not for fearance-beautiful textiles for her apparel, jewelry, cosmetics, sheer hosiery, ready-made wear, foundations and bras, not to mention hats—shops by the thousands, all of which are crowded to the dozes.

Beauty-fads that come and go have a tremendous influence on business. There was when the false hair industry was going like a house afire. Great-grandma will tell you how every woman who could afford the price plaked from sixty dollars on more for false pompadours and coronation braids in the era of the Merry Widow hat. This frenzy waned and many hair goods firms went out of business.

When the chemise frock appeared, made like a pillow case and using just about two yards of material, manufacturers of dress fabrics had a scare, fearing the reducing mania that went on at this time had accomplished bitterly about the slump in sales of white bread and pastries.

When Anne Boleyn picked up a pair of shears and gave herself a bowl cut nobody knows what a panic. Wasn't it possible, they feared, that women, like men, would have a standardized hair cut and dispense with professional service? But along came the permanent wave machine, the grandest piece of luck that ever happened to the beauty industry. The early treatments kept the bell ringing on the cash register, some waves costing the customers as much as seventy-five dollars. The beautician were happy and prosperous again.

During the end of world war one women were wearing bandeleved soiree bonnets as the "straight front." When they tried to pack their daughter's avelle bodies into the same they rebelled and chucked the things in the furnace. It looked as if the corset business was doomed. Nothing doing. After a short period the foundation appeared and the girls were properly harnessed again.

If the time ever comes when beauty fads disappear and women don't care how they look—I won't, of course—civilization will be in a bad way. Women are the spenders of the world. And it is only right and proper that a certain amount should be spent in the glorious cause of pulchritude.

GENERAL EXPORTS UP

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The department of commerce and industries said South Africa's general exports last year were $90,000,000 greater than gold exports. Exports of general merchandise rose from £29,000,000 in 1938 to £242,000,000 in 1953.

LETTER:

. . . here are Emem's Mashed Potato Balls (this is Mary P.'s recipe now, M.M.). I think a bit of salt and butter could be added and perhaps some milk, don't know you? They are the same as the potato fudge we used to make when I was in high school.

MASHED POTATO BALLS

(Courtesy Wanda)

One-half cup hot mashed (riced) potatoes blended with 2 cups sifted icing sugar. Add 2 cups cocoanut (2 teaspoons butter and some salt and vanilla?) Roll in balls (about 3-4" in diameter). Let set until dry. Dip bottoms in melted chocolate.

ANSWER:

Thanks Wanda for your help. I hope the reader who wanted this recipe sees this today. I chortled over your letter. You will see that I heeded your mail.

QUESTION:

. . . would appreciate a recipe for; tomato aspic that could be molded in a large pan and cut in squares. Also that would be firm and not get soft on the plates . . .for sixty guests.—Mrs. D. E.

ANSWER:

TOMATO ASPIC (Jelly)

This jelly is extra firm which makes it easy to cut and keep its shape even if the day of the reception be hot.

Soak 2 envelopes (1 1-2 tablespoons) gelatin in 2 cups cold water, 5 1-2 cups canned tomatoes (fingertail quarts), 16 whole cloves, 2 tablespoons salt, 1-2 cup sugar, 6 whole onions, 1 stick cinnamon, cayenne. Soak the gelatin in the cold water 10 minutes. Cook tomatoes, cloves, salt, sugar, onion and cayenne for 15 minutes gently. Add gelatin, remove from heat and stir until dissolved. Strain. Turn into enamel pan. Pan is ready to cut in 1-2 1-4 inches to chill and set. Cut into squares or diamonds and serve on bed of cupped lettuce and pass cucumber mayonnaise.

LETTER:

I am sending you my recipe for unbaked cookies without the potatoes.

UNBAKED DATE SQUARES

(Courtesy Mary L. Godfrey)

Mix together coconut, envelopes gelatin (1 1-2 tablespoons), 1 cup sugar, 1 cup water, 1 cup icing sugar, 1 cup grated apple, 2 tablespoons orange juice, essence and vanilla. Boil sugar, water and gelatin for 10 minutes. Leave to cool. Add icing sugar, and orange juice. Whip until thick and white. Flavor with vanilla and add dates and mix thoroughly. Spread in lightly buttered pans, when firm cut into squares, roll in a mixture of icing sugar and cornstarch sprinkled with cocoanut.

NOTE:

Chopped glace cherries or nuts may be used in place of dates.

ANSWER:

Thank you very much Miss Godfrey. I would suggest to readers who make this that they mix the water and gelatin first and let it stand for five minutes, then add sugar and stir while it heats to boiling then cook it over very low heat. Sometimes excess heat will break down the jelling power of gelatin.

QUESTION:

. . . here are the ingredients for the Corn Flake Pudding (which you asked me to give to you when I referred to it): 4 cups cornflakes, 4 cups milk, 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup light molasses, 1-4 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon butter. . . many thanks.—Vera A. R.

ANSWER:

It isn't my recipe Vera but the 1-4 teaspoon sugar should read 1-4 teaspoon salt. I enjoyed your letter and reference to your relatives in my city.

Cherokee Ranch Rodeo Will Bring Real Western Thrills to Fairgoers

Cowboy yells, the zip of maguey rope, and the jingling of spurs will usher in a real, ring-tailed tornado of Western thrills when the Cherokee Ranch Rodeo appears at the Belleville Fair Monday afternoon and evening.

The Cherokee outfit, one of the finest groups of bronc riders, bull-doggers and fancy ropers in the country, was secured through George Hamid, famous New York producer of outdoor attractions.

Nearly fifty top-money rodeo contestants from the Southwest will take part with almost a hundred saddle broncs, Brahma bulls, calves and dogging steers. The broncs and bulls are fresh from Texas and how they will perform or what they will do no one can say ahead of time except that it will be high, wide and handsome.

A sample of the two-hour program will include clown acts, trick ropers, Roman riding, horse catches, Brahma bull riding, calf roping, trick horses, jumping horses, bull-dogging, saddle bronc riding, shooting acts, trick riding and many other specialty thrills.

Wild steers and bucking horses provide many a thrilling moment. Cowboys, ridding life and limb frequently try, but seldom succeed in riding the wild stock carried by the rodeo. As soon as the animals show evidence of becoming tame they are replaced by wild, newly-imported ones from the West.

This rodeo is a colorful, fiesta-like presentation that is authentic rodeo from start to finish just as it is still presented today in the far West. The brilliancy of costumes adds a touch of the carnival spirit.

World Famous 'Rose Midgets' Will Stage Remarkable Show at Fair

Internationally famous as the world's smallest performers, these "little" people present a full forty-five minute stage show with singing, dancing and variety acts that have amazed theatregoers in the largest theatres all over the world. This is the first time that these versatile and enjoyable acts have been presented on any midway, and the response of the public has been instantaneous and enthusiastic.

None of these miniature stars is over thirty inches tall, and all are equipped with the beauty of features, bodies and talent that would do credit to any Hollywood movie studio, as, in fact, they have, for several have appeared before the floodlights and cameras in important roles.

Notwithstanding the fact that Conklin Shows are presenting the largest midway ever to show here, with over fifty big shows and thrilling rides and America's biggest kiddieland, the "Rose Midgets" are one attraction that should be seen by every person, regardless of age. It will certainly be appreciated by the smaller children as well as the grown ups.

Duke Will Present Gift To Peters

QUEBEC (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh will make a "small personal presentation" to marathoner Jimmy Peters of England who collapsed 200 yards from the finishing line at the British Empire Games in Vancouver but won the admiration of sports fans the world over.

In a prepared statement issued by Commander Michael Parker, private secretary to Prince Philip, reports that a special award was recommended to the Queen by Philip were denied.

However, the statement said, "His Royal Highness decided in Vancouver to make a small personal presentation on his return to the United Kingdom."

PREMIER ATTACKED

TOKYO (AP)—A new political storm blew about Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today with both wings of the Socialist party demanding he quit. Some Conservatives were equally disgruntled. While the main issue was domestic, the right wing of the Socialist party also attacked his pro-United States foreign policy and called for peace treaties with Red China and Russia.

Re-Open Inquest

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP) —An inquest into the death of Emilie Dionne, one of the famed 20-year-old quintuplets, will re-open here August 19, it was announced Thursday.

The inquest was opened in Ste. Agathe last Friday, the day of her death, but adjourned to await the findings of an autopsy performed in Montreal last Saturday.

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, provincial medico-legal expert, found Emilie choked to death during an epileptic fit.

A morgue official said following the autopsy that the re-opened inquest would "be only a formality" for official purposes.

Jury Rules Death 'Accidental'

OTTAWA (CP) — A coroner's jury Thursday night ruled the death of 35-year-old Raymond Whissell of suburban Eastview in a dentist's office July 14 was "purely accidental."

The boy died under anaesthetic while having four teeth removed. The jury found death resulted from heart failure caused by the chloroform anaesthesia.

Nudists Snatch Camera from Man

NORTH BAY (CP) — Emmett Watters, 20-year-old hardware salesman, said Thursday two uranium-hunting nudists snatched a camera from him and destroyed the film after he encountered them in the bush near here.

The incident occurred near a nudist colony east of this northern Ontario city. Watters said that before the two nude men came out of the bush, he heard someone chipping rock, as if prospecting for precious metals.

"One of them threatened me with a prospector's hammer. He was a little guy with a fire warden's badge, a pair of glasses and running shoes. The other was bigger and wore only shoes."

Revenue Agents Say McCarthy Owes $25,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Evening Star said yesterday internal revenue agents, after an 18 months' investigation, have concluded that Senator Joseph McCarthy Rep.-Wis. owes additional income taxes and interest of about $25,000.

The newspaper said it learned the revenue service will present evidence it has gathered to McCarthy and give him a chance to explain data that the tax investigators do not understand.

"The tax agents do not contend that Senator McCarthy acted with fraudulent intent," the story said.

"Instead, they assert the Wisconsin legislator erroneously classified as non-taxable some of the money he received and on which he should have paid taxes."

Avalanche Kills Two Climbers

CHAMONIX, France (Reuters)—An avalanche of snow-capped Mt. Blanc today killed two Italian climbers who were nearing its summit, bringing the death toll in accidents in the French Alps in the past four days to seven.

A team of crack French guides were today held up by thick layers of ice and freshly-fallen snow only a few hundred yards from two French soldiers they were trying to rescue on the 10,500-foot Grepon peak of Mont Blanc.

The soldiers had been stranded on a ledge for four days after being lost in a blizzard, and their shouts for help could be heard as the rescuers approached.

A BONUS OF POWER!
with Marvelube and ESSO GASOLINES
used in combination

THE POWER BONUS

The leading gasoline and motor oil combinations in Canada, because of their chemical composition and use of additives, fall into three types—A, B, and C. Controlled tests prove that motorists who use type A have a bonus of power over users of Types B and C.

TYPE A TYPE B
TYPE C

MARVELUBE MOTOR OIL AND ESSO GASOLINES HAVE LONG BEEN THE LEADERS IN TYPE A COMBINATION... GIVING MOTORISTS A BONUS OF GREATER ENGINE POWER... MORE MILEAGE... BETTER PERFORMANCE.

More than two years of road tests in all makes of cars under all driving conditions . . . and more than two years of laboratory tests in Imperial Oil research laboratories prove conclusively that when the "matched pair" of Marvelube motor oil and Esso gasolines are used together motorists can actually get—

GREATER ENGINE POWER . . . MORE MILEAGE . . . LESS ENGINE WEAR
THE SAME INCREASE IN POWER THAT RESULTS WHEN MORE OCTANES ARE ADDED TO THE GASOLINE
BETTER PERFORMANCE FROM ALL CARS, NEW AND OLD

Because Esso gasolines are clean burning . . . and because Marvelube has special properties that keep engines remarkably clean . . . when they are used together, the reduction in engine deposits is so marked the result is a bonus of greater power and engine efficiency.

5,300 Studebaker Workers Vote to Accept Pay Cut To Keep Company Going

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Some 5,300 Studebaker automotive workers have voted to accept a pay cut to keep their company going.

In an event unique in the history of industrial relations Studebaker employees agreed Thursday by an overwhelming 8-1 vote to accept a cut in hourly wages to put Studebaker in a better competitive position by reducing production costs' of cars.

The company has reported a loss of nearly $9,000,000 for the first six months of 1954. Its sales dropped from $349,000,000 in the first half of last year to $121,000,000 during the same period this year.

Its wage scale, an executive said, was more than 30 cents an hour above the levels for the rest of the industry. Officials said Local 5 of the CIO United Automobile Workers the company could no longer pay such wages and remain in existence.

This result began to be felt some nine months ago. These things happened:

1. The automobile market changed to a "buyer's market." Cars were available and people began shopping for bargains.

2. A fierce, claw-and-fang sales war opened between Studebaker's and other automotive companies. This company was caught in the middle.

3. Defence contracts leveled off so Studebaker received no longer offset operational costs. The "cost plus" contracts, which tended to minimize the importance of production costs, began to disappear.

Almost overnight workers found themselves working an average of eight days a month. Take-home pay dropped to $120 a month. At one time it was $350.

Even with a $27 a week in unemployment compensation, he began going into debt. He has a wife and two small children.

The new wage scale, for which he voted, will mean a potential loss of $14.40 a week in his earnings.

"But if I get steady work, as they say we will, I'm going to be ahead in the long run," he said. "I'll be tickled to pieces with a steady 40 hours a week even if I don't get so much per hour.

"We're hoping now to be able to put in the flower beds out there. I hope the company can do the same thing for itself."

Ontario May Be First to Take Advantage of Atomic Power

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP)—Ontario may be the first province to take advantage of atomic power, a former director of the Chalk River atomic energy project said Thursday.

W. B. Lewis, vice-president of Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, said in an address at the Couchiching conference that Ontario is closer than any of the other provinces to reaching its limit of hydro development.

Another conference speaker, C. J. Firestone, economic adviser in the department of trade and commerce, said he disagrees with the theory that Canada is prosperous because of high defence expenditures. He predicted a continuing tremendous economic growth until at least 1975.

Mr. Lewis predicted that, during the next 20 years, atomic energy will become cheap enough to compete with coal. He said Canada is using 20 per cent of its hydro potential and soon will be seeking other sources of power for industry.

Canadians, with a per capita demand of .86 kilowatts, had the highest power demand in the world, Mr. Firestone showed by way of lessening in the light of steady population growth.

Mr. Firestone said the need abroad for Canada's raw materials and the domestic need for more transportation, power, commercial and housing development, argued further against dependency on defence spending for prosperity.

We foresee at least another 50-per-cent improvement in levels of production and in the standard of living. There will be better housing, educational and health facilities, more appliances and household equipment and less work for the housewife, with more leisure for the working man."

The conference, a joint project of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs and the CBC, ends tonight.

Butter, Cheese Production Up During July

OTTAWA (CP) — Production of creamery butter, cheddar cheese, concentrated milk products and margarine in Canada rose last month compared with July, 1953.

The bureau of statistics reported today production of butter increased to 44,152,000 pounds compared with 41,783,000 last year, bringing the January-July total to 185,278,000 pounds against 178,319,000 in 1953.

July's output of cheddar cheese amounted to 12,895,000 pounds (10,629,000) and the January-July production totalled 46,118,000 pounds (43,719,000).

LESS ICE CREAM

Ice cream production decreased during the month, dropping to 4,395,000 gallons from 4,574,000, but the January-July total showed an increase at 17,548,000 (17,529,000).

Production of concentrated milk products totalled 56,164,000 pounds (53,612,000), bringing the cumulative total to 218,451,000 pounds (274,839,000).

Margarine production rose for the sixth month in a row in July to 7,802,000 pounds, 41,000 more than the same month last year to bring the seven-month total to 64,288,000 pounds, 2,617,000 pounds more than 1953.

COMPARE STOCK

Processing of cream production dropped in July to 3,388,000 pounds (3,484,000), but the January-July total increased to 24,400,000 (24,324,000).

Production compared with last year: Creamery butter, up 15,700,000 pounds to 185,278,000; ice cream, up 95,000 gallons to 1,267,000; skim milk powder, up 2,600,000 pounds to 17,538,000; cheddar cheese, down 1,000,000 pounds to 40,330,000 evaporated whole milk, down 7,500,000 to 60,326,000.

Premier Defends Action of Govt. On Highways

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Premier Frost said Thursday his government has taken "fearless action" in correcting abuses in the Ontario highway department.

He told a civic luncheon here that "by and large, contracts have not made anything approaching large profits."

"In a few cases they have lost money," he said.

The Ontario government was "cleaning over backwards" to check into the irregularities and urged people "to keep this whole problem in proper perspective."

HUGE INCREASE

He said the administrative flaws behind the investigations were the result of a 200-per-cent increase in departmental work during a few years.

Premier Frost said "magnificent roads" have been constructed through the Lakehead country "which has great natural obstacles."

He said these roads had been built "remarkably low prices." "I have no intention of burying our heads in the sand and I do not retain these things with any intention of condoning bad methods.

"But I refer to them to prevent hasty distortion of the problem or unfounded meetings on the part of the public."

Eskimos Will Be Rewarded For Vigilance

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto mining executive Douglas Banks said today he intends to reward vigilant Eskimos who aided in the rescue of his 18-year-old son John, rescued six days in the stormy wastes of a Hudson bay island.

Twenty of the Eskimos will get rifles and pipes for their part in the search which brought the boy back safely after he had wandered more than 100 miles, subsisting on blueberries and lake water.

Take Summer Course

BRANTFORD (CP) — Seventy-five teachers and school inspectors from many parts of the province are attending a summer course this week at Five Oaks camp near here. Discussion centres on why and how teachers and clergy should teach the prescribed courses in religion in Ontario public schools.

Rt. Rev. George Pidgeon of Toronto, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, said in an address that not nearly as much religious teaching as regulations permit is done in the schools.

"The churches are responsible for failing to take advantage of the opportunities that are offered," he said.

Columnist Dies

The column conducted by Mrs. Purser ran first in the old Globe and was continued in the Globe and Mail. It contained letters from readers, many of whom asked Mrs. Purser and other readers for help in solving their household problems.

B.C. Slumping Coal Industry Bracing Self for New Attack

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's slumping coal mining industry, already reeling from the competition of hydro - electricity and oil, is bracing itself for a new attack from natural gas.

"Natural gas is going to be a great thing for this province, but there is no doubt that coal operations will be adversely affected by the slackening demand for coal," says Norman R. Whittall, who has a vital interest in both industries.

Besides being president of Canadian Collieries Ltd., the province's second largest coal mining operation, Mr. Whittall is a director of Westcoast Transmission Ltd., the company that seeks to pipe Peace River natural gas to B.C. markets and the U.S.

The coal dealers here are also anxious. "If the Westcoast project had been approved and the pipeline to Vancouver built!" said one, "our business would have been cut in half. The demand for coal would have been too great."

The once flourishing coal industry in B.C. now has been reduced to three main operations—Canadian Collieries' mines on Vancouver island which produce close to 18,500 tons a month; the Bulkley Valley Collieries Ltd., 3,000 tons a month; and the Crows Nest Pass Coal Co. Ltd., at Fernie, the biggest producer with 80,000 to 100,000 tons a month.

Small mines are scattered throughout B.C., but of these only the operations in the Nicola valley produce together more than 2,000 tons a month.

Production, moreover, has become specialized. At the Crows Nest pass operation, the bulk of the output is turned into coke to be shipped to Trail and smelters in Montana. Only Canadian Collieries produces for the B.C. domestic market.

Mr. Whittall said that while the immediate market for coal remains "unfavorable," chemical development of coal for its by-products is not far distant.

The development of a steel industry here would also lead to a new demand for coke, he said.

Surveyors Select New Site For Arctic Town of Aklavik

OTTAWA (CP) — Government surveyors believe they have located a new site for a permanent Arctic community of Aklavik which must be moved to a new location to prevent it sinking through melting permafrost.

A 5-year-old settlement, largest in the Canadian Arctic, is located on the delta on the west bank of the river about 70 miles south of the Arctic ocean. It must be moved because in the heat of summer, ground warmth created by buildings, excavations and turn the permafrost terrain into a quagmire.

Mr. Robertson said the surveyors have discovered what appears to be a good site on the east bank of the river about 50 miles east of the present location.

Mr. Robertson said if the survey party finds it will be able to make a definite decision early in the fall. The big job of moving most of the buildings to the new site would be carried out by the winter of 1956-57.

Farmers Tour Marsh

BRADFORD, Ont. (CP)—Farmers from many parts of Ontario Thursday toured the potato-growing Holland marsh north of Toronto as the potato growers' section of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association held its third annual potato field day.

During the 25-mile tour they saw the 1,220 acres of potatoes planted this year. They also had a look at the pumping stations in the marsh and two vacuum cooling plants used for rapid cooling of fresh vegetables, and toured at Annonvel, Dutch village in the marsh, which follows the general plan of many European farming areas.

Pearson Hopes Discussions On Seaway Near End

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and the United States are expected to complete discussions concerning the Lawrence seaway construction today.

The U.S. and Canadian officials Thursday discussed problems that must be solved before construction on the deep waterway system can begin, and afterward External Affairs Minister Pearson said the officials hoped to finish their work by noon today.

"I think there is something to say at that time," he said.

One of the main problems to be settled before the $300,000,000 project can be started is where the build canals in the river's International rapids section.

In 1952 Canada offered Ottawa for sen all-Canadian seaway provides construction of the canals on the Canadian side. U.S. legislation approved this year, however, gives the States the right to build the canals on the U.S. side.

CANADA NOT RESTRICTED

Canada is expected to agree to digging the canals on the U.S. side, but Mr. Pearson told reporters that such an agreement would not bind Canada to building canals on its side of the rapids at any future time.

Mr. Pearson said the talks went well in fact so well that he made clear at the conference what its present position is on digging the canals on the U.S. side, but Mr. Pearson told reporters that such an agreement would not bind Canada to building canals on its side of the rapids at any future time.

He said problems other than that of canals discussed included assurance of the unhampered passage of Canadian ships and cargoes through the Seaway canals, the division of costs, credits for Canadian canal work already done and the method of collecting tolls.

Company Turns Out Realistic Picture Maps

As a result, a group of photographers, draughtsmen, artists and business men are turning out realistic picture maps that astound the cartographic world.

It took them nine years to perfect the technique of making mountains appear to stick up from the paper, and Death Valley to resemble a hole in the table top.

FORMER PILOT

Jeppesen, 45 - year - old founder and president of the company, was an airplane pilot. He sought a map that would show the ground as he saw it from the airplane window. Instead of showing a mass of symbols and lines.

The map process they use is secret, but two years ago the International Geographic Congress in Washington was startled by the product.

Jeppesen Co. maps begin like any others, with a "basic compilation" or contour-line map of the ground. There they depart from the normal procedures.

AIR BRUSH

From many sources they compile information on climate, rainfall, land forms, drainage. Then Hal Shelton, chief artist, goes to work. Just what he does with his air brushes and paints he won't say, but the result is a painting of the land in all its natural color and in complete exactness.

Ordinary color maps use green for low areas and orange for higher elevations. Expensive maps portraits of the earth's surface as it actually looks. Deserts appear in shades of red and buff, heavy agricultural areas are green and mountains are dark green where timbered and white where capped with snow.

Only Corner of Veil Lifted Shrouding Britain's Security And Intelligence Services

By DONALD M. McNICOLL

LONDON (AP)—No more than the corner is ever lifted of the veil shrouding Britain's security and intelligence services.

British officials shy off with alarm at the slightest attempt to penetrate the mysteries of the under-cover work done by intelligence agents. Members of Parliament who ask questions about them in the House of Commons are usually told: "It would not be in the public interest to give the information desired."

When the Netherlands held an official investigation after the war into the wartime activities of the Dutch-owned Netherlands government, evidence was given of British secret service blunders that led to the capture and in some cases execution of British agents and spies.

MISTAKES MADE

Beyond admitting in the House of Commons that mistakes had been made, the British government point-blank refused any open inquiry into the allegations, saying private investigations had already taken place.

With the Dutch investigation in mind, responsible British authorities thought it would be disturbing even a suggestion of other overt area inquiries — in the United States, for example—that might bring further disclosures of British secret work in the way British agents work.

EXPERIENCE WITH

British authorities and indeed the British people apparently accept the official view that those responsible for running the service are competent to remedy any defects that might come to light.

One myth can be exploded, however. It is that M.I. 5 (Military Intelligence 5) is the British secret service. In fact, M.I. 5 is merely one of the 13 war office departments that deal with military intelligence.

Britain's security community near Kirkland Lake have found a new use for abandoned hydro towers. The unidentified chief of military intelligence is answerable only to Prime Minister Churchill.

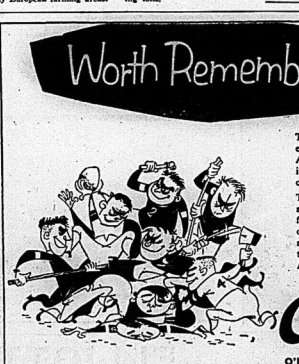
Worth Remembering



Though football today seems quite lusty enough, it was much rougher in its early days. As a matter of fact from 1869 to 1905 it got so rugged that many United States colleges banned it as too brutal.

Then in 1906 President Theodore Roosevelt, an enthusiast, called a meeting of football representatives at the White House, of all places! Out of the meeting came a new set of rules and a faster, cleaner game that included the forward pass.

An interesting football fact worth remembering!

Sunday School Lesson:

Inspect Your Impulses

BY ROY L. SMITH

Not so many years ago a national advertiser was advising us from billboards, newspaper advertisements, and window displays to "Obey That Impulse". As though an inner urge was sufficient justification for an overt act! Just now there is a school of psychology (not too influential) which urges us to give free rein to our impulses, as though life were a matter of freedom from restraint. The truth is, however, that the man who finds life most satisfactory is that one who sorts out his impulses with great care, following those that promise great rewards and eschewing those that threaten disaster.

GOOD SERVANTS—BAD MASTERS

An automobile with 235 horsepower under the hood can be a great servant, but it can also lead more quickly to disaster. It can carry us in great comfort, but it calls for greater driving skill.

A civilization which includes television, nuclear fission, psychological warfare, brain-washing and a whole regiment of new "horse-powers" can be endured only by those who have developed the disciplines that can survive such strains.

Never have clear heads been more necessary than in this technological age of ours, and never has it been proved more conclusively on more consecutive days than just now, that the brain that is free from alcohol is the one safe place of equipment for the individual.

Jet planes, international alliances, atomic-powered industries, the mad race for global supremacy—all these and many other factors insist that every man must be at his best if his nation is to survive.

STRENGTH OF A NATION

Efficient government is highly essential, of course, but even an inefficient government can survive if the citizens are of sufficiently high quality. Whether the form of government be a monarchy, a republic, or a limited constitutional, the nation can survive if there is a high degree of honor, integrity, self-mastery, and character among the people.

Just as a drunken worker cannot compete with a sober worker, and just as a sick man with alcohol in his bloodstream does not have the chance that a man with no alcohol in his bloodstream has, so a nation that suffers from alcoholism labors under a handicap when it competes with a sober nation.

SOURCE OF IMPULSES

The present generation knows more about the workings of the human mind than any generation in human history. It understands better the interrelations between mind and body. But its secularism has blinded it to the importances of spiritual principles and the spiritual life.

We have yet to learn the profound significance of sex, in spite of Dr. Freud and the Kinsey reports. We must learn to master sex, appetite, impulses, and the wild surges that come welling up within us if we are to take life captive, and live it at its highest and most rewarding level. Birth morals must take the place of morbidity, and eternal spiritual values must be prized above temporary thrills and sensations.

All impulses are not safe; they must be sorted over with care if we are to achieve a satisfactory life.

Calgary Stamps Could Prove Surprise Packet of the West

Written for The Canadian Press
By FRANK JACOBOS

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders may prove the surprise packet of the Western Interprovincial Football Union this season.

George Trafton, deposed coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, picked Stamps to take it all in the Western Conference, the second time this year to five teams with the addition of British Columbia Lions.

Blessed with a new coach, first-grade imports and some Canadian newcomers of top ranking, Calgary football fans are once more talking of the Grey Cup.

Stampeders, Canadian champions in 1948, have finished in the WIFU cellar in three of the last four seasons, including a distant fourth in 1953.

FRECHE COACH

The new coach is Larry Siemering, a quiet, easy-going individual who has been going about his job with great tact and precision. He succeeds Alhaitha Bob Deyarder who went about the United States criticizing the Canadian game after losing Calgary last fall for Stamps following a dismal season.

One of the first things Siemering did after getting the Calgary position was to go after Eddie LeBaron, an adept ball-handler last season with Washington Redskins. Siemering, a former coach of College of the Pacific, picked up another alumnus of that institution when tackle Don Campora was signed as assistant coach.

Then Siemering got another College of the Pacific graduate in Eddie Macon, a speedy backfielder who gained professional experience with Chicago Bears. Macon is expected to make Calgary fans forget John Henry Johnson who signed with San Francisco Clippers after winning the WIFU most-valuable-player award last season.

IMPORTED PLAYERS

The signing of Macon gave Stamps their first taste of the "war" between the Canadian and National Football League in the United States and Canada. Bagnell, Bernie Faloney, Siemering and Bob Robinett, Stamps' team manager, for allegedly coaxing Macon to come to Calgary terms with the Chicago club. The case is still in the lawyers' hands.

Another big change in Stamps is the departure of quarterback Eddie LeBaron who failed to show any of his vaunted field generalship last season. Fans who were disappointed in Albert's performance after retiring from the San Francisco 49ers felt that Calgary's porous line contributed to the situation.

The main Canadian newcomers to Calgary played with Winnipeg last season—Dr. Norman Hill, an end, and Dean Sandierra, ace linebacker and guard.

Other Canadian newcomers include centre Don Lenzy, for years a star with Ottawa Rough Riders; guard Dave Tomlinson, an ex-Stampeder who has been with Montreal Alouettes for two seasons while attending Mc Gill and tackle Ray Baillie from Sarnia Imperials.

Along with Campora, LeBaron and Macon, Calgary brought in 12 other Americans.

IMPORT STRENGTH

These are:

Tackles Jim Prewett from Baltimore Colts, Floyd Harwood from Tulsa and Jim Caldwell from Chicago Bears;

Halfbacks Neil Ferris from Los Angeles Rams, Johnny Bright from Drake who has been with Stamps for the last two years, and Lowell Wagner from San Francisco 49ers;

Joe Bright, 66 Runs Two Miles In 15 Minutes

LAC DU BONNET, Man. (CP)—Joe Bright was quite a runner in his day and he's still pretty good at 66.

When Roger Bannister and John Landy, the four-minute milers met in Vancouver last Saturday, folks here got talking about Bright and the talk ended in bets. Bright said he could still run two miles in less than 15 minutes.

About 300 people—most of the town's population—turned out for the test. Bright galloped two miles along the dusty highway in 14½ minutes, pulled up a little short of wind and picked up the doubters' money.

Sports Roundup

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — We have been brooding a little over the plight of Ted Williams who, because of a rule that is unfair to the point of absurdity, probably will not be crowned the American League batting champion this year.

The rule specifies that to be eligible for the honor a player must be officially at bat 400 times although if he falls short of that number the number of hurts may be added to bring him up to the required total. Hammond as the added at bats would be without hits, his average would drop, probably enough to prevent him from winning.

The rule as it now stands favors the singles hitter, the batter the pitchers aren't afraid of, while penalizing the really dangerous power hitters.

COZIEST EVER APPEARANCE

In determining the number of at bats necessary to win the championship they should count every time he steps to the plate. That is the bases on balls, sacrifices and hit by pitchers should be counted. That would put an end to any arguments.

As it is, it is not inconceivable that a man could play every inning of every game through a season, have the highest average in the league, make more runs and runs batted in, and still not win the batting championship because he hadn't had 400 official times at bat.

In fact, Williams himself could be the victim of such a circumstance if other pitchers follow him the way the New York Yankees pitch to him.

In the 11 games Williams has played against the Yankees this years he has been walked 15 times. He came to the plate 49 times, which means he was officially at bat only 28 times.

COULD NOT QUALIFY

The two clubs played each other 22 times during a season, which means that, on the basis of the 11 games, Ted would be at bat only 56 times if he played every time.

If the other clubs limited him to 56 at bats during the season his total would be 392, not enough to qualify for the championship!

That is manifestly unfair, as it is not his fault that he gets so many walks. Any batting figure that being so good the pitchers are afraid to pitch to him is his own fault.

Pitching — Warren Spahn, Milwaukee, struck out seven and didn't walk a man in beating St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 on six hits.

Batting — Dale Jensen, Boston, hit his 19th home run in one game and drove in two runs and scored two in the other as the Red Sox split a pair with Washington.

'Broadcast' Tips Land Trio In Court

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP)—Three Chicago men were under federal bail today on charges they tried to beat the horse races by transmitting information from the starting gate to the betting windows over a unique private radio hookup.

The men were identified after their arrest Thursday as: Hugo Frankel, 44, who said he is a former Chicago policeman; his brother, Everett Frankel, 36, and Gerald Klein, 23, all of Chicago.

Vincent Murphy, head of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau at Narragansett Park, where the men were picked up, said they operated this way:

His two confederates would be stationed at the $50 and $100 betting windows. Both those men would have small receivers connected to hearing aids.

The man with the microphone would "broadcast" the horse that broke from the starting gate first and his two partners would bet as much as they could on that horse in the few seconds between the start of the race and when the mutuel windows were slammed shut.

The trio was charged with violating federal communications commission regulations by operating a radio station without a license.

Football's Annual 'Dream Game' Played Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — American football's annual "dream game", the college All-Stars vs. the Detroit Lions before 90,000 at Soldier Field tonight, looms as one of the most interesting in the 21-year history of the series.

The clash presumably will find the favored pros somewhat troubled because they must play under the collegiate limited substitution rule.

The 53 hand-picked collegians of coach Jim Tatum of Maryland all played under the one-platoon system last season when college football discarded the free substitution rule.

Last night, despite the stretch to a two-way line-up, are favored by about seven points, mainly because they still have plenty of brawn and personnel seasoned by two years of NFL championship performance.

The Lions won last year's game, 24-10, and will be seeking the fourth straight triumph and 12th victory of the series for the professionals.

United States Carries Point Lead In American Cup Golf Tournament

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The United States carried a one-point lead over Canada into today's deciding Americas Cup matches, provided by two golfers who almost booted it away.

A rousing comeback by Don Cherry and Dale Morey gave the U.S. two of a possible three points over Canada in first day's play in defence of the title it won two years ago at Seattle. The U.S. took three points from Mexico for a total of five. Canada picked up four points, three from Mexico and one from the U.S.

Thursday the three teams played three 36-hole three-ball "alcazar" matches. Today they set out on six singles matches, with one man from each country in each match and 18 points at stake.

The gallery of 300 or so which followed sensational Billy Joe Patton of North Carolina found all their excitement packed and stuffed into a dizzy finish of the match Cherry and Morey played against Phil Farley and Doug Silverberg of Canada.

The zany antics on the 36th soon had everyone in a tizzy. It began when the two men should come within two feet of each other a few yards in front of the Mexican creek which lies in front of the last green.

Morey's second shot hit a tree. Farley missed the tree but fell short and landed on the bank of the creek. Cherry was shorter and fell farther down the creek bank.

There the Americans went to work. Morey's difficult chip shot from a bed of stones landed within a foot of the pin and Cherry sank it. But Silverberg failed to get the Canadian ball out. When Farley stepped in he had to hole out his chip shot to square the match and he landed several feet away.

The golfing faithful who followed Patton were rewarded instead by a powerful show by Canadians Nick Weslock and Walter McSkirov, who scored a 4 and 3 victory over their U.S. opponents. Weslock's wedge and McIlroy's putter, topping their steady play from tee to green, forged the win over Patton and Bill Campbell.

In the other match against the U.S., Canadians Don Doe and Bob Fleming went down 5 and 4 to Harvie Ward, 17, and Joe Conrad. Canadian margins over Mexico were 12 and 11, 8 and 5, 6 and 5. The U.S. won from Mexico by 11 and 10, 8 and 7, 1 6, and 5.

On The Football Fronts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Exhibition football games tonight will see two invading eastern Canada teams in action in the West and two western squads taking on opponents in the East.

Edmonton Eskimos meet Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four in a twilight encounter in Toronto. Frank Pop Ivy, formerly of Oklahoma university, will make his coaching debut with the Balmies in the Varsity Stadium match. Also set to play is Ottawa and Kitchener.

Back east, the Winnipeg Blue Bombers will challenge Ottawa Rough Riders in Ottawa in a game starting at 8.30 p.m. EDT.

Bombers flew into the capital Thursday and whipped through a half-hour limbering-up session.

If the weight of United States imports favors a team, then Ottawa is the favorite. Both the Riders and the Bombers have agreed to use all their American imports. Winnipeg has 13, Ottawa 18.

STRUCK UMPIRE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carolee Bernier, hot tempered, heavy-hitting outfielder with the Hollywood Stars, was suspended for the balance of the 1954 season Thursday for striking an umpire in a game Wednesday night. Clarence Rowland, president of the Pacific Coast League, announced the suspension.

Godfrey Buys $40,000 Nag

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Total sales at the Saratoga yearling sales passed the $1,000,000 mark Thursday night when 47 thoroughbred colts and fillies changed hands and brought a $545,700. Television star Arthur Godfrey paid the top price $40,000 for a brown colt by Eight Thirty out of Copper Mill.

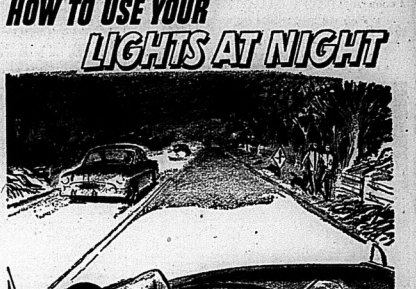
HOW TO USE YOUR LIGHTS AT NIGHT



With good headlights, you can see only 200 feet ahead.

You can't stop within this distance at speeds over 50 m.p.h.

- Dim your headlights as soon as those of approaching car begin to cause you discomfort. If he dims first, lower yours at once. Even if he doesn't dim his lights, keep yours low . . . don't play that game.
- Don't ever look directly at oncoming headlights. They can blind you for 3 seconds before you pass—and for 7 seconds afterward!
- Keep your eyes on the shoulder of the road, and use it as your guide when passing.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

A GOOD "JOE"

If a guy that lives, breathes and dreams of his favorite sport is entitled to the moniker "Mr. Baseball," then there is one candidate in this man's town eligible for the title.

He is the one and only Al Kelleher, who has been doing a pretty fair job for the Batas during the current season.

AL KELLEHER

The big, good natured cat has been the butt of a lot of jokes and sometimes the object of ridicule, but like the proverbial water and the duck's back, it rolled off with no damage done.

Ask the kids.

The first thing the eight-year-old boss man in the Carver menage asks the old man after a Batas' game is, "What did Al do, Pop? Did he hit a home run?" Once this year the old man answered in the affirmative and the grin that wreathed honorable No. One son's face lighted up like the south end of a firefly.

And all the kids in our neighborhood are the same. For on many an occasion we have seen Al, baseball cap atop his negrin, on the colleglate steps surrounded by admiring youngsters.

Al is a lot of baseball-minded moppets soaking up the Kelleher instructions. He has the patience of a Job, never loses his temper with the younkers, and takes his time in teaching them. This city could do with more Al Kelleher's in this respect.

Al has been one of the more consistent players with the Batas this year. What if he does pass up the "first pitch?" He changed his mind once, swung at the first offering and that, kiddies, was the one and only homer he has hit this season.) What if he does make those long-hit balls look hard with spectacular one-hand catches? We have seen a lot worse in the outfield. And what if he does use a big chunk of showmanship whether in the field, at bat, on first base, or rarely now, on the pitchers' mound? Who cares? The fans get a big kick out of it. And he is a decided asset in the lineup, for all that.

Baseball was and is Kelleher's first and only sports love. He teethed on a bat, and threw strikes at the family cat with a rubber ball before he toddled out of his cradle. He was bitten early by the baseball bug and has never gotten rid of it. Nor will he.

He took it seriously when but a boy. Later he travelled extensively, paying his own way to southern training camps, more for experience than anything else. He played Junior baseball here and the best game he has pitched was that role in Peterborough some nine years ago when he won 8-3 and had the rabid Peies' fans cheering for him before the final innings.

Later he played in the Nickel Belt League, the Toronto Senior League, the Toronto Senior League and tried out with the Kingston Ponies in the now defunct professional Border League. But Al always drifted back to the old home town, and this year is enjoying his best season in senior ranks.

A lot of people think Al is putting on the "dog," or perhaps clowning when he is in baseball action. Don't believe it. He's far was never more serious in his life. True, he may try to emulate the major league stars he has seen, at times, but there is a deadly sincerity beneath all of it.

Al came by his baseball talents naturally. Oldtime veterans will recall the Grand Trunks of 1919-1920. On the line-up was one Joe Kelleher. Joe played third base, and occasionally was drafted as a relief pitcher. Joe played an important part in the Grand Trunks drive for provincial titles. Joe is Al's daddy.

(Aside to the Batas' team: You hyenas ribbed Keith MacDonald the other night about publicity. You asked for it. We hope to run sketches like the above about all of you. Your turn may be next).

Tonight, Herby Henn's Northerns square off with Jack Elliott's Ox Pointers from Point Anne in the third game of their best-of-seven Eastern Ontario District Softball League finals at the Point. The Elliottmen have won the first two starts and a victory tonight will put them in the driver's seat. On the other hand a win for Northern will narrow the margin and give them a chance to relive their sights on the target.

They clash again Monday night and if the Pointers grab tonight's tilt there is a strong possibility they could tuck away the series the first of the week. However, the Hennery Gang will fool you something to say about that. The series to date has been productive of some fast, close softball, and it is a safe bet tonight's clash and those following will be even better. Northern cannot afford to drop this evening's tilt because their backs will definitely be up against the wall on Monday evening.

SHOULD BE GOOD

This new tag team of Paul Baillargeon and Ray Villmer, the long and short of it, bids fair to become a strong challenger for the Canadian title. Tonight, after their success over Whogo Togo and "The Leer" Henning, last Friday, they tackle a tough test in the Mighty Ursus and the Zebra, George Bollas. The latter "Hate, Inc." duo will be in a nasty mood, for their reception in Belleville has been scything but pleasant. But the Paul-Ray pair are extremely confident. All of which goes to prove the way for a fighting, furious fray. . . Good show, too, is the preliminaries.

They invade Brooklyn for three games with the second - place Dodgers and the way both teams have been playing, luck will go a long way in determining the outcome.

Neither New York nor Brooklyn has been a ball of fire in recent weeks. Now the Milwaukee Braves are creeping up in the National League. Many more mistakes by either of the first two clubs could prove fatal.

The clubs should be rested. They both had the day off Thursday. Milwaukee took advantage of their idleness and moved within 4½ games of the top and within three games of Brooklyn by beating St. Louis 5-1. Cincinnati whipped Chicago 8-6 in the only other National League game.

YANKS ADVANCE

The New York Yankees picked up half a game on Cleveland by winning a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4 and 6-3 but the Indians thumped Detroit 10-1 and still lead by 2½ games. Boston took a twinbill from the Senators won the first game 9-5 but were shut out by Frank Sullivan in the second 3-0. Baltimore and Chicago weren't scheduled.

Philadelphia handed the Yanks work for the first game, coming from behind twice to tie before Mickey Mantle decided matters in the eighth with his 25th home run.

Tommy Byrne was the first victim, clouting a lead-off homer by Hank Bauer, sewed up the nightcap in a hurry.

The Indians pounded three Detroit pitchers for 15 hits, including first into the seats this month. Rosen, deep in a slump, has hit safely only seven times in his last 44 at bats. Bob Lemon coasted to his 16th victory.

JENSEN STARS

Jackie Jensen hit his 19th homer for the Red Sox in their first-game loss to Washington and was the batting star of the Boston victory in the second game as he drove in two runs and scored a pair.

Letty Warren Spahn, who has had trouble winning this season, was in top form for the Braves against the Cubs. He threw a six-hitter, struck out seven and walked nobody. In winning their sixth straight and their 17th in their last 19 outings, the Braves bunched two of their runs in the fourth inning on an error, two singles, a double by Andy Pafko and a long foul fly. The loss was the fifth in a row for St. Louis.

Cincinnati moved within 2½ games of the first division with its second straight power victory over the Cubs. The Redlegs ran their home run total to eight in two days with blasts by Ted Kluszewski, Jim Greengrass and Wally Post. A triple by Kluszewski drove in the winning runs.

Windsor Rink Wins Bowls Doubles Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—The Townsend-Clark Trophy for doubles was won Thursday night at the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association meet by Tommy Callaghan and Ed Bickle of Windsor, 21-12, when their opponents conceded the 18-end game at the 17th end.

Charlie Sedgewick and Harry Bloxham of West Toronto gave in to the Windsor pair with one end to go and no chance of picking up the necessary points. Callaghan made sure of his win with a four-shot end in the 17th.

A Niagara Falls, N.Y., double of skip Jack Knowles and Jock McDiele won the Parker Pen Trophy, pulling ahead of Will Le Barr and Jim Mason of Toronto, 18-16.

The Birks Trophy went to the combination of Harry Stitt and Bill Mitchell of West Toronto, when they defeated Charlie McIntyre and George Bryden of Windsor, 15-0.

Jack Beacom and Ken Crozier of Toronto won a close victory and the Rennie Trophy by defeating Dr. Hugh Cheney and Stuart Cheney of Ottawa, 14-13.

Singles competitions start today at Boulevard, High Park and Kew Beach, with 64 entries in the play. Finals will be played Saturday for the three singles trophies.

Rickey Feels 52 Years in Baseball Is Enough, Bowing Out in 1955

By Joe Bradis

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Branch Rickey, a man of amazing energy and ideas, feels 52 years with some of baseball's greatest teams is enough for any man. He's bowing out November 1, 1955.

"That was understood when I came to Pittsburgh," says the 73-year-old general manager of the last-place Pirates.

"But I shall continue to work for the Pittsburgh club and without salary after the expiration of my contract, if so permitted. I intend to devote myself more or less largely to scouting until the time comes when I 'can sit in the stands and watch the team in a world series."

Rickey and his hand-picked associates thoroughly believe the club will win and sooner than most critics believe. What do the Pirate owners think?

"We can do little else but go along with the man," said John Galbreath, club president. "That's why we hired Rickey."

Rickey, founder of the farm system, firmly believes his formula for winning pennants at Brooklyn and St. Louis also applies to Pittsburgh.

"In 1952," says Rickey, "our minor league clubs were few and they won only some 30-odd per cent of their games. The 1953 minor league clubs won something in excess of 45 per cent.

"The Pittsburgh organization on Aug. 3, 1954, had seven teams in first place, two in second, one in third and only four in the second division and in average won - lost percentage of .583.

"Now if that means anything it means sooner or later the Pittsburgh team will reap the benefits of minor league supremacy."

Marlene, Mary Represent Canada In Ladies Open Golf Semi-Finals

By GERRY MARTIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRIGHTWOOD, N.S. (CP)—Two young Canadians tee off today in a semi-finals attempt to retain the Canadian open golf championship out of the talented hands of two Americans.

Variable cloudiness was forecast for the next-to-last round of the Open with little Marlene Stewart of Postlith, Ont., meeting her toughest opposition to date in the form of veteran Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md.

Mary Clay of Kitchener, Ont., who tied Marlene in Monday's medal-play qualifying round with an 18-hole 78, takes on power-driving Barbara Brunning of Arbrook, N.Y., in the other semi-final match to determine Saturday's finalists.

MARLENE FAVORED

Marlene, who captured the Close title last week with a 54-hole total of 232, was favored to sweep golfdom's 1954 double crown.

Marlene advanced to the semi-finals with a 7 and 6 victory Thursday over Rae Milligan of Jasper, Alta. Miss Milligan eliminated defending open titlist Mrs. Ada MacKenzie the day previously. Marlene did the first nine holes in a medal score of 36 for the round to date, and birdied the third, fourth, 5th and 13th.

Marlene got the winning margin with her long, accurate drives and an unnerving knack of judging distance and the lay of the fairway.

FORCED MATCH

Mary Clay narrowly escaped disaster at the hands of Victoria Junior, Shirley Fry who forced the match to the 19th hole where it ended with Mary Clay sinking her last chance when a chip shot rolled sideways across the green into the rough.

Miss Brunning of Armonk's fashionable Hippoorwill Club, dispatched two-time champion Grace Lenczyki of Toronto, 7 and 5, and 3 in the major upset of the Open so far. Barbara had had a four-up lead over the first nine holes.

Mrs. Glick gained her semi-finals berth with a relatively easy victory over Ruth Gibson of Vancouver, 3 and 2. Mrs. Glick, who finished Monday's qualifying round only one stroke off the 78s matched by Marlene and Mary Clay, did the front nine in a four-over-par 42.

British Team Trims Canadians At Rifle Shoot

An eight-man British team beat out a Canadian team to win the Challenge Trophy in the Canada match by a three-point margin.

The British team posted a combined score of 1,131 of a possible 1,200, firing 10 rounds from each of the 300, 500 and 600 yard ranges to edge the Canadians who finished with 1,128.

The match, open to past or present members of the armed forces, is only held when a Commonwealth country competes in the DCRA meet.

MARKSMEN WINS

F. G. Palmer of Saint John, N.B., won the Macdonald match in a four-way shoot-off. The 47-year-old Maritimer shot consecutive bulls-eyes in the regulation five-round shoot-off to clinch a perfect score of 25 and retire three other marksmen who tied in the match proper with scores of 121 of a possible 125 from 500 and 600 yards.

Two British marksmen—Cadet R. W. Brittain of the British Imperial cadets and Cpl. A. J. Tetlow of the senior British team—completed the shoot-off with 25s and last year's MM was Pte. J. J. Pearson of Montreal.

Another Maritimer captured the MacDougall Challenge Trophy when he bested 36 other marksmen in a shoot-off to decide the winner. The marksmen tied in the match proper scoring possible 50s from 200 yards.

Capt. A. J. McCabe of Charlottetown scored a 49 with 13 consecutive bullseyes to edge out Pte. G. F. Arnold of the British team who scored 12 bulls but dropped out with an inner on the 13th shot.

Luke Appling's 2,000th major league hit at Chicago paced the celebration 11 years ago today as the veteran Chicago White Sox shortstop connected for a third-inning single off Tex Hughson, to drive in the winning run for a 4-3 victory over Boston Red Sox.

Soccer Gossip

After a well earned, we hope, vacation, this column is back again to give you news of soccer in the district.

Since this column last appeared the race for second place in the Eastern Ontario League has opened up somewhat. Batawa, who now hold undisputed possession of this position drew last week with Peterbrough Canadian Bookbin, both teams finding the net three times. Batawa have now got nine points from seven games played. Northern Electric follow with eight points from six games, Kingston United are next with six points from six games played, Peterborough U.E.W. of course are well entrenched in the top place with twelve points from six games played.

Three games are scheduled for this Saturday. Both Northern Electric and Batawa are due to visit Peterborough. The Belleville squad take on the starry U.W. side outside the aforesaid visit. Peterborough Merchants Scottish, the third Peterborough entry visit Kingston in search of points from the United.

In junior circles Foley Foundry Juveniles and Branch 99, Canadian Legion bantams are still waiting to play their Ontario Minor championship games with Hamilton. The hold up here is the fact that due to holidays Hamilton have been delayed in declaring a winner locally to put up against our boys. Apparently quite a few teams in each division entered the competition and these teams have to play off to determine which team will have the honor of representing Hamilton.

The Bay of Quinte League seems as if it will retain exclusive right to the best kids. The only game outstanding is a postponed game between Northern Electric and Trenton. These two teams are at present tied for top place with seventeen points each from eleven games played so the winner of the outstanding game will take the league championship and the Kent Gold trophy.

On Wednesday evening Northern Electric and Batawa opened their season at home and away matches, total goals to count in the Belleville Charity Cup. The Belleville contingent ran out winners, scoring four goals without reply — Sallen, N. Carter, Lever and D. Rosiferna were the scorers. Batawa United had to withdraw, having lost too many players on posting, etc., to be able to field a representative team, thus Trenton Mercantile got a bye into the final unless an additional entry is obtained. Picton Gunners have been showing interest again but so far have not committed themselves. Next Wednesday Batawa and Northern Electric meet in the second leg of their series in the shoetown with the kick off called for 8.30 p.m. All gate receipts from the Belleville Charity Cup games go into the injured players fund to assist players who may have become injured whilst playing soccer.

This week's tip to the budding soccer player: "When not in possession be in position."

Six Puck Teams In International

DETROIT (AP) — President Frank Gallagher said Thursday night the International Hockey League will operate in 1954-55 with six teams.

Marion, Ohio, had been a possibility as a seventh team, he said, but directors of the club, at a meeting in Marion Thursday night, requested a year's suspension to reorganize.

Gallagher listed as "certain to go" Grand Rapids, Mich.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Johnstown, Pa.; Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Toledo and Port Huron, Ohio.

Louisville, Ky., folded before the close of the 1953-54 season and Milwaukee, Gallagher said, asked for a year's suspension to reorganize.

Brantford Sox Take Over Top In Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It will probably be a pleasure for Guelph-Waterloo Royals when the complicated scheduled games against Brantford Red Sox. The Royals haven't been too impressive against any team in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League this season but their record is especially poor against the Sox. Guelph has won only one of its eight meetings with Brantford and that one was at home. The Sox climbed into first place in the Standings Thursday night by white-washing the Royals 3-0 and 5-0 in a doubleheader at Brantford. The double win put them 10 percentage points in front of Galt Terriers, who were idle.

GAMES SPOILED

The only other league action was a doubleheader at London Where St. Thomas Elgins and the home-town Majors each took a game. St. Thomas won the first game 8-7 in 11 innings. It was the completion of a game from July 27. The game was originally won by London July 27 when Jim Hallard hit a home run but St. Thomas protested that Hallard failed to touch second and the league upheld the protest. The Majors took Thursday night's scheduled game 10-3.

Brantford's seven-inning victory was featured by the four-hit pitching of Max Manning, newcomer to the Red Sox. It was his second victory — both over the Royals. Stan Breard, with two hits in three at bats, including a double, plated one run and was the game's hitting star.

Stewart, Burkemo Lead Rich Golf Tourney

CHICAGO, (AP) — Earl Stewart, Jr., of Dallas slammed a 65 into Chicago's Tam O'Shanter Club's Open Thursday as he led the first round of the $150,000 "World" tournament.

Nearly 43 per cent of the field of 96 prize money-studded tourists figures as the stampede for a piece of $30,000 in cash and a $50,000 exhibition contract started on the first leg of the 72-hole meet.

The attack on the rolling 6,900-yard Tam course was so vicious that 54 players shot par 72 or better—one of the biggest par-busting barrages a golf course ever has taken in major tournament competition.

Tied up at 67 were Johnny Palmer, the 1949 "World" champion, and Bob Toski, 127-pounder who at 27 heads the younger players in contention; and veteran Dutch Harrison.

Seven were jammed into the 68 bracket, including Sam Snead, the 1950 "World" winner Henry Ransom, Dave Douglas, British Open champion Peter Thomson, Shelley Mayfield, Claude Harmon and Jim Turnesa.

SPORT IN BRIEF

TEEN-AGERS SCORE

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—A pair of teen-age tennis wizards upside down in the Newport invitation tennis tournament Thursday.

Ray Emerson, 17-year-old sharpshooter from Brisbane, pulled off the biggest surprise so far to eliminated his top-rated teammate, Lew Hoad, in the third round, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. Jack Frost, 18-year-old from Monterey, Calif., who Wednesday dumped Vic Seixas, the first-seeded American, ousted Luis Ayala, Chilean titlist, 6-3, 6-2.

PAKISTAN LAGS IN TEST

KARACHI (Reuter)—Frank Tyson and Peter Loader, England's new 34-year-old fast bowlers, made dramatic entries into Test cricket at the Oval here Thursday, playing vital roles in the dismissal of for 35 and Loader three for 35.

This was the first day of the fourth and last match in the series and Pakistan, which need a victory in order to pull even, could scarcely have made a more unpromising start.

TORONTO (CP)—Hockey is losing one of its most colorful figures and one of its most successful junior A teams because of Sunday sport.

Earlier this season Hap Emms, coach of Barrie Flyers, relinquished his stand against playing on Sunday and said if the Flyers weren't permitted a professional team for a sponsor he would withdraw them from the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Thursday night he made good his threat when the OHA received word by letter that Emms is pulling his Flyers out of competition. In the letter Emms said it was impossible to operate an OHA Junior A team without a sponsor and "there's nothing else to do but drop out."

Emms refused to allow his team to play on Sunday when Toronto legalized Sunday sport in 1951. When he persisted in his stand Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League used their veto to refuse the Flyers from having a professional sponsor.

Leafs, who sponsor Toronto Marlboro and Toronto St. Michael's College Majors, both of the OHA Junior A, have the power of veto because Barrie is within their 50-mile protected area. Conn Smythe, managing director of the Leafs, said he used the power because "the Leaf Gardens has big money with the Flyers refusing to play in Toronto Sundays."Hockey is my life," Emms said Thursday night. "But not so much so that I have to do things I don't want to do."

"I'm not quarrelling with Smythe," he added. "It wouldn't make any difference to me who it was. But I don't think one man should have that much power in any league. He controls every team in the OHA Junior League like Kitchener (Greenshirts). Personally I don't think that's good for hockey."

Emms maintains that the Junior clubs could gain more independence if they stood together and refused to be "pushed around" by the pros.

"The Junior clubs can't seem to realize it but the pros can't get along without us," he said. "They need us more than we need them regardless of what anybody says."

Emms, one of the finest coaches in Canadian Junior hockey, has an outstanding record with the Flyers. In nine years he has led the Flyers to three eastern Canada championships and one memorial Cup.

When Emms threatened to call it quits last year Conn Smythe said that hockey couldn't afford to lose such a man.

Red Kilcoyne coach has tutored 40 players who later jumped to professional hockey. Eight of these are in NHL ranks. Some of his former players include Gerry McNamara, Leo Labine and Real Chevrefils, all of Boston Bruins, Jim Morrison and Don Stewart of the Leafs, Paul Meger of Montreal Canadiens and Gil Mayer, defenceman for Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League.

British Empire Games Officials Blame Britons for Peters Incident

VANCOUVER (CP)—"I wouldn't have minded if I'd died if I had won that last race."

So said English marathoner Jim Peters Thursday as he lay in bed home with the last contingent of the British Empire Games here for the British Empire Games.

The slightly-built runner, tired and pale, had been in hospital since he fell exhausted near the end of Saturday's 26-mile, 385-yard race.

"I hope to run again," he told a cheering crowd at the airport as he boarded the plane with mile Khrushchev, Roger Bannister who will care for him on the trip.

NOTHING WRONG

"There's nothing wrong with me and I think some of the reports about permanent damage were just silly," Peters said.

Peters said he would have been very annoyed if he had had taken him out of the race.

"I wanted to go on."

Meanwhile British Empire Games officials, replying to criticism of their handling of Saturday's marathon, Thursday blamed the Peters incident on English team officials.

Jack Robertson, Games official who directed the marathoners into the Empire Stadium gate, said he only people with authority to withdraw Peters from the race were English team officials.

"English officials knew Peters set out to establish a fantastic record," Robertson said. "They knew he had never run on such a hilly course either over pavement and they knew he had never run a marathon under the prevailing weather conditions.

"Knowing all these things, why didn't they have someone accompany him on the route, at least for the last stages of the race when they knew he would be in the exhausted condition in which he finally finished marathon races?"

Leafs Win Two From Chiefs; Wings Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jack Crimian has about as many fiascoes to his credit as a Coney Island lifeguard. And he's just as busy.

Crimian is the ace relief pitcher of Toronto Maple Leafs, the current leaders of the International League, and he has saved more games for the Leafs than he can count. Thursday night the Leafs won a doubleheader from Syracuse Chiefs, 3-0 and 6-2, and Crimian was on the scene at the end of both games.

Connie Johnson, who was tapped for all four Chief hits in the opener, got that decision, while Rudy Minarcich racked up victory No. 15 in the slightcap to push the Leafs 3½ games out front.

Sam Jethroe drove in four runs with a pair of singles and a triple for the Leafs and Loren Babe was the big gun in the nightcap with a home run and two singles.

Buffalo Bisons crushed the second-place Rochester Red Wings 9-3 with rookie Chick King belting three home runs. Ron Northey, Dick Gernert, Harry Agganis and Johnny Baumgartner also chipped in with homers.

Toronto Maroons slugged the Montreal Royals 10-3 to move into fourth place behind Ken Raffenberger, and Richmond Virginians scored five unearned runs to nip Ottawa 6-4.

Peters Film Will Be Sent to BBC

TORONTO (CP) — A Canadian Broadcasting Corporation spokesman said Thursday a television film of the British Empire Games showing Jim Peters' marathon finish has been sent to the British Broadcasting Corporation.

His statement following a report that BBC television had requested they would not be carrying a TV film of the marathon on their broadcasts, because it was considered fit for public showing and that Canadians are consequently not releasing it."

Peters staggered around the track in agony on the final lap, fell 12 times and was eventually led away from the finishing line course.

An official of the National Film Board said they are not eliminating the Peters' struggle from their production, which will probably be released next week.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's time we came to grips with the issue of name-dropping.

Name-dropping ranks with sex and scrabble as one of Hollywood's three favorite pastimes. There may be some squares who have never heard of the expression, so I'll explain.

When a Hollywood character drops a name, he is using the ancient system of gilt by association. No doubt some early Roman remarked casually to friends, "Just into Julius the other day; I gave him the name of my toga tailor."

He was referring of course, to Caesar. Likewise, an actor today might comment: "Oh, that Lana! She's such a scream. We were talking the other night at Clifton's. She told me that Ava and Frankie . . ."

Get the picture? The speaker drops a few names into the conversation, making it seem that he is a big wheel.

INFO FROM EXPERT

I got some inside info on the name-dropping issue from an expert on the subject, Charlton Heston. Mind you, he is not an offender himself. He is merely an amused observer of this Hollywood habit.

It all arose when we were lunching between scenes of "Blue Horizons." A photographer came up and said he was shooting Kelly today.

I didn't know whether he meant Gene, Paul or little Nelly. It turned out he was speaking of Grace.

"This is the reverse-twist name-dropper," Heston explained. "The obvious name-dropper uses first names only. A dead giveaway. But the reverse-twister drops the last name, thus giving the impression of unusual familiarity."

UNDUE DEFERENCE

"The technique can be carried even further. There is the undue deference variety. This fellow refers to people as 'Mr. Crosby' or 'Miss Gardner.' Those who hear this figure, 'Ph, he must know those stars really well to refer to them as Mr. and Miss.'

"Then there is the obscure-nickname method. The fellow doesn't bother with the more familiar nicknames, like Bogie (Humphrey Bogart), Gadge (Elia Kazan) or Bart (Herbert Marshall). He'll casually drop a reference to Kit or Buzz. Then you have to think for a while and figure out that he means Katherine Cornell' or Burgess Meredith.

"Another variety is the real-name dropper. He isn't content to call stars by their stage names. He uses their real names, indicating that he has known the stars from way back. For instance, he will refer to Cary Grant as Archie or Ray Milland as Jack."

Now if you'll excuse me, I have a date with Joe and Marilyn.

AT THE BELLE — Their highway is fun-paved in the very, very funny, "Long, Long Trailer", in color-scluxe, continuing today and Saturday at the air-conditioned Belle Theatre. The "I Love Lucy" pair of favorites are practically the entire picture, although there are funny bits by such expert comics as Marjorie Main and Keenan Wynn. A Tom & Jerry color cartoon "Little School Mouse" is an added attraction.

AT THE ODEON McCARTHY THEATRE

But this should make no difference to one of Hollywood's sharpest women. For her valiant record in adventure pictures has given her a rough enough time to get used to mayhem. Only in "Francis Joins The Wacs" she hides her curves in a WAC uniform instead of a period bustle.

Fresh from her first "stop, look and whistle" bathing-suit performance in the highly successful "Creature From The Black Lagoon," Miss Adams was headed for siren-type roles, but by-passed that opportunity in favor of a starring role in "Francis Joins The Wacs," in which she and Rooney share honors with Chili Wills, Mamie Van Doren, Lynn Bari, Zasu Pitts and Francis, the famous Talking Mule.

Julia plays the part of a hard-boiled powder-puff captain who suddenly has to fit O'Connor, ervously assigned to the W.A.C., into the activities of the women soldiers. How Donald and Francis finally fit in the basis for this newest misadventure of the happy-go-lucky lieutenant and his fabulous friend.

"Francis Joins The Wacs" features Allison Hayes, Mara Corday and Karen Kadler in the supporting cast, which is mostly girls.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

Elva Tyme is puzzled. She knows an opening one bid shows five tricks; an immediate one-jump takeout promises enough for a game with two aces; game in a major suit needs only ten tricks.

So why does dt take six tricks for the one-jump takeout if it is to a major suit? The answer is that a takeout does not announce an agreed trump suit. Until then they may end in a minor.

If a jump takeout is used only with six tricks why not the bid with five when game is known to be in the pair? An opener with an additional trick will then see 12 and may head for a slam.

Even if responder has good support and his takeout is to another major suit.

SOUTH	NORTH
♠A K 6 4	♠Q 9 4
♥6 2	♥A Q J 7
♦A Q 4	♦K 8 3
♣K J 3	♣6 5 2

North has good support for the spade suit. With two sures among five tricks he has enough for an immediate one-jump assist in spades. It would not announce the agreed suit as the agreed trump.

But north also has a heart suit and prefers to name it as first choice in responses. If he takes out in hearts first, no announcement is yet made of an agreed trump suit.

Therefore, the takeout to hearts should not be an immediate six. It should be a simple takeout to two hearts. Because the jump takeout would promise six tricks rather than five.

South happens to have six tricks instead of the five shown in his opening. If north gives him information of having six, south may start toward a slam. Not so good.

The new suit takeout to hearts is forcing for one round. It will give north another chance to bid. He will next assist spades with a jump and promise five tricks. Keep it clean.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 14, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A lot of sayings might well apply today—"Better late than never," and "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." Sensible persistency, tenacity are important now.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Good aspects but they require vigor, courage and endurance well directed toward essentials. Less important matters could easily wait until later.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Occupational interests should run smoothly but you may need extra urging from within where artistic or professional matters are concerned. This can be reasonably productive day—it's mostly up to you.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — If your schedule is demanding, then extra care, patience must be exercised; be tactful; conscientious handling money. Familiar work should progress; use good judgment.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your forecast similar to Cancer's now. You will fare better if you remain unruffled and keep an even disposition. Unless imperative, delay new projects for the time being but don't waste this good period.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Shun worry and impatience it's a mixed day if you want to get the best results. A free mind and a healthy body are blessings. Clear your desk, bench or the home of leftovers to insure a happy weekend.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—Stimulating, inspiring influences from your planet Venus can be utilized to good advantage if you are using your fine gifts. Respect others' rights; keep disposition smooth.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Co-operate harmoniously with those whom you rightfully should. The best success is that which brings happiness to others along with the one who succeeds.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Think about your interests, but don't dwell morbidly upon disappointments, restrictions, etc. Erase your mental slate at bedtime, and trust in God for the new day.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—If you have grit (and you should have) and don't backtrack pointlessly to please others you will achieve. Don't attempt the bizarre.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—With reasonable effort and caution you can attain benefits, rewards from worthy ventures. Much depends on your conscience, behavior and duties. Aim high consistently.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—The aspects favor shipping, building, handling foods, manufacturing general commodities. You may have to travel. Be sensibly careful. The stellar forces are encouraging.

YOU BORN TODAY: are genial, generally friendly, and humor and like the good things in life. But do things in moderation; don't go too far. You want family and friends to be with you but may tend to dominate them. Work hard strictly. You have a keen mind and executive ability; always seek to improve your education. You would make a successful salesman, too. You probably like to travel and will take off at moment's notice. Avoid wrong associates and temptations and you can make a fine record in life. SPEAKER AT HOME

Rene Beaudoin, completing his first year as Speaker of the Commons, relaxes at home in a bright sports shirt while reading up on procedure and conduct of debates. The 42-year-old bilingual Montreal lawyer is writing a book on procedure. Rene Beaudoin, Completing First Year As House Speaker, Reads Books on Procedure

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The stock-in-trade of Speakers of Parliament are books on procedure and on the conduct of debates.

Rene Beaudoin, completing his first year as Speaker of the Commons, reads these at home until he falls asleep. In the process, he may be writing a book of his own from the notes he has prepared.

The 42-year-old bilingual Montreal lawyer is reticent about the latter point. But he admits that at his present pace such a book could be completed in four years, or about the time the present Parliament is dissolved.

Experts around Parliament Hill say that if the book comes into being it will be good. Mr. Beaudoin has shown remarkable knowledge, background and fairness in interpreting rules.

DIGS INTO HISTORY

So far, he has filled 30-odd notebooks with information he plans to review and boil down during the summer recess.

"They said it would take 15 years to collect that information," he said in his native French during an interview in his centre block office overlooking the Ottawa river.

He dug in six months by clipping out of parliamentary journals all reports of Speakers' rulings since Confederation in 1867.

"I was not satisfied with merely knowing the rules," he said. "I decided to find out how they came about and had a lot of fun doing it."

Mr. Beaudoin, Liberal member for Vaudreuil-Soulanges, also dug up material in parliamentary rules for conduct of pre-Confederation parliaments in Upper and Lower Canada.

He kept his personal office staff busy pasting the clippings in notebooks. When work piled up he did some of the pasting himself.

EARLY YEARS RUGGED

"I had a lot of practice in the depression years—pasting stickers by hand on soft drink bottles at 15 cents an hour," he said.

That job was one of several he held while working his way through college and the University of Montreal Law School. The others included driving a sight-seeing bus and night watchman and greens keeper for the Montreal municipal golf course. Later, he was a radio news commentator.

"There was nothing unusual about it. Many students did the same thing in the 1930s. Some had it tougher than that."

Mr. Beaudoin was 18 when he became associated with politics, first as a checker of municipal voters' lists and later as a vote-getter on the hustings.

He entered Parliament for the first time in 1945. As a backbencher he spent much time studying the rules of the Commons and as a second-term member he graduated to the job of deputy-chairman of the committee of the whole and deputy-speaker.

Meanwhile, he was a Canadian delegate to the United Nations General Assembly in 1947 and last year was elected president of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

PRAISED BY MEMBERS

When he became speaker of the Commons at the start of the last session, Mr. Beaudoin at once proved himself as the "First Commoner," winning the praise of many long-term parliamentarians.

An experienced opposition member who probably knows as much about parliamentary procedure as the Speaker himself said: "He has great fairness and a clear mind."

Sometimes he will tell members he is ready to give his decision on a point and indicate which way it will go. Then he will allow further discussion designed to convince him he is wrong. Some decisions have been against government supporters.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton), when asked to withdraw some remarks in the Commons, declared that "Such is my love for you, Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw anything."

POLITE, POINTED

When he rises to reprimand a member who is out of line, Mr. Beaudoin readjusts his black robe around his broad shoulders and speaks in polite but pointed terms. However, on particular contentious points he has the knack of speaking around the issue while he skims through a reference book to find the desired ruling. But that seldom is necessary.

During sessions he puts in a 16-hour day. Apart from his Commons work, he administers the Parliament Buildings, attends receptions of all kinds, acts as hosts at his own parties, and keeps in touch with his constituency.

"I haven't much time to read the papers, but the office staff keeps me up on the news," he said. They clip out newspaper and magazine articles he might want and paste them in his scrapbook.

Premier Makes Prophecy At Lakehead Dinner

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario said Wednesday a vast program of development is going on in Ontario and northwestern Ontario is benefiting from it.

The premier was speaking at a dinner given by Fort William Chamber of Commerce for visiting members of the provincial cabinet and legislature on an observation tour of the northern area.

GREAT FUTURE

He said possibilities for population and development in the future in the area are unlimited.

"We have some $5,000,000 tied up in contracts here for roads," he said.

When the province has finished building its share of the St. Lawrence power project, the accent will swing to exporting oil and natural gas from the American west. Then Fort William and Port Arthur will be ocean ports.

The rivers flowing into James and Hudson bay will some day be tapped to produce power for southern Ontario.

CONTINUE BUILDING

The province's building program, which reached a record $608,000,000 this year, will be "substantially increased," next year.

Mr. Frost said after the seaway "We will have to work on all-Canada gas pipeline which will befelit us in many ways, including taking the strain off our hydro systems which are now nearing peak capacity with the development of the seaway project."

GANDHI FILM

NEW DELHI (CP)—A movie film on Mahatma Gandhi and his principles will be ready for release in India next month. The film, in color, has an all-Indian cast headed by Ram Warah Singh, 70, white-bearded member of Parliament.

Derailment Causes Traffic Hold Up

OSHAWA, (CP) — Traffic on the Canadian National Railways main Toronto-Montreal line was held up for five hours yesterday when a box car in a 28-car westbound freight train was derailed two miles east of here. No one was injured.

CNR officials said only the west-bound track was damaged by the derailment. Two passenger trains from Montreal to Toronto were re-routed via the Canadian Pacific railway track while repairs were made.

Eisenhower Says Economic Health of Nation Is Still Good

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower declared yesterday the over-all performance of the American economy since his administration took over "has been better than during any earlier time."

"The paramount fact . . . is that the recent decline in economic activity has come to a halt," the president said in a report on the state of American economic health at mid-year.

He listed signs which he said point out bright prospects for the future.

Eisenhower's survey in this Congressional election year amounted to a reply to Democratic critics who have contended that the Republican administration is breeding unemployment and leading the nation into a depression.

Eisenhower noted the criticism in general terms and went on to say that "the recent economic decline, on an over-all basis, has been very small."

PRICES FIRM, WAGES UP

He also said:

1. Price increases during the first six months of this year were "tiny" and— if developments such as bargain sales are taken into account — "the value of the people's money has remained entirely intact."

2. "The increase in wages—which is one of the principal expressions of the progressiveness of the American economy — has continued."

3. Unemployment is greater now than during the Korean war, but "in recent months has not been larger than during comparable months in 1949 and 1950." The president added that the rate of unemployment "has shown some tendency to diminish of late."

The Eisenhower report said economic activity in the first half of this year, even though behind that of the year before, "has been higher than at any time before this administration assumed responsibility."

Red China Calls For 'Liberation' Of Formosa

Fiery Speech Warns U.S. Against Interference

TOKYO (AP) — Red China's Premier Chou En-lai declared today Formosa must be liberated from the "Chiang Kai-shek clique" and warned "we will brook no foreign interference."

Peiping radio, reporting on a session of the Central People's Government council, made it clear the message was directed at the United States.

Throughout Chou's long and fiery speech there was one predominant enemy—"United States' aggressive circles." The four words were as one. Even Chiang Kai-shek took second rating.

REPORTS WARNING

"The government of the People's Republic of China," Chou said, "once again declares that Taiwan (Formosa) is inviolable Chinese territory, that its occupation by the United States absolutely cannot be tolerated. The liberation of Taiwan is an exercise of China's sovereignty and it is China's own internal affairs which will brook no foreign interference.

"If any foreign aggressors dare invade the sacred territory and liberating Taiwan, if they dare invade Chinese territory and violate our territorial integrity, if they dare to interfere in our internal affairs, they must take upon themselves all the grave consequences of such acts of aggression."

The U.S. state department declined comment on Chou's remarks, but pointed out that the Secretary Dulles, at his press conference last week, said U.S. forces are committed to help the Nationalists if the Reds try to invade.

NAVY THERE

The island, about 100 miles off the China coast, has been under U.S. naval protection since the outbreak of the Korean war in 1950, and Chou brought that fact up time and again.

"Since its occupation of Taiwan, the United States' government has seized control of the military, political and economic affairs of Taiwan and turned Taiwan into a United States' colony as well as a military base for attacking our country."

Chou even b l a m e d "United States' aggressive circles" for the shooting down—by Chinese Communist planes—of a British Overseas Pacific airliner in the south China Sea recently.

He said the "the unfortunate incident" would not have occurred if United States' aggressive circles had not been operating tensions continuously in the Far East."

TENSION EASED

Two weeks ago, Gen. Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of the Chinese armed forces, declared: "We call on all commanders and all fighters of the Red Army to be ready at any moment and in battle readiness and fight for the liberation of Taiwan."

Chou's speech today was the same in other words. Today's speech gives the situation a touch of authentic belligerence.

After vowing to take Formosa, Chou said China intended to live in peaceful co-existence with the rest of the world.

Five Desperate Escapees Face Kidnap Charges

BOSTON (AP) — Five desperate escapees from Norfolk prison colony face arraignment today before a U.S commissioner and possible life imprisonment on double kidnap charges.

The armed desperadoes, captured Friday in Rhode Island and Connecticut less than 24 hours after they fled the Massachusetts prison with a guard hostage, were returned here early today.

The guard hostage, Walter F. de Adder, 29, of Lawrence, who spent 15 terror-filled hours in the escapees' hands, was rescued unharmed. A Pawtucket, R.I., garage mechanic, Joseph Chenard, was also taken hostage by the fleeing convicts, was freed unhurt.

DIDN'T GET FAR

Limping with a broken foot, Richard Lavoie, 40, was captured in the tall grass of a Pawtucket swampland, 12 miles from the prison colony.

A short time later Connecticut state police captured Frederick Day, 26, and James I. Schworm, 31, from a stolen car near Putnam, about 45 miles from the colony.

Minutes after, William J. Conture, 40, and Hartlin F. Feeney, 38, surrendered in a woodland area far from the car.

Lavoie was arraigned Friday night in Providence on a federal charge of kidnapping de Adder. He waived hearing, was held in $100,000 bail, and returned here with the others.

TO VISIT GRIMSBY

GRIMSBY, England (Reuters)—Kenneth Younger, Labor MP for this east Midland fishing town, said Friday he hoped to visit Grimsby, Ont., during his forthcoming lecture tour in Canada. Younger, former minister of state at the foreign office, is visiting Canada on behalf of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Pleasant warm summer weather prevailed over most of Ontario Friday, although a few showers broke out in the far north during the day. A weak disturbance drifting eastward from the Dakotas will cause these showers to spread more northerly in Canada today and Sunday, and increasing cloudiness followed by scattered showers over southern Ontario.

Edinburgh Fast Becoming Mine Expert

Will Visit Sept.-Iles To View Iron Industry

By DAVE STOCKAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh, fast becoming an expert on minerals, mining and smelting, switches his attention to iron today after getting the Canadian picture of aluminum, uranium and gold.

He leaves Quebec City on a flight to Sept-Iles, Que., where he will be greeted by officials of the Iron Ore Company of Canada. Sept-Iles is the fall and shipping point for iron ore being mined in Labrador and Ungava.

HIS NEEDS

After his Sept-Iles inspection of ore loading facilities the duke travels to Knob Lake in Quebec, where the actual mining—takes place. The scheduled time at Schefferal is 6:30 p.m. AST tonight.

In the last two weeks Philip has been told how the metal is poured at the Aluminum Company of Canada's new project in British Columbia, gone underground at the uranium mine at Port Radium, N.W.T., visited Deloro and watched the pouring of a $28,000 bar of gold at Yellowknife on Great Slave lake.

He returns to the wilds after a brief visit to Ottawa for a banquet and ball Monday.

At the Canadian armament research and development establishment here Thursday the duke of Edinburgh previewed the punching power of Canada's new rocket launched weapon.

The army still isn't giving out much information on the Heller, a bazooka-type weapon for infantry use, but may be so in a few years. The defence research board describes the weapon as being "notable for its punch and its uncanny accuracy."

LEARN SECRETS

He also watched the firing of a 17-pounder anti-tank gun using pot shells—sometimes a Canadian device, sometimes a Canadian-developed device that fact up time and again.

"Since its occupation of Taiwan, the United States' government has seized control of the military, political and economic affairs of Taiwan and turned Taiwan into a United States' colony as well as a military base for attacking our country."

Research May Show Whether Factors Causing Obesity Linked With Cancer

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Research being conducted here may some day reveal whether factors which cause obesity are linked with cancer.

Dr. Paul F. Fenton and a graduate assistant, John B. Lyon, are seeking to discover the body mechanism which controls the rate at which calories are burned up or stored in the system in the form of fat.

Dr. Fenton has found among his laboratory animals that some subject to a process controlling the burning and storing of body fat. He leans to the theory that susceptibility to some kinds of cancer may be controlled by the same basic body chemistry.

Dr. Fenton says he and other researchers at work on the problem have a long way to go, but if successful, he says it might lead to two important results:

1. Early discovery of obesity and cancer tendencies in humans.

2. A means of eliminating the danger by correcting hormone deficiency, if hormone production actually is involved.

He found a normal diet, he says the two strains show only slight physical differences. But when a high fat diet is introduced, the cancer-susceptible strain becomes obese and the development of cancers is speeded up. The other strain eats as much but remains slim and healthy.

The biologists found other differences.

The thin mice are more active and absorb more oxygen into their bodies. The active mouse enables them to burn up the extra calories.

Sugar injected into the mice disappears almost from the blood streams of the fat, cancer-susceptible mice, but rapidly from the blood of the thin mice.

Since insulin burns sugar, Dr. Fenton suggests overproduction or reduction of insulin by the pancreas, or over-production of anti-insulin hormones may be one of the adrenal glands may be involved.

Runaway Red Agents Reported By Disclosures of Former Spy

By WARREN ROGERS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP)—More runaway Russian agents are reported today to be standing by in guarded American asylum, ready to follow Yuri A. Rastvorov in denouncing the Soviet communism for which they spied.

The handsome, nimble - witted Rastvorov poured out his story Friday night to a dramatically assembled Friday the 13th press conference.

After a lifetime under the Soviet system as he is last casually the deeply-tanned blond Russian said he was fed up. He ran away from his job as a Soviet intelligence officer in Japan last Jan. 24.

"I hope I can become an asset I can like other Americans," he said.

Rastvorov's sudden, unannounced appearance — the first U.S. acknowledgement that he actually was in U.S. hands — apparently marked a shift in U.S. cold war policy.

Publicity heretofore has—been avoided. The U.S. government has been interested in keeping the Russians guessing as to their—man bolt to the West or just fall off a cliff." The Russian agents do—hops the safety of anonymity.

Now however, the strategy is apparently changing. The defectors are provided the punching power of Canada's new rocket launched weapon.

The army still isn't giving out much information on the Heller, a bazooka-type weapon for infantry use, but may be so in a few years. The defence research board describes the weapon as being "notable for its punch and its uncanny accuracy."

Professor Warns Canada To Shun Asian Pacts

Says Country Must Think, Act for Self

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP)—Prof. D. G. Creighton of the University of Toronto's history department said Friday night that Canada should refuse to support Southeast Asia security pacts which include "such discredited satellites as the Chinese Nationalist regime."

Addressing the final session of the week-long Couchiching conference, a joint project of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs and the CBC, he said Canada's role in world affairs will depend on her ability to think and act for herself. He said Canadians are fast becoming intellectually subservient to the United States.

For the last eight years, Canada has been subjected to "the greatest sales campaign in the history of the U.S., a campaign to sell the cold war as an exclusive American package."

RELY ON TOUGH ATTITUDE

Prof. Creighton described as a threat to peace the belief in the U.S. conviction that the fundamental conflict is one of ideologies.

"Out of this belief comes a hostile spirit, brooking no compromise upon what is considered the sure way of life."

He held in its rise to leadership, the U.S. has conceived the belief that diplomacy and negotiation are based in bad.

"Every concession, every compromise, every attempt to reach acceptance of negotiation as a method in international relations has been denounced as appeasement."

Prof. Creighton said he thinks Canada should not establish itself from a Southeast Asian organization was a sensible one but that tests the government's real reasons for the decision.

Prof. Marcus Long of the University of Toronto's philosophy department commented:

"Canada is the one country in the world which could not be suspected of imperialism and as such could do much to assure the Asiatic nations that imperialism was not the objective of a Southeast Asian pact."

Lakes Skipper Exonerated In Death of 17

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Great Lakes skipper whose ore boat sank in Lake Superior at the cost of 17 lives was exonerated today from any wrongdoing in the disaster.

A Coast Guard board of inquiry had contended that Albert Siglin, master of the Henry Steinbrunner, failed to keep a lookout and properly protected against bad weather. The Steinbrunner sank May 10, 1953.

Clarence Cavalliam examiner, H. T. Long of Philadelphia, said in his report that Siglin was on watch in the pilot house when the hatch breaking open, permitting water to rush into the engine room. The report said that at no point did the Coast Guard show to his satisfaction that Siglin could be held responsible for this.

In view of Long's report, a Coast Guard spokesman said it is likely that Siglin is now cleared for good and that the case is closed.

Death Ends Confusing Nightmare Man Only Wanted to Go Home

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters) —James Merrin, 33, ran out of money on his vacation and decided to hitch-hike home to his wife and baby. He ended up in a nightmare of confusion ending in death.

From the Isle of Man he travelled to Manchester, where he asked for the train to his home town, Leicester. First he went to the wrong platform, then he got on the wrong section of the train, found that didn't go as far as Leicester, left it and got on another. He missed stops and asked fresh directions. He wound up at Ripley, nowhere near where he wanted to go. Then he got into a bus going in the wrong direction, and found himself on foot per. Police put him on a bus to Derby, where he caught the right train for home.

But he never got there. He was found dead on the railroad tracks, 14 miles from Leicester.

Police told a coroner's jury today they believe the confused traveller thought the train had reached its destination, opened the door and stepped out . . . into the path of an oncoming freight train.

The verdict was accidental death.

Eisenhower Reportedly Wants House to Kill Anti-Red Bill

By MARTIN L. ARROWSMITH

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower was pictured today as convinced a Senate-approved bill to outlaw the Communist party would make "propaganda martyrs" of Reds in Fill chief J. Edgar Hoover on the matter.

Both men have opposed outlawing the Communists on the grounds it would drive them underground and make it much more difficult to keep track of them.

The administration source here, who asked not to be named, said it, the president or his aides probably will talk privately with those leaders in an effort to get the bill killed.

The bill to outlaw the Communist party was passed by the Senate Saturday night by a vote of 85 to 1. The surprise move combined the existing provision with another anti-Communist weapon the administration does not like.

The latter section is aimed at wiping out Communist - controlled labor unions. It provides that labor or business organizations determined by the subversive activities control board to be Communist-dominated would lose their rights under the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Despite Eisenhower's reported opposition to outlawing the Reds, his aides declined to speculate on whether he would veto the compromise bill. The House must act along with the Senate and approves it.

Mendes-France Determined To Push EDC Plan Through

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—Premier Mendes-France pressed on today with his drive to push his version of a European Defence Community through France's National Assembly despite opposition he already has cost him three cabinet ministers.

The premier braced for another hurdle as he prepared to put his proposals for watered-down EDC to the five other prospective participants — Britain, West Germany and Italy.

Mendes-France said the three would be replaced at present. He called on three other cabinet members to remain in their ministries.

At Brussels, where the foreign ministers of the six nations are slated to meet Thursday, Mendes-France will have to get support for other five that they should accept EDC modifications he wants for getting French parliamentary approval.

If he wins out in Brussels, the premier then will have to line up enough votes to get approval in the assembly. He will have to use his great personal prestige to the full if he is to succeed.

Fragmentary r e p o r t s which leaked out of the Brussels conference said that the following modifications were proposed by Mendes-France:

1. Shorten the duration of the treaty from 50 years, apparently to make it conform to the life of the North Atlantic treaty which provides an escape clause with one year's notice after 1954.

2. Provision for re-examination and possible withdrawal of EDC members in case U.S. and British troops are pulled out of Europe or Germany is unified.

3. Decentralization of executive powers vested in the commissariat to leave more authority in the hands of the individual governments.

4. Extension of the transition period for putting the treaty fully into effect from three to five years, instead of the present interim of 18 months to three years.

5. Integration of forces would apply only to advance elements. This presumably would avoid the possibility of having German troops stationed on French soil.

6. Increase in number of cases in which the EDC council of ministers must act unanimously. In effect, extending the right of veto.

BRIGHTWOOD GOLF CLUB N.S. (CP)—Marlene Stewart was six up today over Mary Gay at the end of nine holes in the 36-hole final of the Canadian Women's open golf championships.

Meeting Called

TORONTO (CP) — A further meeting between Ontario government representatives and officials of municipalities to be affected by construction of St. Lawrence seaway and power project will be held here Tuesday, August 24.

Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, announced Friday that the municipal representatives have been invited to the meeting, to be attended by Hon. Leslie Frost, deputy premier of planning and development and Hon. Dana Porter, attorney-general.

He made the announcement at a gathering at the Hook monument near Morrisburg in connection with the 29th anniversary of the start of the seaway, by the province of Ontario Hydro.

Recently, seaway municipality representatives met here with the Ontario cabinet to hear plans for relocating 31 miles of provincial highways and for rerouting highways along the river.

Fire Damages Kingston Prison Cell Block Roof

Nearly Thousand Convicts Remain Orderly in Cells

KINGSTON (CP)—Nearly 1,000 convicts remained orderly Friday night as firemen successfully battled a stubborn blaze in the roof of the main cell block at Kingston penitentiary.

Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries, said the fire started from defective wiring above here. Deputy warden Ottawa after the alarm was given in mid-afternoon.

Officials declined to estimate the loss.

Guards on the thick limestone outer walls of the 131-year-old federal prison on Lake Ontario were hastily stepped up from four to 70, armed with rifles, they kept close watch lest any of the prisoners try to break for freedom under cover of the excitement.

NO MOVE

None of the convicts made any move to break out.

Officials said the fire broke out in the attic above the cell block, a cross-shaped four-storey main cell block and spread to the north wing. Another part of the north wing threatened to collapse, then damaged the west and east wings.

The fire also reached the 186-foot dome which, with its aluminum roof, is a landmark visible for miles, is a Kingston landmark.

The dome rises above the main cell block, nerve centre of the big prison. From there, officials are able to save the dome and to keep the fire from spreading to the electrical control units and to the four floors of cells.

Smoke filled the upper floor of the cell sections. Officials ordered bedding and furnishings removed elsewhere as the fire spread.

The recently-appointed warden, W. F. Johnston, returned from a holiday to take personal charge of operations after the alarm.

Prisoners who were in trade shops or working on farm gangs when the fire broke out were fed in their cells. Their meals were sent to them from the prison cafeteria. Later, they were either locked down in the shops or placed for the night, three or four to a cell, in the cell blocks.

FLOODLIGHTS BLAZE

After dark, prison floodlights on and around the walls lighted the scene. The army loaned a portable generator and other lighting equipment.

The blaze, worst in the prison's history, reached a peak as flames destroyed the attic structure of the cell block about 1 p.m. The cause of that fire also was given as defective wiring but reports circulated at the time suggested the outbreak was started by prisoners.

A few hours after Friday's fire started, smoke cast a dull haze over the west end of the city. As firefighters gradually brought the fire under control, there was less smoke and flames could be seen. Inmates who gathered behind rope barricades in the yard could see the dome, where only a flicker of flames three-quarters of the way up the dome.

Scarcely any sound reached the watchers.

NO AGREEMENT

TORONTO (CP)—Officials of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO - CCL) and the Canadian Bridge Co. met here Friday in Ontario's chief conciliation officer, Leslie Frost, but did not reach a settlement in the strike of 685 union members employed at the company's Walkerville plant. Negotiations will be resumed next Tuesday.

Cut in Spending Gives Increase In Budget Surplus

OTTAWA (CP) — An unexpected cut in defence spending more than quadrupled the government's estimated budgetary surplus for 1953-54.

Finance Minister Harris announced Friday that the surplus for the 1953-54 fiscal year actually totalled $45,797,000—not the $10,000,000 estimated by former finance minister Abbott last spring.

The increase in revenue was applied against Canada's national debt now reduced to a net of $11,116,000,000, down from $11,162,000,000 last year.

Revenues in the last fiscal year which ended March 31, 1954, were $4,000,000 below the $4,400,000,000 estimated by Mr. Abbott in his budget statement. Mr. Abbott now is a Supreme Court of Canada justice.

Expenditures, however, dropped to $4,351,000,000, about $39,000,000 less than the budget estimate of $4,390,000,000.

The spending drop was due "mainly to a shortfall in defence expenditures," Mr. Harris said. The department had planned to spend $1,839,000,000, but the billing came to only $1,806,000,000, lowered by $3,000,000.

The 1953-54 surplus is the eighth consecutive favorable balance and just about double the $23,500,000 in 1952-53. It brought total surpluses for the eight years to $2,305,000,000.

RC Church Below Earth's Surface To Be Dedicated

By F. J. PLAZA

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Within a vaulted chamber 345 feet below the earth's surface and nearly a mile inside an ancient salt mine a new Roman Catholic church will be dedicated Sunday.

The ceremony climaxes a project on which Pegan five years ago when the Colombian government ordered a cavern room carved inside the cavernous, billion - ton bastion of salt of Zipaquira, near Bogota.

The chapel blossomed into a full-fledged, air-conditioned cathedral capable of holding 10,000 persons.

The dedication will be attended by President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla and his wife and cabinet. The entire underground cathedral will be lit by 150,000 watts of concealed lighting.

The church was originally built for the benefit of Colombian miners who have been digging little nibbles into the salt crystal nearly a century and placing religious images in the salt caves.

But the architect, the late Jose Maria Gonzalez Concha, envisaged a monumental church available to outside worshippers as well.

Now, the church tourists drive through a portal hacked in the mountainside by the Spanish conquistadors in the 16th century. Almost a mile inside the vaulted galleries, supported by massive pillars of salt, they can park almost within view of the main altar which is beneath a huge cross nearly 9,000 feet above sea level.

The church is in a mine gallery that has not been worked for nearly 20 years.

3600 DAMAGE RESULTS FROM 2-CAR CRASH

Damage estimated at $600 resulted Friday when cars driven by James T. Waider, 306 Charles St., and William Latchford, R.R. 3, Belleville, collided at the corner of Victoria Ave. and George St. Damage to each vehicle was $300. No one was injured.

Waider was proceeding west on Victoria and Latchford was proceeding north on George to the line of the schedule. The impact knocked Latchford's vehicle across Victoria Ave. into a street sign and a newspaper delivery boy.

VALUABLE DOOR PRIZES AT FAIR

David's Electric and Canadian Westinghouse are jointly providing $400 worth of electric appliances as door prizes at the Belleville Fair. The major prize is an electric drier.

One prize will be drawn for cash during the afternoon and at the conclusion of the grandstand show.

Stubs of admission tickets to the grounds are to be turned in at David's booth at the southeast corner of the Manufacturers' Building. All persons turning in stubs will be given a number that makes them eligible for the draw for the appliances.

SCHWAB'S GIANTS' PLAY OTTAWA STEAM

Schwab's Little Giants, the Belleville baseball representatives in the O.B.A. playdowns enter the first round of competition tomorrow afternoon when they trek to Ottawa to meet one of the Capital City teams.

This is the first game in a best-of-three series but as yet no date for the return engagement has been announced.

East Robertson Block Sold To Toronto Firm

Sale of the East Robertson Block, extensively damaged by fire a week ago, to Principal Investments was announced today by the owner Mr. Sam Pappas. The new owners will take over possession of the business block as of today.

Mr. Pappas said the new owners will complete the repairs to the building made necessary by last week's fire which gutted the Vanity Fair dance hall section of the top floor and caused extensive water damage to business offices and stores on the first and second floors.

It is expected the new owners will restore the dance floor and will renovate all offices and stores, damaged.

Regents Defeat Wellington 13-6 In Final Game

Bryson Reid's Regents rallied all their guns in the closing inning last night as they handed Johnny Wellington's Dukes a 13-6 set-back on the latter's home diamond. This game wound up the league schedule with the Regents finishing in third place behind Picton and Deseronto. They will now meet the second place club in a two-of-three playdown series, commencing 11 hits, whiffing two and walking three.

John Casey and Wayne Fox were best at bat for the winners, each getting a pair of hits. Barclay, Bird, H. Stolliker, Petrie, Wallbridge, Bryant and N. Stolliker also hit safely.

Bryant, Series and Mowat hit for Wellington.

Line ups:

Regents: Barclay, Bird, Fox, H. Stolliker, Casey, Petrie, Wallbridge, Scott, Oliver, Nathan, Stephens, N. Stolliker, Maher.

Wellington: Szries, Purtelle, Bryant, Nelson, Snider, Garrison, Marvin, Mowat, McKenzie, Platt, Johnson.

City to Pay Part of Purchase Price for Property to Extend Victoria Ave. East of Limits

Extension of Victoria Ave. beyond the present city limits came closer to realization Friday night when city council at a special meeting voted to pay up to $1,000 as its share of the purchase price of property needed for the right-of-way and chimney Ave.

The property under question is owned by the St. Joseph's Parish, which had planned to construct a new church on the land needed for extension of the street. However, right-of-way will be purchased jointly by the city and by Thurlow township.

Ald. Arthur Keegan favored the extension of Victoria Ave. beyond Dundas St. He said it was the city was to develop along plans laid down by the suburban municipalities around it. He said these plans call for extension of Pine Street to Bridge St. as well as Victoria Ave. Plans call for all three streets to be extended eventually to the Old Kingston road. Provisions have been made in the Hale area road for these streets to ultimately extend eastward.

He said that the property for extension of the street eastward must be purchased before building would be constructed that would block plans for a roadway.

Mayor Wills both mentioned the importance for Victoria Ave. to be extended to the Kingston road and asked how this would benefit the city. He also wished to know if the Thurlow township did not make provisions for its own roads.

EXTENSION IMPORTANT

Ald. Bradford pointed out that the extension of Victoria Ave. east in the east end of the city was important if the city was to expand in that direction. The conglomeration of dead-end streets in the east end of the city was the result of lack of planning, he said.

"Belleville is growing and will continue to grow," he said.

Ald. Courtney also wanted to know if the city's expenditure would end with the purchase of the property along the parish property as a right of way. He was told that Thurlow township would take after the roads and other services.

Six councillors were absent from the meeting but the nine present voted 8-1 in favor of asking Thurlow township to purchase the needed property for the street right-of-way. Supporting the motion were Alderman Bradford, Countryman, Duff, Boyle, Keegan, Ald. Bateman and Tice with Mayor Both as the only opposing vote.

Members of the Belleville Public School board were given assurance that a permanent site for storm sewer across the new Sir Winston Churchill public school property on McDonald Ave. was planned for this year.

Engineer Chairman William VanTassell, spoke to council on the matter and said that construction of the sewer was an emergency matter. Engineers are open drilling and run across the school property. Frank Grandstaff also stressed the importance of the storm sewer.

Ald. Bruce Smith as chairman of public works, assured that barring unforeseen circumstances the work would be done this fall or during the early winter.

STREET WIDENING DISCUSSED

The widening of College Street was discussed by councillors following presentation of a recommendation by Alderman Keegan as chairman of planning, calling for a survey to be made of the roadway's south boundary and expropriation action to be taken against one property owner who had failed to come to an agreement with the city for the sale of the needed property.

Both were ultimately withdrawn by the alderman when it was agreed that another attempt should be made to reach an agreement with the property owner.

Mayor Both pointed out that Thurlow township had come to an agreement with the same property owner and said the city should be able to do likewise.

The planning committee, headed by Ald. Keegan will get a price on the cost of the required survey.

A large volume of correspondence accumulated during the summer recess came to attention of council. authorization was given for holding of the annual British Empire Day and Sheriff the city hall market building, and a grant of $300 will be given when the show is held early in December.

A request from Carson Elliott for permission to provide bench seats at the Front and Bridge Streets intersection was referred to the public works committee.

A request from the city of Quinte High School Area transportation committee for the erection of a traffic light at the corner of College and North Front Streets was also referred to the public works committee.

NO ACTION TAKEN

No action was taken with respect to the request of a city resident asking the city to pay a share of the costs for surveying a property purchased from the city. The survey had shown that the garage collector for an adjoining owner had not been correct.

City solicitor H. A. Farnsworth recommended the city take no action as city owned lots were now sold without liability and could up to the purchaser to pay for their own land.

George DeVuyst, local restaurant proprietor, called for daily inspections by health officials of all eating establishments, butcher shops and grocery stores. He said there had been complaints of improper storage of garbage.

However, he was of the opinion that better equipment would be required by the garbage collector if improved service was to be given. As the purchase of such equipment would be costly he recommended the garbage collection charge be raised a point of four or five years to allow the operator to recover the cost of the equipment.

Alderman Smith as chairman of public works committee said consideration was being given by his committee to garbage contracts to be let for a longer period.

Four-Day Fair Opens Monday, Many Exhibits

The Belleville Fair, "Show Window of Hastings County," will officially get under way on Monday with the four-day fair featuring "Children's Day" starting at nine a.m.

The agricultural-working directorate is rapidly completing plans for what they believe will be the biggest and best exhibition in the history of the Agricultural Society.

The board has left no stone unturned to bring to the people of the city and district one of the most colorful, educational and entertaining shows to be seen in this part of Ontario, not forgetting the agricultural, industrial and other aspects that are part and parcel of any fair.

The buildings have been readied for the many business and industrial displays. Also the well-kept barns and other livestock accommodations await their quota of cattle and livestock exhibits.

Tents used for many purposes such as dining, first aid, etc. have been erected and are ready.

The midway, which opens at noon shows will arrive tomorrow and go into immediate action so as to be ready for Monday.

The well-known Cherokee Rodeo and a sensational stage attraction will provide grandstand entertainment.

All-in-all it looks like a gala exhibition, which should live up to predictions of being "the best ever."

Van Dusen Employees Enjoy Picnic

The employees of VanDusen Bros Ltd., of Belleville and Picton, with their families, enjoyed a fine picnic at the Lakeside cottage, Black Creek, Wednesday afternoon.

There were sporting events of all kinds for the kiddies and the grown-ups, and swimming for those who braved the lake were pretty chilly afternoon.

A delicious supper was served. There were about 70 guests present and all agreed it was another wonderful picnic.

Obituary

MRS. HELEN SINTON HAMILTON (Oshawa-Belleville)

Mrs. Helen Sinton Hamilton, 39 Chatham street, widow of Murray Hamilton, died Friday, August 13th, in Oshawa after a lengthy illness. She was in her 69th year.

The deceased was born in Rosiln, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Rutherford. She lived in Port Hope, Rosiln, Thomasburg and in Belleville prior to moving to Oshawa three months ago.

She was a member of the Anglican Church.

ROBERT LAWRENCE BALD (R. R. 1, Trenton)

The funeral of Robert Lawrence Bald, R.R. 1, Trenton, was held from the family residence on Thursday, August 12th. Rev. G. J. Minisky conducted the services. Pallbearers were Almand Spencer, Colin Crewe, Deane Massie, Ray Massie, Ross Warren and Andrew Fogo.

The deceased was born in Scotland the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Bald, and lived in Murray township for the past 25 years. He died suddenly Tuesday, August 10th, in Trenton Memorial Hospital. He was 64.

He is survived by his wife, the former Harriett Foggo, and by Bobby, 18; and two daughters, Patsy, 8, and Elizabeth, 5.

He was a former Central Cold Storage, Trenton, and was a member of Friends Church, Wooler.

General Secretary Of Y Accepts New Position

General secretary of the Belleville Y.M.C.A. for the past two years, Mr. Lloyd Skeaff has resigned his position to take the position of general secretary of the "Y" at Cornwall. Mr. Skeaff will assume his new duties on September 1st.

Mr. Skeaff came to Belleville two years ago from Kitchener, this being his first position with the "Y" as general secretary.

Announcement of Mr. Skeaff's resignation was made by Mr. Lorne McDougall, chairman of the Y.M.C.A. board at the annual meeting. Mr. McDougall announced that Di. Diamantides, current physical director for the "Y" had been named as general secretary to assume Mr. Skeaff's position.

Mr. Diamantides came to Belleville from Edmonton and for the past few weeks has been in Melun, France, attending a Y.M.C.A. world conference. He sailed for home Thursday. He is married and has two small daughters.

MORRISON TO U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Herbert Morrison, deputy leader of the British Labor party, will visit the United States in October to lend support to the Democratic campaign, it was announced here Friday. Henry Montor, chief executive officer of the Israel Bond Organization, who issued the invitation, said Morrison would arrive in New York Oct. 5 and return to Britain Oct. 20.

Major E. S. Fairman, New C.O. Hastings, Prince Edward Regt; Col. Widdifield Goes to Staff

Major Everett S. Fairman, second-in-command of the 5th Anti Tank Regiment, RCA (A.L) has been given command of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. Brigadier M. S. Denn, commanding Eastern Ontario Kingston, announced here last night.

Major Fairman succeeds Lieut. Col. R. H. Widdifield, who commanded the regiment for the past two years.

Brigadier Dunn also announced the appointment of Col. Widdifield as general staff officer, grade one, of the newly-formed 13th Militia group headquarters, which will be commanded by Colonel Lyall N. Carr of Port Hope.

It was stated that Lieut. Col. E. H. Warwick, commanding officer of the 9th Anti Tank Regiment, will be associated with 13th Militia Group headquarters in a staff capacity.

Major Herbert Long, Port Hope, of the Hastings Regiment, has been appointed second-in-command of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment under Major Fairman.

NEW AMALGAMATION

Under the new militia reorganization announced a few weeks ago by National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment will amalgamate with the 34th Battalion, 34th Batteries of the 9th Anti Tank Regiment and the Midland Regiment. The combined unit will be the 3rd of Gananoque and the 47th as Napanee. Both will be designated as independent batteries.

Major Fairman will assume command of the new unit on a date to be announced in the near future.

It is proposed to station headquarters company, the support company and one rifle company, together with regimental headquarters, in Belleville.

Two rifle companies will be stationed at Port Hope and one in Picton. Trenton will be located in Picton, Norwood, Millbrook and Trenton.

APPOINTMENT POPULAR

The appointment of Major Fairman to the command of the Hastings Pees is a popular one in militia circles of the city. He will bring to the regiment a touch of the famous Argyll Light Infantry, one hundred years old unit that faded into military oblivion with the absorption of the 49th Hastings Regiment into the Hastings and Prince Edward unit.

Major Fairman served as a second lieutenant with the Argylls during his spare time military days, and thus brings to his new command a background of infantry training and experience.

The newly-formed 13th Militia Group area also includes Port Hope on the west and Brockville in the east. It will have jurisdiction over every militia unit in this area regardless of what arm of the service they represent.

For Parents Only

Learning To Talk

A baby learning to talk is a fascinating process for parents to watch. Babies like to coo and babble and make sounds, long before they can recognize certain words and respond to commands. Among the first sounds babies make are "m-m-m" and "da", which are usually soon transformed into "ma-ma", and "da-da", to the delight of their good parents! Most children begin to say one syllable words between their eighth and ninth months. At one year a great many children have a vocabulary of from three to six words. In this mechanical age "car" is frequently a first word. "Go" is another favorite which covers a lot of action!

By their first birthday average babies have a vocabulary of from three to six words. Cartoonists make a lot of jokes over a woman having "the last word" and loving to talk. It is no surprise to them that girls usually excel in the art of conversation before boys. Before they are two, little tots are beginning very short sentences. Most of them, by then, have acquired a vocabulary of almost fifty words.

At three years of age a child can probably use two hundred words by the time he starts to school he can often talk fluently. "Only" children because they are apt to do ten with adults, are sometimes early talkers. Twins help each other for company and are thus sometimes slow to begin to talk. Mentally retarded children are delayed in speaking, but sometimes quite bright youngsters are in no hurry to start.

If a baby is very slow to talk, the parents are often anxious. They wonder if there is anything they can do to help. At the same time they do not want to "fuss"!

Once in a while a bright younger sister shows his resentment over his mother boasting to a visitor how well he talks, by suddenly not saying anything. If he is a little older and mother repeats a "baby talk" or odd pronunciation of a longer word, this may anger him. Children do not love a joke, but they want mother to think them as grown up as they are!

Occasionally there is a physical reason for a child having difficulty in learning to talk. It is easily understood how a child who is in poor health may be very fretful about speaking. Malnutrition has the same delaying effect. Only occasionally a child's hearing is so poor that he cannot hear sounds clearly enough to imitate them. The deaf child needs help from an early age.

Mother sometimes wonder if their child's tardiness in talking is the result of being left-handed. That condition is rarely the cause of speech difficulty—not because so few children have it, but it seldom handicaps a child's speech. The baby who has been spoonfed, with for hard-lip or cleft-palate may require special speech lessons.

It is quite likely that there is no real cause for alarm. Every baby feels no need to talk. His devoted mother can read his sign language and his little cries are understood by her. If he points to his teddy bear with an urgent cry she hastens to bring it to him. A little less alacrity to answer his every wish might help him to see the value of expressing his desires in words!

It is quite possible that his parents have been too ambitious for him to talk. They may have either nagged him or given too much attention to his occasional utterance. In self-defense he has retired behind the wall of silence. Baby will talk when he really wants to!

What to do...

TO TAKE A TEMPERATURE

"Taking the temperature" seems a simple enough procedure. Just stick a thermometer in the patient's mouth for a few minutes and read it.

But Dr. John Ambulance points out that to take a temperature properly can avoid the spread of infection—a few simple precautions should be taken.

In the first place, you need more than the thermometer to do the job thoroughly. Especially if you're going to be taking temperatures regularly. Here's what you should have: a small tray (a pie plate will do) covered with a fresh paper serviette; a small jar with cover containing absorbent cotton swabs and one containing rubbing alcohol, a cake of soap, a small glass of water and small paper bag for used swabs.

The patient whose temperature is to be taken should be sitting or lying in a comfortable position. The first step for you is to wash your hands. Shake the thermometer down to 95 degrees Fahrenheit with a quick snap of the wrist. Check its reading by holding it level before the eyes and rolling it slowly until the mercury is clearly visible.

Dip the thermometer in clear water before placing the bulb under the patient's tongue. Instruct him to close his lips not his teeth. Caution him not to bite on the thermometer or to talk.

Leave the thermometer in place for three minutes and after removing it, wipe it off with a moist swab using a rotary motion from tip to bulb. Read it and then shake the mercury down.

Here is a hymn which long has been a favorite with Christians of all ages, but few of those who sing it are aware that it was written in Japan.

Howard Walter, its author, had no idea that he was creating a hymn when he penned his stanzas in a rather casual attempt to put some of the principles of his own ident farther north often attach themselves to groups of nuthatches and downies.

All these birds are small and find their food on trees. The faithful trio of the snowy woods make up a most efficient group, complementing each other. The chickadees pry into bark crevices from every angle, devouring numberless minute hibernating insects and their eggs. Nuthatches flake off loose bark scales and search beneath for insects, their eggs and pupae. Downy woodpeckers, with bills that make better tools for boring deep in, catch the insects lying in the trunk itself.

Untold good is done by the chickadees and all their little companions. Every part of a tree is examined by microscopic eyes, and great quantities of insect pests are consumed.

NEW BREED

The chesapeake bay retriever breed of dogs is believed to have originated when two dogs were rescued from an English brig wrecked off Maryland in 1807.

I Would Be True

I would be true,
For there are those who trust me;
I would be pure,
For there are those who care;
I would be strong,
For there is much to suffer;
I would be brave,
For there is much to dare,
For there is much to dare.

I would be friend
Of all, the foe, the friendless;
I would be giving,
And forget the gift;
I would be humble,
For I know my weakness;
I would look up,
And laugh, and love, and lift.

Howard Walter, its author, had no idea that he was creating a hymn when he penned his stanzas in a rather casual attempt to put some of the principles of his own life into verse. He called his poem "My Creed".

It was after he had been graduated in turn from two American theological seminaries, at Princeton and Hartford, that Mr. Walter decided to go Japan. He felt that a period of Christian work abroad would be helpful and he spent a year at Waseda University in Tokyo. It was here that he wrote his verses.

The young American became very popular with the Japanese students and made many friends during his year among them. Later, he decided to devote his life to Christian work in the Orient and he served for many years in India and China, as well as in Japan.

JOHNNY CALLED FOR

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Anthony H. Boris, who became nationally known as "Johnny", hotel page boy in advertisements for Philip Morris cigarettes, died Thursday. He was 39. Boris was associated with the tobacco company for 10 years. He left the firm to appear in films and model for advertisements.

BENEFITS INCREASE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Chamber of Commerce of the United States estimated Thursday that employers pay between $30,000,000 and $25,000,000,000 a year to workers in pension, insurance and other non-wage "fringe" benefits. The chamber said the value of such benefits, as showed in a biannual survey of 540 employers, had grown to $720 per worker a year in 1953, up $76 per year from 1951.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

FRATERNIZING

Most of our summer bird friends have left us—some to go a long, long way, others to just step over our southern boundary. A third group remains in Canada. Grebes, belted kingfishers, and a few other kinds of birds keep to themselves, but many birds prefer company whether or not they are in migration.

The majority of tiny, bright warblers, journeying by night, go to Central or South America. Others, not so very much bigger, are also night travellers, but have approximately the same goal as the warblers. Both largely on insects. It is, then, not remarkable that they should often be found in one another's company. Many warblers and vireos passed through the settled parts of Canada towards the end of September or the beginning of October. One hazy night about a month ago 300 warblers, vireos, and rose-breasted grosbeaks were killed by flying into the Empire State Building in New York.

You must frequently have seen robins listening for worms on our lawns. Flickers listen for ants, which constitute nearly half their food. The stomach of one flicker was found to contain 5,000 ants. That seems almost incredible. Canadian robins penetrate but a few miles into the United States in winter, fraternizing with Canadian flickers, for they both like fairly open country, feed in insects, and enjoy sour gums when in migration.

Black-capped chickadees are chummy. In summer their pals are Nuthatches, black and white warblers, brown creepers, and even vireos. But having no fear of cold weather, they stay behind while some of their friends leave for the south as autumn advances. Then they pick up a new set of pals. Chickadees that remain in southern Ontario join 'bands' of kinglets, brown creepers, and downy woodpeckers. Those resin vertebrates, and the Fifth Column in invertebrates.

A Lift For Living

Leaving and Joining

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

One year ago this month I stood on the wharf from which the Pilgrim Fathers sailed for America. It is, as you know, in the English city of Plymouth.

The day of my visit there was a bank holiday. And in the pleasure-seeking crowds thronging through Plymouth's parks, I could not find many who knew much about the place from which the Pilgrims embarked. The spot is marked by a modest little arch and inscription.

I suppose the departure of that little company of forty-one families did not attract much attention on that sixth day of September in 1620. Perhaps many were glad to see the Pilgrims go because they were dissenters from the established church. They were called "Separatists" by the English. They migrated first to Holland. And then after a few years some of them left Holland for America by way of Plymouth.

Governor William Bradford and others of their leaders referred to these twice-transplanted people as "pilgrims and strangers upon the earth," using the scriptural reference in the Epistle to the Hebrews. The word "pilgrim" clung to them and by the beginning of the nineteenth century the term "Pilgrim Fathers" came into use. Thus it is striking that those who were called "Separatists" in England have become Fathers."

PRINCIPLES INVOLVED

In the history of this little company we see revealed both the principles of separation and association. There comes a time in the course of human events when for the sake of conscience men have to sever old associations.

Sometimes people, like the Pilgrims, have felt constrained to cut loose from their ecclesiastical moorings and start new denominations. A situation may develop in a business organization so that a man feels obliged to leave in order to save his integrity and self-respect.

A person may join a reform movement which has noble objectives. Later subversive elements may infiltrate and change its purpose. Thereupon his duty is to withdraw lest he be deemed by his associations to be one. But days we have become very familiar with the expression "guilt by association."

But merely to separate from a situation or group is no adequate solution. If the English Separatists who left the church of England had stopped as an isolated inergroup, they would soon have willed away and been forgotten. But that company of Pilgrims united with other colonists and came to be known as the Fathers of a new commonwealth.

Goodness can only be effective through association. You cannot really be good all by yourself. Perhaps even Emile may sacrificially say, "The only time a person can be good is when he is by himself!" But goodness cannot long exist in a vacuum.

One might clean his mind of all unworthy thoughts and restrain his passions from all impure desires. But would such purity be pure goodness? The Scripture reminds us that we cannot claim to love God whom we have not seen unless we love our fellowmen whom we do see. And can anyone be said to love his neighbor if he has no fellowship with them?

WHY, ORGANIZE RELIGION.

The late Sinclair Lewis once said to me something like this: "I believe in religion but why organize it? The moment you organize religion, you kill it spontaneity."

I see Mr. Lewis' point. There are times when I feel that I can come closer to God by going off to some lovely spot in the country or the quiet of my own room than by mingling in church congregations and committees. But only by organization can we effectively teach religion to our youth or take up religious faith to clean up the bad conditions of society.

Evil forces "gang up." Good forces must therefore join up. We can no more cleanse society by isolated individual effort than we can irrigate the Sahara Desert with an atomizer. If every resident of your city had a good well in his own backyard, you would not have an adequate water supply for fighting fires in streets or putting out fires. There are some things we can only do together.

The observance by dgers of our day can be checked not by lone individualists but by the work of the Lord.

CANADA'S MENTAL HEALTH

The Bureau of Statistics reports that one out of every 225 Canadians was a mental patient last year—a record high for Canada. A breakdown of these figures showed that 23,130 Canadians were admitted to mental hospitals in 1953 boosting the mentally ill population to 65,827. Of these, 51,221 patients in mental health institutions and 14,606 in general hospitals.

To place the cost of such services at $10 per day per person would not likely be too far short of the mark. As such a per person would not likely be too far short of the mark. As such a rate the program costs $660,000 a day roughly, or $219,-000,000 a year.

The medical and psychiatric treatment of mental diseases is an extremely lengthy process in many cases and a costly one because the personnel engaged in such work require exhaustive training and special facilities are required for treatment. Confinements in mental sickances are required for treatment. Confinements in mental sickances are confined for life and the burden of supporting a person in such an institution are so great that governmental agencies assume individual responsibility for patient maintenance.

While the purpose of the mental health program is not generally recognized there is no cause for alarm in the publication of figures showing increasing hospital admissions and increasing numbers of first admissions. There admissions and increasing numbers of first admissions. There is no room for complacency either. There are many reasons why the number of mentally ill people in Canada has been growing exclusive of the increasing size of the general population.

Diagnosis of mental conditions is improving. Recognition of the early signs of mental illness means that patients are directed to mental institutions earlier in their case history when treatment can be more effective and rehabilitation speeded. Thanks to an educational program the stigma of mental illness is not so great as it used to be, postponing treatment to mental hospitals. Families are less reluctant to conceal the fact of mental illness in members of their family and recognize that the best care for the mentally ill individual is not rendered in the protective concealment of a shamed family, but in the appropriate confines of a hospital where serious and skilled attempts at cure can be made.

Possibly another factor that has been discounted in numbering mentally ill patients is the increasing number of aged and elderly persons, who, because of senility or melancholia, are confined to mental hospitals for lack of old age rest homes. Senility is a state of being accompanied by deterioration of mental capacity, but a senile person is not a mentally ill person in the same sense as a schizophrenic or paranoid.

The problem of old age is one that is becoming increasingly more important as modern medicine increases average life expectancy. Research is what to do with old people will require more serious consideration than simply confinement in mental hospitals in default of a more appropriate alternative.

The mental health of a nation should be the concern of every individual and not just the special province of those dedicated to its prevention and elimination. The financing of the present program of mental health, at least, concerns every taxpayer.

TUT, TUT JAMIE

Federal Agriculture Minister James Gardiner, according to a report from Canadian Press, told an audience in Saskatoon that at least 100 million people in India and the "great majority" of Western Europe's population are living in a higher standard of living than Canadians.

Mr. Gardiner made this remarkable statement in expressing disapproval of any plan to give away Canadian wheat to other countries. Because, in India, he was informed, there are 400 million Indians have a higher standard of living per capita than Canadians and therefore "they can afford to take our products and pay for them."

"Ignorance is bad enough but to give away our surpluses," he is quoted as saying, "it means taking the people themselves into our own country."

Mr. Gardiner did not explain that Canada is a "have not" nation. What he did say is that he believes 100 million Indians and 400 million people in Western Europe are living in "have more" countries.

This is astonishing news. Someone should inform the United States immediately. That benighted country has been pouring millions of dollars annually into the restoration of Western Europe. And those ungrateful opeans, who have a better standard of living than Canadians, have been accepting this aid when all the time they should have been doing their best to share their good fortune with North America by raising Canadian and American standards of living.

Oh, the irony of it! All those "Bundles for Britain," all those food packages that had to be sent to France, Italy, Germany, etc. Not to mention the duplicity of those Europeans and their ration cards, and pictures of bombed apartment buildings, ragged people and starving children. Obviously we have been taken in.

And how could Mr. Gardiner knowing that 100 million Indians were enjoying a higher standard of living than Canadians, have begged on bended knee, in company with colleagues in the Commons to allocate millions of dollars to the Colombo Plan and to the construction of steel mills in India.

And how dreadfully clever of the Canadian government to fool us us into thinking our standard of living was higher than that of Western Europe by importing a million immigrants from those fortunate countries in the last 10 years.

Now that the news is out Mr. Gardiner can be blamed for any stampede of Canadians to the exalted standards of living in India and Western Europe. And it will serve us right.

The London, Ontario, Free Press says: "In the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening the Rev. R. S. Laidlaw spoke strongly against sensational preaching. He said that many persons go to church simply to be entertained and that they who do so get no real good from it. Sunday was his last day in London and he said good-bye to the congregation. He goes to Belleville to take a permanent charge as minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church."

Vancouver—World at its Feet

(Belfast Telegraph)

Long after the Banisters, the Cabots, the Chatsworths, and the Hopkins are back home, and the Games are forgotten, Vancouver will keep cropping up in the news.

Vancouver is the gateway to the Orient and Alaska, is a city expanding at such a rate that few dare predict its limits.

NATIONAL HEART

Here, in the largest city in British Columbia, a province of untold natural wealth, there is a stirring national pride and a burning faith in its future.

Vancouverites feel that their city is THE centrepiece of a nation emerging as one of the great powers of the earth, a source of new wealth and new opportunities the free world — and especially the United States, which is pouring millions of dollars into the province — of security in the Atomic Age and of continued industrial prosperity.

Yet not so long ago — indeed in the span of a man's life — the residents of Vancouver (pop. 400,-000) led a dismal, hand-to-mouth life, the prey of the fluctuations of seasonal unreliable economy. But those days are gone.

SWIFT MOVEMENT

They are still hard-working, even by Canadian standards — but now they have a far higher standard of living.

Take a walk downtown, as I did, to the centre of financial and business activity, and study the multi-storey buildings housing billions of dollars. Look at the huge offices of Canadian banks, investment and insurance companies. Everywhere there is a scene of high-powered commercial movement, of prosperity and of that go-ahead spirit.

Vancouver has the Orient, and, perhaps with transportation through the Panama Canal, the world at its feet. In Kipling's words, it holds "the idle deeds to half the trade of Ash."

They have everything in British Columbia, a province of 366,255 square miles, about seventy times the size of Ulster.

While other parts of the world are beginning to scrape the bottom of the barrel for raw materials and energy, this territory remains a storehouse of ores, power and timber.

Petroleum is only being discovered. Forest industries alone are almost 2,000 sawmills in the 117,000 square miles classified as forest. There have made great strides in the utilization of waste in the manufacture of wood products. They see that not a shaving is lost.

Turbulent rivers are being harnessed to provide the generating power. They have developed to a tenth of its water-power sites already developed.

CITY OF FUTURE

Coal, gold, silver, copper, zinc, aluminium and uranium are but a few of the mineral reserves. Fish is marketed all over the world, agriculture, which is only just beginning in Vancouver, and, in seaside, fruit farming have made great strides in the utilization of waste products.

And all this wealth and potential power lies Vancouver — city of the present and the future.

Much Talk But No Quotes

(Hanover Post)

Driving home from the Hanover District Hall Board meeting on Monday, the other night, we came to one conclusion, that some members of the Board express reporter there. This deduction was reached after the following happenings.

The regular meeting was changed from Monday to Tuesday night. This change was learned by calling the secretary on Monday afternoon.

Following the passing of the minutes and the reading of letters, Leonard Kraft, on glancing in the direction of the reporter, said that he was not present at the discussion he had with the cook of the restaurant in regard to a request for an increase in salary, and he asked not to be quoted, as they did not recognize the Board when they commented on same.

So we fidgetted for an hour, trying to visualize a scene on the polished blackboard, as members discussed economic conditions, unemployment, a survey meeting in the cafeteria, etc., etc.

Then came a discussion on a request for a new pencil. The request came from the chair.

Again quietly we sat waiting our pencil, we wondered why we hadn't played another nine holes of golf.

We came back to the hush, hush meeting and the familiar words sounded again, "I don't want my name mentioned."

Glancing at our notes—accounts passed—two hours gone!

Then just as the meeting was about to adjourn came a vote from across the room, and then he didn't like the comments made by the press on certain things he had said, and if this was going to continue he would resign.

This trustee also stated that the mover and seconder's name in any motion should not be printed.

Several others took a "peck" at "Yours Truly," and getting permission from the chair, we voted a few more pencils, and left the boiling in the cauldron over a two hour period, and we left the meeting, but we could hear mumblings as we descended the steps.

But a motion was passed and we are going to print it.

Adventurous Commerce

(Northern Miner)

One of Canada's most romantic commercial ventures is that of the Northern Transportation Company Limited, which is owned by the Canadian populace.

Northern Transportation uses the Athabaska River north from Waterways, Alberta, to its mouth in Lake Athabaska. Crossing the lake, the company's 20 vessels and 30 barges ply down the Slave River which takes them to Great Slave Lake; and from Great Slave Lake the fleet follows Mackenzie River all the way north to its delta on the coast of the Arctic Ocean. From Waterways, which is about 30 miles north of Edmonton, to Tuktoyaktuk on the coast of the Arctic Ocean is some 1,680 miles.

Main function of the system, which can operate only about three months during the summer, is to service uranium camp at Lake Athabaska, the gold camp of Yellowknife on Great Slave and the settlements that are springing along the Bear River, the uranium camp of Port Radium on the east shore and the fringe of the Arctic Circle. Other northern communities are served, too, of course served by the company.

Eldorado Mining and Refining (1944) Limited, Government and as Eldorado is a government-owned company, it is fitting that Northern Transportation have a stake in its operation. During last year, Northern Transportation had a net profit of $292,269 before estimated taxes of $135,000, and, it is interesting to add, as usual the company financied all operating expenditures out of its own capital.

In many aspects the job Northern Transportation is doing is highly Canadian in that its purpose of helping to supply the communities that are developing Canada's vast northland is, like so many other Canadian ventures, closely coupled with the country's ous disregard for distance and terrain. This is the kind of thing we regard that Canadians must continue to display to facilitate this company's lusty industrial growth.

Below Of Love

(Calgary Albertan)

It seems that in prehistoric times, when human beings lived in caves, the man of the family had a problem protecting his lady from marauders. So he made noises to frighten them away. Sometimes and more ferocious the noises, the better his defence.

Now we hear from a British doctor that men who snore may be subconsciously performing their old protective function, defending the little woman against troublemakers.

According to the theory, wives ought to look on the old man's snore as a sign of deep affection. It means he cares.

So, madam, the next time you wake up in the middle of the night because he is figuratively ripping the plaster off the walls, don't shake him into wrath and silent submission. It's not every girl who can get a man who will believe sweet nothings into her ear all night long.

TELL ME MORE — THE DOCTOR SAYS

The other day I received a letter written on the letterhead of a youngish physician and signed by him—which facts immediately put my respect for quoting the following passage from a recent piece in this column:

"An Eskymo who consumes 1 e a t h e r than 1½ pints of milk or the equivalent in milk products every day is likely to suffer from calcium deficiency, and calcium deficiency may be manifest in childhood, youth, young adulthood, maturity or advanced age in so many ways that I hesitate to list the more familiar complaints here. linkheads, will laugh the whole thing off and go on doping themselves with scientifical and other blood-destroying heart - wrecking sense-deadeners which they imagine will "break up" whatever ails them.

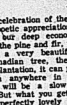
The young doctor closes with a snappy remark which comes pat in my mind in regard to his sincerity: "Yours truly."

If he imagined that would make my face red the young doctor has a lot to learn.

On the other hand if he or any other member of the medical profession wants references to authorities to support everything I say about calcium deficiency, current medical literature is full of them—indeed I wonder how any physician who pretends to keep abreast of progress can remain ignorant of the many manifestations of calcium deficiency.

THE PACKSACK

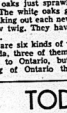
By GREGORY CLARK



In our celebration of the maple, our poetic appreciation of the elm, and our deep economic respect for the pine and the spruce, we neglected a very beautiful and quiet Canadian tree, the basswood. By plantation, it can probably be grown anywhere in Canada, though it will be a slow process. But what you get in the end is a perfectly lovely tree, not far ahead of red oak and black oaks as Gothic is ahead of Victorian, and putting the best aside for your other Canadian tree, as far as sentiment is concerned.

The basswood is a tree that grows, it takes on a peculiarly individual appearance with its massive crown, with stout twisted limbs, and a look of having been trained. Specimens you can tell the white oaks from the red by the rounded lobes of the former and the red having sharp-pointed lobes. The red oaks just sprawl a bit in growth. The white oaks grow cagily, thinking out each new branch, and how big. They have a Scottish look.

There are six kinds of white oak in Canada, three of them confined not only to Ontario, but to that little sag of Ontario that hangs and many another creature.



down deep into the nation to our south. Not a single native white oak grows in the Maritimes, and only two in Quebec. There are six kinds of white, favors Quebec in a limited range. The third green, cautiously, into the prairie provinces from the head of the lakes and the Ottawa River, a couple of tiny intrusions into Saskatchewan and from the Eastern Townships into New Brunswick, with a bare touch against the southern shore of Lake Temiskaming. But six white oaks is the Garry Oak, which appears on Vancouver Island, Victoria, and fairly heavily along the southern inside coast to the mouth of the Fraser, to the salt air of the sea, the Garry is often a shrubby tree, and you would not look at it. But tree lovers do. It might be a clan emblem.

If you see a tree that has a curious appeal to your eyes, if it has a round massy head, if its crown is a deep and comfortable green, if its bark is rough and plaited, in tones of fine pale grey, and if its leaves are lobed, you are looking at the oak. Its acorns are sweet, not bitter: and they feed the deer of the grouse, the squirrel, and many another creature.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

It would be difficult to name anything in nature that has been a greater blessing to all mankind than have the trees so familiar to us all. Our forests have conserved, and protected, millions of acres of land and have been of inestimable value to scores of other ways. I wish that they could always remain. But many days are gone by for those who first blessed them.

The wanton slaughter of trees is a crime. Unless it is absolutely necessary, no tree should be destroyed. Trees had matured until its trees are. What would New England be without its beautiful elms? There are trees that I talk to—pines, maples, and birches.

Trees have ailments, and because strikes just like humans, but they have to bear it the best they can. Sometimes a tree surgeon can remedy some tragic happening in nature, but at others the tree has to be cut down, its outer glory a mere memory. In its healthy state, however, the contribution of trees is tremendous. Here are listed some of their uses:

Who has not sat before a blazing fire and dreamed dreams, or conversed with friends on summer's topics before the warmth of such a fire during a chilly night? There was a stricken tree on your island this summer. Its back was broken, either by storm or wind, or was hit by lightning—a great hemlock that was perhaps 150 years old, or more. I stood and looked at it and wondered. I final-

Frenchmen And Politics

(Four Tous, Lausanne, Switzerland)

The following story, reported from Paris, confirms the Frenchman's essentially partisan attitude toward politics:

"How many dozen do you want?" the shopkeeper asked.

"Two," the customer answered.

"And what are your political opinions?" the merchant inquired.

Astonished, the customer answered he didn't have any, and asked what his politics had to do with buying oysters.

"You see," the merchant explained, "it's to know in what newspaper I should wrap your oysters."

HANDICAP 22

I joined the district golfers when I had a handicap of 10.
Now comes my cards with figures new.
My handicap is 22.

I ought to sing a song of woe
To climb so high, yet sink so low
But I applaud as fate would do
When handicapped at 22.

I don't resent the dollar charged
For card with handicap enlarged.
Right now I proudly make it known
In that high class I'm not alone.

Let it be medal play or match,
Few are the golfers rated:

But every club has many who
Have handicaps of 22.

Clever Thief Meets Match

(Fort William Times-Journal)

A clever thief in Chicago met his match. The man had left a trail of worthless cheques behind him from coast to coast, which he gathered to himself a large quantity of valuable merchandise.

Finally he coveted an expensive camera which produces a finished photograph, ready for viewing after the shutter has been released. The clerk in the store was suspicious of the customer, and in demonstrating the camera took a photograph of him.

Police were called. They examined the photograph, recognized the thief, and soon had him in custody.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE CHURCH'S GREATEST NEED

What is the greatest need in the church today?

It would appear to the writer of this column that the greatest need in the church today is a better theology. Many people would disagree with that conclusion. Some might even be horrified by it and consider it backward and unprogressive. But the fact is ever with us that the source of our religion is a body of revealed truth and that before we can get to work on the practical aspects of Christian living we have to know what that truth is.

Christian revelation is not a theory about life; rather it is an announcement concerning God, Jesus Christ and the seeking forth of certain spiritual principles by which we are commanded, by no less authority than that of the King of Kings, to live our lives. This body of knowledge is known as theology, or wisdom about God.

Christianity is a way of life, but we cannot walk in that way unless we know what it is—where it begins, whither its course, and its ultimate destination.

So again we affirm that the greatest need in the church today is more and better theology. Get such a theology, trust in it, live its injunctions, and the matter of living a Christian life will take care of itself.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Pictured above is the beautiful cairn erected by the late Dr. W. K. Burr to the memories of Burr's pioneers. Inscribed on the cairn are the names of proud Prince Edward families, many descendants of whom reside in the district. Dr. Burr, noted for his efforts in restoring and beautifying old Prince Edward cemeteries, reclaimed this pioneer cemetery from a near wilderness, and was mainly responsible for its present well-kept condition. Standing to the left of the monument is Mrs. Ross Burr, wife of a grandson of Dr. Burr, who resides in the neighborhood, and George H. Carver of the Ontario Intelligencer.

By GEORGE H. CARVER

BURRS—Hand-engraved pieces of rough limestone drawn from fields of nearby homesteads, mark the last resting places of pioneers of this lush part of Prince Edward county.

Here in a quarter acre of hallowed ground, guarded by stately sentinel maples they rest in peaceful serenity.

They would have been forgotten but for the foresight, ingenuity and labor of one whose name is synonymous with Prince Edward county pioneers.

He was the late Dr. W. K. Burr, world traveller, author, lecturer phrenologist and pioneer himself of a county movement to restore and beautify old cemeteries.

A towering elm casts soft shadows over a beautiful 12-foot stone cairn centrally located in this well-kept "Pioneer Cemetery" which dates back to 1822. On it are engraved the names of those who settled in this district, and some of their children. The cairn was erected and unveiled in the autumn of 1923. Descendants of pioneer families secured the stone and hauled it to the cemetery.

WELL-KNOWN NAMES

Here lie the Quackenbushs, the Burrs and the Valleaus. The Ainsworths, the Harnes, the Andersons, the Rorabecks, the Doolittles, the Thomases, The Saylors, Pynes and Potts, the Friars and the Calnans, the Redners and the Bensons, the Fredericks and the Crandalls and many others.

There are no stately marble monuments to perpetuate the memories of these pioneers. No beautifully engraved headstones here. Burr carved the names and dates so as to make them legible.

A modern wire fence encloses the cemetery. Along its southern border stand tall maples, planted by Dr. Burr. Flowering shrubs add a touch of colorful beauty. The trim well-kept grass etches the old gravestones into startling silhouette. Nearby on this part of the old Rynard Quackenbush homestead stand Burrs Church and the Burrs schoolhouse.

FOUND NEGLECTED

But for the energy, labor and foresight of Dr. Burr, the "Pioneer Cemetery" would have gone into the discard many years ago. Originally it extended for some distance north of the reclaimed quarter acre. Weeds, time and the buffeting of the elements threw the old resting place into a dilapidated state.

Apparently forgotten for part of it was put under cultivation. A lowman one day discovered bones that were definitely not of the four-legged animal type. It was then that Dr. Burr decided to do something about reclaiming the ancient burying ground. The present "Pioneers' Cemetery" is a monument of his labor of love.

Many colorful stories of the pioneers lie buried here. Some of the tales come to light, but more could be told if these former United Empire Loyalists, most of whom came here in 1792, could be brought back.

For instance there is the story of John Friar who built a sawmill at what is now Allisonville. In those days Friars Mills was a prosperous community. Besides the sawmill it had a tavern, a cheesery, a shoe shop, a carding and fulling mill, a chair factory and a wagon shop. Later John Allison built a store in Friar's Mills and the name of the community was changed to the present one.

MANY DESCENDANTS

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Pyne lie buried here. Mr. and Mrs. Pyne came from New Jersey, and all the Ontario Pynes are said to be descendants of this couple. Mrs. Pyne was noted for her nursing skill and often took the place of a physician when the "neighbors needed medical care."

In those days, rough lumber wagons or democrats took the place of the modern well equipped funeral coaches. There was no charge for grave-digging. The neighbors took care of that. Not a flower was laid on a coffin, nor was the coffin enclosed in a "rough box."

The pall-bearers used the reins of the horses' harness to lower the coffin into the grave. Afterward they placed straw or hay atop the coffin to deaden the sound of the earth falling on it when the grave was being filled.

Nathaniel Osborne, who also lies buried here, was a victim of the deadly cholera epidemic which swept Belleville in 1835. He was buried without ceremony. Thomas Bowerman, a neighbor, and three others took the coffin to the cemetery, dug the grave and buried the victim. Not a prayer was uttered. Not a word was spoken.

Here too lie the three children of Samuel Wakefield who came here from England. The last of these children was accidentally shot by the father. As he lay dying she uttered the words, "You shot me, Pa, you shot me". Mr. Wakefield never recovered from the shock of the accident.

FIRST PIONEER

The first of the pioneers to be buried here was Mathew Benson, who lived nearby in a log cabin. Mr. Benson was born in 1760.

Then there are Rynard Quackenbush, John Friar, Simeon Friar, Mary Post, J.F. Redner, Martin Frederick, Amos Redner Doolittle, Jane Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs John Foster, John West, William Burr, Peter Valleau, Elder Henry Ainsworth and many others who bear the proud names of Prince Edward county families.

The fine homes of the descendants of these pioneers dot this rich farming district. At one time the Burrs and the Valleaus, two of the first families to settle here owned a large acreage of the surrounding district. Mr. Ross Burr, grandson of Dr. Burr lives a short distance from the Pioneer Cemetery. Mrs. Burr has many scrapbooks filled with the prolific writings of Dr. Burr as well as many other mementos of his life.

Dr. Burr was born on the old Burr homestead on the fifth concession of Hillier. He was a member of the Disciple Church and later took up phrenology. He travelled extensively in the United States and in Eastern Canada on lecture tours. Dr. Burr deplored the fact that so many old cemeteries in Prince Edward were not being cared for and he started a movement to restore and beautify them.

He died at the age of 88 in August, 1930, two years after he had seen the unveiling of the beautiful cairn in Pioneers' Cemetery. He was energetic, alert and interested in his work up until the time of his passing.

Dr. Burr is buried in the beautiful cemetery across the road from the one he restored for posterity. He sleeps under a splendid marble stone along with other descendants of the families that made pioneer history here. This cemetery, too, is an outstanding tribute to the pride the residents of this community take in their heritage. It is one of the better-maintained resting places in Prince Edward county, with beautiful flowering shrubs, flowers, bushes and trees shading and adorning the hallowed ground. Dr. Burr, and many of the sentinel trees lie children of the old families.

Buried here is the grandfather of Dr. Burr. He was Noahdiah Burr who was born in Salem, Massachusetts in 1772 and passed away in 1813. According to the inscription on the headstone, Mr. Burr was a "Cousin of Eli Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin, and his wife Joanne Whitney.

MANY VISITORS

Many passers-by stop to visit what is becoming a landmark in this Prince Edward community, for on the Pioneers' Cemetery wire gate is the inscription and date 1822-1927. Reverently they enter the cemetery, softly close the gate and walk quietly among the small stones, bending to decipher the names of those illustrious men and women who sought and built their homes in a rich fertile part of the "Garden County".

They gaze at the tall cairn with its imposing list of names; and the regal maples and elms, guardians which bow leafy heads in figurative appreciation. Then they leave with careful steps. For beneath them lie those who have become part of the soil of the country which gave them life and has given them a lasting memorial in death.

Stately maples and elms guard the graves of the pioneers. Leafy heads bow gracefully over the hallowed ground and form a perfect setting for the beautiful cairn which is pictured in the centre. To the left is Burr's school and beyond Burr's church. In the foreground are pictured the rough limestone slabs which mark the graves of former U.E.L. men and women who settled in this fertile part of Prince Edward County.

Rough slabs of limestone taken from nearby fields mark the last resting places of many of the pioneers of Burr's. Shown here is the headstone on the grave of John Friar, founder of the present day Allisonville, which was formerly called Friar's Mills.

MOORCROFT—LAMBERT

On Thursday, August 12th, a quiet wedding was solemized at the United Church parsonage, Madoc, when the Rev. J. F. Lane united in marriage Pearl Lola Lambert, of Picton, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Lambert, to Everett Allan Moorcroft, of Madoc township, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hurrell Moorcroft.

The bride was attired in dust blue sheer with French lace insets over taffeta. She wore a matching headdress and corsage of white roses.

Miss Shirley Walker, wearing powder blue taffeta, with matching accessories and corsage of sweetpeas, attended the bride, while Mr. Robert Moorcroft, of Madoc township, attended the bridegroom.

THE HARVEST-APPLE TREE

Down near the lake where the sunshine plays
Hide and seek 'mid the shining leaves,
The old tree stands in the August days
Luring the lads through the August haze,
To the checkered shade that the sunlight weaves.

Old is the tree and scarred and torn
By the upward climb of boyish feet,
But though the branches are warped and worn,
Though untrimmed limbs have many a thorn,
The apples are ripe and red and sweet,

A carefree boy with the fearless feet
Partake while you may of summer joy,
While life is young and pulses beat
To the tune of love and laughter sweet
And life is gold without alloy.

For life will call you from childish ways,
And duty's path is steep and long
Where the fleeting joys of childhood days—
Such as apples ripe in the autumn haze—
Elude at the strains of a long-lost song.

—HELEN B. ANDERSON.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

Yesterday, we heard a small noise in the food shelves. At first, it sounded like a mouse. Then it was almost as if a small snake had hissed. Then came a really loud explosion. Whatever could it be! We carefully opened the kitchen cupboard. There was a terrible mess. Orange juice was spattered everywhere. Suddenly the bang was that we had put a tin of frozen orange juice into the cupboard by mistake, instead of into the refrigerator.

FILES OF SAND

If your vacation takes you near Picton, Ontario, be sure to make a side trip (about 12 miles) out to the Sand Banks. These sand dunes are a paradise for children and an interesting sight to grownups.

You can walk along in the white sand for miles. It is a beautiful place with the deep blue waters of Lake Ontario round about. The dunes are not the mountains of sand you see south of Tillsonburg. They are much easier to climb, though not as spectacular.

There are picnic tables and a pop stand at the foot of the dunes. There are also cottages, summer cabins and tourist homes nearby where you can stay economically. The swimming is excellent. There is a riding stable with horses and ponies for those who want to see the sights the easy way.

REST CURE

It seems you can put your jaw out-of-joint without being in a fist fight, chewing taffy or yawning loud and long. Dislocation of a small piece of cartilage in the jaw joint can come about simply when eating normal food or talking in a normal way.

This mishap comes about suddenly and the pain shoots out into all the nerves of the cheek bone, teeth, lower jaw and reaches down to the shoulders. The sufferer finds he is unable to talk and must resort to liquid food.

Personal experience in our own family showed that after an X-ray check to make sure there were no breaks in the bone, rest could cure the painful mishap in about 48 hours. By rest, we mean no attempts to talk and no attempts to bite or chew. Heat applied to the jaw was useless, but mild sedatives helped ease the severe pain.

Many accidents and diseases of the body are being cured by rest these days instead of by medical or therapy treatments. Complete rest and Mother Nature herself are perhaps the greatest healers.

STYLE LINE

We hear Christian Dior of Paris has created a new fashion to make headlines for fall. He calls it "the Hiline." It is a return to the low-waisted, horsey torso of the 20's. We would prefer to call it the "Horror Line."

Uncle Frontenac says office boys who tell lies usually get promoted to salesmen.

Princess Anne Will Puff Out Four Candles on Birthday Cake

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Princess Anne, third-ranking lady in the land, Sunday will puff out four candles on her pink-and-white birthday cake at Balmoral Castle.

There will be goodies such as specialty-shaped jellies, ice cream and trifle and the little boat and animal biscuits she loves.

Anne is not likely to get the birthday present she has informed everyone she is expecting. Neither she nor Prince Charles has forgotten the Barbary apes they played with in Gibraltar last spring and Anne wants one as a nursery pet.

She may, however, get a padded one, along with other animal toys presented to the Queen during the recent world tour. There's a large stock of beautiful toys from many parts of the world stored away for a long time to come.

But the royal parents always like to include birthday gifts they have chosen and purchased themselves.

Bible Briefs Who Was This

By A.A.M.

Who was the woman follower of Jesus, living in Joppa, who made coats and garments for the poor people, she knew who needed them? She was described as being "full of good works and acts of charity."

The small city Joppa, which was her home, was built high on a rocky prominence over one hundred feet above sea level, and about thirty five miles from Jerusalem. It is likely that she was a woman who was fairly well-to-do, owning her own home, but without near relatives.

Because of her practical Christianity she must have been well known by the other Christians. When she fell ill and died, those whom she had helped sent for Peter, who was in Lydda, not very far away, saying "Please come to us without delay."

Peter rose and went with the two messengers. When he came to the home of this woman, the widows who were weeping outside her room showed him the clothing she had made.

Peter insisted in going alone into the room where this woman's body was lying. He knelt down and prayed, then he said "Rise" and she opened her eyes.

When she saw Peter she sat up. He helped her to stand and together they went out to the Christians in the hallway who were stricken with grief over this woman's death. This miracle became widely known throughout Joppa and many believed in the Lord.

You can find this woman's name anc this story in Chapter 9 of the Book of Acts, Verses 36 to 42.

AN OLD FASHIONED GARDEN

A garden where hollyhocks bountifully grow,
Where zinnias and dahlias and poppies run riot,
With marigolds gleaming and forming a row,

Sweet lavender, fragrant as
In soft summer twilight, agleten with dew,
Nods friendly goodnight to the bed of bright pansies,
And lovingly touches forget-me-nots blue.

Both single and double, the red rose of love,
Grow in proud profusion and grace this old garden,
While cedars are casting their fragrance above.

A trumpet-vine flames forth it's heralding welcome,
Geraniums and fuchsias bring cheer, homely, cheerful,
All bathed in a shower of the sunset's warm kisses,
In the hills of Moira's encircling arms,

But fairer and dearer, the song in the garden,
That old garden where fairy dreams weave,
And fairest is dearest, the gentle-faced singer
Who walks in this garden in cool of the eve.

Oh, long are the years, but my soul see you yet,
Dear, gentle-faced Mother, sure comfort and guide star,
As you fondly bend over your choice mignonette.

True happiness welcomes all those who come here,
The old fashioned garden still breathes of your spirit,
Tho' you, dear, have left it, for many a year.

My Mother's old garden, its days passed away,
Where memory weaves me Time's happiest garlands,
Whose beauty and fragrance will —HAZEL ALTHA BOS.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE'S STILL JUST "A CRAZY MIXED-UP KID"

Writes a girl I judge to be about 17 or 18 years old—and surely old enough to know better than she does:

"I'm in love with two wonderful boys who both want me to marry them. I've known both of them about four years.

"Actually, I am engaged to one of them but he is overseas and in the army. We have absolutely everything in common. We are of the same faith and have the same ideals. We enjoy the same things and we think just alike about life and to make it really perfect, our families both approve. You'd think I would be happy. Well, I am, until I think of the other one.

"This other boy and I were high school sweethearts. But we were wild—crazy, mixed-up kids. One time we had an innocent run-in with the police, and our parents had to appear at the police station to pick us up. Then and there we were told never to see each other again.

"This boy is from a middle-class family and I from a better-than-average one. Also, our faiths are extremely different. But neither of us has ever been able to forget the other.

"He wants me to write to the boy I am engaged to and tell him he and I are in love, but I can't. That would kill my fiance, and besides I would want them both here when I decided. It is impossible to discuss this with my parents. If my father knew, he would practically kill the second boy because he thinks he is worthless and has no future. So the boy himself has asked me to write to you.

"Please try to help us."

If I am to judge this second boy only by what the girl has to say about him in her letter, I would be inclined to feel rather dubious about him, and about the wisdom of any marriage between them. That was this "innocent run-in with the police?" "Innocent" is rather a strange word to use about any incident in which the police took a hand. The two of them were in high school and, therefore, one would have the right to suppose, plenty old enough to be fully aware of what they were doing and whether it was right or wrong. High school kids don't have "innocent" brushes with the police. I'm afraid my sympathies here would have been with the girl's parents.

Incidentally, these two evidently disregarded their parents' instructions that they see no more of each other. Have they been meeting secretly all this time, even while she was carrying on a friendship with another boy so close that she became engaged to him? If so, that was rather dirty work, wasn't it?

In discussing this boy to whom she says she is engaged, she lists a number of important things that would be assets in any romance and marriage. In the case of the other boy, she lists nothing but liabilities. In fact, I can't see anything to recommend a possible romance between them, except the fact that they apparently are infatuated with each other—or are dramatizing things that they believe they are—which, in itself, is no sound reason for marriage.

My advice to the girl is that, if she does not intend to stop seeing this second boy, she should write to her fiance and tell him the whole situation. It is distinctly unfair to him to let him suppose that everything is fine between them, when it obviously is not. She should write him a completely honest letter and explain exactly how she feels; she might even ask for his own advice. If he is mature enough to have any real thoughts on the matter, then I suggest that she give them serious consideration.

Above all, I advise this girl to wait until her fiance gets home before she makes any decision about anything. She might be a very sorry girl indeed, if she broke up with him at this point. The only sensible thing for her to do now is to use her head, and grow up a little. At the moment, she is obviously still just a "crazy mixed up kid" who might be just crazy enough to ruin her whole life on the impulse of a reckless moment.

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Last year about this time I clipped "Rita's Chocolate Cake" recipe. The first time the results were as you said—a minor miracle. After that the results varied from fair to poor. I got a new can of baking powder, and the results were a little better

I use flour and shortening and usually sour the liquid skim milk. One of my neighbors tried the cake after tasting a fair one of mine and said hers was the worst flop she has ever had. Why is it that I can't depend on the results and what size pans would produce the best results. I long for a cake like the first one. . . my family enjoys your lemon syrup during the hot summer months . . . perhaps you'd like to try the enclosed recipe some time. —L'Nore R.

TUNA SAUCE FOR SPAGHETTI

(Courtesy L'Nore R.)

One clove garlic and 1 medium onion are chopped fine and cooked till golden in thu oil from the tuna. Add 1 7-oz can tuna, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon ground cloves, 1 chopped carrot, seasonings (salt and pepper), 2 cups tomatoes. Let this simmer until thick, then add water to cover and 2 tablespoons tomato paste (Italian) and let the mixture simmer and reduce in volume by half. (From start to finish it usually takes 2 hrs.) Cook sufficient spaghetti and pour over it this sauce and grated Parmesan cheese.

We usually have this for a Friday dinner served with celery and carrot sticks and a fruit dessert.

ANSWER:

Thank you very much for this delicious tuna sauce. I have tasted it but have not made it up from this recipe.

For the sake of interested readers who will want to try Rita's Chocolate cake when they read your letter I will go through the ingredients again. But I want you to remember two things: one is to use the kind of shortening that contains stabilizers, is deodorized. These features are noted on the packages under the name of the shortening. Also use the best quality of cake flour you can buy.

RITA'S CHOCOLATE CAKE

Mix together in a bowl 1 teaspoon baking soda and 1-2 cup good quality cocoa. Stir in 1 cup boiling water. (Be sure all your measurements are accurate and level.) Let this stand while you cream 1-2 cup best quality shortening and cream into it 2 cups brown sugar until very light. Add beaten yolks of 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla and the cocoa mixture, then stir in 1 cup sour milk. (If sour milk is not available use naturally soured milk.) Stir some flour with a spoon, then measure 2 cups and sift it with 2 teaspoon baking powder and 1-4 teaspoon salt 3 times and fold into the mixture. Stiffly beat 2 egg whites and fold in. Butter and wax-paper-line three 8-inch layer cake tins and pour in the batter. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 25 minutes. If cake is baked in 1 large pan it requires nearly 40 minutes.

Try the cake again with the stress on the shortening and flour as I have suggested. If it still does not work for you, I think the thermostat on your oven may be registering low. You may have to try raising the temperature to 375. If none of these suggestions work write again and I will give you still another highly recommended chocolate cake recipe.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

HAIRDOS FOR LITTLE GIRLS

The matter of her hair arrangement is one in which a child should have a say and it is an unwise mother who argues the question. What other girls are wearing she must have. At that age—in the lower or middle grades at school—one must not "look different." The policy of the child is to follow along in even the smallest details of dress.

A mother must remember that children are people, that they have definite ideas of their own, preferences in clothes and appearance. To go against their wishes is to make them self-conscious and unhappy. After all, what does it matter? It is silly to make an issue of matters of slight importance, like a choice between ringlets and pigtails, short hair or longer locks.

If a little girl has naturally curly hair the three-inch cut is ideal. If there is only a suggestion of wave, efforts should be made to accent the lines. That can be done by setting a pattern immediately after the shampoo when the hair is wet, winding the ends around metal curlers or forming circles to be pinned flat. It is surprising how strong a curl can be cultivated when there is barely a suggestion of a wave.

The home permanent will make many a straight-haired child happy. There are many offerings now, all safe, reliable and satisfactory. Directions must be followed carefully. The small subject will suffer no discomfort, will delight to consider the event somthing of a lark.

There are a few rules to be kept in mind however. The little girl with a thin heart-shaped face will look prettiest with bangs to cover her forehead. At the back the hair should extend down over her neck. There should be softness and fullness of the hair at the sides of her head.

For the chubby face a diagonal parting on the left side and a semi-wind-blown with soft ringlets is what the beauty doctor will order. That is a happy choice for a little girl of nine or ten who has reached the age when she can attend to her own grooming.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

MAY GUEST ASK FOR CREAM?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I love coffee, but I never like it without cream. Most of my friends serve cream when they serve coffee. But last evening my husband and I dined for the first time in the home of a couple we met while we were on our vacation. The hostess served after-dinner coffee, demitasse, in the living room—but with no cream. I asked her if I might have a little cream for my coffee. She seemed very much embarrassed, explaining that she had no cream in the house, but would I mind having milk. I said that would be all right. But, Mrs. Beeckman, my husband's face was a study in clouds, and on the way home he told me I had committed a real social error, had embarrassed my hostess, and that I should learn to drink coffee without cream or milk and "so not be a nuisance to a hostess." Was I so in the wrong?

Fran

You were in the wrong . . . and I thoroughly agree with what your husband said. You might perhaps ask your Aunt Jane for some cream for your coffee, or one of your close friends, but you were certainly out-of-order to ask a hostess whom you knew so slightly. Today's hostess rarely provides cream with after-dinner coffee served in the living room . . . and guests are expected to like this service, or to make the best of it.

If you rub the rest of a pie or cake layer with a little lard, it can be removed easily the next time the contents are wanted.

HARVEST

The harvest fields are freighted With sheaves of golden grain, The wagons, heavy laden, Go creaking down the lane, While harvesters are singing In glad and joyous strain.

The trees in apple orchards With fruit are bending low, The hollyhocks are blooming, The summer sun's aglow, Oh! praise Him for the blessings A loving hand bestows!

—HELEN B. ANDERSON.

WELLINGTON—Like a boat on silent silver tides, in dreams the August days are drifting by. Quietly the August days are passing. No longer do we hear the rumble of the trucks carrying loads of peas to the factories. And although there is little evidence of harvest operations in the village, there is a spirit of restlessness astir, as some are feverishly prepared for a hurried holiday, while others are entertaining friends before the season's close. Brief, indeed, is the Ontario summer!

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Archard have returned home after enjoying holidays in Osnawa.

The service for Orange order in the United Church and the parade attracted many on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Vida Cannons, Trenton, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wannamaker.

Col. and Mrs. Roscoe Vanderwater, Foxboro, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vandewater and daughters, Bath, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewater.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Hauck and Mrs. Lela Weeks, Consecon, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morton with Mrs. Mabel Bell and Mrs. W. Thompson attended the funeral of the late Mrs. C. N. Palmer at her late residence, Hillier, on Friday.

The auction sale of household effects of Mr. Boyce Wiltse and Mr. Leonard Ford at the arena on Saturday drew a large crowd.

Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Smith Jr. enjoyed several days in Watertown, N.Y., crossing at Ivy Lea.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brimley Sr., are away on holidays in New Brunswick.

Miss Mary Lumb and Gladys Masterland friends from Ajax for a few days. On Tuesday Gladys treated her guests to a sight-seeing drive through eastern Prince Edward, visiting Picton, Glenora, Waupoos, the Outlet and the Shore Lodge.

VICTORIA W.A.

Victoria United Church was filled to capacity on Wednesday afternoon when the local Women's Association entertained the members of several societies, including those of Hillier, Consecon, Bure's, Wellington and Albury. With the president, Mrs. C. Cainan in the chair. An interesting program was presented, including a vocal duet by Mrs. Morley Wood and Mrs. Robert Townsend; also a violin duet by the Misses Cleave and a vocal solo by Miss M. Adams. An address by Mrs. Fyrar, who was introduced by Miss Audra Brickman, was heard with appreciation and thanks expressed by Mrs. Montgomery. A vocal solo, "I Shall Not Pass This Way Again" by Mrs. M. Davidson was an inspiration. At the close a delicious dinner was served, the ladies of Victoria keeping up their reputation of preparing wonderful banquets.

Among those attending from Wellington were, Mrs. B. Alyes, Mrs. H. Nash, Mrs. A. Foster, Mrs. A. Vandewater, Mrs. A. Wellesley, Mrs. Dora Nelson, Mrs. H. B. Anderson, Mrs. H. Carley, Mrs. Gay and Mrs. E. Bond.

The annual picnic of Prince Edward Women's Institute was held on Thursday, with dinner served in the Howe Hall, the day being cool. After dinner all repaired to the park where they enjoyed the afternoon. While in town Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman, with Mrs. H. B. Anderson, visited their beautiful summer home here, which was formerly owned by the late Miss Wallbridge.

Canada and U.S. Authorities Reach Tentative Agreement Assuring Prompt Seaway Start

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians and United States authorities Friday reached a tentative agreement virtually assuring construction this year of St. Lawrence seaway navigation facilities on the U.S. side of the river's international section.

The arrangements, worked out at a two-day conference of top level officers, will be clinched next week in a formal exchange of diplomatic notes between the two governments.

An announcement after the conference said it now is expected that construction of the $300,000,000 shipping waters will be completed by the end of 1958.

While canal building is to go ahead on the American side for now, the exchange of notes will make clear that Canada reserves full rights to build on the north shore.

However, the documents are expected to relieve Canada of an obligation to this point which underlook in 1953 at a time when there appeared no early prospect of the U.S. administration participating in a joint project.

Since then, Congress voted $105,-000,000 for navigation works if they are built on the U.S. side of the international section. Canada will provide 37-foot - deep facilities through Lake Ontario territory and a waterway to the Head of the Lakes for the 27-foot draft.

The two projects are tied in with the $600,000,000 hydro power development on the international section, which the Ontario government and New York state are financing on a 50-50 basis.

Sod-turning for the power job started this week but canal construction can start later and catch up.

Following Friday's talks in which Canada - U.S. meetings, External Affairs Minister Pearson said the way now is cleared for the building of the seaway, a half-century dream of Canadian and American planners.

"There is no question but that the exchange of notes will clear up all problems to the extent that work will go ahead," he said.

At a press conference.

An accompanying Canada-U.S. statement on the meetings said the note exchange — modifying arrangements of the 1952 agreement —will not delay the start of construction.

"Engineering preparations are going forward," it added.

While the official announcement said nothing of where the canals were to be laid down, Mr. Pearson said it would have to be assumed that the Americans still will build on their side of the international stretch of river.

But he emphasized Canada is giving up no rights to construct her own canals, as she has been prepared to do for several years during a period of inaction by the U.S. on a joint project.

"It should not be concluded that it will be impossible for us to go ahead on the Canadian side," he said.

As to whether Canada would build in the international area—and when—that was "an open question."

The Canadian views on the construction of canals on the U.S. side were couched in cautious language. The official statement made no mention of this point. Government officers declined for a time to make a statement one way or another.

Finally, at a press conference hastily called to clarify the communique, Mr. Pearson said it must be "assumed" the Americans would build on the south side. He pointed to the congressional legislation spelling this out.

"The Americans have the right to do it," he said, "We don't accept it or reject it."

The exchange of notes will embody some modifications in the 1952 international agreement, and a basic one will be that of having Canada the right—while relieving her of the obligation—to build on the international side of the international section.

However, it will be made clear that Canada will do the necessary building in all Canadian territory which is essential to the U.S. construction.

This Canadian commitment, Mr. Pearson said, is contingent on the U.S. agreeing to modifications of the 1952 agreement which Canada seeks.

The exchange of notes will not settle the question of tolls, which is a matter for the commission, perhaps between the two federal corporations that are to co-operate in building and operating the seaway.

However, Mr. Pearson said the conference discussed the question of whether tolls should be charged jointly or by each country on the canals it owns. Also to be decided was the amount of the tolls and the general basis on which they would be split up.

Mr. Pearson said another question that had been under discussion by the joint officials is the migration laws applying to Canadians moving through American waters. It was understood Canada asked for some concessions.

Neither the statement nor Mr. Pearson referred to general financing arrangements in connection with the job. It was believed these matters remain unsettled to be ironed out.

The statement referred to the meeting as being in a "friendly and constructive" vein.

Hon. Robert H. Anderson, U.S. deputy secretary of defence and head of the seaway delegation, was said to reporters later it was "a very co-operative conference." He declined to speak in detail.

Junior Archers Win Cups, Spoons At Hamilton

The two Belleville archers competing in the recent Canadian International Archery Championships at Hamilton did really proud by themselves, both coming in the junior section.

Thirteen-year-old Robt. Fleet of Redneersville won first-place in the "flight" class shooting an arrow 904 yards for what is believed to be a new record for a junior. The local lad's score was his first-time in the big show, also won 2nd place in "clout", 3rd place in "target" and 4th place in "prod-head field" shooting.

His sister Barbara Fleet, 17, won the junior championship for women in "flight" and also took 2nd place in "clout".

Both archers brought home silver spoons given as prizes and also handsome silver cups donated by Fleet Sporting Goods to the Canadian Archery Association for annual competition by junior archers.

About 300 archers competed in the Hamilton competition held last week.

Half Billion Bus. May Be Dumped Into Board's Lap

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian wheat board, with its huge stocks-up of wheat in its bins, may have the marketing problems of another half billion bushels dumped into its lap.

The bureau of statistics, in its first 1954 forecast, Friday estimated the wheat crop at 512,-000,000 bushels, well below last year's near-record 613,196,000 but the fourth consecutive year in which production exceeded the 500,000,000 bushel mark.

Lowest of the big crops that began rolling out of Canada's wheat fields in 1951, the 1954 crop, if realized, may push total Canadian supplies to well over the 1,000,000,000 bushels — a record-high for this country.

The previous high was 983,000,-000 bushels last year. On July 1 unsold stocks totalled 589,300,000 bushels. The official estimate of the carryover for the full crop year which ended July 31 will not be made until next Tuesday, but indications are it will be the biggest on record, exceeding 550,000,000 bushels. The peak was 550,000,000 in 1944.

With world wheat sales lagging, farmers have completed less than a July-up will put a heavy strain on available storage space. Some farm groups have appealed to the federal government for some financial concession to encourage more storage construction, but so far the government has turned down the requests.

Have You Ever Seen Whale's Tooth?

Have you ever seen a whale's tooth? One is now gracing the reign of the Roman Emperor Gains Messius Quintus Traianus Decius—2317.

Ernie Edmunds, a Ford Motor Co. employee at the River Rouge plant in Detroit for 29 years, and a former resident of Belleville, brought a whale's tooth and a fabulous denarius into the Ontario Intelligencer offices Friday afternoon. He owns both.

The whale's tooth was pulled from a specimen more than 100 years ago and came into Ernie's possession as a gift from his late wife. His wife's uncle had been master of a whaling ship and brought the tooth back from one of his voyages. The captain was lost at sea on a subsequent whaling expedition.

Sperm whales, so Ernie told us, are the only species that have teeth. From the specimen in Ernie's possession they certainly make up for the lack of teeth in other species.

The tooth is approximately 10 inches in length and weighs a pound and a half. It is reported that fitted the socket is roughly rectangular in shape and about three-and-a-half inches by an inch.

The tooth changes shape as it approaches the biting edge, becoming more circular as it tapers to a curving point. The top four inches of the tooth are hollow, presumably the cavity for the nerve — an awesome hole, when one considers what a whale's toothache must be like.

The tooth is well-preserved, hard, and shows little signs of yellow in color.

The Decius coin, a well-preserved bronze relic of Roman commerce nearly 1,700 years old, had the impression on the face of Caesar on one side and the figures of two goddesses seated on a platform on the other. A third figure on the reverse side is that of a slave paying homage to the god-desses.

ORDER LAUNCHES PERSECUTION

Decius was forced by his troops to declare himself Emperor of Rome in 249 A.D. In 250 he ordered all Christians to renounce their faith. This order launched cruel persecutions in Rome, Carthage, Antioch, Alexandria and Jerusalem. In 251 Decius went to Thrace to check the invasion of the Goths and died in battle with his son, said Mr. Edmunds giving us background information on the coin.

He bought the coin for $1.50 from the Detroit Coin Club of which he is a member.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds have been spending the past week visiting his cousin, Murray Bristow, 16 St. Paul Street, and renewing acquaintances in Belleville.

He was born in Swinden, Willshire, in 1900, and paid his own passage to Canada in 1914. He settled in Belleville.

In 1919 he joined the 155th Battn, and the government paid his passage back to Europe, where he served with Canadian forces until his demobilization in 1918.

On returning to Belleville Mr. Edmunds went to work for the Grand Trunk Railway as an apprentice. He completed his training in 1924, the year he and Fred Miles decided to seek their fortunes in Detroit's booming auto plants.

While in Belleville Mr. Edmunds earned quite a reputation as an amateur boxer fighting on cards in an open air ring on Victoria Park. He remembers Harry Rohman, Theodore Marakas and Bert Wells among others. He was the city's welterweight champion in 1920 and 1921.

He married the former Viola Garling, a Detroit girl, in 1925, and is the father of three daughters, Althea, Louise and Jean. His first wife died in 1946 and he remarried in 1949.

And what is to become of the whale's tooth? Mr. Edmunds thinks he will donate it to a children's museum in Detroit.

As for the Decius coin, Mr Edmunds shrugs off its antiquity. But he is very realistic about several silver coins that antedate the birth of Christ by two and three hundred years.

"Those coins are really something," he enthuses.

West Germany Producing Large Quantity of Oil

Five new oil-fields have been discovered this year, pushing annual production to 2,500,000 tons, about one-third of the republic's requirements.

By 1955, oil experts predict, West German wells will spout 3,000,000 tons a year. Hitler's Germany produced only 450,000 tons of oil in 1936.

West Germany's crude oil production already is the biggest in West Europe. With estimated reserves of 80,000,000 tons, she may be able to supply all her oil needs within 10 years, oil men say.

Since the war, about 40 new oilfields have been discovered in West Germany. Drillers are now boring along the Rhine coast, along the upper Rhine between Frankfurt and Basel and in many other areas, in search of new fields. They are confident of new oil finds.

German refining capacity is expected to keep pace with output. Investments of 750,000,000 marks $178,500,000 in new plants have pushed capacity to cover 10,000,-000 tons a year.

Wives of Former Nazi Leaders Raise Complaints

BERLIN (AP)—The Western allies, meeting on the high commission level in Berlin, heard complaints today that Russian wives are interfering with efforts to relax stringent rules for the seven top Nazis jailed in Spandau.

The complaints were passed on to the Americans, British and French by wives of the former Hitler lieutenants who said they have been balled at by the gates or have been whisked out of the visiting room the moment the visiting time had expired.

The four-power prison holds former No. 2 deputy fuehrer Rudolf Hess; former admirals Erich Raeder and Karl Doenitz; Walther Funk, ex-banker and publicist; Albert Speer, former minister for the Third Reich; Hitler Youth leader Baldur von Schirach; and Konstantin von Neurath, diplomat and one-time "protector" of Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia.

Church Gutted

MONTREAL (CP)—A five-hour fire gutted the Catholic church of St. Madeleine Roman Catholic church, in suburban Outremont, causing an estimated $100,000 damage.

The blaze, touched off by a spark from a welder's torch during renovation operations on the roof of the church, was brought under control by firemen from Outremont and Montreal.

Exterior of the church was undamaged but water and smoke badly stained expensive statues and murals inside the ornate building.

Emilie Dionne 'Accidentally Suffocated Herself in Pillow' During Attack of Epilepsy

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Rosario Fontaine, veteran Quebec medico-legal expert, revealed Friday that Emilie Dionne "accidentally suffocated herself in her pillow" during an attack of epilepsy.

Dr. Fontaine, who performed an autopsy on the body of the 20-year-old girl, one of the famed Dionne quintuplets, made the disclosure in a signed hand-written statement following comment by medical authorities on the epilepsy factor in the death.

Emilie Dionne died last Friday at a hostel for old folks in Ste. Agathe, Que., where she was a postulant—or candidate—in a Roman Catholic organization of lay sisters. Saturday, Dr. Fontaine performed the autopsy—a normal procedure since the girl died alone without a doctor present.

The text of his statement:

The tremendous publicity in newspapers and through the radio surrounding the death of Emilie Dionne and the misinterpretations of my declarations concerning the death of this young person, compel me to put the matters in their true light.

There is absolutely nothing mysterious connected to the death of Emilie Dionne.

The investigation conducted by the Quebec provincial police revealed she was subject to epileptic attacks since early age. During the night preceding her death she suffered three attacks and was probably found dead in her bed, face downward in her pillow in the morning.

My autopsy, performed 24 hours after the death with Dr. Paul Lafontaine, one of my assistants, revealed no traces of violence, except for a recent bruise on the left ear. I also showed classic signs of acute asphyxiation, which occurred during an epileptic attack. Our opinion is that she died suffocated in her pillow although we had not, at the time, information concerning the exact way in which the victim had been found.

The question is, therefore, a purely medical one, and I think that something to do with the etiology of epilepsy of which young Emilie was suffering. This point will be later referred to the specialists in neurochirurgy.

Following the autopsy I made a declaration to the effect that Emilie Dionne died of acute asphyxiation during an attack of epilepsy. This declaration was exact, but perhaps incomplete, because I omitted to state that the victim had accidentally suffocated herself in her pillow. Such a declaration was impossible for me to make at the time, because I had not yet received such confirmation from the police.

This incomplete declaration on my part concerning the cause of the death may appear premature but was absolutely necessary under the circumstances. First of all, it was essential that the public learn promptly what to believe in the face of the fantastic rumours circulating around this unfortunate death.

After having informed the district coroner and newspapermen at the cause of death, I added that it was not exceptional for an epileptic to die during an attack, either by suffocation in a pillow, or through a fall.

In my capacity as chief provincial pathologist for more than 20 years, I am in a better position than anyone else to affirm that accidental deaths during epileptic seizures are not exceptional—unfortunately.

Everything which has been reported in newspapers or on the radio which is contrary to the above statements, is misinterpretation or imagination.

I am well established in my quality of doctor in psychiatry of the University of Paris that Epilepsy itself cannot cause death, and nowadays an epileptic receiving proper medical care can live almost a normal life. I am also well aware that the unfortunate accident which has caused the death of Emilie Dionne, are becoming much less frequent through the advance of medical science.

TRENTON APPOINTMENT

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of George Capt. Carden, Dr. Diamond, 39, of Vancouver as commanding officer of RCAF station, Trenton.

Hatchery Supt. Is Friend To Both Fish and Anglers

As superintendent of the fish hatcheries in the park 200 miles west of Edmonton he has completed two bits of work which will provide more sport for the angler.

His first project involved the gas killed in the black winters of this Rocky mountain countryside, which takes freeze over and seal off the air from the water. When a hole is cut on the ice there is artificial darkness below, and plant life in the lake emits oxygen bubbles on which stagnates the water and kills the fish.

Chopping holes in the ice wasn't the answer, because the water promptly froze over again.

It grieved Bill to find thousands of sturdy rainbow and speckled trout from his hatcheries meeting death after being given the freedom of the park lakes.

So, in a sub-zero temperature, he took an ordinary air compressor to one of the Trefoil lakes near here and pumped air into the water. Several large gaps were blown through the ice and oxygen refreshed the water to a depth of three feet.

Two eight-hour applications of this method during the winter enabled fish and plants to survive. Speel could collected at the lake showed a number of prize catches.

Bill's second big project involved five work at the government hatcheries in Jasper. The mystery—3,500 trout vanished from a compool originally holding 10,000.

Acquitted suspects were the park's friendly black bears, which are shut off from the pool by a high wire fence, and the water ouzel, or dipper, bird, which could hardly have carried off that many fish.

Bill suspected the mink. He and his associates did some sleuthing and discovered mink were frequent visitors to the pond. A search revealed their burrows abundantly along the pond's shore.

This pond, and others in the park, mink is being protected by wire mesh topped with fine screening to keep out marauders.

Construction Of Power Project Starts Next Week

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Construction work on the $600,000,000 St. Lawrence power project is scheduled to be started at the end next week, Ellis Armstrong, a state power authority engineer, said Friday night.

The Dravo Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., recently was awarded a contract for the first phase of the work, the building of two coffer dams. The Dravo firm submitted a low bid of $1,913,250.

Armstrong said that Dravo is scheduled to begin moving equipment next week, with actual construction to begin the latter part of the week.

The New York power authority and the Ontario hydro - electric power commission will do the job as a joint enterprise.

RECAPTURE PRISONERS

SUDBURY (CP)—Two Burwash industrial farm prisoners who escaped Thursday from a haying gang were captured Friday night by prison guards. Louis Kline, 32, of Toronto, and Maurice Walker, 25, of Cornwall, were apprehended four miles south of Sudbury. They had been sighted earlier by an off duty prison farm sergeant.

N.Z. Volcanoes Vary in Activity To Moon Phases

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealand's volcanoes may vary in activity according to the moon's phases, according to scientists who have been studying them.

The most active volcano, and highest, 7,515-foot Mount Ngauruhoe, has been erupting for two months. The periods of greatest activity, when lava has been pouring down the sides, have coincided with the moon, the period when the moon exerts its greatest pull on the earth.

Study of the chief periods of activity in the last 10 years supports the theory that phases of the moon influence eruptions. There have been eruptions at other times, but the chief upheavals coincide with the moon at either new or full moon.

Although there is now the crater of a volcano it is a molten mass in the bowels of the earth. It is thought possible it may be subject to tides through the movement of the moon, in the same manner as a larger body of water.

HARASS COMMUNISTS

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Two Chinese Nationalist fighter planes flew 350 miles into Communist China Thursday on a reconnaissance flight over Chekiang province, the Communist New China news agency reported Friday. Two other Nationalist planes "harassed" the towns of Pingtan and Putien, in Fukien province, and Nankang and Shankyiu in Kiangsi province, the agency said.

Bavaria's Strike Simmers Down To Picketing

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Bavaria's crippling metal workers strike simmered down today to peaceful picketing. It was the first quiet day since the walkout started Monday mainly because most non-strikers took the day off.

Are 'Landy' Brooks, Giants Looking Over Shoulders At 'Bannister' Braves?

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

OOPS! HERE'S HOCKEY

Bob Wilson, chief eastern scout for the Chicago Black Hawks and manager of the Galt Black Hawks Junior "A" squad is the authority for that statement.

BOB WILSON

Bob was in town renewing old hockey and other acquaintances the other day and in an interview with this department inferred that efforts would be made to resurrect the OHA classification with emphasis on Belleville and Trenton.

Special efforts will be made, he said, to inaugurate junior "B" hockey in Trenton and if any headway is made, it should prove an incentive for Belleville to renew its interest in this calibre hockey.

"The Black Hawks," Wilson said, "would like to maintain its associations with Belleville. As in the past, relationship between the Hawks and Belleville is ironclad and we hope we can come back again. The co-operation given us here is greatly appreciated by the Hawks' front office."

Bob inferred that if such things could materialize it would open possibilities for a group comprised of Belleville, Trenton, Lindsay, Peterborough and possibly Oshawa.

With the Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks jointly sponsoring the Galt Junior "A" squad this year, Wilson and Harold "Baldy" Cotton, chief scout of the Bruins, have been doing some noggin-nudging in cottages around Havelock all summer.

The joint sponsorship, Bob said, will make it tougher for some aspiring youngsters to make the Junior "A" grade, who would, under the individual system of past years, have stood a good chance.

On the other hand, the Hawks-Bruins amalgamation in Galt will result in a better class of players being sent to the clubs' Junior "B" farm systems.

"How about Master Bobby Hull, who made a decided hit with the Galt team, and the Hespeler "B"s" last season?

Bob smiled. "There is a young man who has a hockey future," he said. "Perhaps smaller year of Junior "B" will set hurt him. Besides, the competition will be so much tougher this year since candidates for both Bruins and Hawks will be on hand."

The Bruins are starting a junior camp on September 13, while the Black Hawks will stash their camp a week later. Lynn Patrick, Milt Schmidt, Cotton and other Bruin brass will be on hand while it is expected Tommy Ivan, new general manager of the Hawks; Bill Tobin and others will be around to assist Wilson and the new Galt coach, Gerry Brown, in looking over the aspirants.

Just what chances there are of Belleville going back into Junior "B" hockey is a matter for conjecture. With the Senior "B" calibre getting better each year, your guess is as good as ours as to whether fandom here would support two clubs. It never "busted the seams" of Memorial Arena the last year or two of the Bill Cook era. In fact the 1952-54 senior team could have done with a lot more box office support than was accorded it.

However, it makes a good topic for the Monday morning quarterbacks and armchair referees. Who knows, mayhap, they might come up with some ideas?

And while on the hockey subject, the Oshawa scribe comes up with the announcement that the Orillia Pontiacs have withdrawn from the Senior "B" group. He states also that the group hopes to become Senior "A" this year, which definitely is news to the rest of the circuit. He goes on: "It is no secret that Orillia has been seeking an entry in the Metropolitan Senior "B" League along with Stouffville, Newmarket, etc. Orillia attended the group meeting held in Peterborough but after they returned home, Derlyn Valley, club executive, announced the Pontiacs will not be back. They feel they cannot afford to obtain imports in order to compete with the other entries."

BASEBALL

The Batas, full of wim and wigor, and confident of victory, took off this afternoon for Oakville where they take on the Oaks in the club's last scheduled meeting. The Oaks have their backs against the wall as far as a playoff berth is concerned, and the Batas will have to come up with one of their better games if they want to crash the mod. Toronto Hoskings will be the guests of the Batas at Bajawa tomorrow afternoon, the game starting at three o'clock.

DUDLEY, Eng. (CP)—George Goldspink, 15, had his bicycle stolen after winning a cycle trial race. He found it in a ditch and rode it home.

Onrushing Redskins Narrow Margin on Duelling Leaders; Tribe Holds Edge Over Yanks

By Ben Philegar
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's wild dash for the pennant has stolen much of the thunder from the current battle for first place between the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

By now the Braves have convinced the two top clubs that they are serious about this pennant business and the current three-game series in Brooklyn between clubs looking over their shoulders at the onrushing Redskins.

They don't have far to look. The Braves closed to within 2½ games of the top Friday night with a 5-3 triumph over Chicago after the Dodgers had whipped the Giants 3-2.

DRAMATIC WIN

Milwaukee, before a gathering of 42,820 well wishers, battled through seven innings, tied the score at 2-2 in the eighth, and then triumphed on Del Crandall's three-run homer with one out in the ninth.

The Brooklyn contest was a spine - tingler, too, decided on a two-run homer by Carl Furillo in the seventh inning. Sal Maglie and Carl Erskine pitched a hit apiece through the first five innings. Brooklyn broke into the "scoring column first, getting one run on a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly in the sixth.

The Giants came back with two in the seventh on doubles by Don Mueller and Al Dark, a sandwiched around a single by Willie Mays, who got a run lead when Leo Durocher sent up a pinch hitter for the tiring Maglie and Dusty Rhodes delivered. Ruben Grissom, to the hit in the eighth. Gil Hodges opened the Brooklyn eighth. Furillo followed with the game winning homer.

CLEVELAND EDGE

Cleveland held its 2½ game edge over the New York Yankees with a 9-4 verdict over Baltimore. New York whipped Boston 8-2, Chicago shaded Detroit 3-2 in a brilliantly pitched 16-inning duel between Jim Lemon and Al Aber. Philadelphia whipped Washington 5-3.

In the National League action Pittsburgh thumped Philadelphia twice, 9-5 and 5-0 and St. Louis overpowered Cincinnati 10-3, scoring seven runs in the seventh innings.

In the Chicago marathon, Minnie Minosso tripled with Nellie Fox on first in the 16th for the one-run margin. Bob Keegan and the Orioles for his 250th lifetime victory.

Enos Slaughter belted a basey loaded triple as a pinch hitter in the sixth inning for New York and Whitey Ford coasted the rest of the way for the Yanks' fifth straight victory. Slaughter's blast came with the score tied 2-2. Phil Rizzuto added a two-run homer.

STEALS HOME

Robin Roberts, a 20-game winner in his last three outings against Pittsburgh, failed to survive the fifth inning. Gordon and Pete Runnels had blasted him for three-run homers. Rookie Vern Bickford pitched a fireball route in the second game.

Cincinnati hit four homers but lost out to the Cardinals as Wally Moon drove in the winning runs with a sinking liner in the ninth. Wally Post hit two homers. Ted Kluszewski, Joe Nuxhall, Ray Jablonski and Bill Sarni hit one each.

SAYS MOORE SIGNS

OMAHA (AP) — Mayor John Rosenblatt said Friday Archie Moore has agreed to defend his world light heavyweight title here Oct. 27. Earlier, it had been reported from New York that Moore would fight Joey Maxim for the crown. Rosenblatt said Moore's opponent probably would be Jimmy Slade or Maxim.

Senators Oppose Athletic's Move To Kansas City

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators came out Friday against the proposed shift of the Philadelphia Athletics' franchise to Kansas City. Calvin Griffiths, Senators' executive vice - president, said he would vote against any such move.

Three absentee votes by American League clubs would veto a shift of the franchise to Kansas City.

It's all because the St. Louis Browns moved to Baltimore. As things stand now, Baltimore is a "western" club and rarely has home dates when Washington is playing at home.

If Philadelphia's franchise went to Kansas City, Baltimore in all likelihood would become an "eastern" club and would be playing half its home games when Washington was not at home.

ONLY 40 MILES

Baltimore is only 40 miles from Washington.

"There just aren't enough people in this area to support two teams," Griffith said.

Griffith said he wouldn't like to see the As move out of Philadelphia at all. But he added that this year he doesn't see how he couldn't give his approval to a franchise shift to some city other than Kansas City.

He suggested Toronto as a good possibility.

"It's close enough to the eastern cities that it could come in as an eastern club," he said. "And it's certainly enough located that it would be a convenient stopping place for the eastern teams in the league."

Meanwhile, Philadelphia officials pursued their rounds of conferences in an effort to decide what to do about the franchise, which has been reported to be bankrupt.

Quinte Tennis

The St. Andrew's Senior tennis team earned the right to enter the league finals this week by handing Quinte-Northern Electric a 5-0 defeat in the second match of the two semi-finals. St. Andrew's swept the series two matches to none.

Leafs Defeat Sugar Kings; Wings Win

(By The Associated Press)

Any time Ottawa Athletics, seventh in the International League, get a well-pitched game, they look like a team that could cause trouble for anyone.

The Athletics usually get some runs for their hurlers and Friday night was no exception. They produced three home runs which accounted for six markers in a 9-1 victory over Buffalo Bisons.

They really didn't need all those runs because Johnny Mackinnon tossed one of his top games and was deprived of a shutout only by Doug Hansen's home run. The Washington hit for the circuit with two on for the Athletics and his mates, Joe Taylor and Hector Lopez, also collected one each. Taylor's was his 22nd.

Toronto Maple Leafs protected their ½-game bulge with a 7-5 victory over Havana Sugar Kings, while the second-place Rochester Red Wings shut out Syracuse Chiefs 4-0 behind Mario Picone's one-hit pitching. Montreal whipped Richmond 5-1 in the other game.

Vic Lombardi scattered nine hits in the Toronto victory and he was aided by home runs by Lew Morton and Loren Babe. Pedro Formental averted a shutout for the visitors by soling a homer in the sixth.

Picone apparently is finding International League batters to his liking after being dealt to Rochester from Minneapolis of the American Association. It was his second victory since being traded and he allowed only a second-inning single by Bob Bowman.

Ken Lehman coasted home behind an 11-hit attack to stop the Virginians. The big blow was Charlie Thompson's first inning home run with one on.

'Indian Jack' Steals Thunder In Bombers' Win Over Riders; Stamps Lick Powerful Larks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The passing wizardry of Indian Jack Jacobs isn't something that can be brushed off, so it's still a big Indian Summer sensational Indian will wind up as Winnipeg Blue Bombers' first-string quarterback.

It's been the talk of the West that Indian Jack would be relegated pretty much to the role of a defensive halfback this season under the regime of Winnipeg's new coach, Al Sherman. As the Bombers' quarter for the last four years the pass-happy Jacobs has been the target of a lot of grandstand quarterbacks.

But his performance Friday night in leading the Bombers to a 29-6 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders in the capital would seem to indicate that the former Oklahoma star can hardly be passed over to benefit the Bomber attack. He tossed two touchdown passes in the 13 of the 22 tossed by completions as he stole the show before more than 12,000 Ottawa fans.

Winnipeg's win was one of the three victories western teams counted in the four exhibition games Friday night. In Toronto, Edmonton Eskimos came from behind to whip the Argonauts, winners of 18-7 and in Calgary the Stampeders showed surprising form in defeating Montreal Alouettes 24-19. Alouettes had previously beaten Vancouver Lions 29-0. Hamilton Tiger-Cats, Grey Cup champions last season, gained the first win in its only win by trouncing Saskatchewan Roughriders 25-2 in Regina.

Vince Drake, formerly of Fordham University, a Rams' rookie contender for the Bombers' quarterback spot, also threw a touchdown pass in Winnipeg's rout of the Ottawa club. Jacobs connected on his first pass, a 20-yarder to Jim Thomas from the Winnipeg 26 and his second was to Bud Grant on a 53-yard pass play. Bud Grant is racing 45 yards to score. Jerry James and Fleming Atchison crashed over for two other Winnipeg touchdowns. Bud Korchak converted four of the five majors.

Quarterback Claude Arnold and halfback Rollie Miles pitched touchdown passes for Edmonton and Gene Lagrasse recovered 10 yards for a major in the big plays that gave Edmonton the win over the Argonauts. Arnold's payoff pitch was a 54-yard pass-run play, big Rollin Prather catching the 30-yard pass in the clear. Jackie Parker booted 15 Miller touchdown toss from the Toronto 11.

The Argonauts' lone touchdown also came off a pass with quarterback Bobby Warmack hitting Dick Statho from the Edmonton 27.

The Eskimos started off in shaky fashion, a fumble paving the way for the Argos' major in the first six minutes and others giving them three more scoring chances that were averted. But the Edmonton defensive line started to work and end Frank Anderson gave a terrific performance as he got off a rolling into the Argonaut backfield to spill Warmack for a 12-yard loss.

Calgary, built from the bottom up after finishing last in 1953 in the Western League, came up with a sparkling effort against Montreal. Howard Waugh counted two touchdowns and Jackie Parker, Eddy Macon ran a kickoff back 105 yards for another. Jackie Parker baron tossed a pass to Andrews for another.

Virgil Wagner picked up a Calgary fumble to score Montreal's first touchdown. Sam Etcheverry intercepted a Lebaron pass at the Stampeder 15 to set up the Alouettes second. The Alouettes added a pass from quarterback Sam Etcheverry to Harold Patterson.

Hamilton was sparked to its win over the Roughriders by halfback Bernie Custis who figured in all four Tiger-Cat touchdowns. He scored two and set up two more passes to Ralph Toohy for two more. Jim Trimnell converted all four touchdowns.

The Saskatchewan touchdown was scored by Ken Ploen after the Hamilton 10 after Frank Tripuka set it up with a 30-yard pass to Harry Lampman.

United States Golfers Win Americas Cup

By FRASER MacDOUGALL, Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canada, which gave the United States the scare of its golfing life in America Cup play Friday, today turned the tables by the manner of settling some private championships of its own.

In the Americas Cup, the U.S. collected 14 points to 12 for Canada. Mexico, third country in the fight, was shut out. The closing day brought a hole-in-one by care-free Moe Norman of Kitchener and a shot off the clubhouse roof by Carlos Belmont of Mexico.

The U.S. margin of victory was even closer than the one-point decision indicates. Of six closing singles matches Friday, only one finished before the scheduled 36 holes. Two others required extra play, one going on the 38th and the other to the 37th.

JUNIOR PLAY STARTS

The Canadians took over the London Hunt Club for themselves came Saturday for the Canadian championship and the Willingdon Cup interprovincial team matches. Play was decided in 36 holes of medal play. Next Monday, amateur champ Al Balding, Eddy Macon ran a kickoff back 105 yards for another. Jackie Parker baron tossed a pass to Andrews for another.

Virgil Wagner picked up a Calgary fumble to score Montreal's first touchdown. Sam Etcheverry intercepted a Lebaron pass at the Stampeder 15 to set up the Alouettes second. The Alouettes added a pass from quarterback Sam Etcheverry to Harold Patterson.

Hamilton was sparked to its win over the Roughriders by halfback Bernie Custis who figured in all four Tiger-Cat touchdowns. He scored two and set up two more passes to Ralph Toohy for two more. Jim Trimnell converted all four touchdowns.

Stocking Problems in Streams, Lakes Natural Reproduction

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables)

Not so many years ago, the stocking of baby-preyers (fish) was considered to be the be-all and the end-all of our angling. When fish fishing in a stream, pond or river fell below par, all that was needed was for the hatchery truck to call and dump in several thousand fingerlings.

Such things as water temperatures, natural cover, and food supply were not considered. Of course more fish if you want good fishing —that was the complete answer to all angling problems.

Today our scientists approach the matter of stocking from a decidedly different viewpoint. They know that all too often more harm than good can develop from unwise stocking.

COLDWATER STOCKING

In our congested northern states, where rod pressure is heavy and, in many waters, acute, the public waters simply cannot supply the demand through natural reproduction.

All too often the waters themselves are unable to furnish the natural food that would be required to feed the number of fish necessary to supply even fair fishing for the multitude.

In that case, stocking on a put-and-take basis is about the only answer, but the fish that stocking must be done immediately before and intermittently during the season. Dr. Carl Hubbs of the days after a visit by the hatchery truck, of Texas Angler has called the fish calls good fishing. Then things gradually lapse back to normal. That sort of fishing, to at least, artificial. Frankly, I don't like it. Hatchery trucks are a good catch and not very good to eat. Those who wish can follow the hatchery truck; I'll look for my fishing elsewhere.

In streams, fingerling stocking does not work out very well as a rule. Mostly fingerlings show only about a 1 per cent survival to legal size—a small return on time and money. In coldwater lakes, however, it often works out satisfactorily.

Many coldwater lakes, being spring-fed and with deep shore lines, do not provide adequate spawning grounds for either introduced or natural species. Thus, natural enemies of the fingerlings are few and the little fellows grow well. Of course, they must be replenished from time to time to have fishing stay good.

In our coldwater stocking, more thought should be given, it seems to me, to the sort of fish that are stocked from time to time. Put-and-take fishing may be all right if you like it, but I think it is well to use fish which can lend a hand in replenishing the supply through natural reproduction.

For example, here in Pennsylvania, the hatcheries men concentrate on rearing and stocking hybrid rainbows. A high percentage of these are caught put during the season—maybe 50 per cent. Nevertheless, generally speaking their collective way downstream is to the sea.

Over the winter the survivors, most of them, simply disappear. What happens to them? Who knows. One thing is sure—these hybrids don't do their share of reproduction. They are there for a while if you can catch them; then they're gone. And you will never get about them.

Not so the brown trout or the brook trout. Such of these as may escape hook and line actually do their part in replenish the waters. Brown trout are smart and difficult to catch when compared with other species; but they do multiply.

If you have any coldwater lakes, you just don't make the mistake of going ahead according to your own ideas. Consult an ichthyologist and find out from him what should be done. That way you are sure to get the best fishing which those waters can show you.

MEANWHILE, IN CANADA

Generally speaking, warmwater stocking is a waste of time and money. Bass, pike, pickerel, the pike family, etc., all are so prolific that any aid in their reproduction is a waste. Such help by man is merely a small drop in the bucket, anyway.

About the only time that fingerling stocking of the warmwater species is justified is when the waters in question have in them, for one reason or another, no such specimens of the desired species.

When you consider that the average female bass lays 20,000 eggs annually, about 10,000 fingerlings; the average female pike lays about 20,000 fingerlings; the average female walleye about 50,000 and so on, you need not worry about a visit from the hatchery truck is unnecessary.

No, if you wish to improve fishing in a warmwater river or lake, the thing to do is to reduce the possibility that the water may be polluted, and to control natural enemies which may be present in that water.

Mild pollution often has no effect upon the adult fish in a body of water; however, the same pollution will often kill off all bottom life. Depend upon it, you can't fish if there is no food on which they can live.

In past years, I have had occasion to investigate the fishing in two privately-owned lakes. For years, thousands of legal-size bass had been placed in those waters, but the fishing did not improve.

The answer was the same in both cases. Bass in the shallows was almost nonexistent and each fall the bass crowded into deeper water, those ling surely had been living high on repeated visits to a dead bass bed.

So, as I say, if the fishing in the waters of your choice is not what you think it should be, take advantage of what modern science has to offer. Consult your ichthyologist and let him give you the answers.

Golfer Bob Toski Lines Sight On 'Tam' $50,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Toski, who is built like a jockey but hits a golf ball like a Paul Bunyon, is convinced he is the man of destiny as far as Tam O'Shanter's biggest payoff in tournament history is concerned.

The 127-pounder, who will be 28 next month, confidently expects to pick up promoter George S. May's winning check of $50,000 and sign a $50,000 exhibition contract when golf's "World" championship ends Sunday.

His 36-hole total was the best ever recorded for the Tam tournaments started in 1941 and gave the little pro a two-stroke lead. He, who can smack 300-yard drives, a chance to crack Byron Nelson's 72-hole record of 284 set in 1945.

Nelson posted 134 at the 36-hole juncture in his record-breaking spree.

Toski has a horde of moneyhounds on his heels as today's third round started.

Veteran Johnny Palmer, 36, "World" champion of 1949, and the indomitable Dutch Harrison, 44, were only three strokes away at 136.

Bunched at 136 were Walter Burkemo, Jack Burke, the first and the Zebra striking from the equator with shoulder blows that caused Zebra to emit burps that could be heard in the clubhouse.

Four times he flopped the flouncing Zeb to the wood surface. Another one wouldn't hurt, he figured, so he let go. He gushed the wrong end of the bottle. He carried through this time and headed for the arroyo. Very, the kind gentle soul he is, sensed his opportunity. He politely separated the ropes and Wilson walked through without touching a hair. He crashed on the arena floor, and remained there until after the count. That was that.

Generally speaking, the Paul-Ray duo while absorbing some terrific punishment at times had the better of the match. They took turns at house-cleaning, beating the living daylights—literally—about the ring until they were running around like jungle-juiced jack rabbits.

At one time with Zebby banging on the ropes and Paul pulling up Ury, levelled him off like a battering ram and inserted his noggin about six inches into the flabby midriff of his pal.

Referee Joe did not agree with such tactics so Paul and Ray picked on him, levelled off the Golpoll and placed it in the hole left in Zebby's stomach by the paste of his partner. Strange to say, the official waved the "go ahead" signal and resumed sending the rammers to the showers.

There was many a slip twixt the cup and the lip as both "villains resorted to hidden weapons of crushing water cups secreted somewhere on their persons. Golfing finally exposed as villainous. Ury was dropped from the armpit.

Texas took the first fall after 20 minutes of put-and-take punishment when he hoisted Burkemo, who had a shoulder bandaged, and administered his punishing backbreaker. Burke got the fall when he came out on one, don't call it for "Mother just yell "Uncle". Burke, 1,100 of the faithful saw one of the best mat sensations to appear in the Coliseum in quite some time last night. He is Luther Lindsay, a colored youngster from Memphis, Tenn., and the speed of a Mercury. The negro flash had the crowd on hand when he let go a blinding fast clever display that instantly brought Burke to his feet. He easily disposed on one Bern Tarbush in the semi-final. They can be seen in action again next week.

Tiger Tasker, who has a fondness for the arroyos, Ury, the kind gentle soul he is, sensed his opportunity. He politely separated the ropes and Wilson walked through without touching a hair. He crashed on the arena floor, and

Terriers Crush London 24-4; Back on Top

(By THE CANADIAN PRESS)

Galt Terriers, in one of the most overwhelming hitting attacks ever seen in the Senior International Baseball League, last night crushed London Majors 24-4 Friday night to climb back into first place in the standing.

It was one of the strongest defensive efforts of the season as the Terriers regained the top position in the I.B.L. standings they relinquished for only one day. The score completely overshadowed some the fine pitching performances of the game.

At Kitchener, for instance, Kitchener-Waterloo Royals in first place was in sparkling form as he hurled a three-hitter to lead the Panthers to a 6-1 decision over Brantford Red Sox. The Panthers, who helped Galt humble the Red Sox from first place and gave Kitchener a beating, moved into second spot in playoff position.

ATTEMPTED SQUEEZE

In the other league game, an attempted squeeze bunt by Herman Mason in the bottom of the ninth inning turned into an infield out and Stratford Indians edged a 3-2 decision over the last-place Guelph-Waterloo Royals in St. Jacobs.

Galt counted 15 runs in the first three innings to take a lead it never let go. Galt left fielder Jack Colvin started the scoring with a 3-run blast—notched a single and cashed a total of seven runs for the Majors. Meanwhile, Mel Dean also had a profitable evening, connecting for a grand-slam homer and a double.

Other homers for the Terriers were poled by Freddy Fernandez, Ed Steele and playing manager Lefty Marpole. Thomas, incidentally, had a tremendous night while making his debut with the Terriers. Recently he was traded to Galt by the Royals, Freddy contributed for a homer, a double, a single, and sent home three runs.

Bowls Tourney Finishes Today

H. Marshall Raymond of the Boulevard Club won the 14-end game 9-7 from Charles Sage of the Toronto Granites. The other finalist were one-point ends.

Raymond drew three points in the seventh end to take the deciding factor in one of the most exciting matches of the tournament.

In the Power of Toronto, who won the Roden Trophy in 1953 play, was knocked out by Thomas Renaud of Peterborough, 11-10 Renaud was taken out in the semi-finals by Sid Elsden of Orillia, 21-13.

Finals for the four singles-play championship will be played off Presentation of cups and will end the six-day

Ursus, Zebra Win Main Bout When Villmer Fails to Return

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Mighty Ursus, the bear that is built like a man, is an obliging piece of "rassiln" cussedness, to say the least. What he will do next is anybody's guess. Saturday night's "Neighbor of the Year" award.

And what he will do for the opposition should get him the nomination for boss man of "Hate, Inc."

Lil Ray Villmer, a package of ring dynamite, who teamed with powerful Paul Baillargeon against Ursus and George Bollas, alias "The Zebra" had the third fall of the main bout practically sewn up last night in Memorial arena.

In the second fray "Lil Violent Ray" hoisted the Zebra aloft, after which him until he looked like a Christmas candy cane, and thumping him in the chest repeated as the sports writer's wallet the day after payday.

And in the early minutes of the third stanza it looked like Ray would repeat. In fact Referee Joe Gollop had banged the canvas twice and was well on his way to a third when Ursus, who when Ursus crawled through the ropes, extracted a rumpled paper crown from his trunks and gently but firmly massaged Ray's eyeballs until the round ended.

Veteran Johnny Palmer, 36, "World" champion of 1949, and the indomitable Dutch Harrison, 44, were only three strokes away at 136.

Bunched at 136 were Walter Burkemo, Jack Burke, the first the Zebra striking from the equator with shoulder blows that caused Zebra to emit burps that could be heard in the clubhouse.

Marlene Stewart Meets Mary Gay For Canadian Womens' Open Crown

By GERRY MARTIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRIGHTWOOD, N. S. (CP)—Marlene Stewart Streit, 25, of Toronto, the little giants of Canadian women's golf, tee off against each other for the first time today in a 36-hole final for the national championship.

Marlene, the 20-year-old Fonthill, Ont., youngster who won her first Canadian Close title last week, was a 2-to-1 favorite to add the Open to her 1954 golfing string.

But Miss Gay, the auburn-haired shotmaker from Chicoutimi, Que., crowded Marlene uncomfortably throughout the Close last week and defeated the Torontonian in the Close and tied the Fonthill girl's medal-play in the Open qualifying round Monday.

FIRST IN 7 YEARS

This will be the first all-Canadian open final since 1937.

Marlene swung into the finals with a 4 and 3 victory Friday over Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md. Their match ended on the 36th hole when Mrs. Glick missed two short putts.

Mary Gay advanced by winning a memorable 21-hole marathon against Barbara Murphy of Hamilton, another of the 11th hour winning spurts for which the Quebec girl has come to be recognized. Two of her other matches in the Open she won 1-up on the 19th hole.

She sank a three-foot putt on the 21st hole to halve the match with Miss Bruning.

They were all square at the end of nine holes. They halved the 10th and Mary captured the 11th, a long uphill approach with a sensational 30-foot putt while Barbara missed six-footer. Miss Bruning won the 12th and 13th when Miss Gay's putting began to falter.

TIED IT UP

Mary tied it up when Miss Bruning landed in the woods alongside the 15th fairway and they halved the next two holes. Barbara took the 18th when Mary missed a 10-foot putt but the tables were turned on the 19th when it was Barbara's turn to drop one.

They were even through the first two extra holes but Miss Bruning was starting to wear visibly under the strain. She chipped 15 feet beyond the pin on the 21st hole for a six-foot putt. Miss Bruning's last shot left the ball six inches short of the cup.

Earlier, Marlene grabbed the second finals berth when Mrs. Glick who finished just one stroke off the 36-hole pace set by Mary Gay in the qualifying round fumbled two short putts on the 153-yard 19th hole.

Marlene was 3-up after nine holes. In the next two she increased that to 4 up with a birdie on the second hole and added only by halves from the Mrs. Glick's wood shot was 30 feet wide of the green.

SLIPPED POWER

Miss Stewart, wearing the all-her-trademark, wheat 4 up by winning the 10th hole on the sheer power and accuracy of her drives. She was 20 yards beyond Mrs. Glick off the tee on the 11th which they halved.

Both of the 133-yard 12th in one-over par fours. The 13th, a 379-yard straightaway par four, saw both players on the green in one-under-par threes but Mrs. Glick's putt was the fourth shot to win.

The methodical Marlene tied the 14th and carried the 15th and the match when Mrs. Glick missed a brace of short putts.

The two finalists are similar in some ways. Mary Gay is a former teddy bear good luck charm and Marlene is the holder of the Canadian beret although she claims she doesn't wear it for luck.

Both are long hitters, accurate drivers and the winner is margin probably will be found in putting.

Karpuk Launches Legal Action

OTTAWA (CP) — Pete Karpuk, fleet halfback with the Ottawa Rough Riders, Friday launched legal proceedings which he hopes will enable him to play elsewhere this season.

Karpuk filed an action in the Ontario Supreme Court for a writ all ties with the Ottawa club and to have himself declared a free agent. He also asked for general damages for refusal on the part of the defendants to allow him to pursue his chosen vocation."

The action will be heard here, but no date has been set for the hearing. The defendants in the case are the Ottawa Football Club Inc., the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union and the Canadian Rugby Union.

Karpuk, who is present playing manager with Galt Terriers of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League, played with the Ottawa club year with Rough Riders. However, he refused to sign a contract for this ment with coach Clem Crowe and has not reported so far this year to the Ottawa club. The Ottawa club claims he is their property.

SEEKS COURT ORDER

Karpuk's statement of claim seeks a declaration that he should be is under no contractual obligation to the Ottawa Club or the defendants and that the Canadian that the Canadian Rugby Union Football Union and the Canadian Rugby Union are not entitled to seek any other club of the Canadian Rugby Union.

Karpuk also asks for an injunction against the defendants "restraining them from taking any action, suit, negotiation or proceeding which would or could prevent the plaintiff from signing a player's contract for the football season of

Ontario Women, Quebec Men Takes Titles

OTTAWA (CP) — Attention centred on the all-Canadian singles championships today as the curtain closed on the Canadian junior tennis tournament moved into the second day.

Ontario women and Quebec men won the interprovincial team titles Friday in the week-long tourney opened on the 17 courts of the Ottawa Tennis Club.

Officials hope to have the entire closed section of the racquet race finished by the closing evening. The open tournament with some 300 entries from Canada and the United States will begin Monday.

Entries in the junior men's closed singles will be narrowed down to the last eight today and finalists may be decided in the juvenile boys' and girls' singles. The closed tournament for juvenile girls will also start today.

ONTARIO WINS

Ontario defeated Quebec 3-0 for the junior women's interprovincial title Friday after the Quebec players forfeited them all the way in the best of three singles and two doubles matches.

Georgette Delacretaz of Cornwall and Pat Watt of Toronto finally decided the matches in favor of Ontario when they defeated Nicolet Boutet and Louise Morrissette of Quebec City, 6-2, 6-0.

All the time wins by Eleanor Dodge of Montreal and Miss Morrissette gave Quebec the 2-1 lead in the singles. But, doubles have to be played in the above matches if one team doesn't make a clean sweep of the singles.

Miss Dodge and Jacqueline Webber tied the matches by downing Delacretaz and Elaine Johnston of Hudson, Que., and then Miss Delacretaz and Pat Watt won the title.

A total of 56 matches were played Friday, 12 more than hope to better that mark today.

1954 with any Canadian member football club of the Canadian Rugby Union and thus pursuing his livelihood and vocation as a professional football player."

Detroit Lions Claw College Stars By 31-6 Score Before 93,470 Fans

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Two-platoon or one-platoon football college All-Stars are helpless prey of the roaring Detroit Lions, two-time champions of the National Football League.

It was indeed an unlucky Friday the 13th for the collegians before 93,470 at Soldier Field. Not only was as they took a 31-6 clawing from the ruthless Lions.

The efficient pros from the Motor City had been forced to play the limited substitution rules and junk their two-platoon system just for this nationally-televised contest.

Last year, with free substitution permitted, the All-Stars defeated All-Stars, 24-10.

With their stellar passing quarterback, Bobby Layne, riding the bench all the way, the Lions counted on the inept collegians for 17 points in the first quarter and then won as they pleased.

BRISTLING DEFENCE

No. 2 pro quarterback Tom Dublinski, directing only 24 other pros used by Detroit coach Buddy Parker, called the doubles when she ousted Miss Boutet in a singles match.

All the time wins by Eleanor Dodge of Montreal and Miss Morrissette gave Quebec the 2-1 lead in the singles. But, doubles have to played in the above matches if one team doesn't make a clean sweep of the singles.

Petes Take First From St. Kitts

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Peterborough Trailermen Friday night defeated St. Catharines Athletics 10-2 to begin the seven-round-robin semi-final senior lacrosse series, which embraces Toronto and Hamilton City entries.

Trailermen led 4-2 in the first period and 7-5 to end the second.

BIG NAMES COMING

TORONTO (CP)—Babe Zaharias and British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia will play in an exhibition match against Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret, 1953 National women's Open champion, in a best-ball pro - tournament event at the Tam O'Shanter Open at the suburban Scarborough course Aug. 26. Snead and Demaret won her' fifth All-American women's title after shattering three tournament records in the Tam O'Shanter Club in Chicago.

May Shift Famous Race From Goshen

By JOHN CHANDLER

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—There is a strong possibility that the Hambletonian Stakes, a race which has helped to spread the fame of the trotting horse and Goshen around the world, may be run in this quiet village for the last time next August.

The Hambletonian and Goshen go together like the Kentucky Derby and Louisville. But William H. Cane, who built up the race to become the most famous trotting event in the world, reluctantly confesses that financial losses over the years have made Yonkers Raceways, Inc. consider making some changes. The Yonkers group owns Good Times Park, where the Hambletonian has been raced for the last 25 years.

It all came about when the Hambletonian Society, a group of trotting stalwarts who are in charge of the race, met here recently to lend a new contract for the sulky classic.

BIG SHIFT

The Yonkers group wants to shift the race to Yonkers Raceway, the big night parimutuel track just over the line from New York city. Goshen is a scant 60 miles from New York.

"There have been no definite offers, merely proposals," said R. Roland Harriman, president of the Hambletonian Society.

"There were several other proposals, and we discussed them among ourselves and took no action," he added without going into detail.

Read Defeats Latta 7-5 For Second Win

Read tacked a 7-5 defeat on Latta last night for their second straight victory in the best-of-seven finals for the South Hastings Baseball League championship.

The winners got off to an early lead with a pair in the first, a trio in the third and singletons in the sixth and eighth. Latta countered with a pair in the initial frame and another couple in the fourth. Their final marker came in the seventh.

Read hitters were H. Shannon, B. Brennan and J. Walsh with doubles, while B. Brennan, G. Brennan, Walsh and A. Walsh and D. Walsh had singles. Ted Ray paced Latta with a trio of singles while doubles went to H. Waite and W. Gowe.

The line-up:

Latta — Glass, Ted Ray, Parks, Sullivan, F. Ray replaced by H. Waite in 6th, Garry Gowe, W. Gowe, Meeks, Reid.

Read — K. Hanley, H. Shannon, G. Brennan, B. Brennan, J. Walsh, F. Hoach, B. Hanley, D. Brennan, D. Walsh.

Revival of 'Gone With the Wind' Brings Out Many Hollywood Notables

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can you imagine Hollywood turning out in its minks and tuxes to see a 15-year-old movie?

That happened this week at the "Gone With the Wind" opening, which featured stars, searchlights and sirens at the Egyptian Theatre. Some of the famous names were schook-children when the film first opened — Debbie Reynolds, Guy Madison, Jane Powell, Vera-Ellen, Tab Hunter. The "premiere" also drew from the more mature crowd; even Liberace was there with a date.

My third view of "GWTW" provided a chance to review the shortcomings and assets of what is in many respects the greatest picture ever made.

The picture is long. Three hours and 42 minutes in a theatre is hard on the sitter, no matter what the attraction. And "GWTW" does drag in the latter portions.

STORYBOOK CHARACTERS

The characters remain storybook people. They have none of the reality of the individuals in "From Here To Eternity," for example. Although you are engrossed by the figures of "GWTW", you can never escape the fact that they are rather one-sided characters of a novel.

You have to strain to find things wrong with the picture. Its good features are overwhelming. We have been treated to many spectacles on the wide screens lately, but most of them display interest for its own sake. In "GWTW," spectacle supplements the story; it never interferes.

What a story it is! It tells the saga of a self-willed woman against the background of a dying South, the Confederacy. You can never feel real sympathy for Scarlett O'Hara, but you do find it being fascinated by her.

Vivien Leigh had the greatest tour de force of any actress in the history of the screen. Probably no other actress could have done so well.

GABLE DESERVED OSCAR

I was also struck by the indispensables nature of Clark Gable. His presence gave the film a virility, often when it was much needed. He is a magnetic personality, and one wonders how the Academy passed him for the Oscar. The big prize went to Robert Donat for "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" that year (1939).

Olivia DeHavilland, would certainly have won an oscar if it had not been for the competition of Hattie McDaniel who was magnificent. Ona Munson was the beautifully modulated and showed the dramatic promise that she later realized. Leslie Howard's performance impresses anew what a tragic loss was suffered by the acting world with his death.

AT THE BELLS — Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, beloved of millions of TV fans, are the stars of this new bang-a-rang type of comedy in Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz's hilarious comedy, in color too, showing today for the last times at the Bells Theatre. A funny You & Jerry Color Cartoon, is an added attraction.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 15, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Home, family, community, wholesome social affairs especially favored this Sunday, along with religious services. Bright, interesting coauthor activities also sponsored.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A day for spiritual gain, bettering family relations and doing essentials tasks cheerfully, uncomplainingly. Join church and social groups to heighten your outlook. Improve health.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You have generous indications so it is up to you to take advantage of them. Co-operate for harmonious relations at home and with all associates. Prayer will start you right.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Religious instructor, clergyman all giving their lives for mankind's betterment are especially honored by benefic Venus. Moon and Jupiter aspects. Benefits for all good deeds. Pray.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Persevere in good intentions, good works and you will be blessed in many ways. Give helping hand to lonely children, the ill. Think not of personal gain or recognition—God loves the humble.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—An ideal planetary setup for you thoughtful, self-sacrificing Virgoans. Take advantage of opportunities to rest, recreate, get in some reading. Nourish your soul with prayer.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—You in military, navy, marine or air force life should renew your faith in God and pray to strengthen your belief in the righteous causes for which you fight and sacrifice.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—It won't be fair to yourself or your loved ones if you don't help to make this a happy, interesting, year, even a profitable period. Avoid profits don't always mean money. Aim for spiritual gain.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Today's influences should stimulate you, incite you to higher purposes, give you greater zeal for God's principles, the right way of life. You are innately fine; keep that way.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Your deep humanitarian and unselfish nature should come to the fore now. All worthy activities, necessary work are sponsored. Remember to pray, too.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Self-control is always important and today is no exception. There are splendid aspects now—take advantage of them. Build for spiritual as well as temporal gain.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Today's motto: "There is only one way to get ready for immortality, and that is to love life and live it as bravely, faithfully and cheerfully as we can." God will help.

YOU BORN TODAY are straightforward, warm-hearted, generous, broad-minded, ambitious, usually lost and above pettiness — that is if you are living true to your innate characteristics, heeding God's Commandments and correcting your possible faults, such as egotism, perhaps a tendency to "lord it" over family and others at times. Always remember that humility goes with true greatness and he who recognizes his failings and strives to correct them will never fail God, himself or his fellowmen. Birthdate: Sir Walter Scott, Scottish poet, novelist; Napoleon I, Fr. emperor.

ROSLIN

'Grandmothers' Meeting' Held By Institute

ROSLIN—The August Women's Institute meeting was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William and Mrs. Norman White, with 32 members and visitors present.

The president, Mrs. A. Bbates, presided for the business period.

This was the "grandmothers" meeting, and the roll call was answered with my grandmother's maiden name.

The leader, Mrs. L. Leslie was in charge of the following program. Community singing with Mrs. Fargey at the piano. A demonstration of hand-painted china was given by Mrs. N. Welsh of Moira; a violin selection by Margaret Bates. The topic, "Those who have learnt that time can not age are happily wise," was given by Mrs. M. Fargey. Misses Eva and Elsie Marin favored twith a duet; a reading was given by Mrs. Sharpe; Mrs. N. Welsh favored with a solo. The motto the hand had been prepared by Mrs. Leslie) "WhatMothers Expected of Their Children 50 Years Ago" was given by her granddaughter, Eva Martin.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses and their assistants, and a social time spent.

Firemen Leap To Safety As Roof Collapses

HAMILTON (CP) — Fire chief Edmund Nixon and seven firemen leaped to safety Friday as a garage roof collapsed while they were fighting a fire at Szabo Motors. Damage was estimated at $75,000.

"We just had time to run out from under the falling roof," chief Nixon said later. The burning shoot from another fireman was all we saw. We scooted out of danger."

The fierce blaze broke out in the paint shop and soon turned the single-storey building into an inferno, which wrecked at least six cars before firemen brought it under control.

A thorough-draught from the front to the rear of the building caused flames to jet across a rear driveway to light wooden fencing of adjoining homes, while a soaring column of smoke rose from the building before the hoses were brought into action.

Watchers were hurriedly moved from the rear of the premises when a partially-exploded burning gas cylinder was dragged from the wreckage of the paint shop. An explosion was feared.

Cause of the fire was unknown.

Y Physical Director Writes of Daily Routine at Conference in France

Editor's Note: This is the second and last article covering the International Training Course which was held at Melun, France. The author is Di Le Rocheton, physical director of the Y.M.C.A., Belleville.

Le Rocheton,
Melun, France.

The Y.M.C.A. Centre at Le Rocheton, Melun, France, is a beehive of activities since August 9th, when over 100 delegates, representing 18 countries, gathered to go through a well-planned and well-directed International Training Course, the object of which is to train leaders for two of the six big conferences of next year's YMCA centennial in Paris. The two conferences are the "Older Boys' Conference" held at the Universite de Paris, and the World's Boys' Camp, which will take place right here in Melun. It is expected that 2,000 older boys and 500 junior boys will attend both conferences.

The course is ably directed by Mr. Alan Andrews, Boys' Secretary of the World's Alliance of the Y.M.C.As; assisted by National Boys' Work Secretaries of the Y.M.C.A.'s of Paris, Germany and Belgium; "Y" Secretaries from France, Switzerland and Canada; and by another group of key laymen from England, Italy, Switzerland, France and Africa.

The largest delegation is from Germany with 34. They have over a week's start right from the very first day with their well-sung, and variety of group songs of which, they seem to have an abundance for every occasion. Our North American group of six boys ranks 5th in number of delegates, and I am very happy to say that our knowledge of Y work in its broad sense surpasses that of the other delegates. They have been giving a good account of themselves to every duty given them and are true ambassadors of good will.

Reveille each day is at 7.30 a.m. and "Lights Out" at 10.15 p.m. A total of nine hours per day are used for organized activities and discussion groups. A few of these are planning next year's Older Boys' and Boys' Camp, terms of reference of conference committees, of discussion group leaders, their assistants and secretaries; of tent leaders; discussing group techniques; studying the Together—theme of the 1955 Conference; demonstration and practice of various national games, sports and recreation and camp fires. Devotional periods open and close the daily program.

All talks, announcements and statements are being done in three languages — English, French, and German. This is an entirely new experience for us but it does not take long to acquire the necessary assistance and it finds course. On the other hand it is also tiresome for those who speak all three languages, and there are a few who do, and who are obliged to listen to the same thing three times.

Opportunities have been given to all national groups to talk about Y.M.C.A. work in their own countries. Our Y movement. So-ed. Leaders Corps and our World Service Work have made a big impression on most of the delegates. Many have asked us to send them literature on the above.

Camp fire, practically each evening, are a real treat. Each national group is having its turn to sing its popular items in their home camps, sing, and give demonstrations of their folk dancing and other folk lore. Our turn was last week and we believe it was one of the best. We closed our program with the "Lord's Prayer", in song, that impressed all, even ourselves.

We have had three excursions so far. The first one was to Paris to visit the "Cite' Universitaire" where the Older Boys' Conference will be held in 1955, and the "Palais des Sports" in which the big rallies and joint meetings of the total conference will be held. The Palais des Sports has a seating capacity of 15,000. We had time during the outing to visit the Eiffel Tower: and a few of the historic sites of Paris.

Our second excursion was a two-day visit to the famous Chateau of "Val de Loire" and on the third we visited Versailles.

The course will be officially closed Saturday night, around a huge "Fire of Friendship", and on Sunday we leave. Our group goes to Paris as guests of the French National Council for three days. We all back for New York from Le Havre on August 11th, and expect to arrive in New York on August 20th. Dave MacGregor, the Torontonian and I will take the 10.45 p.m. train from New York, to be home the next day.

So much to conclude our three weeks' stay in Melun. After return home, I expect to give you my own interpretation of this international fellowship and what it has meant to me."

LEAVES ON SELLING TRIP

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—Dr. A. N. McRae, chief of the tobacco division at the central experimental farm in Ottawa, will leave soon for the United Kingdom and free European countries in an effort to expand exports of Canadian flue-cured tobacco. This was announced Thursday by Fred Cunningham, chairman of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association, at a meeting of the board.

Toronto Police Have Long Believed Marion McDowell Died of Injuries

TORONTO (CP)—A senior police officer directly concerned with investigation of the eight-month-old disappearance of 17-year-old Marion McDowell, said today police have long held the belief the Toronto lpyist is dead.

The officer said there was evidence, the girl was struck on the head by an attacker when she disappeared the night of Dec. 8 and that she had suffered loss of an enormous amount of blood.

The statement was made as British-born detective, Robert Fabian, began investigation of the mysterious case at the request of The Toronto Telegram.

INTERVIEWS FAMILY

Fabian interviewed the family of the missing girl, and also visited the remote lover's lane from where her escort, 20-year-old Jimmy Wilson, said she was carried off by an attacker wearing a knitted balaclava hood.

Fabian said Ross McDowell, father of the missing girl, believes his daughter is dead. Otherwise, Mr. McDowell believed Marion would have made some kind of attempt to communicate with her family. He told Fabian he believed his daughter was the victim of a sex pervert.

Another conclusion the ex-Scotland Yard sleuth said he reached in the kidnap scene was that "no stranger to the district was there the night Marion vanished."

LOST MUCH BLOOD

Scarboro and other police involved in the long investigation of the case which failed to turn up a clue to the missing girl said the girl's blood had been found soaked deeply in the back seat of the car owned by Wilson.

Police felt the girl could not have lost so much blood and survived.

Bandit Captured After Holding Up Imperial Bank at Kingston

KINGSTON (CP) — Police captured an armed man in mid-town Kingston today, minutes after he had attempted to carry out the first bank holdup in the history of the city.

He almost got away with a payroll estimated at $21,000 but was arrested by a passing motorcycle constable at gunpoint after being pointed out by passersby who saw the robbery from the bank doorways.

The bandit threw away his gun and lay on the sidewalk under the constable's gun until a crowd of 2000 - day shoppers pressed around and a call was sent for more police.

Held is Walter Klesavidch, 47, of no fixed address.

Police said a man entered the Imperial Bank of Canada shortly before noon and ordered the bank staff and customers to lie on the floor. Teller Doug Lattimer stayed in his cage but accountant George Marlow ducked behind a bannister and manager John Harrison rushed into his office to give an alarm.

The bandit grabbed a payroll being deposited at the time by a Dominion Store warehouse official. The money was recovered.

French Proposals To Amend EDC Opposed By Dutch

European Army Plan Faces Big Test in Next Two Weeks

Railway Heads And Union Chiefs Resume Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — Union leaders wielding a strike threat over the railways went into renewed negotiations with the railways today determined to press for a fast settlement of their long contract dispute.

Before the disputants resumed talks at 10 a.m. EDT at Prime Minister St. Laurent's request, union chief Frank H. Hall said to a reporter:

"If there is no agreement in two days, there won't be one."

Hall headed a 15-man negotiating committee representing 145,000 non-operating railway employees, who have authorized their leaders to call a strike if negotiations are not successful.

FOUR RAILWAYS

The labor chiefs went into conference with spokesmen for four railways that operate more than 90 per cent of the track in Canada. These are the CNR and CPR, the Ontario Northland, owned by the Ontario government, and the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo.

Major railway officials on hand were president Donald Gordon of the CNR and vice-president N. R. Crump of the CPR.

"We don't expect this will take very long. It shouldn't. Everything has been said that can be said," Mr. Hall said.

SLATE CLEAN

Apart from the officers of the transcontinental railways, those engaged in the negotiations included Archibald Freeman, general manager of the Ontario Northland Railway, and P. W. Hankinson, general manager of the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway. Others present were W. H. Hobbs, CNR vice-president for personnel, and S. M. Gossage, assistant manager of the CPR's personnel department.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Tho air over southern Ontario is warm and humid, and afternoon or evening thunderstorms are anticipated in this area.

Northerly winds will bring cooler air from northern Ontario down into central sections today and into the lower lakes tonight.

Tuesday will be mostly sunny in all regions.

THE HAGUE (AP)—The Netherlands government today called French amendments to the European army treaty "an impossible basis for agreement" among the six Western powers meeting this week in Brussels.

The Dutch foreign ministry said in a communique that "although the French proposals will be studied further," the Netherlands government "could not see how on this basis agreement can be reached at the Brussels meeting.

"These (French) proposals aim among other things at a scooping out of the supranational elements of the treaty thereby essentially attacking the character of the treaty.

"In the opinion of the Netherlands it would not be possible to make the proposed changes without a renewed ratification procedure," the statement concluded.

FACES SEVERE TEST

PARIS (AP) — The European Army faces its severest test within the next two weeks.

As of today, it seemed the result could go either way. Everything depends on the psychological pressures and manoeuvring on the diplomatic and parliamentary scenes.

Keeper of Keys at Prison Halts Escape Plan of Rioters

KINGSTON (CP)—Leslie McCallum, keeper of the keys, threw a monkey wrench into escape plans of rioting prisoners at Kingston penitentiary Sunday by locking himself in a cell alone.

The 23-year-old guard, exhausted and shaky but glad to be alive, told how he dashed to the lookout dome when the riot broke out and screaming, yelling mobs of convicts rushed at him for the keys in the inside of the cell he was locked like prison. He stayed there for three hours before running to safety.

"I had all the keys to the workshops on a ring," he said. "I was standing in the shop dome when I heard a noise. I could see all the way down the corridor and I knew they would be filled with prisoners if what I suspected was true.

"I shut the barricades and locked myself inside. The prisoners poured into the corridors but I was no way for them to get into the workshops. I had the keys. It seemed as if a hundred of them were milling around the shaking bars.

"They were yelling, just like one of those movie scenes of a prison riot. They knew I was there but they couldn't get at me. Then some of them ran outside and smashed all the windows in the shop dome.

"Give us the keys or we'll burn you alive," one of them yelled. I didn't say anything.

"The smoke was getting so bad I could hardly see. I was choking and coughing and I figured there was nothing for me to do but open the barricade and try to make a break for it.

"A pair of convict's overalls were hanging on a nail in the room. I don't know what they were doing there but I grabbed them and pulled them over my uniform. Then I unlocked the barricade and went out.

"The hall was gone off and it was dark as pitch. The smoke was getting worse. I figured I had only one thing left to do—go out and mingle with the prisoners and hope to heaven I could get by wearing the overalls.

"Nobody paid any attention to me. They were too busy trying to burn and smash everything. I joined one mob and started to work my way along the east wall. I was part of the main cellblock and about to head for the main gate when they recognized me."

McCallum, a native of Moscow, Ont., reached the main gate which was closed just far enough for him to squeeze by.

Of the 2,911 prisoners, armed with knives, baseball bats, sticks and just about anything else they could use for weapons, were left behind the gate.

ARMY VETERAN KILLS 2 WOMEN, THEN HIMSELF

Noranda Posse Finds Killer's Body in Bog

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—A young army veteran was found dead of a bullet wound in his head Sunday in a blueberry patch where two women were shot to death 24 hours earlier.

Police said paratrooper Jean-Claude Levesque, 24, of Noranda, Que., apparently killed the women with a .22-calibre rifle in "a moment of sexual madness" and then committed suicide.

Finding of the Korean veteran's body three miles north of here ended a reign of terror that had so aroused district residents police forbade them to carry arms or ammunition. There was a bullet hole through the top of his mouth.

Levesque, a lance corporal who recently returned from Korea with the Royal 22nd Regiment, was sought by a posse of farmers and police in connection with the shootings of Mrs. Arthur Cousineau, 45, mother of six, and her sister, Mrs. Boyd Edwards, 37, mother of five. They were killed while picking berries on Blueberry hill with four of the children.

From stories told by the children, police said the killer appeared on the scene, shot the women and forced Mrs. Edwards' 12-year-old daughter, Janice, to undress. He then told the girl and a boy to lie on the ground. When the two other children appeared he fled.

Two Alternatives Face Chinese Reds in Threat Against Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists, bristling lately with threats of "liberating" the island of Formosa, face two alternatives if they really contemplate action against Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists—a major amphibious operation which would run head-on into the U. S. 7th Fleet, or an initially limited action aimed at the Nationalist air force, navy and outlying islands.

The first would precipitate a war between Red China and the United States.

Limited operations, on the other hand, would preclude attacks at this time by the Reds inside the U. S.-defined protection zone around Formosa. But such a war could take the form of attacks against the island strongpoints the Nationalists hold off the Red China coast, air and naval attacks on Nationalist warships outside the Formosa defence zone, and possible attacks on Nationalist planes that venture over the mainland or patrol the coast.

Formosa lies some 100 miles off the China coast, about midway between Shanghai and Hong Kong. While not lightly regarded as the dangers inherent in the situation, most informed sources here are confident that if the Reds do decide to act, it is likely to be limited actions, at least in the first stages.

Other observers here dismiss the Red threats against Formosa as idle boasts intended to secure specific cold war objectives.

Duke of Edinburgh Is Roughing It, Fishing in the Wilds of Labrador

By DAVE STOCKAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is roughing it in the wilds of Labrador. He is quite fishing and won't be back it until late Tuesday.

Since Sunday night his home has been a tent and his bed a sleeping bag on a camp cot. The first part of the expedition was spent under the rain pouring down.

He arrived at Goose Bay Sunday after a flight from the open pit iron mines around Knob lake, Quebec. There he didn't stay long.

Just an hour later he was on his way in a pontoon-equipped Otter to a camp on the Eagle river, 115 miles east of here.

The fishing is supposed to be wonderful, with Atlantic salmon, brook and lake trout giving the anglers plenty of variety.

Fishing with the duke are Commander Michael Parker, his private secretary, Group Captain E.A. McNab, his Canadian equerry, Sqdn. Ldr. Peter Horsley, RAF equerry, R. C. MacInnes, chief information officer, and Group Capt. F. W. Ball, commanding officer of the RCAF station at Goose Bay.

There will be no roughing it as far as food is concerned. Executive chief W01 Gus Delaire of Ottawa was Prince Philip's Sunday-to-Monday King's personal chef.

Then the woodcraft and there are Bill Brown, a local guide, and Sgt. Steve Trent of Pathlow, Sask., RCAF game-tracking expert and survival expert.

The camp, where the only actual building is a log cook-shack, will be in radio contact with the Goose Bay air base, there are individual tents for sleeping and a dining tent.

Inspector Frank Kelley of Scotland Yard didn't make the trip. He doesn't like fishing.

MOTHER, 3 SONS DROWN AS FIRE SWEEPS BOAT

Outboard Motor Blast Causes Sudbury Deaths

SUDBURY (CP)—An outboard motor which exploded and set fire to a can of gasoline caused the drownings of a mother and her three sons in nearby White-Water lake Saturday.

Mrs. Rita Laurin, 30, of Azilda, Ont., and her sons, Roger, 9, Gilles, 10, and Roland, 11, were drowned when they attempted to swim to shore after their craft caught on fire. Rene Laurin, 35, the woman's husband, suffered minor burns but was rescued by a cottager who heard the explosion and hailed a passing motor boat.

The bodies of the victims were all recovered. Mr. Laurin was released from hospital Sunday after treatment for burns on both hands.

The father was in bed with a daughter, Helen, 2½, who remained with Mrs. Laurin's parents before the family started on its ill-fated fishing trip.

HEARD EXPLOSION

Paul Dubue of Sudbury, the cottager who heard the explosion, described the accident. He said he ran to the shore after the explosion and saw the smoke from the burning boat.

Hailing a passing motor boat which was occupied by Norman Jutras, 12, and Jean Erioux, 16, both from Sudbury, Dubue and the boys set out for the scene of the accident.

But the water was so choppy, Dubue said, "it must have taken us half an hour to get there and all the time Laurin kept shouting. It was awful."

Laurin said he was dizzy but clung to the hull after the explosion. He said he thought the others were doing the same.

Touchy Political Issue Raised By the Legion

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament has already political issue in the form of a Canadian Legion demand for compulsory peacetime service in the armed forces.

The explosive question whether the issue will be raised in debate during the next regular session of Parliament.

The annual Toronto convention of the Legion went on record in favor of some form of selective service to provide trained reserve forces.

NOT ACTIVE ISSUE

Compulsory military service has not been a political issue in the Commons during the last few years, though a similar demand came from the Legion's convention in 1952.

The Commons likely will be more vocal on the reorganization of the reserve forces before the royal commission investigating Soviet espionage is finished.

Evatt, who has blasted the commission for "smearing innocent people," has been invited to give commission counsel W. J. Wilson and presiding judge William F. Owen.

He also staged a searching cross-examination of his former press secretary, Fergan O'Sullivan, as he opened his defence of two other aides mentioned before the commission as "sources of information" for Russian intelligence documents.

Kingston Choir Sings Matins At the Abbey

LONDON (CP)—About 2,000 persons attended matins in Westminster Abbey Sunday, first Sunday following St. George's evening pontifical choir from Kingston, Ont., had sung.

Worshippers included Frederic H. Hudd, Canada's deputy high commissioner who sat in the official Canadian stall, and many Canadians resident in London.

The choir will be singing at the abbey until Aug. 29. It is scheduled to appear at Welshpool, Wales, Sept. 1. Saturday, it sang evensong at the New Guildford, Surrey, cathedral.

"ADOPT" ELDERS

LONDON (CP)—Old persons at a Streatham district home will get visits and letters from children of a nearby school which has "adopted" them.

Two such objectives could be (1) To cause a split among the western powers over the Formosa question, and (2) To impose stringent controls on Red China, using the need to "liberate" Formosa as a pretext.

Kingston Prison Riot Quelled By Bayonets, Gunfire

Exercise Yard Turned Into Turmoil, Orgy of Destruction

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON (CP) — Kingston penitentiary lay grim and silent on the Lake Ontario shore today, giving no outward sign of the destruction left by a two-hour riot and fire-setting spree by 200 prisoners.

But within the high gray walls of Canada's second-largest penal institution officials surveyed the damage. It was expected to run to at least $1,000,000. Some said it might go to $2,000,000.

For two hours Sunday the rioters, about a quarter of the 900 convicts held at the prison, turned the exercise yard into a scene of turmoil and an orgy of destruction. Once they made a rush at a gate but guards drove them back with gunfire. This was the only move resembling a breakout attempt.

NONE BADLY HURT

Nobody was badly hurt. Not one convict was anywhere near escape. But the convicts, many of them tough long-termers, went wild. They were brought under control by 150 troops, bayonets fixed to rifles, city and provincial police and guards.

It was the worst riot in the prison's history. There was no apparent reason for its beginning.

Some officials blamed it on arsonists and psychopaths. Others said they didn't remember what caused it because there had been no recent grievances. One convict, unidentified, said it was part of a planned mass break.

The trouble started around 11 a.m. while some 400 prisoners were assembled in the yard for a Sunday baseball game. Almost 50 of them attacked guard Robert Wylie and hit him with a baseball bat. He managed to escape.

RIOT SPREADS

The prisoners—joined now by 200 more—spread among the outbuildings in the big yard. Within an hour they took over at least half of the grounds. The other 200 prisoners stood around and watched the uproar of smoke and flame.

Using cigaret lighters and matches, the rioters set fire to mattresses, to just about everything inflammable in the print, mail, carpenter, tailor, masonry and tin and paint shops and to the stables. Eight horses in the stables were led to safety by guards during the riot.

Most of the 700 prisoners were confined to the shops and a warehouse at the rear of the prison. The warehouse was set afire by anyone standing in the roadway outside the front gates.

Evatt Defends His Two Aides

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Labor party leader Herbert Evatt, set off a courtroom clash today in his appearance before the royal commission investigating Soviet espionage in Australia.

Evatt, who has blasted the commission for "smearing innocent people," began a cross-examination of commission counsel W. J. Wilson and presiding judge William F. Owen.

He was charged a searching cross-examination of his former press secretary, Fergan O'Sullivan, as he opened his defence of two other aides mentioned before the commission as "sources of information" for Russian intelligence documents.

Farmer Blasting for Water for Cows Touches Off Search for Airplane

BRANTFORD (CP)—A farmer blasting for water touched off a three-hour search for a missing airplane Sunday night.

Police called off the hunt at midnight when they found a man had set off a heavy charge of dynamite when trying to provide water in a spot where he planned to pasture cows.

The hunt for a plane began when police heard the man's blast and a big black cloud of smoke and of hearing what sounded like falling wreckage.

Within it was all over, police said they couldn't account for the vapor trail but the falling wreckage was RCAF jet-engine parts over a wide area by the dynamite.

Two hours after the first alarm, searchers found a big hole in the earth. It could have resulted from a plane crash. But nearby were marks made by a tractor. Finally police found the man who had caused all the commotion.

"What's the matter with people these days?" he asked police when they told him of the search.

Paddle Canoe Across Baltic To Escape Reds

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—Two young Poles asked for political asylum in Denmark today after paddling 55 miles across the Baltic sea in a canoe to escape from communism.

The two were reported to have spent two days on the open sea before they sighted the coast of Bornholm.

They were dripping wet and hungry after their ordeal. Police immediately gave them warm food and dried and outfitted them with dry clothes.

47 Believed Dead in Plane Crash at Saigon

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—Forty-seven persons are believed to have died when a Viet Nam freighter plane, evacuating families of Viet Namese soldiers from the Red river delta, crashed Sunday near Pakse, Laos.

The plane had completed just over half the 700-mile flight from the delta area to here when it plunged into a tributary of the Mekong river, Viet Nam operators of the plane, refused to give any casualty figures, but members of rescue teams said today that 46 of the 51 passengers were thought to have died, as one of the four crew members.

The Bristol freighter was on charter from the Viet Nam airline to French Union forces and was assigned to evacuate wives and children of Viet Nam soldiers from the delta area, soon to come under Communist control. Many of the dead were believed to be children.

Crews of planes that carried rescue teams to Pakse reported that the force of the plane's engines failed and the pilot decided to attempt an emergency landing on Pakse airfield. But a brief, violent storm swirled over the field before he could make the landing.

The freighter smashed into a tree and a house and then plunged into the river, with only its tail remaining on the bank.

Most of the crew and passengers were believed to have drowned.

BROKEN CLUTCH RESPONSIBLE FOR REAR-END CRASH

A broken clutch was responsible Saturday night for a rear-end collision on No. 2 highway five miles east of the city which caused approximately $1,000 damage and sent two passengers in one vehicle to hospital for a checkup.

Frank Sparks of Belleville was forced to stop on the highway, when his clutch gave out. While he was attempting to get the car underway a car driven by Darrell Fowler of Guelph crashed into the rear extensively damaging the front end of the car. Two passengers in the car were taken to hospital by a passing motorist but after a check up were allowed to go.

Provincial Constables MacLeod and Pellissero investigated.

TWO MINOR CALLS OVER WEEK-END

City firemen had a comparatively easy week-end with only two minor fire calls and one service call being received.

Two of the calls were to Sidney street, one for a grass blaze and the other to extinguish a fire burning in a chimney. The third call was to Hillcrest where assistance was requested to place an ailing woman on a hospital bed.

Arrest Two Men After Wild Chase Saturday Night

The alertness of two provincial police officers who spotted a reported stolen car as they were returning from highway patrol resulted in the arrest of two men Saturday night after a wild 90-miles per hour chase on No. 2 highway.

Arrested and taken back to Toronto to face charges of car theft are Douglas Parsons, 20, of Belleville, cunning on bail awaiting trial on a charge of car theft and Znon Loisel, 23, no address. The car in which the two men were riding was reported stolen in Toronto.

Provincial Police Constables A. MacLeod and L. Pellissero were returning to the city after investigating a highway accident when, as they passed the Dutch Boy Dairy restaurant east of the city, they spotted the car being turned around in the yard.

They swung their car into the restaurant yard but the occupants of the car spotted the cruiser and swung east on the highway in an attempt to escape.

"We chased them at 90-miles per hour to the east of the Frankford highway," Constable MacLeod stated. "The two men then left their car and attempted to make their getaway through a field. We caught Loisel but Parsons was able to escape was apprehended in the field."

Both men were lodged in the cells at the local police station and were returned to Toronto early Sunday.

Parsons was committed for trial on the assault charged in magistrate's court last week and was freed on $4,000 bail. With another local man he was charged with assaulting John Heffernan in a local alleyway on June 24th.

Bantam Baseball Series to Be Played Here

The first round of the O.B.A. bantam playdowns will take place here next Saturday when the first of a single-elimination series with four teams competing.

The Belleville representative, Schwabs, were expected to visit Ottawa yesterday but the change was made at the last minute with Peterborough, Schwabs, Oshawa and Ottawa here for the local series.

The first game will get under way at 10.00 a.m. at the C.N.E. Park with Peterborough and Schwab's meeting while Oshawa and Ottawa clash at 1.00 p.m. and the two winners at 4.00 for the eastern Ontario title. Two similar series of the same nature will be going on elsewhere at the same time, Central group is the Hamilton with Niagara Falls, St. Catharines and Hamilton taking part. The western group is in Kitchener with that city, the Western Loop and the Inter-county loop participating. The three group winners will meet on Saturday, August 28th for the Provincial championship.

In the pee wee section, the same sort of series will take place at Peterborough with the Belleville Oddfellows, Peterborough, Barry and Hamilton taking part. Belleville meets Barry in the initial game at 10:30 a.m.

Belleville Fair Opens Today Promises to Be 'Best Ever'

Warm August weather auguring well for the four-day show ushered in the 1854 edition of Belleville Fair today.

By ten o'clock this morning the stage was all set. The cast was in position and this afternoon the fair, said by a proud directorate to be the best ever, was well under way. The Fair will be officially opened this evening by officials from the two counties.

Livestock entries were coming in at a lively rate and the cream of the district's horses, beef and dairy cattle, swine, poultry etc, were readying for the eyes of a discerning public.

Judging of ladies' work, fruits, vegetables and flowers started this afternoon.

It was Children's day and this afternoon a large crowd of excited youngsters accompanied by their parents enjoyed the fair and all the colorful paraphernalia, exciting ment, sights, etc, that go with it.

The youngsters went into huddles of excitement as 100 West in all its flaming color was paraded before them. Here was the famous Cherokee Rodeo. This fine show with all its western color and hallmarks of the old west and Indian days will show tonight in front of the grandstand for the first time. The show features a sensational variety show from New York will be the main midway attraction and free attraction.

SENSATIONAL MIDWAY

Perhaps the most dazzling display of the fair will be tonight midway. It is by far the biggest and best midway ever to appear at the Belleville Fair.

Mr. Paddy Conklin, owner of the midway said that the current attraction will be the second largest of its kind to show in Canada. The first will be the Canadian National Exhibition.

Mr. Conklin explained that a coincidence of dates allowed him to bring his combined shows under "one tent" so to speak, to Belleville. The western midway is here and has joined forces with other units to make a complete colorful entertaining whole.

There are fifteen complete shows with twelve of them brand new ones. These are tented shows and are not to be included with the concessions etc. A special feature is "Kiddyland." Mr. Conklin has arranged 25 big kiddy rides including just about everything under one heading where the kiddies can enjoy themselves to their hearts' content without leaving the spot.

Then there are 'the usual merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, auto and airplane rides that are part and parcel of the midway.

NEW GRANDSTAND

The new grandstand is all dressed up in a gay garb of bunting. Flags flutter from its high roof. A large Union Jack waves from the main staff.

While the fair opened at ten o'clock this morning, the official ceremonies will not take place until tomorrow night. Special guests will be on hand as well as Presidents Hall, Dafoe and the agricultural society officials.

There will be square dancing contests on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights and many evening teams from the city and district have entered.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon, lovers of harness racing will come into their own when the cream of the district's trotters and pacers will vie for rich purses. There will be two classes each day and a running race on Thursday.

A survey of the fair this morning revealed that the proud boast of the directors that this year's edition will be the best, is no idle one.

No Confirmation Of Concentrations Near Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters)—Chinese Nationalist military sources could give no confirmation Sunday to a report that the Communists were massing concentrations of infantry and paratroops on the mainland across the Straits of Formosa from here.

They said they had "not heard such a report".

The sources said the report derived from a Nationalist propaganda agency, which often builds up inaccurate pictures of Chinese Communist troop movements in an effort to gain support from the United States for Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists. The report came on the heels of a call by Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai for "determined action to liberate Formosa."

Wins Scholarship

George W. Hosang, son of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Hosang, 58 Bertram Blvd., has been awarded a scholarship by the Henry L. Doherty Educational Foundation, a Cities Service supported organization, to be taken at the college of his choice.

Mr. Hosang is employed by Cities Service Oil Co., Ltd.

The scholarship is one of 57 awarded in high school graduates in Canada and the United States for the 1954 graduating year. The scholarships, open for competition to sons and daughters of Cities Service employees, are based on outstanding scholastic records, citizenship and extra curricular activities.

Scholarships are awarded on a one year basis and are renewable each year for a four year period.

Packers' Group Holds Picnic, Get-Together

Recently at Tucker's cottage on Desconto beach, the buyers of the "Modern-Dominion Packers Limited" and their families held the annual get-together, with over 50 in attendance, representing buyers from five locations: Harrowsmith, Nanaimo, Prince Edward, Tweed and Ivanhoe.

Sports included softball, horseshoe pitching, motorboat riding and water-skiing.

Police Blotter

A Lewis street man reported that his small son had found a sum of money in bills on the sidewalk on West Hill street.

Leonard Lucas, R. R. 8, Belleville, backed out of a Yeomian street driveway and failed to notice a telephone pole. His car backed into the pole and broke it off at the base.

Hotel Guest Wounds Clerk, Then Kills Self

CALGARY (CP)—A 27-year-old hotel guest killed himself with a rifle bullet through the head Sunday after firing through the door and seriously wounding a hotel clerk.

Police said 45-year-old clerk John Dowan was shot in the lower abdomen by a bullet fired through the door after he asked Charles Miller of Calgary if he was checking out Sunday night.

The bizarre shooting occurred when Dowan and a maid, Mrs. Rose Seltenchuck, were refused entrance to the room. Miller stood on a chair and talked to them through the transom, police said, and when Dowan asked him if he was staying another night, replied "just a minute" and climbed down again.

A few seconds later the shot was fired through the door. The maid escaped injury.

Before police arrived Miller shot himself.

Police said Miller left home several days ago. He had been living at the hotel since Aug. 10 and is believed not to have left his room. Late Sunday night they had found no motive for the shooting.

Hon. Paul Martin Calls For New Health Program

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Men and women of the world who study the human mind have gathered in Toronto for a week of conferences and an interchange of knowledge.

Two-thousand delegates to the fifth International Congress on Mental Health for 40 countries crowded Convocation Hall at the University of Toronto Saturday and Sunday nights to hear the opening addresses.

Saturday night, they heard Canada's health minister Martin call for a positive mental health program. Sunday, they listened to Sir Geoffrey Vickers, VC, chairman of the research committee of the mental health research fund and a member of Britain's national coal board, speak on mental health and spiritual values.

Today, the first business sessions will begin. Profess.or H. C. Rumke, rector of the University of Utrecht, Holland, will address the plenary session on solved and unsolved problems in mental health. Professor William Malamud of the Boston University School of Medicine will speak on research findings of importance to mental health.

The first discussions on four technical sections will be also under way. The sections include areas of partnership in public and mental health, the mental health of children and youth, mental health in governmental activities and community partnership in mental health.

Mr. Martin said Saturday night that mental illness in Canada is a health problem of the first magnitude. Last year a record 65,827 persons were in mental hospitals.

On the brighter side, bed capacity in Canadian mental hospitals has risen by 10,000 since 1946. There has been a rapid increase in the number of mental health clinics.

Sunday night, Sir Geoffrey Vickers said it would be a "dangerous fallacy" for the layman to think that the role of science is to remove hazards, rather than to fit people to face them.

"I do not believe such a fallacy is true of physical science or even of medicine except at a price which we should be unwilling to pay. . . I am sure that it is not true of science in relation to mental health."

He said the main characteristic of mental ill-health is the inability to bear experience.

Among the delegates are four of Russia's top psychiatrists, Professor Nicol Ozeretsky, chief of the psychiatric division of the First Medical Institute, Leningrad; Andre Snezhnevsky, Andre Mikail and Oleg Kerbikov.

In a press conference Saturday night, Professor Ozeretsky said a few illnesses such as progressive paralysis of the brain and mental seldom occur in the Soviet Union. "We have not solved the problems of schizophrenia and epilepsy but there is much research work being done in this field." he said through an interpreter.

The professor said he had "never heard" of "brain-washing," the mental-conditioning process said to have been used by Communists on political prisoners.

"Anyone who would do a thing like that to a healthy mind would be a case for a psychiatrist himself," he said.

Agricultural Society Holds Carnival, Dance

MARMORA—The nineteenth annual carnival and dance of Marmora Agricultural Society was held in the arena on Friday evening with the attendance somewhat disappointing in view of the good program which had been arranged.

Tommy Mason was master of ceremonies.

The entertainers from Toronto included Tom Hamilton, Scottish entertainer; Nick Brown, British radio and television accordionist and Ernie Barnes pianist.

Booths were operated by the Agricultural Society and Marmora Women's Institute. The annual fair is being held on Labor Day as in recent years.

May Start Work On New Bridge Next Spring

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Work on an international bridge between St. Mary's river, linking this city with Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., may be started by next spring if Canadian legislation is cleared this fall.

The Canadian Sault bridge committee was informed of the possibility by Premier Frost, chairman of the United States Sault bridge authority.

Harry S. Hamilton, committee solicitor, said there is no way a bridge could be set up in Canada similar to the U. S. one. He said the Canadian committee will act in an advisory capacity to aid the American group to obtain proper legislation by the Canadian government.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Heavy forenoon trading left most sections of the stock market a little firmer today.

One of the heaviest first-hour volumes of the year — 748,000 shares—was recorded. Moreover, interest centered on lower-priced mining issues.

Price changes in almost all mining issues were small.

Industrial trading was in a narrow range with gains going to utilities, steels, refining oils and manufacturers. Losses were scattered over the rest of the board but no group was particularly weak. The industrial index climbed a fraction to set a fifteen-year high of 355.60.

Junior base metals gained narrowly but seniors eased. Western oils climbed pennies and their issues clustered nearly half a point in the first hour, but there were small losses scattered through the list.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Trading was up and down today at the Ontario stockyards. Heavy offerings of steers were barely steady to 50 cents lower. Cows were active and 50 cents higher. Fed yearlings were active and strong and heifers and bulls were steady.

Choice steers wt. 1,100-1,250 a few at 22; good steers 20-21; mediums down to 19; good heifers 18-18.50; a few at 18; medium heavy heifers down to 16; good cows 13-12.50; a few at 13; heifery cows up to 14; canners down to 7; good heavy bologna bulls 13-12.50; a few at 13, common light bulls down to 9. Choice fed yearlings brought 22-23; a few at 23.50; mediums down to 20. Replacement cattle very slow at 16-17 for some medium quality.

Good to choice veal calves were 21-23; mediums 14-20; common dairy-type grass calves down to 8.

Hog prices were not established.

Lambs, delivered by rail, were 23, by truck 22 for good ewes and wethers; bucks were discounted 5 a hundredweight and heavies discounted 12 a hundredweight; common to medium lambs 15-20. Good light sheep 8-10; common down to 4.

PRODUCE MARKET

The egg market was barely steady on large grades and steady on other grades. Offerings were heavier but demand was light.

Quotations provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, graded, in store sales: A large 55-56; A medium 37; A small 29; B 33; C 26. Wholesale to retail: A large 60-61; A medium 42; A small 34; B 38; C 31.

Butter solids: Ontario, 1st grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 55¾-56¼.

ARMY VETERAN

Levesque's body was found in a bog about 400 yards from the blueberry patch. The rifle was beside him.

Police said Janice told them her mother was shot after a man came up to them and demanded money. Mrs. Edwards said she had none. The killer then ordered Mrs. Edwards to take off her clothing so he could make sure she had no money. She refused.

The man then ordered Janice to take her clothes off. When Mrs. Edwards told him to leave the girl alone" she was shot in the head.

Mrs. Cousineau heard the screams and ran to the scene. When she saw the naked girl beside a rock she bent to pick up a stone. She was shot through the forehead.

The boy, eight-year-old Michael Cousineau, was lying on the ground beside his sister. The two other children, Gerald Cousineau, 14, and Frank Cousineau, 12, came running through the undergrowth and the killer fled.

Levesque, a blonde five-foot-ten man, came home on leave 15 days ago. He was to have returned to Quebec City on Saturday afternoon.

The families of both women came here recently from Cadillac, Que.

The first persons permitted to leave Czechoslovakia since the Communists lowered the Iron Curtain, two Czech sisters, Maria 17 (left), and Ema Algovicki, 12, are reunited in Cleveland with their mother, Mrs. John Masica, right for the first time in six years. Their father died in a mine explosion and their mother married a Czech-born American in 1948 and came to the U.S. without the daughters. The sisters met their half brother and sister for the first time.—Central Press Canadian.

Arts and Crafts Exhibit Well Received in City

Victoria Park was a busy place on Saturday morning when artists from Belleville and the Don Valley School of Art at Madoc took over to nut on canvas some of the scenes around this new green bell.

Dr. and Mrs. Schneider, formerly of Poland, and now instructors of ceramics and painting at the school, were in the city as guests of the recreation committee during the well-attended Arts and Crafts exhibit, which was held on Friday afternoon and evening.

His Worship, Mayor John Both opened the exhibition and Ald. Claude D. Tice, chairman of the committee, with William VanTassel and Mrs. W. Gander, members of the committee, acted as a welcoming committee. Lloyd "Red" Doran, recreational director, with Mr. Dolly Cain escorted his Worship around the various exhibits.

The exhibit received high praise from all who were in attendance and the Recreation Committee are planning for a bigger and better showing next season.

HOLD SUSPECT

TORONTO (CP) — Police arrested Vernon Bewley, 36, Saturday and charged him with attempted murder and attempted armed robbery in connection with Wednesday's shooting in a downtown jewelry store. Douglas Johnson, son of the proprietor of Johnson's Jewellers, was shot through the left leg in an attempted holdup.

CHARGE MISTREATMENT

MONTREAL (CP) — Police arrested five, four of them juveniles and one the owner of a riding stable, during the week-end for alleged mistreatment of horses in Mount Royal Park. Police said one horse being ridden was in such poor condition it was shot out of hand. Two more will have to be destroyed and others were ordered taken to barns for treatment.

Clement Attlee, Companions, Visit 'Forbidden City'

PEIPING, China (Reuters) — British Labor party leader Clement Attlee and seven Labor party companions today visited the high-walled "forbidden city" in the heart of Peiping where Chinese emperors once lived in Oriental grandeur.

The "forbidden city" was formerly the residence of Chinese emperors and was opened after the imperial dynasty faded in 1911.

FABULOUS VISTA

The Labor delegation, passing through the towering "gate of heavenly peace" and inner barriers, came upon a fabulous vista concealed for centuries from the eyes of all but the emperor's court and high officials.

As in an age-old Chinese story brought to life, there were hundreds of brilliantly hued pavilions, glittering fountains and goldfish pools fed by a stream from the western hills. Some of the pavilions, formerly residences of courtiers, now have been turned into national museums.

Sunday they dined with Chou. Labor party secretary Morgan Phillips said Anglo-Chinese relations and a forthcoming new Chinese constitution were discussed.

WILL TOUR NORTH

The Communist Chinese government has told the Britons, and announced in the official newspaper People's Daily, they can see whatever they like. The newspaper's editorial said China welcomed the guidance of friends.

The British mission's tour of northeast China will probably include visits to Tientsin, Hangchow and Canton. Then they will fly back from Mukden for three more days in Peiping.

They will probably visit Shanghai and other Chinese cities on their way to Hong Kong at the end of the tour.

FRENCH PROPOSAL

The first skirmish comes Thursday and Friday at Brussels. The foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg meet—then to talk over a long series of modifications which French Premier Pierre Mendes-France would like to make in the treaty.

Mendes-France then will have to go before the French Parliament, in a four-day debate starting Aug. 28, to ask for ratification.

Some of the modifications could be put into effect merely by agreement among the six powers after the treaty, which calls for rearmament of Germany in a six-country army pool, goes into effect. Mendes-France may get a sympathetic hearing on these points.

But many of his other proposed changes require rewriting the treaty itself. Belgium, Germany, Holland and Luxembourg, which already have ratified the original treaty, are resolutely opposed to the idea of any alterations that would require further action by their national parliaments.

Acting Chancellor Wants Expansion W. German Trade

BONN, Germany (AP)—Acting chancellor Franz Bluecher called today for an expansion of West German trade with the Soviet bloc but said the Bonn government must first establish "some form" of relations with the East.

Bluecher stressed in an exclusive interview that West Germany "will not leave the road of cooperation with friendly states."

Commenting on the clamor in West Germany for greater trade with the Communist bloc of nations, Bluecher said:

"I think that expansion of German trade with China, Russia and the satellite states is desirable. Several problems of economic and trade policy which now concern us Germans could be easier solved then."

"We cannot disregard the fact that a satisfying exchange of goods can only be carried out on the basis of certain general formal agreements.

"That means that finally, and in some form or other, the (West German) federal republic must assume relations with the Communist satellites. That this is a question of our general foreign policy and that a diplomatic solution will not leave the road of co-operation with friendly states."

Bluecher's statement on German relations with the Communist world was in line with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's statement last spring that West Germany might establish diplomatic relations with Russia "in the not too distant future."

Bewildered . . .

Instinct is a peculiar thing.

But occasionally they do become bewildered.

A short while ago a group of pigeon racing fans gathered for a monster race; hundreds of birds were to compete. The hour arrived and off went the birds, straight for home. Everything was fine for a few miles . . . then something went haywire. It was as if a spell had been cast. Instinct and sense of direction vanished and the air filled with fluttering flapping pigeons, as lost as any sheep. A few got back on course : : : but most never did get home.

What happened? No one can say for sure, but maybe the nearby radar station was the culprit: Perhaps it "jammed" the pigeons "wave length";

Sometimes investors are thrown "off course" too : : : and they are puzzled as to what to do. That's where we come in. Plotting investment courses : : : or helping people get "back on course" is part of our business . . . has been for years.

Here at Ames we think you'll find the kind of people you'll like to do business with : : : experienced people who can help you make decisions to suit your personal investment needs.

ATTLEE'S VISIT TO MOSCOW

The dinner party was elegant. The guests, after a 5,000-mile journey were wined and dined and lauded in 17 or 18 vodka toasts. The host, usually a dour chap with a distinctly unsocial attitude, actually appeared smiling and affable. Even accredited one of the lady guests into the garden and picked a bouquet of flowers for her. Peace and mutual understanding were the watchwords of the evening. The whole affair was described as a "pleasant evening" by the chief guest.

This jolly fete, as you have likely guessed, was the dinner party Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov held in Moscow for British Labor Party leaders Clement Attlee, Aneurin Bevan and Dr. Edith Summerskill who are currently on a tour whose principal stopping points are Moscow and Peiping.

This reception is another example of the blindness of certain elements in Great Britain to the realities of Communism. It is evidence of a seeming total incapacity to recognize that Communism is a threat to the way of life of all nations in the West.

Fortunately Attlee, Bevan and Co. represent only one shade of opinion in Great Britain. The Conservative premier, Sir Anthony Eden, asks if Mr. Attlee really seeks "to submit meekly to serving the purposes of a propaganda machine that is hostile to him, his party, and all that he stands for." The paper also comments on the visit by stating that the Labor Party's chiefs will miss, unfortunately, the pageantry of Army Day, and "the fly-past of fighters and bombers some of whose engines will doubtless eagerly be getting set back to defending the Hong Kong-Bangkok air route against aggressive British mail planes."

What purpose will this visit of Britain's Labor Party leaders serve?

There are many Communist purposes being served, but few that can give consolation to peoples of the West.

Mr. Attlee and party will see only what they are permitted to see, will hear only what has been carefully prepared, and consequently will learn absolutely nothing about the true state of affairs in either country. Perhaps it is unlikely that they will be given conducted tours of Siberia's slave labor camps, or statistics on the latest purges in China. Nor are they likely to be rewarded in Peiping with the promise that China will not back aggression in the southeast Asia. The government of Red China, which so lately refused to accept notes from the British government about the shooting down of a British plane off Hainland, is hardly to be taken seriously when it protests its desire for stronger Anglo-Chinese relations.

The propaganda value of this tour is entirely to the advantage of the Communists. In the nine years since World War II one friendly overture after another by the West has been exploited to their disadvantage. Mr. Attlee can offer the Russians nothing politically. What he does give them is a golden opportunity to exploit the growing division of opinion between Britain and the United States concerning the best methods of combatting Communist aggression. The unity of purpose in Anglo-American relations is the principal bulwark of the West in meeting the threat of Communism. A breaching of this unity, which has been the chief goal of Moscow's "peace offensive," is unlikely to be prevented by Mr. Attlee and Mr. Bevan drinking Malenkov's health in vodka.

Britain is currently being squeezed between the reality of Communist aggression by Russia and U.S. demands for a firmer stand against Communist aggression. It is an uncomfortable position for the British to be sure. But it is small comfort to her friends when the leaders of one of her great political parties seem to meet the challenge by embarking on a "good will mission" to Moscow.

BEST SAFETY DEVICE

Dr. F. K. Gokay, Turkish psychiatrist and mayor of Istanbul, believes in putting his professional knowledge to work in the solution of his city's problems.

Contrary to what you would believe Dr. Gokay does not psychoanalyze his colleagues in municipal government. He applies psychology to his constituents.

Three years ago he banned the blowing of auto horns in Istanbul—a city of 1,000,000 people. And what happened? The number of traffic accidents decreased.

"People thought the streets would be more dangerous and thus took more care," says Dr. Gokay in explanation. He believes, that this edict was responsible for the diminution of some of Istanbul's noise and that it "reduced the tension of civilization which contributes to mental ailments."

Banning the blowing of auto horns in Istanbul worked. The only fault we can find with Dr. Gokay's applied psychology is that it has not been applied widely enough.

Besides autos and the whistle-free train would be boons exceeded only by the invention of the wheel that spawned these noisy by-products.

Dr. Gokay's claim that the reduction in the number of accidents was brought about because people thought the streets would be more dangerous and thus took more care is directly opposed to the principles of safety that rely upon warning devices of all kinds and the more the better.

It is apparent reading each week-end's toll of dead and injured that mechanical warning devices, no matter how advanced, are not the whole answer to safety. The cautious person is still the best safety device and anything that will make people more cautious, including the elimination of warning devices, is worth serious consideration. Especially when Dr. Gokay has so kindly furnished us with an example that works.

A GOOD CANADIAN

In three weeks the Duke of Edinburgh crossed Canada twice, visited great cities, Arctic outposts, old cities and new. He watched the pouring of the first aluminum ingot at Kitimat; descended into a gold mine at Yellowknife, and toured the iron ore project of Seven Islands and Knob Lake. He was an interested spectator at the British Empire Games, asked a host of intelligent questions and made several serious but impromptu speeches at luncheons and dinners.

Interest and delight in everything he saw and did was evident. In three weeks he saw more of Canada than most Canadians will see in their lifetime, and his wit and charm endeared him to all. The Duke would make a good Canadian.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 18, 1934.

Mrs. Grace Booth has returned to her home in Lakefield after spending a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Frederick and renewing acquaintances in the city.

Messrs. James and John Davidson of Columbus, Ohio, and Mr. R. G. Davidson of Detroit, Mich., are spending their vacation here with their brothers, Mrs. Martin Davidson and Mr. William Davidson.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cole and children have left on a motor car trip to Montreal and Quebec City.

Here is a reference to the street cars which operated here years ago. It is taken from our file copy at this time in 1834: "Smoking on the street cars in the presence of ladies is allowed in Belleville. This ought not to be."

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frost of Niagara Falls, N.Y., are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frost, Foundry street.

Mrs. Gingras of Toronto, formerly of this city, is the guest of Miss Milburn and Mrs. K. W. Scott, Charles street.

30 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 18, 1924.

Miss Gladys Dale of St. Catharines is the guest of Mrs. H. A. Singer, Alexander street.

Mrs. Thomas Manley and Son have been awarded the contract to construct three buildings on South Front street for the Imperial Oil Company.

Mrs. St. A. Wilson is spending some time at Presqu'ile.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weir of Spokane, Wash., formerly of this city, are renewing acquaintances in town. Mr. Weir was a member of the police force in that city for thirty-one years during ten of which he was Chief Constable. He is now retired on pension.

Mr. W. F. V. Stratton of Napier, Mich., is visiting his brother Mr. C. G. Stratton, George street.

40 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 16, 1914.

A number of British reservists in this city have been notified to report for active service.

Notice:—34th. Battery, C.F.A. All men in the service roll who have not reported must do so without fail at 8 o'clock tonight. Signed, W. R. Rierdon, Major.

Mr. Milton Vanderwater brought a horse to the city yesterday and turned it over to the police. He found the horse with heavy harness upon it in the second concession of Sidney township.

The members of the Belleville Club in Winnipeg held a picnic at Winnipeg Beach recently and many old residents of this city and vicinity were present. All members wore a badge upon which was printed Belleville.

50 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 16, 1904.

Mr. J. S. Marsh has returned home after a trip to Winnipeg.

Mr. William Clark has a crop of corn just north of the city which neighbors say is hard to beat.

Mr. Ed. H. Tickell is spending a few days in Ottawa on business.

Mrs. S. Eustace left today to visit friends in Oswego.

The members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church enjoyed an outing down the bay this afternoon on the popular little steamer the Annie Lake which was chartered for the use of the choir by the church officials.

The many friends of our fellow citizen, Dr. Donald MacLean, Alexander street, will be pleased to learn that he had a pleasant voyage across the ocean and is enjoying the sights of London enroute to his native hills in Scotland. He writes that he had a very pleasant interview with Lord Strathcona, visited both houses of parliament and heard Chamberlain, Bannerman and Cecil speak.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ROOT SYSTEMS

White birch trees constitute a problem for anyone who tries to transplant them. They have a shallow root system to begin with, and when they are transplanted they often wither and die. On the other hand, trees with a fairly good root system can be lifted and replanted under most unfavorable conditions. It is the root system which counts, and the way we handle it.

In like manner it is possible to transplant almost any shrub at any time of the year if a person knows how to go about it, and go-about it means keeping the root system from being too badly disturbed in the process of transplanting. If we can lift a plant out of the earth without fundamentally damaging its root system, we can do almost anything we want to do with it, provided we do it quickly.

All this, as you see, is a parable on the importance of root systems. Sunshine and rain are important, water, fe...s soil—all these are important. But the one thing absolutely imperative when we plant —be it a grain of wheat or a seedling oak—is the root system.

So it is with our souls. How far do our roots go down Do they penetrate only the top soil of expediency and immediate gain. or do they go deeper and draw their strength from th. hidden powers of the earth?

Good root—in soul growth as in plant growth. In fact, nothing else counts much.

LITTLE BUCK PASSER

She's a very pretty girl
And it saddens me to add
Like the rest of those I've met
She is either good or bad.
She's always something to say
And she's questioned by her mother,
She will look her in the eye
And say: "Prapa it was her, brother."

She's a fascinating blonde,
Eyes of azure and hair of gold.
One of whom I'm very fond.
Soon to be just three years old.
Now with English hit and miss,

Proper speech? She seems to shun it.
If you ask her: "Who did this?"
She will say: "Her brother done it."

When some breakage small occurs
And to question we commence,
That expressive face of hers
Wears an air of innocence.
She will look us in the eye;
First at one and then the other,
As she solemnly replies
That maybe it was her brother.

Milk Cure For Executive Ills

(Gail Reporter)

Alarmed at the rapidly increasing mortality rate among top corporation executives, the Australian government is launching a nation-wide investigation into the causes of "managerial fatigue," latest in occupational diseases.

Professor W. Halden, a leading Austrian expert on diet problems, advises all industrialists and executives who have reached middle age to avoid eating rich foods containing a lot of starch and sugar, and above all to drink plenty of milk.

Milk appears to be a kind of panacea for managerial fatigue. It is, said the professor, an effective neutralizer of the "drug components" of too much strong black coffee; milk will turn the most potent cocktail into a mild, harmless and beneficial drink; milk is the supreme antidote for executive indigestion.

A two pints of milk a day clause in fact, should be incorporated in every executive's contract if the firm wishes to retain the services until the proper age for retirement, the diet expert indicated.

Our Tyrant Children

(By Sydney J. Harris in Chicago Daily News)

Mrs. James Mason, wife of the actor, has recently denied Hollywood reports that her 5-year-old daughter has her own drink and that the child is taken to cocktail parties and night clubs by parents.

These rumors seem to be proportioned to the size of Hollywood. But there is no doubt that we are producing a new and querulous revolution that has even taken place in American life—a revolution of children who have succeeded with scarcely a dissenting voice.

The first victim of the tyrant in our society—and, like all tyrants, incapable of being satisfied with what it gets.

Eight-year-old boys have more folding money in their pockets each week than I had all year when I was a lad. Twelve-year-old girls get expensive permanents at the beauty parlor, and are not allowed to wear makeup on week-ends.

Fourteen-year-old boys drive their fathers' cars on dates, sign for the latter's checks at the drug store, come morose and resentful if they are not given the freedom of a 25-year-old, and appear utterly baffled, frustrated and frightened, I say all this as an old fogey who finds the younger generation any more "wicked" or "immoral" than in the past, but as a sympathetic observer who believes that a child is not really happy by to much freedom as by too much discipline.

We spoil our children outrageously in the early years, and then abandon them to their fate, hand the moon as they grow older. We have created a situation that is geared to their needs, instead of making them adapt to the needs of the world of a family unit — and not always the best of it. We are a sentimental nation — and sentimentality, as I am fond of repeating, is a dangerous virtue.

We give sentimental nation — and sentimentality, as I am fond of repeating, is a dangerous virtue.

True parental love builds character in a child by making it aware of responsibilities; sentimentality tries to bribe the child's affection by giving it whatever it wants.

But what a child wants more than anything else is a clear outline of obligations, and he soon learns the things that can and cannot be done. Freedom is too terrible a burden for the immature to bear.

Chimp Is A Chimp

(London Free Press)

Psychologists are queer fellows. Always trying to prove some obscure point or other, like making a goldfish answer a feeding gong, driving a rat crazy by making a dog's mouth water when a bell rings. One of them in England has published a book about a lady side by side and to no one's surprise the baby turned out to be human. Now, and the chimp grew up according to the accepted rules of heredity.

Apparently it was worth noting in a magazine article that both baby and chimpanzee learned to answer simple commands. But the simian indeed excelled in climbing up the drapes while the future homo sap finally displayed a wider vocabulary. Did anyone think it would turn out the other way round?

In July this week an American television-setting chimp named J. Fred Muggs, was barred from visiting the Rome-Naples express on the grounds that he was a "bella figura." Either Italians aren't qualified psychologists or they take a very narrow view that a man is a man, a chimp is a chimp, and never the twain shall ride together.

Tough Talk From Toughs

(N.Y. Times)

New York, with its rising juvenile delinquency problem, might take note of Little Rock, Ark., where it is being tried in Louisville, Ky. There a Juvenile Court Judge has found a simple if age-old source of advice in pondering the wayward youth problem—the young themselves. The judge came to the conclusion, after interviewing the subject of juvenile delinquency are adult voices.

It might be for the reason-ed, that adults usually think of youngsters as they think they were, rather than as they are. Adults, the jurist felt, might not be the best judges of juveniles in the views of their juniors. So last April, the judge established a youth advisory committee. Surprisingly, the first nine youthful members chosen by associates were rather hard on themselves. For instance, they agreed that the Juvenile Court was too lenient.

The young consultant lamented that juvenile delinquents do not have the fear of the court they should have. Another said that parents get too much blame for the acts of their children. From one the judge received a recommendation that the way to handle a 7-year-old thrashed was to "find him a job and make him pay for the damages." Probably this Louisville approach to juvenile delinquency is not worth a try in New York. It would be interesting to learn what some of our wayward youngsters think.

And many a quiet person has been roused to fictional by a telltale rustling of taffeta. But like all the best time, sure-ly, that men's wear has entered the talkthon. Dr. Brady 1906 Hair-Dru. Reed. Carroll, Lax ear and Agramonte demonstrated that yellow fever is transmitted from person to person by the Aedes aegypti mosquito.

Once upon a time, too, it was standard practice to cauterize dog bites with strong or "burning" nitric acid or other destructive agent. Again the health authorities and medical practitioners meant well. They just didn't know any better. Some of them don't know any better today.

The proper treatment of dog bite or any other fresh wound under the principles of surgery, consists of careful cleaning with soap and water, and removal of dead tissue, stitching if necessary to close the wound, a tetanus booster or covering to protect against accidental infection and if the circumstances of circumstances indicate the need, an immediate dose of tetanus antitoxin or tetanol and a second dose 5 to 7 days later.

Highly improper treatment of dogbite or any other fresh wound today is cauterizing with fuming nitric acid or any other destructive agent. This is malpractice and not just because I say so — any reputable surgeon who does cauterization of a fresh wound is justifiable. If the patient doesn't plead the fifth amendment you might ask him also whether tetanus antitoxin or tetanol should not be administered after most wounds inflicted by domestic or wild animals or by knife, claw or talons.

From answers to a question-naire circulated by Dr. Roald T. Vinsard four years ago it appears that some antique hospitals and the 19th century medical practitioners still use the old cauterry method because, forsooth, they think the law requires them to or the public health officials prescribe it.

On the one hand, public health authorities with much experience in dealing with the rabies obsession are convinced that "it is not a physician and health official." In 29 years some 50,000 persons had been given so-called Pasteur treatment in Georgia. Of the 50,000, 32 died. Of the 32 fatalities, 4 were due to the Pasteur treatment. Of the four victims of Pasteur treatment only two had been subjected to the treatment because they had been actually bitten or otherwise wounded. The other two lives were sacrificed to appease the arbitrary demands of the unholy alliance of health officials, politicians, incompetent doctors and newspaperpeople who are not always in a good story.

Read this typical bit of hokum issued by the State Department of Public Health, Central Laboratory, Nashville, Tennessee:

"Rabies or hydrophobia may be produced in persons by touching or handling rabid animals, but more frequently be-fore the animal shows symptoms. Then, it covers the entire body and hair . . . hands coming in contact with it." Actually a person may live on the hands for several days. Washing the hands, or the use of mild antiseptics, does not remove or destroy the virus.

What a dreadful predicament the public health authorities of North America confers upon the public. Where do they get the information that tells you you touch the unidentified "virus" neither cleanliness nor antiseptics? Honestly, folks, this entire mad dog business may make fat dandies of the public health board politicians to dramatize in order to get fat appropriations for the poor solons — as one health commissioner explained — to make work for the idle. If me I can't understand how any physician who deserves public confidence can go along with it.

By GREGORY CLARK

By now, those who are condemned to live in cities all summer, or those who took their holidays in June, are becoming aware of the curious impression that all the air they breathe has been breathed by someone else.

In mid- August, a strange heaviness descends on cities. It is like an old, unwelcome, shapeless elderdown. Even in the night there is a lukewarmness about the air, the warm water. By day, there is a dustiness, a sogginess, a staleness to appear at any other season. Mid-August is a miserable season in cities and towns. It would be a good time to end the year, instead of December 31. It is the time of year by which we lose interest.

According to the experts, there is enough air moving across the whirling face of the earth to ensure fresh air to us all at all seasons. But this curious August sensation that each breath we take has been breathed before may not be without foundation in big cities. The amount of air taken in, exhaled and so exhausted by a quarter million, or half a million people during the course of a single day is a pretty considerable gallonage. And it is not impossible that warm air rises consoles us. We imagine that all the stale air in cities rises many times a minute, rises, and is carried off into space. But it does not rise before backcooler than lung heat absorbs it, and adds it to the atmosphere above the city. There is little doubt that the air we breath in cities is used and reused.

Not only is it second-hand air, but it pulsates by gas fumes, the exhausts of countless motor vehicles, the out-breath of a thousand furnaces and the furnace that industry never lets out, summer, winter; the exhalations of thousands of kitchens.

The heaviness of mid-August is not mere imagination. It takes a good stiff breeze to cleanse a city of its own stale fog. And the moral of all this breathed-airiness in mid-August.

Yoo-oo, you lucky ones!

TODAY'S TALK

...THUSI...

It has been said by many that nothing was ever accomplished without enthusiasm. I do not understand the significance of this statement, it is obviously not a fact. The flame of enthusiasm is one that comes from the heart.

In a biography of the great scientist Louis Pasteur, I came across a wonderful little word-play as to the derivation of the word enthusiasm. It was said that he borrowed it from the Greek, from enthusiasmos "to be inspired by God." Ever since I read that, the name of enthusiasm has taken on new significance for me. It will now it that where there is enthusiasm it's like a r...ng fire, leaping in all directions.

What a world of happy chimneys it would be when we realize that we have within our hearts "a...comp int. What enthusiasm there is at...ts anything—even what

Two of the most noted and distinguished of all men with enthusiasm were Henry Ford and his friend Thomas Edison. One gave light to the world. The other made it possible for the average man to afford an automobile and enjoy the benefits of travel. And great indeed was Edison's zeal. This thing of enthusiasm made benefactors of these men, as well as it has in the cases of thousands of others.

$15,000 to $20,000 Damage As Fire Destroys Barn, Crop

TRENTON, (Special.) — Fire damage estimated between $15,000 and $20,000 was caused early Sunday evening when flames gutted a barn loaded with hay on the farm of Jack Alyea, on York road, about two miles west of the city.

Ripping through the ceiling-high stock of hay, the flames engulfed the building shortly after the alarm was raised at 5.30 p.m. Firemen, realizing efforts to control them would be futile, concentrated their fires on damping the farmhouse, about 100 yards in front of the barn, to prevent the blaze spreading.

First intimation of the blaze was given the Alyeas by a passerby on the highway.

Mrs. Alyea said she was sitting on the verandah with her daughter, in front of the house, when a motorist gave the warning that the barn was afire.

She dashed to the rear of the house and saw smoke pouring from the barn. Rousing her husband who was sleeping at the time, she called the fire department.

Chief Fillon said, when the fire reel entered the top of the barn was a mass of flames.

WATER POURED ON HOUSE

"We couldn't do anything with the barn. We would not have the saved it even if we had six or seven lines," he said. Instead water was poured on the back of the house, while a bucket chain was organized to a nearby well to keep the truck's water tank filled.

Light power to the house was cut when the firemen snapped power lines running into the barn to avoid danger from loose wires.

Fortunately there was a southwesterly wind blowing against the flames.

"If the wind hadn't been blowing the other way they would have lost the house," the chief said.

Firemen stood by the blazing hay until all danger of it spreading was removed.

Through the night huge piles of hay continued to burn fiercely in the razed shell of the barn, watched by neighbors and passersby.

Alyea said he had gathered most of this year's hay crop into the barn. Some farm machinery also was lost, while there was no indication how the fire was sparked.

Fred Bentley, Napanee, Wins Golf Tourney

Winner of the Vic Auger trophy, emblematic of the championship, was Fred Bentley of Napanee, who returned a low gross of 73 to win the trophy for the second time since 1948. Second was Tom Carruthers of Belleville with a 74 gross.

The team prize was taken by a home-foursome from the Trenton club, with Clarence Niddery grossing 76, Cliff Moseley, 76, E. McDowall, 75, and Paddy Devlin 77.

Paddy Devlin, RCAF, Trenton, also took second prize in the "B" flight for his low gross 77, following D. Jeffrey, of Cobourg, who made 76.

Ernie McDowall, Trenton, also won first place for a low net of 67, while second went to Cliff Moseley, Trenton 69.

First low net in the "B" class went to G. Eggo, R.C.A.F., 6 RD, Trenton, who netted 67 with H. Baker, also of 6 RD, second on 67.

Other results were: Most honest golfer — E. Gauvreau, Marmora; most birdies on 18 holes—Fred Bentley, Napanee; most five's on "B" flight—Sgt. Fred Blair, RCAF

DISMANTLE BOMB

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (Reuters)—Two bomb disposal experts took an anxious five minutes Friday to dismantle an exploded 500-pound German bomb buried on a war-blitz site here for ten years. A steam shovel scooped it up Thursday with a load of debris, then dropped it.

CLEAR DISNEY MOVIE

NEW YORK, (AP)—The state's movie censor Thursday cleared Walt Disney's new film, with its buffalo birth scene, for exhibition. Hugh M. Flick said there was "certainly nothing distasteful" about the true-life adventure film, "The Vanishing Prairie" and that it "does not contravene the law."

Man Is Taken From Lofty Perch By Helicopter

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—"What I need in my business is a helicopter," F. J. Exson said with a tired grin Saturday when assisted from a helicopter basket after six hours and 15 minutes atop a 150-foot chimney here.

The 41-year-old chimney inspector from Toronto had been marooned on the lofty perch from 10:30 a.m., when a ladder broke, until 4:36 p.m., when the RCAF "flying egg-beater" from Greenwood, N.S., took him off. He left hospital at noon Sunday after admission for examination and rest.

The worst effects were exhaustion and sore eyes. An updraft blew ash and soot into his face as he sat on the chimney top—six feet in diameter—lowered by the manufacturing plant of T. McAvity and Sons, Ltd., on Rothesay avenue.

The drama attracted about 2,000 spectators.

Although the first rung broke when Exson started up a steel ladder inside the chimney, he continued to climb. Two more rungs snapped about six feet from the top and "it was hard enough to grab the remaining rung and climb up."

The highest aerial ladder of the fire department here is 88 feet, so an RCAF helicopter was requested. It lowered a basket and Exson stepped into the cage-like contrivance to be flown to a nearby field.

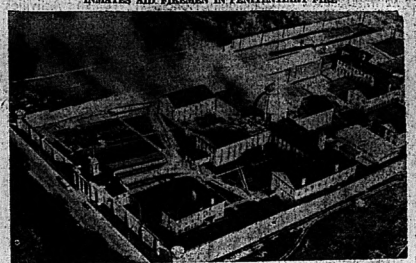
INMATES AID FIREMEN IN PENITENTIARY FIRE



For 10 hours firemen and convicts fought side by side before subduing the blaze at Kingston, Ont., penitentiary. No one was injured and there were no attempts to escape, although the 121-year-old building was severely damaged in the first major fire in its history. Defective wiring was blamed for the fire. Officials estimate that it will take at least three months to repair the damage and the 1,000 inmates will be housed in temporary quarters.—Central Press Canadian.

MADOC JUNCTION

Eggleton W.A., W.M.S. Enjoy Travelogue

MADOC JUNCTION — Members of Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Bert Reide on Thursday afternoon with 13 adults and several children present.

This was the annual W.A. meeting and the W.A. president, Mrs. William McMullen presided over the program, which she had prepared. Members paid in their W.A. fees.

Date was discussed for a stork shower for Mrs. Robert Danford and new baby son.

September meeting will be held at the church on evening of September 9th with Mrs. Nelson Stapley preparing the program and Mrs. William McMullen and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett as lunch conveners.

Plans were also discussed on holding a bazaar the latter part of September.

A travelogue by Miss Gladys Clarke on her recent trip through the eastern provinces was much enjoyed. Miss Clarke described the beautiful scenery, various industries and also the historical places visited.

A piano solo "The Sweet Bye and Bye" with variations by Miss Joanne Reide, was greatly appreciated.

The president thanked Mrs. Reide for opening her home, and also expressed pleasure at having several visitors present, among whom was Mrs. R. Stapley of Stirling, a former member and officer in the W.M.S. and W.A. here.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Carl Bridges.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and candy were served by the hostess with her two daughters Joanne and Sharon assisting with the serving.

No Hat Is Old Hat This Fall Say Milliners

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — No hat is old hat this fall.

Beleaguered milliners, fighting the hatless trend that has appeared periodically over the last 20 years, hope they have pulled a winning number out of the hat this time.

The newest hat tricks cover the head, hide the straggly ends of the growing-out boy cut and provide a necessary bit of drama to balance the casual look of the new fall clothes.

No longer will people have to look closely to see whether a woman is wearing a hat or not, as has happened in the past in the case of such fashion leaders as the Duchess of Windsor, long addicted to the miniature beanie, and others who elected to wear a scrap of veil or a band of ribbon and call it a hat.

TO CLEOPATRA

Some of New York's best-known hat designers are speaking their minds on the subject, while presenting the autumnal look of the "hatties" hats. Says trend-setting Mr. John, presenting a collection dedicated to Cleopatra, the most famous siren of all:

"Neither Cleopatra nor the current femme fatales of Paris, New York and Hollywood would dream of dashing about bareheaded mussed, flustered and windblown. They select fitting frames for their most precious features—the face."

Sally Victor, who designs most of the hats worn by Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, voices her theories:

"Any woman with a grain of common sense knows that she looks better wearing a hat that plays up her best features, accents her femininity and makes her look prettier."

"Men like to see a woman wear a hat. That should be reason enough."

The new fall styles from these high moguls of millinery should make most women hat-conscious. They are showing deep cloches, barets, turbans and Egyptian helmets in soft beavers, mink, broadtail and leopard. Dramatic accessories are giant matching handbags or tiny matching gloves.

Four Children Are 'Hobbies', Minister's Wife

By PEGGY THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Four "hobbies" take up most of the time of Mrs. John W. Pickersgill.

The wife of Canada's shipcasting minister names them as: Jane, 12, Peter, 8, Alan, 6, and Ruth, 4.

"Four children don't leave any spare time to engage in other activities," she said during an interview.

What time there is available goes to numerous tea parties, cocktail hours and dinner engagements that oil the wheels of the capital's political life.

LEGITIMATE EXCUSE

"The man invitations can become exhausting, but fortunately I can often excuse myself on account of the children. I can say with perfect truth that I can't go to something because the Brownies are having a party in the garden.

Sometime in the future she hopes to indulge in a year of painting. For the present she contents herself with decorating the living room walls with the works of some temporary Canadian artists, her particular interest.

The exhibition includes a still life by her son Peter who was enthusiastic about drawing last year.

"Right now he is busy with baseball, but I hope he'll go back to art lessons some time again," she said.

GREW UP IN WINNIPEG

A native of Fort Frances, Ont., tall, dark-haired Mrs. Pickersgill spent most of her early years in Winnipeg. She attended the University of Manitoba and later became secretary to the editor of the Winnipeg Tribune. She went to Toronto where she was "rescued" from the business world by marriage.

Since then she has seen her husband serve as private secretary to two prime ministers—W. L. Mackenzie King and Louis St. Laurent—become clerk of the Privy Council and finally member of the cabinet.

The Pickersgill home is in a quiet corner of suburban Rockcliffe, a swank district occupied by the capital's society and diplomatic life. It is surrounded by trees, amounting almost to a forest. The setting is ideal for the hutch which houses "Junior," the family rabbit.

However, this tree-shaded seclusion is a far cry from the summer home at Bonavista Bay in Newfoundland. Mr. Pickersgill plans to spend the summer in the constituency of Bonavista-Twillingate where he was elected last August.

"It's miles from anywhere and has no electricity or phone," she said with a laugh. "We have running water, but if may have to bake our own bread."

CANADIAN CHOIR SINGS AT WESTMINSTER

Mission Band Entertained By W.M.S.

RAWDON—On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. John Heagle was hostess to Wellington W.M.S. Mission Band members with a good attendance.

Mrs. John Carlisle presided, and based her opening on the theme "Your Family and the World."

A special article, prepared by Catherine McKeen based on stories and article in June magazine was read. Mrs. Omar Dracup read the Bible lesson and all sang "Far Round the World Thy Children Sing Their Song."

LIVING EXAMPLES

The worship brought out the thought that parents in the home must ever seek to be worldminded and so be a living example to the children. Each one should study in order to be workmen that need not be ashamed. They should hunt up knowledge and learn how to share missionary education with the young people in their homes.

Carol Beckett gave a piano solo and Mary Dracup a vocal solo. Janet and Jean Tompkins rendered a piano duet. Mrs. Gerald Clancy contributed a pianoforte selection.

A story about Beth and Bob was read for the children by the leader. Beth was taught early in life to have friendly relationships with others but Bob has a narrow outlook and when he attends school his teacher will find it difficult to guide him.

The W.M.S. served refreshments to the children and all had an hour of fun, on the spacious lawn.

Community Honors Young Couple

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Striker, RR 2, Belleville, was the scene recently of a pleasant event, when nearly 100 friends, neighbors and relatives assembled to honor Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Striker, nee Mary Yeoman, on the occasion of their marriage.

Mr. Elmer Smith acted as master of ceremonies. The program consisting of community singing, musical selections by Mr. E. Wallace, readings by Mrs. Currie, Mrs. R. Elliott, and Mrs. H. Frost and a vocal number by a group of girls, was thoroughly enjoyed.

An address, signed by Jimmy Appleby, Harold Frost, Frank Phillips, Elmer Smith and Colin Donald on behalf of the community, was read by Mrs. Harry Lott, welcoming the bride, and wishing both much happiness in their married life.

The honored couple were then presented with a coffee table and a cabinet of silver by Mr. Frank Phillips and Mr. Jim Appleby. They were also the recipients of a large array of miscellaneous gifts from visiting friends.

Both Mary and Clinton graciously replied thanking their friends for the lovely gifts, and inviting one and all to visit them in their home.

After all had joined in singing, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Women's Activities

BURE'S W.A.

The August meeting of Burr's W.A. was entertained at the home of Mrs. H. Hall on Thursday afternoon. The attendance was lessened by the threshing season and some were detered through illness.

In the absence of the president Mrs. S. Clark conducted the meeting. She was assisted in the devotional by Mrs. C. Fulford and Mrs. H Hall. A selection from "Frontiers of Faith", was read by Mrs. Hall.

A motion carried that two dozen hymnnaries be purchased for the church.

Mrs. R. Vandewetter, Belleville, and Mrs. W. Adams of Wellington, were guests.

The program was comprised of readings given by Mrs. Floyd Huffman and Mrs. E. Harris and Mrs. D. Harris.

The Burr's W.A. was among the W.A. entertained by the Victoria Association at their church on Wednesday afternoon. An excellent program, after a banquet served at long tables in the basement gave a delightful time.

The address for the occasion was given by the Presbytery president, Mrs. A. Pyear, of Toronto.

Living Costs In Guatemala Quite Cheap

MONTREAL (CP)—"I'll say one thing," said the small, dark-eyed Guatemalan secretary, "although there is much political unrest in my country, the cost of living is three times cheaper than in Montreal."

Mrs. Marietha Alzamora, who ha, been living here two years with her two young daughters, said in an interview that food in Guatemala is much cheaper and "we don't have any heating problems, either."

"A thick sirloin steak in Guatemala costs 25 cents a pound," she said. "And, because of the low prices, we always have meat for lunch as well as for dinner."

SERVANTS CHEAPER

On the question of help, Mrs. Alzamora said: "Servants in Guatemala are cheap. A good cook is paid $25 a month. But . . . few

Talks about:
HOW TO GET A Friendly Loan

You know a lot of people the first time they come to Niagara Finance worry about whether or not it's the right thing to do. It's quite true that we don't make a loan every time anybody walks through our doors. Frankly, we'd be out of business if we did. But you'd be surprised a number of people who do get loans, and chances are good that if you need money, you can get it too. We've grown to be a big organization now but the men we have in our offices spread across Canada, we like to think, are pretty well trained. They're trained to understand how to solve your money problems, in a friendly way. If you need money, why don't you drop in? There are two good reasons why you should, you know. The first is that our rates are lower on many friendly loans . . . the second is that loans up to $1500, are life-insured, for you family's protection, at no extra cost to you. We think that those features make our loans a better deal than you get down the street. Inquire, won't you?

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

GOT A WEIGHT PROBLEM? BETTER LICK IT FAST!

Attention, you girls with weight problems!

What would you think was the trouble with a gal like the one who writes the following letter?

"I am 21 years old, and only 5 feet 3 inches in height, but I weigh 245 pounds. I was engaged last year to a man six years older, but when I became so heavy, he lost interest in me. He does not show any interest in any other girl, however, and I am sure he still loves me.

"I have tried to reduce, with my doctor's help, but he found that it was impossible for me to do so because I cannot stick to a diet.

"Should I go to this young man and tell him I still love him?"

Now what does this young woman think she could accomplish by going to the man and trying to reawaken his interest in her while she's still just as mentally conscious of her weight as she was before? Since she seems to feel that it was her poundage alone that caused him to lose interest in her, why does she think he would suddenly find her irresistible, poundage and all?

And what good does it do her when she says her doctor found it was "impossible" for her to reduce? Anyone can reduce if they want to enough. Her doctor probably got disgusted with her for wanting to have her cake and eat it, too, and he didn't have the will power to stick to her diet, and so didn't care to bother with her any longer. Of course it's "impossible" for anybody to lose, weight if they go right on eating as they please.

What's the matter here? Is this girl more interested in eating than in getting herself a husband? If so, she ought to see a psychiatrist and get herself straightened out. Over-eating, you know, is sometimes just a way we humans have of trying to make ourselves feel happy and satisfied when we're actually just the opposite.

TRY NO HERB SHOP

Instead of making any foolish attempt to renew her friendship with her young man at this late, I would suggest that she first go back to her doctor, tell him she is ashamed that she had so little self-control before, and that she wants to start all over again and really do a job on herself now. No doctor can help her unless she sincerely intends to help herself. If she has to her purpose, and had too much character to let self-indulgence take over, she would eventually have a valid reason for getting in touch with the girl friend and asking him to drop by because she has something she wants to show him.

Then she could dress her new slimness in the most becoming clothes she could find, get herself a smart new hairdo and give him a real surprise. Undoubtedly, because she would look so much better, both physically and psychologically, through having lost all that excess weight, her personality would have perked up, too, so that she would altogether be a far more attractive and appealing young woman than ever before. The fact that she had the will power to go through with her weight - reducing project, would have given her new self-confidence, too, and self-confidence is the right amount is an important ingredient in attractiveness.

Who knows? The young man might be so bowled over by the miracle she had created that the romance would start again with fresh impetus. And even if it didn't she would have made herself a far more attractive matrimonial prospect to other young men then she ever used to be.

So I hope she will try and see what a little special effort will do. Then, if she is still unable to keep her eating under control, she should ask her doctor if he thinks it would help her to have a talk with a psychiatrist in an effort to ferret out the factors that are proving stumbling blocks in her way.

The whole thing is in her own hands. If she doesn't do some thing about it in a purposeful manner, I'm afraid she's going to keep losing out with young men forever.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

GOOD LOOKS AT THIRTY

If a woman would belie her birthdays, look younger than her age, she must start as early as possible toward preserving the youthful bloom of her skin, the healthy condition of her hair and the lines of her figure. How she will appear at forty, forty-five or later depends on the repair work of the moment, but the preventive measures she adopts years before that age is an ominous milestone in the beauty life of every woman.

It is true that much age-arresting work can be done on a heavy figure or an overlined face. But if the same woman had minded her diet rules she would have avoided the extra tonnage and the too rounded contours. She has attended to the nightly creaming of her neck and face she might have kept the tissue firm. Almost anything is possible if one has health, and that makes it so important that ill is of first importance.

Exercise, all teachers of physical education agree, is the quickest and least expensive way of maintaining a good figure—there is, of course, if one watches the diet as well.

One must not forget how to play. Fun is a necessary part of existence if one is to be gay or spirit. The best kind of play is found in outdoor sports. Swimming has a special effect upon the entire figure, the circulation, the complexion.

It is not alone for a sprightlier walk and a smarter carriage that exercise is urged for the woman of thirty. It is likewise recommended for helping the digestive motors to function normally. It creates pep that is characteristic of youth. It has a good psychological effect because it is a diversion from normal routine.

Good eating habits are important. The medical profession tells us that malnutrition is a common trouble among women. Some career girls have sketchy lunch-eons. When dinner time comes they are too tired to eat. Busy home-makers get so tired or ordering groceries and cooking that they have little interest in food. You cannot keep your engines going without fuel. The complexion, the hair, the finger nails depend upon good food as does every cell of the body.

Women's Institute

UNIONDALE W.I.

The August meeting of Uniondale W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. W. Henley with 30 members present.

Thank-you cards were read from Mrs. Bessie Higgins and Mrs. Vera Reid. A letter was read from Miss Faye L. Erwin, the new home economist, asking that she be remembered in the future with Junior Institute work.

Miss Lewis, extension service leader, will be present on October 14, at the home of Mrs. Milton Grills. Her topic will be "Choosing and Using Fabrics" with a demonstration.

Baskets of fruit were sent to Merrit Carr, Smith family, who were recently ill.

The program convener, Mrs. Morley Sine, gave an interesting paper on "Know Your Canada." This was done with a drawing of the map of the Dominion of Canada and showing the important developments up to the time of Fraser-Confederation Century and on down to the present visit of Duke of Edinburgh to the aluminium mines in Northern Canada.

FRANK LANDSLIDE

Mrs. Kenneth Paul gave the history of the great landslide at Frank in 1903. This was one of the worst disasters in Canada.

Next meeting to be held at Mrs. K. Fox's, 5th concession of Sidney.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Mrs. Cyril Lopper, Morrisburgh, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Thompson, Stirling, spent a day last week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailey, Carmel community.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Sine, of Springbrook, attended the Ham-Eer — Sine wedding at Wallbridge on Saturday. Mrs. Carman Sine provided the wedding music for her niece.

Mrs. Ernest Ogler, Uxbridge, is holidaying with relatives in Rawdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson and children spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hollinger, Foxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hubel, and baby, of Brighton, recently visited relatives at Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. White Lake, and Nancy Rowe, of Hoard's, are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. B. Sharp, and Betty, Mount Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bailey and Joyce, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailey enjoyed a delightful trip on Sunday through Algonquin Park. They travelled by way of Campbellford and returned home by Madoc. They also visited the museum.

A heavy thunderstorm Tuesday afternoon in this area was responsible for a three-quarter hour period when there was no electric power.

HOW TO WRITE YOUR BREAD-AND-BUTTER LETTER

Your bread-and-butter letter is a wonderful opportunity for you. She's the daughter of the Vice-Who Went-a-Visiting. There are in general, two kinds of bread-and-butter letters. The first kind is the delightfully enthusiastic thank-you letter of the guest who has been to have as a guest, who was unfailingly aware of the inconvenience and kindness of the hostess and her family, who never took hospitality for granted. When this endearing kind of letter arrives, the hostess says, "What a wonderful letter! Everything we tried to do was thanked for . . . every word warms my heart."

Then there is the other kind of bread-and-butter letter—so casual, so maddeningly skimpy that the hostess thinks (even if she's too polite to say it), "I'm not at all sure that she (or he) had a good time. No mention at all of any pleasant plans we tried to make, I doubt if we should ever invite her (or him) to visit us again."

So the most helpful suggestion as to how to write a bread-and-butter letter is: Write From The Point Of View Of The Hostess. Put yourself in her place and think what you, if you were she, would like to be thanked for. Don't overdo it by saying it)

Britons Urged Not to Criticize Senate Vote

LONDON (AP) — The Conservative Daily Telegraph urged Britons today not to criticize the United States Senate vote to outlaw the American Communist party. But the Liberal Manchester Guardian tabbed the ballot "rather foolish."

Said the Telegraph:

"The American method may not be the best, but it has the merit by virtue of recognizing the quality and nature of the challenge. If we have no better method, we shall do well to restrain our criticism."

Commented the Guardian:

"It is a pity that the excellent senators do not see that in rushing through legislation of this sort (even if they may hope the House of Representatives will kill it) they do not increase the world's respect for American tolerance and strength."

ROSLIN

W.I. Holds Successful Lawn Social

ROSLIN — A successful lawn social under the auspices of the Women's Institute was held on Wednesday evening on the spacious lawn of Dr. and Mrs. J. Empson. The weather, which had been threatening rain all day, cleared in the evening and although it was a bit chilly, everything went off as planned.

Mr. J. MacMurray acted as chairman for the varied program in which the following artists took part: The Allan girls, Ronald Elmy, Shirley Chisholm, Randy Carey, Caroline Dougherty, Hazel Slingerland, Karen and June Morton, Mr. J. MacMurray, Mr. J. Blatherwick, Miss Beverley and Mr. Wayne Gown, Eva and Elsie Martin, Miss Mitchell and Margaret Bates.

The fish pond and other booths did a thriving business.

Later refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Fraud Charge Laid Against Montreal Man

MONTREAL (CP) — A 47-year-old Montreal man was charged Friday with defrauding Canadian immigrants by leaving them stranded in various Ontario towns after promising them harvesting jobs.

Aime Guertin was ordered for preliminary hearing Aug. 19 after being arraigned on six charges of obtaining money by false pretences.

Police said at least 50 immigrants—mostly Italians and Greeks—had been driven to Ontario and promised tobacco harvesting jobs at wage of $12 a day plus room and board.

The applicants paid up to $20 each to cover minor "arrangements" expenses and were driven to towns like Delhi, Tillsonburg and Otterville. They were stranded on their arrival because the promised jobs didn't exist.

No Animal Life Exists In Eerie Depths

VERONA, Italy (AP) — Italian cave explorers who groped their way 570 metres (1,869 feet) into the earth for what they claimed was a new descent record said today no animal life existed in the eerie depths.

But curious bats followed them down nearly to the bottom of the grotto as they dodged waterfalls tumbling rocks and springs of water that spurted sideways from the walls.

The 14-man team reached the surface Friday after 45 hours underground.

U.S. DEBT VOTE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted Friday to let the government run its debt up temporarily to $281,000,000,000 — $8,000,000,000 over the present legal limit—until tax collections permit a cut back to no more than $275,000,000,000.

KINGSTON PRISON

Inside, however, it was wild. Pop bottles, broken glass, pieces of wood, broken doors and cell cots littered the yard and cellblock corridors. When it was over, the prisoners stood motionless as guards, soldiers lined up behind them, frisked them and escorted them to cells. The 50 or so ringleaders were singled out and put in solitary.

LITTLE CONTACT

There was little or no hand-to-hand contact between guards and prisoners. When the riot started the guards rushed from the yard and manned the walls to stop any escapes. Later the guards, police and troops entered the yard and advanced in a solid line, backing the convicts to the wall.

Black smoke belched from the buildings and swept into the sky. Some firemen ran hoses to the top of the prison wall and sent water down on the buildings and prisoners.

Seconds before everything broke loose, Lee McCallum, 23, keeper of the keys, heard a commotion and locked himself in a lookout dome over one of the shops.

He held the keys to the main gates and the main cellblock. Officials said he had access keys to the control centre of the prison and that his action prevented the convicts from gaining entry to that vital spot in the penitentiary from where many doors and grills are electrically controlled.

Had the prisoners gained entry they could have held sway in the prison for hours.

MORE THAN HOUR

McCallum stayed locked up for more than an hour. He escaped by disguising himself in a convict's discarded pair of overalls and walked among the screaming, swearing prisoners armed with knives, clubs and bottles in the yard until he reached the main gate.

The riot came less than two days after a fire did considerable damage to the roofs of two of the main cellblocks. Prisoners were still cleaning up that mess when the big one started.

Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries, figured the ringleaders were arsonists and psycopaths. He said:

"There was no doubt about the riot being a deliberate plot. But it was a senseless sort of thing. Why didn't they try to scale the walls? It seems they were bent on destruction more than escaping."

NOTHING SUSPICIOUS

"There was nothing in the behavior of the men at breakfast to arouse any suspicion. Everything went off normally. They had been quiet and co-operative in Friday's fire and there were no incidents on Saturday.

"We have a number of psycopaths here, just as is found in any penitentiary. There are a few arsonists in every prison of this size. These fellows are always ready to agitate and start trouble.

"From what we have been able to learn, about 50 prisoners started milling about and urging the others to join them. Another 50 or so joined in. The rest, more than 700, stayed on the baseball diamond and made no move to take part."

SAYS PREMATURE

One convict said Friday's fire was the premature prelude to what was to have been a big escape Sunday. He said the fire was deliberately set and not started by faulty wiring as authorities said.

The riot and fires were an expression of the prisoners' determination to "wipe the Kingston hell hole off the face of the map," the convict added.

Newspaper men were escorted through the prison a few hours after the riot was stopped. The workshops, the stables and the lumber storeroom were charred. Three roofs had collapsed. The only buildings left undamaged were the recreation hall and the dining room.

In the main hallway of the shops, carts that had carried sandwiches and pop were overturned. Bread and bottles floated on several inches of water. Drainage was poor because many toilets and sewers had been plugged by prisoners.

FIREMEN CALLED

Mail bags floated in water. Firemen sloshed through the debris and played hoses on smouldering embers.

The entire Kingston fire department was called to the prison on a general alarm. However, they were stopped by police from entering the penitentiary until the riot was over because officials feared the equipment might be seized and wrecked.

Shortly after quiet was restored, extra guards were set up along the prison walls. Searchlights swept the walls and grounds all night.

Gen. Gibson said no acurate damage estimate could be given until a "complete survey is made."

He returned to Ottawa Sunday night and will confer with Justice Minister Garson on punishment to be given the prisoners held responsible for starting the riot and fires.

Section Worker Sent for Trial On Murder Count

FORT WILLIAM, (CP) — Rafael G. Esposito, 30-year-old Canadian National Railways section worker, was committed for trial Friday on a charge of murdering Mrs. Hedwig Kopplin, 28, at Kelly Siding, June 19.

The charred body of Mrs. Kopplin, 28-year-old wife of a German immigrant, was found near the embers of the family home, where two children had burned to death. Rope was found around her wrists and neck.

Magistrate Walter Russell sent the Italian immigrant for trial when police said Esposito, only person seen near the siding on the day of the crime, was carrying a two-foot piece of rope in the pocket of a raincoat. It was similar to the rope found on the woman's body, police said.

NOT BAD!

The Batas are "in".

They clinched second place in the Viaduct Ontario League by virtue of their eleventh-inning triumph over Toronto Hoskings over the week-end and will meet either Oakville or Peterborough in the league semi-finals playoff series, unless the league bigwigs have a shoot-off-heart at the loop meeting scheduled for Oshawa tonight.

The Batas finished with a 16-14 record, dropping the Saturday night game to the Oakville Oaks by an 11-2 score. They got an indirect assist from the Oshawa Transporters who defeated Hoskings 7-5 in a Saturday night game. The Transporters have a 23-6 mark and finish the schedule against the Toronto Dependables.

The Oaks are finished and boast a 13-17 record. The Petes at the moment have an 11-17 mark with two games to play. Both games are with the Toronto entries. The best the Petes can do is a fourth-place tie with Oakville if they win their remaining games.

Our youthful Mr. Alexander did the honors on Sunday while this department was readying for a vacation. He tells me it was a dramatic affair at times, with rhubarbs all over the Batawa landscape, players tossed out on their ears willy-nilly, cussswords and fisticuffs being thrown in, that all added to the enjoyment of a 600 week-end afternoon crowd. He says, too, that the Hoskings blokes intend protesting the game.

However it had some of its better points. The Batas, thanks to Coach Verb Goyer's pinch-double came through in the clutch at two-all in the ninth and then the reliable Fife started victory proceedings in the eleventh with another two-sacker.

Up in Oakville, though, the Carson crew were hogtied with two hits in that 11-2 setback, but that is now water under the bridge and the Batas will get their licks for next year's league playoffs but the OBA playoff series with the Peterborough Petes. Lotsa baseball yet,

SOFTBALL

What is expected to be a rip-roaring battle takes place tonight when Herb Henn's Northern Electrics tangle with Jack Elliott's Point Anne squad in the fourth game of their best-of-seven series for the OASA playdowns honors.

The Henn-ery Gang came up with a fighting display against the Ox Peinters Friday night to narrow the gap to 2-1 and they have every intention of squaring the series tonight. On the other hand the Ox Peinters feel they got "some of them goose" out of their systems and tonight will see them extend their margin to 3-1. The jousting starts at 6.15 at the CNE Recreation Park.

Up Frankford way the Merchants of that village take on the Trenton Grahams in the first game of their best-of-three OASA Intermediate "B" series with the second game slated for Frankford, Wednesday.. We hear the rivalry between these squads has passed the keen stage, and there could be some old-fashioned fireworks when the teams meet.

CLUB DUB

The tough old senator was having a bad day on the links. He was having trouble using the clubs.

A good lad from the No. 9 hole put him in sight of the green. "What club would you suggest now?" he asked the caddy.

The senator wasn't convinced, but he let fly and wound up 29 yards short of the green. He looked sternly at the caddy.

"Wrong club!"

"No, senator, wrong green. You were aiming at No. 18."

FAST ONE

One of the stories that came out of the recent British Empire Games is that of one of the members of the nine-man Kenya team, a three-miller.

Nyandiko Malyoro probably is the only Gamés athlete who was caught standing in the middle of the arena at the start of his race and still competed.

Malyoro, caught with his track suit on, raced back to the starting point, shedding clothes as he went. Sans spikes, he hit out after the fast-disappearing pack—and won by 70 yards.

Thinks Brayes Can Make It

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves aren't the only ones who think they can go all the way to the National League pennant.

Stan Hack, manager of Chicago Cubs, jumped on the bandwagon Sunday night after his hapless club dropped its third straight to the Braves.

"They definitely could make it," said Hack. "They're getting better and better. They sure are going their way and they're making the most of them. It's a good ball club and I think they could make it."

Hack, third baseman of the 1935 Cubs who won 21 straight in the waning weeks to grab the pennant, said the current Braves remind him of that team. The 1935 Cubs, incidentally were bossed by Charlie Grimm, now manager of the Braves.

"We couldn't lose in that string," Jack said. "Only once did we ever come close, and then the other pitcher hurt his arm and we jumped all over the relief man. Charlie Grimm's boys act just the same . . . ."

Slash Margin to Half-Game With Brewer Breath on Necks; Chisox Virtually Eliminated

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn's glee over dumping "them Giants" three in a row is tempered by the knowledge that giddy Milwaukee, only a nine-game spree, shows no signs of running out of firewater.

The Giants' lead, once a bulging seven games, now measures only a half game over the Dodgers. The Braves are 3½ games off the pace, rushing down the stretch like Nashua. Leo Durocher's Brooks beat the Phillies tonight in the only game scheduled, they'll trail New York by only 002.

Brooklyn bumped off New York Sunday 9-4 for a sweep of the three-game series while Milwaukee squeaked past Chicago 3-2. St. Louis barely survived 14-12 over Cincinnati when Gus Bell, Ted Kluszewski and Jim Greengrass hit successive homers in the ninth inning; Pittsburgh won its 10th straight in the second streak of the year, at Philadelphia and rallied to tie 6-6 in the eighth inning of the second game, suspended by curfew.

TRIBE AHEAD THREE

Cleveland moved three games in front of New York in the American League race. The Indians ran their winning streak to six by stopping Baltimore 5-2 and 3-1. The Yanks scored eight in the first inning on the way to a 14-2 decision over Boston, their seventh straight. Chicago prolonged the agony started by losing twice to Detroit 2-1 and 8-7, dropping 9½ games behind Cleveland. Detroit's Ned Garver pitched Washington to a 4-1 victory over Philadelphia in the "Little League" division of the American.

Billy Loes' pitching was a most important factor in Brooklyn's success against New York. The young Baltimore slugger calmly set down the Giants with seven hits for his sixth straight triumph. After Gene Hearn's sickness prevented the Brooks with three gift runs in the second, the sluggers took over. Duke Snider and Gil Hodges homered and Jackie Robinson contributed two doubles. Willie Mays hit home run No. 37—his first since July 28—and Ray Katt, Al Dark and Hank Thompson also hit home runs for New York.

Gene Conley, the Braves' lanky rookie, won his 12th with a seven-hitter that included six strikeouts. Joe Adcock's double and Johnny Logan's single in the fourth provided the margin after Milwaukee scored an unearned run on Vern Morgan's wild throw in the third.

The homers by Bell, Kluszewski and Greengrass tied a major league record set by many clubs but couldn't save Cincinnati from defeat. Joe Cunningham's homer with two on and Stan Musial's 31st helped the Cards win a wild one.

ANOTHER PROTEST

The Pirates won the opener over Philadelphia with the help of Frank Thomas' homer and got a suspended game tie in the second which manager Fred Haney played under protest. Haney claimed that Willie Jones threw his glove at Bob Skinner's line drive single in the seventh. A wild pitch by Steve Ridzik allowed the Pirates to tie the score.

Larry Doby and Bobby Avila banged homers in Cleveland's win over Baltimore. Doby hit No. 27 with two on in the sixth inning of the first game after Baltimore scored twice on winner Art Houtteman. Avila's 12th homer got the Indians off on top in the second game.

Rookie Ray Grim won his 16th for the Yanks although Boston made it a little uncomfortable after trailing 11-0 at one stage. Art Schallock and Tom Morgan finally subdued the rallying Red Sox. Mickey Mantle smashed No. 26 for the Yanks.

Steve Gromek's four-hitter got Detroit off to a good start against Chicago and the Tigers then routed Virgil Trucks in the second game for his worst beating of the year.

OK COLLEGE ALL-STAR

TORONTO (CP) — Fifteen colleges across Canada have indicated willingness to take part in an all-star football game here, William R. Flett, chairman of the Lionel Conacher Memorial committee, said Saturday. The game would be an Eastern-West clash with proceeds going to the Home for Incurable Children.

Flett said he expects the game will be a sell-out long before Sept. 16 when the game is scheduled for Varsity Stadium. It is hoped the game will become an annual affair, he said.

Two Canadians, American Win Bowls Trophies

TORONTO (CP)—Two Canadians and an American cleaned up in the singles trophy play Saturday in the wind-up of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association tournament.

Sid Eisden of Lindsay, the winning skip in the Robert Simpson Trophy rinks competition, scored a decisive victory when he defeated Ray Raymond of Toronto, 21-7.

Wick B. Green from Toronto annexed the Sheriff Hutchinson, 75-year-old Toronto bowler, 21-10, to win the Roden Trophy and second place.

Bill Tewksbury of St. Petersburg, Fla., bowled over F. (Lundy) Pullerton of Toronto, 21-13, to win the R. T. McLean Trophy.

Toronto Leafs Win Pair To Lengthen Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syracuse Chiefs, who started out well, then slumped badly, are back in the first division of the International League, but their spurt appears to have come too late to advance them any further.

The Chiefs, after their 8-6 and 5-1 victories over Rochester Red Wings Sunday, still are 7½ games behind the third-place Montreal Royals, who split a doubleheader with Richmond. The Royals won the first game 8-0 and the Virginians the nightcap 5-1.

The first-place Toronto Maple Leafs lengthened their lead to 5½ games over the Red Wings by Kings twice, 6-3 and 9-1. The Ottawa-Buffalo doubleheader was postponed because of rain.

Glen Cox tossed a three-hitter for the Leafs in the opener, but Ken Heintzigman matched it for the Virginians in the afterpiece, besting Joe Black. Rocky Nelson hit his 20th home run in the opener for the Leafs.

Connie Johnson and Rudy Minarcin pitched the Maple Leafs to their double triumph. Catcher Elston Howard hit a game-winning home run with two on in the opener and added a triple and a double in the second game.

Bob Toski Wins $100,000 Golf Prize

CHICAGO, (AP) —On a course where par 'meant nothing Bob Toski used brains to win the equivalent of $100,000.

His final round of 72—put together in probably the weirdest fashion in tournament history—gave the former golf pro the "World" title at Tam O'Shanter and $50,000 in cash plus an exhibition tour which will net him just as much.

The 127-pounder, slim as a rodeo cowboy and at 27 the youngest player ever to cash in at the $100,000 pot, finished with a score of 274. This was 14 strokes under par and was hemstitched with brilliant rounds of 67,65-70 and the finale of par 72.

By one stroke he beat out Earl Stewart, Jr., the 54-hole leader from Dallas, who blew his chance with a 75. Mike Burke, Jr., also a Texan, who did the last 18 in 69. Each of the runners-up, who tied with 275, collected $7,500 as shares of a $150,000 purse distribution.

Toski said his future plans include golf in Brazil and Australia. "What am I going to do with the money?" he grinned. "Build a cloning? Wife, my new wife. He was married last December. We don't know where yet."

Other "World" champions crowned were:

Women pros—worth $5,000 — Patty Berg with a six-under-par 289.

Women amateurs — Mickey Wright of San Diego with 309.

Doughty British Columbia Golf Team Wins Coveted Willingdon Trophy

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The closest to par golf by a four-man unit playing in heavy rain over a soaked course was supplied Saturday by British Columbia's doughty quartet and the west coast team alobbed through to a well-earned victory in the intercontinental team matches.

The more wretched the weather, the tougher the B.C. boys made it for the seven other contending teams.

When it was all over, in gathering darkness, British Columbia had won the Willingdon Cup with an aggregate score of 582, a clear margin of 13 Strokes over Quebec and 18 over Ontario.

The 582 collectively was 22 strokes over the London Hunt Club's par of 560 for a four-man team over 36 holes.

Batas Finish Second Position With Close 3-2 Victory Over Hoskings

Fitz' Two-Bagger Sets Stage After Trailing 2-0 In 9th; Lose to Oaks by 11-2 Score

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

The Belleville Batas clinched second place in the Vladicot-Ontario baseball league yesterday afternoon with an exciting, eleven-inning, 3-2 victory over the Toronto Hoskings Hunters before a capacity crowd in Batawa.

Some 600 fans witnessed the best senior ball game played in these parts in many a moon as the Batas' ace fireballer, Art Wright and Ray Hoskins, Hoskings' colorful pitching duel with a two-run homer in the fourth giving Burke the only edge for nine innings. Vern Goyer tied the score with his clout in the first half of the ninth on a pinch-double and then Dick Fitzpatrick's double and an error in the eleventh told the story.

Irvine, the Hoskings playing coach, announced in the tenth inning that he would file a protest after relief hurler Fullerton was ejected from the game for arguing at great length with the officials. Fullerton was the fourth player to be sent to the showers with mate, Gleed, going in the seventh after tangling with Moreau Bush. Vern Goyer too was thumbed in the ninth when he pushed umpire Jack Bata's hand-signal out on a play at third base.

Art Wright fired masterful ball to gain credit for his ninth win of the year, setting the Burners down on out, but a lone whiffed out and walked none.

Dev Burke went 9 2-3 innings with two runs charged against him and five hits garnered. He fanned one and walked four. Fullerton came on but did not last a man with Paterson doubling home Burke and taking the loss.

Ted Wallace beat out an infield single in the fourth with Harold Hall, hornering over the right field fence to bring in Wallace's goose-egg.

In the bottom of the ninth for the Batas, Pete Jones rapped a single through the middle and Gerry Goyer was safe on a fielder's choice with one run batted in. Pete Jones was forced at first, Vern Goyer, batting for Dave Jones lifted a double to deep right-centre field, Jones not going out trying for a triple.

Fitzpatrick then dropped the eleventh and Ed Wollens was placed on first to set up the double play. Bryant then grounded back to Hatt at second but he threw wild with the ball and runner going home to victory and second place for the Batas.

Gerry Goyer had a brace of singles for Belleville with brother Vern and Fitzpatrick contributing the important doubles. Pete Jones and Doug Hall also hit safely. Burke claimed two singles for Hoskings with Hatt's home and singleton and Paterson, Irvine and Mighton rounding out the six hits.

Amateur Golf For Calgary

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The 1955 Canadian amateur golf tournament will be held at the Calgary Golf and Country Club, The Canadian Press learned Saturday.

Venues for the next three years were set for the Canadian event by the Royal Canadian Golf Association—the 1955 open at Toronto, the 1956 at Montreal and the 1957 at Kitchener, Ont.

Normally the 1955 would be Montreal's year but with Kitchener getting the open for the first time in the city's history the normal arrangement would have meant the tournament would be held on successive years in the same general geographic and crowding area. The courses at Toronto and Montreal are yet to be decided. The 1957 at Kitchener will be at the Westmount Club.

Barrie Flyers Pot Still Boils Merrily

TORONTO (CP) — Hap Emms was authorized members of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior "A" League Sunday to further consider his decision to withdraw Barrie Flyers from competition.

The meeting decided to give Emms until Aug. 28 to reach a decision. If he sticks by his move to take the Flyers out of the league a schedule will be drafted for seven teams, excluding Barrie.

Emms, owner and coach of the Flyers, announced last week that he was pulling the Flyers out of competition because "it is impossible to operate a team without a sponsor."

Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League have refused Barrie a professional team but Emms' manager Lorne Emms would not allow the Flyers to play hockey in Toronto on Sunday.

Leafs, sponsors of Toronto Marlboros, Toronto St. Michael's College Majors, both of the OHA Junior A, had the power to veto a sponsored team. Mr. Michael's Barrie is within their 30-mile protected area. Leafs and Maple Leaf Gardens was losing money because Barrie wouldn't play in Toronto Sundays.

AN APPEAL

The directors' meeting, however, Sammy Pollock of Montreal, repr.enting Kitchener-Waterloo Canadiens, made an appeal directly to the NHL for sponsorship. The 30-mile protected area was dropped by the NHL this year," Pollock said. "There's nothing to prevent Emms from appealing to the NHL."

Another way to keep Barrie in the league would be the sale of the Flyers' franchise to a group of Barrie business men. The team then could play Sundays since it wouldn't be in Toronto.

Conn Smythe, managing director of the Leafs, was reported to be prepared to take care of any financial losses suffered by the Barrie team if Emms will agree to play Sunday hockey. Emms said Smythe's offer would probably result in the sale of the Flyers within the next day or two.

If the league goes with seven teams a 48-game schedule will be drawn up. The seven teams will receive a list of Barrie's eligible players and the Flyers will still have a chance to buy the players. G..lt Black Hawks, who finished in last place, would be assured the first choice.

The Flyers remain in the league each of the eight years will play 48 games.

Marlene Tucks Away Open Golf Title For Second Double Victory Since '51

By GERRY MARTIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRIGHTWOOD, N.S. (CP)—With the Duchess of Connaught Golf Cup tucked under one arm and the Canadian Ladies Golf Union Trophy under the other, little Marlene Stewart was a happy girl Saturday.

She won the golf cup Saturday when she defeated Mary Gay of Kitchener, Ont., 9 and 8 in the 36-hole final of the Canadian women's Open and retained her hold on the CLGU Trophy as she won the Canadian Close title a week ago.

It's the second time the little Fourth Ont., girl has won the double crown of the course and a face of stone when playing has held both titles. She first won the Open and Close in 1951, and has held the Close crown for the last two years.

U.S. TRY

Her future plans call for a shot at the United States national women's Open in Pittsburgh next month but not before she will face a member of the Canadian team that will play an international match with a British squad, on the way to the United States for a Curtis Cup match.

Marlene, wearing a gray skirt and white sweater and a blue-grey blouse and her familiar tartan cap and tartan shoes, told a crowd of 1,500 that she will always remember this course.

Brightwood is in the hills above the town of Dartmouth and looks out over Halifax harbor toward the rolling Atlantic. The par 74 Atlantic breezes that provide its chief hazards.

The best Marlene could do on the rolling, tree-lined fairways was a two-stroke victory.

The final in the Open brought to an end nine days of championship play that saw the top women golfers in Canada battle for two of the country's major golf crowns.

The Close ended last week with Marlene winning the medal play with a 56-hole score of 232. Dorothy Herbertson of Vancouver was runner-up with a 241 score.

Ontario retained her interprovincial team trophy and two New Brunswick juniors defeated the West as they continued their reign as Canada's champions.

It was the first time that the Open and Close had been held in Nova Scotia. British Columbia will be the host next year.

Saturday, playing under hot sunny skies Marlene surprised no one with her win. The final was an anti-climax with the gallerie.s still buzzing about the 37-hole marathon win over Barbara Bruning of Armonk, N.Y., in the semi-finals Friday.

The Kitchener golfer was forced into extra holes by a chance of four round matches while none of Marlene's went past 18.

Mary has been runner-up almost as many times as Marlene has been a champion. Saturday was the first time the pair had met. Mary's drives carried further than Marlene's but she lacked the putting savy of Canada's golfing queen.

Terriers Extend Top-Slot Lead; Oshawa Wins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bad weather during the week-end helped Galt Terriers increase their first-place lead in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League with only one week left in the schedule the 1½-game gap between them and the second-place Brantford Red Sox looks bigger than ever.

While the Sox had a double-header with St. Thomas Elgins rained out in Brantford Saturday the Terriers walloped the last-place Guelph-Waterloo Royals 13-5. It was the only league action of the week-end. The scheduled game at London between the Majors and Kitchener Panthers was also rained out.

Deep Jessup, Terrier righthander, allowed the Royals only eight hits and struck out the same number to chalk up his fifth victory of the season. Jessup was also the hitting sensation for the Terriers, banging out four hits which included a double and a triple. His bat sent in two Galt runs.

NEW UP FIRST PLACE

Niagara Falls Shoemakers sewed up first place in the Niagara District with two victories Friday by crushing Crowland Bisons 10-0 in Niagara Falls Saturday.

Ron Hamilton fashioned a six-hitter and struck out 10 Bisons to chalk up his fifth win of the year in his second consecutive shutout. The victory gave the Shoemakers the league lead by one game.

Jim Bray hit a first-inning home run with two mates on base to help Niagara Falls all the margin it needed but the Shoemakers didn't stop and ever scored again. In fact, slamming a two-run triple in the third inning was the eighth.

The Shoepakers now will meet Welland in a league-championship playoff.

Three games were played in the Ontario Baseball League during the week-end. Oakville Oaks took an 11-2 home-field victory over Belleville's Bata Saturday while Oshawa Transporters downed Toronto Hoskings 7-4 in Oshawa the same night.

Sunday the Batas defeated Hoskings 3-2 in 11 innings at Belleville.

Intercounty league action Tuesday night has Guelph playing a doubleheader at London while St. Thomas Elgins entertain the Kitchener for a single contest.

On The Football Fronts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fifty thousand fans and eight head coaches have a second chance tonight to decide whether the perennial talk of "new-look" Canadian football will bear true this season.

Three East - West exhibition games are scheduled in the West, with the fourth between Edmonton Eskimos and the Ottawa Rough Riders at the capital. All eight clubs are expected to display their big-name power in equal offerings with less-heralded berth-seekers.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, only Big Four club to come out of Friday night's exhibition games without a trouncing from a western team, try their luck with the revamped Calgary Stampeders who lived up to their advance billing as a title victory over Montreal Alouettes.

Sleeper in coach Frank Filchock's everybody - gets - a chance theme, Saskatchewan Roughriders announced Saturday Tuesday-play host to Alouettes, whose head coach Dodge Walker will be looking for his first win against a Filchock-coached team.

Argonauts, humbled 18-7 by Eskimos in an injury-studded Toronto game, provide Winnipeg fans with a first look at Blue Bombers in field action.

Any fullbacks Bob Fiyeash and Johnny Bell won't dress for the game. Fiyeash came out of the Eskimo clash with a badly-twisted ankle and Bell with undetermined injuries.

In the Eskimo camp, the walking wounded include halfbacks Jackie Parker and Ralph Hunter. Parker, flashy Mississippi State star, suffered bruised ribs and Hunter a crack on the cheekbone that x-rays may prove to be a fracture.

Coach Frank Ivy also lacks the services of Glen Lippman, who ran 89 yards for a touchdown against Argos."Lippman is on his way to Florida to get a discharge from the United States Air Force.

Hamilton's relentless attack against Saskatchewan cost them quarterback aspirant Dan Ellis of Texas, and with a shoulder separation. Stampeders' only injury against Montreal went to lineup tackle Jim Prewett of Tulsa University who suffered a dislocated shoulder.

Bannister Knew Landy Had Injured Foot

MANSTON, England (AP)—Dr. Roger Bannister said Sunday he knew all along John Landy's purported cut foot before their "Mile of the Century" race.

Dr. Bannister, practicing both as a physician and as a runner, said Saturday the cut on the Australian's foot didn't affect the race.

"Landy told me before the race that he had a cut foot and I'm sure it would make any difference—and it didn't," he added.

Bannister said his future as a runner is uncertain. If he cannot combine his athletic career with running he will give up running. "It shall not have too much to regret," he said.

His next race will be the 1,500 metres at the Empire Games at Vancouver late this month.

A Trans-Canada airliner carrying Bannister and 62 other English athletes home from the Empire Games landed here after being diverted from fog-bound London airport.

Pitcher Hurls Perfect Game

HARRODSBURG, Ky. (AP)— Baseball's perfect game—27 batters and 27 putouts—was registered Sunday by pitcher John (Spook) Parrott of Kentucky's entry in the Blue Grass League.

The 6-foot-4 hurler reached first base as Parrott and his mates smashed Versailles 13-0 in the season loop.

Parrott, a lefthander, struck out 20. Only two balls were hit to the outfield.

SPORT IN BRIEF

BREAKS TRACK MARK

CHICAGO (AP)—A record-breaking run by Argentine-bred Mister Black in the $28,325 Arlington Handicap featured a doubleheader stakes program at Washington Park Saturday. The Hasty House Farm thoroughbred toured the 1¼-mile turf course in a neat 1:46 4-5 —a track record. Earlier, Blue Violin had taken the winner's share of the $23,650 Misty Isle Handicap, a seven-furlong event for three-year-old fillies.

SCOTTISH FOOTBA' OPENS

LONDON (AP) — The Scottish Football season opened Saturday with a fine win for the Rangers, South of the border however, the English football season won't begin for another week. The Rangers and their new manager, Scot Symon, defeated Stirling Albion 5-0. Celtic, Scottish Cup winners and league champions, won from Falkirk 3-0. Hibernian was upset by East Fife 3-1.

U.S. SENIORS WIN

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—American senior tennis stars Saturday wrapped up their sixth consecutive victory in the Gordon Trophy competition with Canada by winning three of the four matches. The Canadians never have won the cup, emblematic of supremacy in senior men's tennis between the two countries.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

The simpler you make your bridge the better partner will you be. The plainer you make your meanings the better results will you get. Consider this when you make a jump response.

A jump says you see enough for a game. Game in a minor takes 11 tricks. An opening one bidder promises five tricks. So, a jump assist in a minor suit promises the other six.

There was the tournament deal you see here:

	NORTH
	♥K 7
	♦K Q 7 4 2
	♣K 9 3
WEST		EAST
♠Q 6 5		♠J 8 7 4
♥J 10 9 8 3		♥6 4 2
♦10		♦9 6
♣Q J 6 4		♣10 8 5
	SOUTH
	♠K 10 2
	♥A Q
	♦A J 8 5 3
	♣A 7 2

The bidding should go like this:

North	South
3 Diamonds	1 Diamond
3 No-Trump	4 No-Trump
Pass	6 Diamonds

South shows five of his six tricks in his opening one bid. The North jump assist in a minor suit shows six tricks. Since the jump was immediate it also promised two sure tricks.

With the six tricks shown by north, south sees 12 in the pair. With the trump suit decided, his only slam worry is whether or not they have enough aces and kings to make slam stand up.

Four no-trump is the asker of aces and kings. In my convention, five no-trump in response is signal for showing one ace, plus three kings. This says opponents have no aces or kings.

With all four aces and all four kings, grand slam is tempting. But there was too many holes to bid seven. How does he know? The fact that north did not show a biddable suit of any kind.

Some tried six no-trump and could not make it. Some played six diamonds wrong and failed to take 12 tricks. There is one correct way of playing this deal. Would you know how?

The safest planner deserves the banner.

Northern Girls Square Series With RCAF

The Northern Electric ladies evened up their series with Trenton RCAF for the Lakeshore League championship on Saturday night with a 12-6 triumph at the Alemite Field.

Linda Wagg went all the way on the hill for the victory while giving up 16 hits, walking one and not fanning a batter. Keller and King shared hurling duties for Trenton between them allowing 13 hits, whiffing three and walking six.

The Northern Lassies netted five markers in the second and third frames to lead 5-1 but Trenton edged close with a trio in the fourth. Six tallies in the sixth provided the winning margin.

Carolyn Baker had three singles to lead Northern with the hickory while Betty Reeves homered and singled. Linda Wagg helped her own cause with a double and single while Eunice Summers chipped in a brace of singles.

Babchuck had two home runs and a single for Trenton with Anderchuck hitting one homer and a single. Keller claimed a trip. of singles.

Northern Electric will entertain the P.W.S.U. playdowns this week with Oshawa the first team they meet. They trek to Oshawa on Tuesday with the return game at the Alemite Field on Thursday.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 17, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A tendency toward inertia may retard progress, reduce possibility of making headway today. Taking things for granted is not conducive to good business; watch matters carefully.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Matters having to do with advertising, engineering, good craftsmanship and outdoor affairs sponsored. Remember, time lost is never regained, so plan your schedule well.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — An uninteresting outlook for those who give up quickly. You folks can make progress now by using your innate gift for seeing ahead, realizing openings. However, don't speculate.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You are fortunate now; things should work out nicely if you do your share of thinking and planning. Handle affairs and responsibilities carefully and you can achieve your goal.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — You may find needless fault with prospects that are really good. Avoid worry, don't become involved in others' troubles; it could upset your judgment, digestion.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Pleasant activities are honored equally with weightier matters. Be diplomatic and promote friendship where you can. News could be helpful; analyze it.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Some elements of which to be wary during early hours. Don't allow criticism or setbacks to dull your enthusiasm or effort. Avoid unpleasant discussion and time wasters, and be staunch in principle.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Gains in industrial, manufacturing and other matters indicated. Don't be too set in your ways; change according to need. Use your gifts of capability and efficiency—and you will advance.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—A slight let-down indicated in some aspects—not enough to retard worthy effort, but you may have to push more to insure good results. In domestic affairs be kind and co-operative.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Stars auspicious for employee and employer. Both can gain through friendly discussions, an amenable approach. A fine day for formulating new deals in business, banking.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Rays mildly favorable for routine and domestic matters. Have constructive objectives—but within your capability. Vocational activities, heart interests strongly favored.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Use reasonable restraint where money, property, your duties are concerned. Don't buck the inevitable; rather bypass it smartly, preserving your prestige. Be keenly alert.

YOU BORN TODAY are courageous, virile; with plenty of energy and go-get-it in your makeup. You are perhaps fond of adventure, a good combat, competitive sport or game. Leader and not wonderful soldiers, leaders in daring ventures, explorers you are not always willing to heed the dictates of others but are fair and honorable as a rule. Listen more graciously to suggestions, due orders. Correct impatience, quick temper, if you would qualify for the noteworthy success in profession or trade you can attain. Birthdate of: David Crockett, Amer. hero of the Alamo.

Marian Congress Is Concluded

By BERTRAND THIBAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—The National Marian Congress, which grouped 1,000,000 Roman Catholics in devotion to the Virgin Mary, ended Blessday with the crowning of the statue of Our Lady of the Cape.

More than 200,000 faithful packed the exhibition grounds here to witness Vito Cardinal Valeri, the Papal legate, place a gold crown, studded with 363 diamonds, on the head of the image of the Madonna.

MESSAGE FROM POPE

Two Canadian cardinals, archbishops, and bishops representing all Canadian provinces took part in the colorful ceremony that climaxed a five-mile procession from the statute's sanctuary in the nearby shrine town of Cap de la Madelaine.

Before the crowning, pilgrims heard a message from Pope Pius XII, broadcast from Castle Gandolfo, Italy, and relayed to them over loud-speakers.

After the crowning, thousands of pilgrims, reciting the rosary and chanting hymns, encompassed the statue back to its sanctuary in a procession of flaming torches.

More than 45 bands from parishes in Ontario and Quebec added to the pageantry of the congress which ended Aug. 5 and included Marian Year celebrations for Canadians.

James Cardinal McGulgan of Toronto and Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger spoke briefly before crowning ceremonies.

Cardinal McCulgan said if Catholics have a true devotion to the Virgin they can change the world and bring it the peace "it so desperately desires but which it will not obtain without God's help."

HITS MATERIALISM

Cardinal Leger said materialism is the great evil now menacing the foundations of civilization.

In his message, the Pope said:

"When will men learn to value the gifts of this passing world at their true worth? When will they see that truth is a more precious possession than wealth, that a world at enmity with God has lost its right to hope for lasting peace, that nothing without God has a hollow ring?"

LOOKING AHEAD

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 21-year-old laborer sentenced to 20 months in Oakalla prison had his sentence changed to two years in penitentiary when he pleaded that he wanted to learn a trade, which he could do while in penitentiary.

REORGANIZE TIMES

LONDON (Reuters) — Proposals for reorganizing the capital structure of The Times, London's oldest daily newspaper, to "ensure maintenance of independence and stability" were announced Saturday. The financial reorganization, which involves issue of new shares in the Times Publishing Company and the abolition of a special controlling concern, the Times Holding Company, will "in no way" disturb the existing editorial direction of the Times by Col. J. J. Astor and John Walter, the announcement said.

Montreal Youth Wins Junior Golf Crown

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Eighteen-year-old Grant Dearmaley of Montreal left a wake of disappointed spoil neither his good nature nor his golf game when he won the Canadian junior championship Saturday with a 36-hole total of 153 at the London Hunt and Country Club.

The amiable Dearmaley shot a 74 in the whole morning round and then toured the rain-soaked course in 79. In the afternoon to edge Wes Hosendorf of Yorkton, Sask., and George Knudson of Winnipeg, who each carded 154.

In Sunday's 18-hole playoff for second place Homenuik scored 78 to Knudson's 79.

Ron Willey of Edmonton and Kevin Riley of Vancouver shot 155s, David Moon of Halifax 159, Stan Baluik of Fort William 160 and Doug Lewis of Moncton 163.

STEADY PLAY

Dearmaley, who graduated from Mount Royal High School this year and hopes to get a job at metal or wood-working, had his irons and woods working like clockwork.

His steady play to the green and accurate putting were a strong nod over par 74 and a two-stroke lead on Willey at the end of the morning round.

In the afternoon round, played entirely in the rain, Dearmaley's putting was not so sure, sending him over eight shots from on the back nine. He fired 39 going out and 40 coming in for his 79.

Dearmaley, who has been playing golf since he was seven years old, succeeds Gordon MacKenzie of Vancouver as a Canadian junior champion.

To Speed Report Upon Charges Against McCarthy

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Hubert Watkins (Rep-Utah) said today his special six-member subcommittee will "take every possible shortcut" toward a report on censure charges against Senator Joseph McCarthy so the Senate can vote on the issue before the November election.

But senators William Knowland (Rep-Calif.) and Walter George (Dem.-Ga.) agreed that unless Senate leaders violate the rule section by the first week in October it may be impossible to get senators to interrupt re-election campaigns to return to Washington.

Watkins, who heads the Republican committee studying 46 accusations that McCarthy has not conducted himself as a Senator should, said in an interview he hopes the group "can have a report ready by Oct. 1."

"I am reasonably sure that we can do it," he said, "but I don't want to set any time limit because the report will depend on the amount of co-operation we receive."

GIVEN REMAND

SAULT STE. MARIE (CP) Henry Johnson, 31, Simcoe, was remanded for eight days after he pleaded guilty Thursday to a forgery charge. A second charge was dismissed by the crown for lack of evidence. Police said Johnson is also wanted in Simcoe for deportion of his wife and children.

Sports Roundup

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—This might give you an insight on Ted Williams, who has been publicly condemned as hard-to-get-along with, ill-tempered and self-centred.

In his comfortable home at Silver Springs, Md., a few miles outside of Washington, Bill McGowan, the umpire, is sitting out the rest of the season. The doctors sent Bill home from Chicago a few weeks ago with instructions to take a long rest. A re-examination in January will determine whether he returns to work again.

There had been little publicity about his illness. Bill just quietly slipped out of the box scores and Bill Summers moved over from another city to take his place on a four-man team.

TED CALLS

Last week the phone rang at McGowan's home. Ted Williams was on the line. "How you feeling, No. 17" he asked. "They tell me you'll be out for the rest of the year. Take it easy and don't rush it. Don't forget, you're still No. 1."

That was all. Just a friendly phone call, but McGowan couldn't have been more grateful. President Eisenhower had called. "Imagine that," he was forever saying on the phone. "The greatest player in the league calling up to see how I am."

McGowan always contended it was the "fishers" who gave the umpires most trouble, not the big stars of the game. Joe DiMaggio never griped about a pitch, nor Williams. They are the real pros, the fellows who know it's a tough enough for an umpire to call, it was close enough to hit. That's the time McGowan, who was umpiring on the final day of the season in 1941 when Williams was trying to finish with a .400 average. He needed a good last day to stay there.

HAD TO EARN IT

As he came up to the plate the first time he was knuckleader Frank Hayes, Philadelphia Athletics catcher, said:

"Ted, we hope you make it but Mr. Mack has issued strict orders that you've got to earn it all the way." Williams characteristically answered, "that's OK with me."

McGowan says he was there for most of the important events in baseball history. Listen to his story. He was behind the plate at Forbway Park in 1948 for the only playoff game in the history of the league. He worked eight World Series and didn't miss an inning for 16½ years while serving under three different league presidents.

It will be a shame if Bill can't make it for a 31st season in 1955 but we'll be listen to the doctors' advice. In time to come, he will be as much of McGowan, too, isn't made a permanent member of the Cooperstown, N.Y. colony. He already includes such great umpires as Bill Klem and Tommy Connolly.

Private Takes Top Honors In Rifle Shoot

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—A private in the Black Watch of Canada is the top qualifier for Canada's 1955 Bisley team.

Pte. G. J. Pearson of Montreal posted steady scores all week to finish with the highest combined standing at the annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize meet. It won him the Spittal Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to the marksman posting the highest score in the Bisley aggregate.

The meet wound up Saturday with the shooting of the Governor-General's gold medal match, CSM. Norman L. Beckett, 45-year-old member of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, won it for the third time.

Aggregate standings during the week are added to the scores posted in the featured Governor-General's match and the top 15 qualify as shooting members of the Canadian Bisley team.

Pte. Pearson posted a qualifying score of 790 of a possible 825. Sgdns. Dave Reynolds of Ottawa and RCMP Sgt. J. H. Blais of Montreal also posted scores of 790, but were given second and third placings, respectively, because of their poorer groupings on the score cards.

Others who qualified include CQMS. John Draper, South Porcupine, Ont., 777.

CSM. Beckett, a veteran Bisley shot, posted a score of 194 of a possible 200 from the 300-, 600- and 900-yard ranges.

The Hamilton marksman was chaired as tradition demands and carried to the presentation stand from the firing mound to receive his medal from Defence Minister Campney. He also won $200 prize money.

CSM. Beckett, who was refused enlistment during the Second World War because of poor eyesight, won the medal in 1939 and again in 1947.

Seize Armed Men As Queen Arrives In North Ireland

Three Men With Explosives Are Captured by Police

BELFAST (AP)—Queen Elizabeth arrived here today to launch an ocean liner under the protection of North Ireland's greatest security guard.

A few hours before the Queen landed at Belfast airport, police seized three men carrying arms and explosives in a car 40 miles to Newry on the border between northern and southern Ireland, 45 miles south of the capital.

The Queen arrived 10 minutes late because of bad fog en route and set out immediately by automobile to Belfast's Queen's Island, one of the largest shipyards in the world, 13 miles outside the city.

MANY QUESTIONINGS

The heavy security guard was put into effect at dawn as a precaution against possible outbreaks by the outlawed Irish Republican Army which is fighting for a reunion of North Ireland with the Irish republic to the south.

Intensive police activity followed the arrests in Newry. Several persons were questioned and a number of young men were picked up for questioning.

A Newry police official said the three men detained by a police patrol at their car "drove across the border were "not on the way to Belfast."

"We believe they intended to blow up something in the neighborhood of Newry as a demonstration against the Queen's visit," he said.

An estimated 20,000 policemen were expected on duty in Belfast alone. Hundreds of extra police were brought in from the provinces.

MARINE CURIOSITY

Across the border in Dublin, capital of republican Ireland, civic guards stood by to put down any anti-royalist demonstrations.

Police precautions have so far failed to dampen the delight in launching itself. The new ship, a 20,000-ton marine curiosity to be powered by the world's largest and the world's first passenger liner to have its engines and funnel in the stern.

The designers say that with the engines at the stern it has been able to keep all the midships area for unusually spacious accommodation.

2,000 Tons Rock Sent Hurtling Into Gorge

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A little girl in an iron lung pressed her nose against a buzzer button Monday and gave the signal for a thunderous blast of dynamite that sent nearly 2,000 tons of rock hurtling into the Niagara river gorge.

In this dramatic fashion, Debbie Stone, four-year-old polio patient, gave the go-ahead for another round in mankind's battle against infantile paralysis.

And the big blast, witnessed by a thousand or more tourists, was also symbolic of the struggle against the eroding force of the Niagara river which is slowly wrecking the beauty of the falls.

A pie-shaped chunk of cap rock had been hanging precariously over the gorge since the construction of the Prospect point observation area and power house crews felt it was time to shake it loose.

Debbie's voice, relayed by radio hookup from the Rancho Los Amigos Hospital at Howey, Calif., was heard by public address system at the site of the blasting.

SKY BOOMS AHEAD

The little girl pressed the buzzer that signalled the detonation.

There was a flash, followed by a replica of an iron lung, crutches, a wheel chair and similar equipment used in treating polio, were set adrift in the foaming rapids above the falls.

All three boats and their cargoes were smashed to bits at the base of the cataract.

A. E. Anderson, chief engineer and executive secretary of the Niagara frontier state park commission, said no further blasting would be necessary.

M.P. Would Classify All Reds As Traitors

HAMILTON (CP) — Thomas H. Rose, Liberal member of the House of Commons of the riding of Hamilton East, said Sunday all Communists should be classed as the Soviet Union should be classified as traitors to the country in which they live.

Speaking to more than 400 Polish Canadians commemorating Polish army day, Mr. Rose said "this type of Communism is more dangerous to the Western world than any fifth columns contrived by Nazi and Fascist dictators. They are deliberate and intentional traitors.

Vanderbilt Charged

HONOLULU (AP)—George Vanderbilt, millionaire New York sportsman, was arrested here Sunday night on a charge of driving while under the influence of drugs.

"He's been terribly, terribly sick," his wife said Monday. "He was under medication, not drugs, and it's terrible to make something out of it."

Vanderbilt was accused also of driving on the wrong side of the road. Police said his automobile had struck two others in cars. No one was injured.

Vanderbilt was released on $125 bond pending court hearing Sept. 6.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A large mass of cool air from northwest Ontario will move to southern Ontario Monday, and Tuesday morning dawned clear and cool over all forecast regions.

This fine weather will continue in most sections on Wednesday with slightly higher temperatures. However a disturbance is developing in the Rockies and it may bring some cloudiness in western sections Wednesday afternoon.

QUICK PASSAGE OF ANTI-RED BILL BY SENATE SURE

House Endorses Act By 305-2 Monday

By ROWLAND EVANS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to outlaw the Communist party but strip all legal protection from Communist-dominated unions was tricked today for Senate passage with possibly half a dozen changes, most of them described as minor.

The measure, speedily passed by the House of Representatives 305 to 2 Monday after Republican leaders had conferred with President Eisenhower, moved into debate in the Senate late Monday night with every prospect of quick approval.

But a threatened Democratic filibuster was averted when Senator John Marshall Butler (Rep.-Md.), author of the part of the legislation forbidding facilities of the national labor relations board, offered six amendments to that section he described as "technical."

Senators Hubert Humphrey (Dem. - Minn.), Estes Kefauver (Dem.-Tenn.) and Herbert Lehman (D.-Lib.-NY) questioned that description of some of the amendments made important changes and demanding they be produced for study.

The amendments had not been printed, however, and Republican leader William Knowland of California, scenting long and drawnout debate with multiple approaches, quickly got agreement for a definite limit today of a total three hours on the bill and the Butler amendments and half an hour on each other amendment that might be offered.

Humphrey conceded in an interview today that all the amendments probably would win Senate approval, thus clearing the measure for trip for the bill to the House.

Can Use English In Some Catholic Church Rites

VATICAN CITY (AP)—English in place of ancient Latin now may be used in some ceremonies of the Catholic Church in the United States of America.

Vatican authorities said permission to use the English language was given with the Pope's approval by the Sacred Vatican congregation of rites.

The decision had been requested by bishops of the church in North America.

English now may be used instead of Latin in administering the sacrament of baptism, marriage ceremony, and extreme unction as well as in other ceremonies and in giving the blessing. The sacrifice of the mass, however, must still be in the sacred Latin, official language of the church.

Permission for use of English also has been granted in Germany for use of German, French and Italian.

Thief Gets Refund

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP)—A bold thief returned stolen merchandise to a Burlingame store last week-end and got a $10 refund.

Mrs. Edna Ritner, clerk in an apparel shop said a man brought in a woman's jacket, a blouse and blouse Saturday saying his wife wanted to return them. She gave him a $10 refund, without checking the purchase receipt.

Only after he walked out did she realize they had been stolen from the store earlier.

TRAGEDY RECALLED

HILLCREST, Ala. (CP)—Twenty men went to work in this Crow's Nest Pass community to build a concrete bridge to replace one that men killed 40 years ago when an explosion ripped through the Hillcrest colliery. Exactly the 100 other victims of the tragedy are buried in private plots.

Wren Names Ten Including Premier He Wants Called Before Committee

TORONTO (CP)—Kelso Roberts, chairman of the Ontario legislature's special committee on highways irregularities, said today a special meeting of the committee will be called shortly to hear Premier Leslie M. Frost (Lib.-Lab—Kenora) and Mr. Roberts said he had received from Mr. Wren a list of 10 witnesses—including Premier Frost—he wants the committee to summon to appear before the committee.

Mr. Wren has requested the special meeting of the committee in connection with his recent charges of perjury against Highways Minister Doucett. The minister has denied the charges.

Mr. Roberts said that besides Premier Frost, Mr. Wren's list of witnesses includes provincial auditor Harvey Cotnam; Charles L. Dennis, special prosecutor in the conspiracy trials of three road contractors; Murray H. J. McFarland, head of the McFarland Construction Company; J. Jakigstels, Cobourg and Stanley Voland, Norwalk, former employees of the McFarland company; I. McHue, Picton, a truck driver, and Leon Kosman, a Toronto Telegram staff reporter.

Those named as witnesses were the manager of Highway Minister Doucett's farm and Edward Wright of Toronto, auditor-accountant. Mr. Wride is a former McFarland employee. Mr. Wride is with Dominion Construction Co. Toronto, and lost his job in the shuffle.

The Toronto Telegram in a dispatch from Kenora today quoted Mr. Wren as saying he intends to obtain from Premier Frost "his first report outline on the administration of the department of highways and ask him whether, under Canadian parliamentary practice, he is in favor of the exchange of gifts between contractors and departmental employees."

State Department Officials Reported Fearing EDC Threat

By JOHN A. SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—State department officials from State Secretary Dulles down were reported fearful today that new French delaying proposals might kill the long cherished six - nation European army plan.

Authoritative American informants seemed convinced changes in the European Defence Community plan proposed by French premier Mendes-France would be minor and could be accepted by the other countries involved.

And they foresaw little or no chance that the other proposed European army participants, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, could find a formula for reconciling their own views with the new French attitude.

Foreign ministers of the six nations are to meet in Brussels Thursday to discuss the problem.

In advance of this, state department officials made little effort to disguise their deep disappointment over some 20 alterations proposed by Mendes-France.

One responsible official said the French leader has in effect torn up the carefully drafted European army treaty and rewritten a new, unacceptable one.

All participants except France and Italy have ratified the treaty, originally proposed by the French, which would integrate Europe's defence without allowing unlimited German rearmament. The United States has strongly endorsed the plan.

The Mendes-France amendments, among other things, would allow any member to withdraw from EDC if U.S. and British troops were pulled out of Europe, would eliminate EDC treaty's length the same as that of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, forbid the stationing of German troops on French soil, and withhold final French ratification pending a new try at settlement with Russia over Germany.

While most U.S. diplomats were reluctant to say anything for commissioner Vic Adam Nann for a publication today, they tended to regard the Mendes-France changes as a "package" which probably had to be either accepted or rejected in a single unit.

The move to explain the new French plan, ambassador Henri Bonnet was to give the U.S. state department Monday with acting secretary Walter Bedell Smith. The appointment was no publicity announced.

Spectacular Sunday Outbreak Part of an Escape Plot

KINGSTON (CP)—Prison, police and fire authorities sifted a welter of conflicting stories today in an effort to find answers to questions behind the Sunday outbreak which saw 27 convicts start the job of cleaning up the debris left from a fire set Sunday by rioting prisoners at Kingston penitentiary.

Discovery of a 100-foot rope with a claw attached, stirred speculation that the Sunday outbreak was part of an escape plot. A search uncovered the rope in litter in the yard where the disturbance occurred. It set followed a spectacular fire at the prison Friday.

There was no official statement on the find. Earlier, off clals, including Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, Dominion commissioner of prisons, denied that a break was planned. Official cars were parked in the second largest penitentiary stopped with the return of Gen. Gibson to Ottawa. Officials said Gen. Gibson would have to answer all questions.

Rumors were plentiful: Reports were attributed to guards that trouble had been brewing at the penitentiary for some time; there were also reports that a second riot was planned for Collins Bay penitentiary, a maximum institution for lesser offenders six miles west of the city. Kingston penitentiary and Kingston's reform farm at Mimico was formerly Portsmouth village, were damaged by the fire.

There was still no report on damage from the Sunday outbreak estimated at regular $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Warden Walter Johnstone is also preparing an official report for Ottawa authorities.

Prisoners still were on duty but prison officials were reported to feel there was no immediate danger of another riot.

Says Eisenhower Gave Contract To High Bidder

CHICAGO (AP)—Democratic national chairman Stephen A. Mitchell declared Monday President Eisenhower personally ordered a switch in a defense contract to a syndicate in which one of the President's "closest friends" has an interest.

He said the contract was for providing electrical power for a new atomic energy plant at Paducah, Ky., and was $90,000,000 higher than that offered by a rival syndicate and $140,000,000 more than the publicly-owned Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) requires to supply the power.

Mitchell said the president's role in the atomic power controversy "is something that really needs investigating."

The Democratic party leader did not identify the friend, but the office later said he referred to golfer Bobby Jones.

At his home in Atlanta, Ga., Jones said Mitchell's remarks are "utterly ridiculous and without foundation."

ELECTIONS SOON

JOHANNESBURG (CP)—Provincial elections will be held in the Union Aug. 18, except for Natal which has returned the United party to office. At dissolution the National party was in power in the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, while the United party had a majority in Cape Province.

U.S. Colonel Bans Blue Jeans For Army Wives

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Col. John H. Dilley, who outlawed blue jeans, peek-a-boo sunsuits and other Americana from wives overseas here, is being swamped by a deluge of mail—almost all of it unfavorable.

Letters pouring in from the United States and Europe heap praise on the red-haired colonel, who as commander of the Frankfurt detachment recently ordered his men's ladies to cover up in public.

"Give 'em hell, John," wrote one letter-writer. Most mail was mailed only as army airmail, the American embassy, Ottawa, Canada.

Michalina Keller, librarian of the Hartford, Conn., Bar Library Association wrote:

"Try having some candid movies taken of some of those bosom-bared females and spare tires bulging at the midriff. When they recognize themselves for what they are, they will shut up and put up with your edict."

Another critic of Dilley's—the wife of a sergeant stationed in Frankfurt—scoffed at the idea that of the colonel's favorable mail:

"Ex soldiers' wives can't write letters and sign our names to them. Why, the army would take away our husbands but good.

"But believe me all of us women in the neighborhood are tired-of-it with Colonel Dilley. He's gone a little too far in telling us how we can dress. He's taking or the rule of dictator.

CANADA'S TOP TRUCE DELEGATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Lawyer-Soldier, Two Career Diplomats Named

OTTAWA (CP)—A lawyer-soldier and two career diplomats will be Canada's top delegates on the three Indo-China armistice supervisory commissions.

Named Monday by the government to fill the posts are:

Brig. Sherwood Lett, 59, of Vancouver, chancellor of the University of British Columbia, to be Canadian commissioner for Viet Nam;

Leon Mayrand, 48, of Montreal, Canadian ambassador to Chile and Canada's Canadian commissioner for Laos;

R. H. Mesthene, 45, of Vernon, B.C., assistant under-secretary of state for external affairs since 1953, to be Canadian commissioner for Cambodia.

ALREADY THERE

Mr. Macdonnell, who participated in the preliminary discussions on the three-power commissions' work at New Delhi, already is in Indo-China as acting commissioner for Viet Nam. Mayrand and Brig. Lett are expected to be in Indo-China in two or three weeks.

Brig. Lett served in both World Wars. He was wounded at Dieppe in 1942 and again in Normandy in 1944.

Both Mr. Mayrand and Mr. Macdonnell joined the external affairs department after the war. Both served in various posts abroad, including Paris.

The appointments showed that the government has had a difficult time finding a suitable civilian to serve on the commissions with representatives of India, the chairman, and Poland.

Brig. Lett has agreed to act as commissioner in Viet Nam for a year, when he will return to his Vancouver law practice. The commission jobs are expected to last at least two years.

Mr. Macdonnell is chief administrator for the external affairs department. He had said he had previously they did not see how he could be spared from his job there.

Most of the Canadian personnel for the commissions are being supplied by the army, which has already appointed 88 officers and men for service in Indo-China.

Gen. Howard Kennedy, chairman of the Canadian commissioners will hold the rank of major-general. Some 200 other civilians remain to be appointed.

Basis of the 88 men appointed and the few still to be named will provide a strong staff, Ottawa says, for early stages. It probably will be necessary to name more delegates later on.

Stores His Plane In Hangar And Takes Plane Home

GANDER, Nfld. (CP) — Peter Gluckman, the flying watchmaker from San Francisco, has left Gander Airport, Gander, Newfoundland, for England from this big international airport Monday night-aboard a Trans-American Airways plane. Air force and transport department officials breathed a sigh of relief as the 260-pound German-born Californian stored his aluminum-bodied "City of San Francisco" in a hangar and boarded a scheduled flight to visit his parents in London.

Gluckman landed at Torbay, near St. John's, Sunday night with the avowed intention of flying the plane all by his little aircraft.

Canadian transport department regulations do not allow single-engine planes farther than gliding distance from land. However, Canadian and U.S. Air Force officials co-operated by refusing Gluckman enough gas for the transatlantic hop.

Aerial Ladder of Fire Dept. Required To Get Escaped Monkey Out of Tree

There is or was "monkey business" in Belleville Monday afternoon.

At noon today, Belleville fair officials reported a "monkey" missing. He was. So, it is said, were several others.

Now, the Belleville Fire Department comes to the rescue.

Atop a tree at the corner of Yeomans and West Bridge Streets at 4 p.m. today, He scratched himself and at times gave way to monkey grins in appreciation of the crowd formed below.

The fire department raced to the scene. It hoisted the big aerial ladder. "Monk" looked at them and waved a finger in disdain.

"Tell wil' youse guys," he seemed to say.

At the time of writing—a fireman was atop the aerial trying to coax the wayward monk back to ground and his kinfolk.

Plane in 10 Feet of Water Five Miles West of Stirling

A Harvard training plane from RCAF Station Trenton, with two men aboard, crashed in the Trent River one quarter of a mile off the western tip of Hickog Island about 10.45 Tuesday morning.

No trace of the two men had been found at 2.00 p.m. Names of the men will not be released to the press until next-of-kin have been notified.

The plane crashed near Meyersburg about six or seven miles west of the east of Trenton, or five miles west of Stirling.

The plane was on a routine training flight from RCAF Station Trenton and was operating in a low flying area. The pilot hit the river while making an extreme left turn and the plane catapulted into the water.

Word of the crash was radioed to the tower at Trenton by the pilot of another aircraft who witnessed it.

The trainer, No. 375, was reported to be lying intact in about 10 feet of water.

Reach Agreement On Major Point In Rail Dispute

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg stepped directly into the railway union contract negotiations today and held joint and individual conferences with the disputants in an effort to avert a rail strike.

As the conferences got under way were reported to have reached tentative agreement on at least one major point, but the ministry moved into the midst of discussions for the first time in the dispute.

At the end of a series of morning meetings at which he appeared ently was carrying proposals between company and union officials men, he announced there will be a further meeting this afternoon, perhaps 3 p.m. EDT.

An informant said a tentative agreement was reached on a union demand for 18 days a year paid sick leave, which is the basis of an estimated would cost them $30,700,000.

Basis of the tentative understanding, it was understood, was that a joint committee be set up to study the unions would work on this so-called "health and welfare" proposal.

Service's Poem Is for Men Only

VANCOUVER (CP)—Poet Robert W. Service has kept his promise to write a poem for the veterans' reunion and convention here—but it's too racy to be read before mixed audiences.

Convention chairman B. Dudley Gale said Monday Mr. Service tells the story of the goldseekers so graphically, it will be read only to an audience of a get-together Wednesday.

Service, now 78, who made the shorthand a legend through his rhymes, forwarded his poem from his home in the south of France.

BEAVER'S SISTER DIES

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Douglas M. Morrow, a sister of Canada's born newspaper publisher Lord Beaverbrook, died here in hospital Aug. 4, it was learned Tuesday. Mrs. Ramsay, wife of Douglas Monro Ramsay of Boland, Midlothian, Scotland, was born in Newcastle, N.B.

Pretty Girl Helps Firemen Put Fire Out

HAMILTON (CP)—A pretty girl did firemen out of a job Monday.

The firemen hurried to an apartment block near central fire station to extinguish a blaze in an awning at the fourth floor.

One firefighter raced up three flights of stairs to get near the awning while another was being raised on an aerial ladder.

Just as the two firemen prepared to turn their hose on the awning, a girl leaned from an upper window and emptied a pail of water on it. The flames were put out.

Plans Unveiled For 3 New Towns In Seaway Valley

TORONTO (CP) — Plans for a great new industrial area in eastern Ontario were unveiled here today.

Sixty elected representatives of the people of Seaway Valley area, made up of four new and rehabilitated towns designed to replace the communities to be flooded during the St. Lawrence - seaway and power construction.

THREE NEW TOWNS

Three entirely new towns, with a total population of up to 20,000 people, and location of a considerable part of Morrisburg are envisioned in the report presented by officials of Ontario Hydro and the provincial department of planning.

The proposals are subject to acceptance in the local communities affected — Iroquois, Auldsville, Iroquois Point, Dickinson Landing, Wales, Mouleitte, Mille Roches and Moulinette in the north township of Osnabruk, Williamsburg, Matilda and Cornwall. Cornwall city officials are not involved in today's conference, held in suburban Iroquois.

No final estimate of the cost has been officially released. However, preliminary figures expected to top the previous estimate of $65,000,000.

A joint rehabilitation statement presented by hydro chairman Robert H. Saunders and provincial planning minister William K. Warrender, suggested today's meeting will be followed by separate parleys in the affected municipalities.

The plans shown today call for relocation of the entire Morrisburg business district and some residences. In the belief that an industry will not accompany seaway construction, provision is made for increase in population from 3,000 to 12,000.

Three new towns, called New Town No. 1, New Town No. 2 were also unveiled Tuesday morning.

The built-up section of Iroquois will be entirely flooded. New Town No. 1 would be built within the present village limits and accommodate 10,000 people compared with the present 1,100.

New Town No. 2 would be entirely new, and replace Auldsville, Farrans Point, Dickinson Landing and Wales. Population would number of 1,100. The new development is designed to accommodate 7,000 people.

ENABLES INCREASE

New Town No. 2 intended to replace Mille Roches and Mille Roches will enable a population increase from 1,000 to 3,000.

"Depending largely on the future influence of industry on the new town centre, the population might eventually go as high as 10,000 or 11,000," the report today told.

The names of the two new towns, now referred to as No. 1 and 2, will be announced later, probably by the local residents.

Cherokee Rodeo Delights Large Crowd on First Day of Fair

The glory of the old west come- ite with its colorful cowboys and cowgals was relived here yesterday at the Exhibition Grounds.

The Cherokee, Oklahoma Rodeo, one of the best shows to come out of the West delighted a capacity-filled grandstand Monday evening at the Belleville Fair. The afternoon performance also attracted large numbers.

One of the outstanding features of the rodeo is its superb horseflesh. The pintos, and bangtails, part palominos and other equine stars drew the prolonged applause of their audiences. They showed beyond a shadow of a doubt the fine care and feeding they get.

The colorful cowpokes and cowgals in their equally colorful western garb, threw caution with the sturdy Brahma bulls and jumping wild broncbos in a program of real western events turned the appreciative ovations of a large afternoon crowd and capacity-filled grandstand at night.

The show was clean. It was good. There was nothing about it that marked it as lowflight entertainment. The clean-cut cowpoke, the cowgals, each a beauty in their own right as well as a fine athlete in their own right, rounded out a whole that was a credit to the big western entertainment ever seen in this city.

Unfortunately during the afternoon show, gusty winds blew many clouds across the field and later this was remedied by a water truck. Later still it was remedied by nature's rainy idea of settling the dust.

While it was rodeo in miniature as far as the great Calgary Stampede and other equivalent world events go, the Cherokee show lacked nothing of the color and excitement that goes with the big affairs.

COLORFUL PARADE

The show led off with a colorful parade with the cowboys and cowgals carrying lances fluttering pennants of their respective states.

Then there were bucking broncbos, some of them good and the crowd roared as one cowpoke was tossed clean over the "corral."

There was calf bull-dogging and some of the cowpokes went all out to establish new records—and cash prizes. One "Hop-a-Long" Cassidy tossed the miniature bull in 22 seconds.

Then there was "bull-dogging" of the big bulls by the bull-dogger "threw it" and that ended most of the cowpoke sports.

A highlight of the show was a splendid specimen of a Brahma bull, Weighing 2,300 pounds "Old Silver" as he is called, came up with an uncanny knowledge of tricks. He bowed, played "dead dog", balanced himself with four feet on a small pedestal and in general gave a grand performance.

The rodeo thriller also was one of the standouts of the show while the initial offering of a square dance team of riders to the accompaniment of hillbilly music nearly brought down the house.

Then, too, were two inimitable clowns, whose antics brought many a laugh to the crowd.

Dial Telephone Installation Work Starts

A special crew of Bell Telephone employees today began the job of installing dial telephones in homes, offices and stores in the Belleville area, in anticipation of the conversion of the local telephone system to dial operation next spring.

The installers will replace some present telephones with dial instruments, but others will be fitted with a dial. G. W. Procter, Bell Telephone manager here explained that a large number of telephones are adaptable for the addition of a dial, and that only those not adaptable will be replaced.

This project, which involves the installation of some 10,000 dial telephones in the Belleville area, will take some months to complete.

Until the conversion to dial operation takes should avoid touching the dial during a conversation, the manager advised. The dial instrument is to be used in exactly the same manner as the manual instrument in other places, until the moment of the conversion.

A temporary number card, showing the present telephone number, will be placed in the centre of the dial. Customers will be asked to remove the card at the time of the conversion, but not before, thus revealing the permanent dial number underneath. Until then, the number will be unchanged, and callers will continue to ask for numbers verbally as at present.

In addition to installing the dial telephone, Bell Telephone men will also modify its present operation to the customer and members of his family or staff.

"If you have been considering adding an extension telephone in your home, the forthcoming visit of an installer to your house will afford a convenient occasion to have this done," Mr. Procter commented. He advised interested residents to telephone the company's business office to make arrangements.

All other projects connected with the conversion are proceeding according to schedule. The installation of the dial switching equipment is well under way in the exchange building at the corner of Bridge and Church Sts., and the extension of outside wires and cables and their adaptation for use under the dial system are making good progress.

Construction of New Hospital Wing to Start Early in Fall Chairman Tells Rotary Club

Construction of the new wing of Belleville General Hospital will begin some time this fall, Dr. Buchan, chairman of the Belleville Hospital building committee, indicated here yesterday.

In an address at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club in the Hotel Quinte, he said all that remains is a final check and coordination of the various plans, specifications, etc. engineers and installation consultants have been working on, and of course the detailed plans and specifications of the project.

During the past month numerous conferences have been held over the last few days with the architects and hospital staff resulting in many worthwhile ideas.

MANY FEATURES

"In addition, many of the better features of other hospitals have been incorporated in the plans as a result of the trip taken by a committee of the Board over a year ago and suggestions from various staff members and others."

Mr. Buchan also gave the club a brief outline of the new construction plans for the addition, mentioning some of the difficulties that will be experienced during the building. One of these is that the hospital will continue to operate during building operations.

"We have spoken of the project as a new wing, but in many respects it is actually a hospital," he said.

He added: "Together with present west wing (built 1939) which is of modern fireproof construction, and can be considered as an integral part of the project, we will have 142 beds and 44 bassinettes in the modern construction, compared with our present 42 beds.

The balance, including 36 bassinettes, is currently in the old non-fireproof section.

FOLLOWS MODERN TREND

"The layout of the addition will resemble a concrete wheel with wings running from a central hub where supplies can be fed through the wings, following a modern trend in the province," he said.

"In many of the hospitals we visited the complaint was that the supply centre was too small," Mr. Buchan added and noted that the centre planned for the Belleville extension not only was ample but "provides for extension."

With the new wing patients will also be provided with a more select menu, with food dispatched through a dumb waiter on individual trays throughout the wing.

On the fifth floor will be constructed the kitchen "which makes possible a better meal for patients" he said.

On the first floor also the X-ray department will be located in size.

MORE ACCOMMODATION

A paediatric department on the fourth floor will accommodate 24 children (there is room for 11 at present).

Operating rooms on the third floor will be increased to four, from the present two and there will be increased accommodation for the hospital staff.

On the maternity section on the fourth floor will be a 44-bed nursery and separate accommodation for isolation cases.

A total of 40 bathrooms will provide for patients' needs and wards, with specialized equipment in most cases, but the general will have individual clothes lockers.

The corridors of the new section will be done in pastel-colored glazed tile which "provides a permanent and brighter finish" which will be easily kept clean with a permanent cream drop ceiling.

The ceiling also facilitates quick maintenance of installations which will run behind it. All that is necessary for servicing wiring, plumbing etc. is to remove the drop ceiling.

Modern Farming Machinery, Cars, Trucks Shown at Fair

The horse's ploughty working! clip is no match for the pace of modern farming and this year's exhibition at farm machinery at the Belleville Fair shows how far removed is the horse from the plow.

Spread out in its open-air shop window the display this year has a large range of equipment on view.

Williams and Howe, Cannifton, taking part in the fair for the first time, are showing their Massey-Harris Mobile equipment, featuring a Model 80 combine with a two-row mounted corn picker. Also showing are a tractor with a 16-row disc and a Model 20 W tractor with two-row mounted cultivator and a three-point hydraulic plow. A Model 30 fertilizer and seed distributor and a power driven hay conditioner are also are shown.

Truck and Farm Supply Ltd. display farm-mix equipment, including a hay baler with power take-off and loading tractor, among them a Super-C model with a fast hitch. Also shown features Canadian International R line trucks and other pick-up, trucks ranging from half ton down to ¼-ton.

Pringle and Cooper, Belleville, display John Deere tractors, cultivators, manure spreaders and manure loaders. Also shown trucks are Beatty flexible piping and Rite-Way milking machines and Marlow pressure and spray motor irrigation pumps.

THREE MERCHANTS COMBINE

Three merchants combined to bring the exhibition of Ford equipment—Bob Wood Motor Sales, Weeds Dawson Motors, Desoronto, and McIntosh Wells, Stirling. Including among the tractors is the big Fordson Major job. Also shown are a Woods Dearborn combine harvester, cultivators, plows and a front-end loader.

Phillip and Fryer, Foxboro, are displaying Case machinery, which includes combine harvesters, a tigiuless corn harvester, a combination grain and hay elevator, a 200 side rake, a manure harvester and five tractors.

Cockshutt equipment is exhibited by Charles Cox, Belleville, and includes 20, 30 and 40 tractors, mowers and side delivery tiller and manure spreaders.

Massey Harris, Ferguson and New Idea machinery forms the exhibit of Alton Hadley. Included here are New Idea side rake and corn picker, mower and spreader, Massey-Harris pull and self propelled combines, King Wyse and Ferguson tractors with direct mounted implements.

H. J. Ward and Sons, Moira West, show Oliver farm equipment, including a combine, corn picker, nine-tooth chisel plow, a disc line sower and a bulldozer.

ALUMINUM TRAILER

Located in a bright aluminum trailer is the display of the Pedlar People Limited, Oshawa. This includes mostly interior equipment with manure buckets, lockers, litter carriers, shelving steel crest reinforcement, roofing and sheeting.

Stanton's Garage, Thomasburg, feature all Ferguson equipment with discs, tractors, tiller and a side rake. Included in the Ferguson tractors this year is elimination of the pitman.

Allis Chalmers machinery is shown by Trudeau Motors, Belleville, and is an all-crop forage harvester, a forage blower and all crop grain harvester which can be changed to different types of seeds. The tractors in this exhibit have snap couplings and hydraulic equipment.

Side by side with the farm machinery display is Trudeau's is their motor exhibition which features Cadillac, Oldsmobiles and a full line of Chevrolet trucks and cars.

Next to the Trudeau auto display is that of Elliott Motors, who are showing their lines, of Buicks, Pontiacs (including the Chieftain six-cylinder model).

English manufacturers also are represented by a Bedford Truck and a Vauxhall four-door sedan.

Fair President Draws Ticket

The person holding ticket number 444, distributed by David's Electric booth at the fair won Monday evening's lucky draw, President of the fair, Harry Rollins, drew the lucky ticket.

To qualify for the prize persons should take the stubs of their tickets to the booth. This corresponds to David's booth in the southeast corner of the Manufacturers' Building. Their ticket will be exchanged for a numbered stub for the booth. Each night of the fair one number will be drawn and a winner declared.

On the last night of the fair all numbers will be put in a drum and drawing will continue until a winner is found on the grounds. Top prize of more than $400 worth of Westinghouse appliances offered, is an electric drier.

HALIFAX EXPLOSION

More than 1,600 persons were killed, and property damage was $50,000,000 in the Halifax munitions ship explosion Dec. 6, 1917.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ray (Blanche) McBrien, Belleville; and two sons, Raymond; of Belleville, Arthur, of Rosamore and four grandchildren.

Also surviving him is a sister, Mrs. James (Annie) Clarke, and a brother, James Cornell, both of Belleville.

The deceased was a member of St. Thomas Anglican Church and was an honorary life member and past president of the Wharf Street Debating Club.

Resting at the Pinkston Funeral Home, 60 Victoria Ave. at Church St. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. ROBERT JEFFERY (Trenton)

The funeral of Mrs. Lilly A. Jeffery, wife of Robert Jeffery, was held Monday, August 16th, from the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton, to Grace Church. Rev. G. A. Puttenham, assisted by Rev. R. McCallum, conducted the service.

Bearers, all nephews of the deceased, were Harold, Herbert, Frank, Walter, Everett and Gordon Jeffery.

Interment took place in White's cemetery.

Coffee Prices Slump As Money Curbs Eased

NEW YORK (AP)—Trading in both spot coffee and futures contracts broke to a virtual standstill Monday and prices skidded following Brazil's relaxation of its foreign exchange restrictions.

Santos coffee futures dropped the permissible limit of two cents a pound here as buyers kept out of the market to await developments growing out of the Brazilian action. Lower retail prices to consumers were seen by traders as a strong possibility.

Call in Experts

MONTREAL (CP)—British and French engineering experts may be called in as consultants in the study of a multi-million dollar subway plan for Montreal, it was learned Monday.

J. O. Asselin, chairman of the city executive committee, said representatives of two leading companies had been asked to tender about possible contracts for service as consulting agents.

Montreal transportation commission, a public utility, has been considering construction of a 38 mile network of subways for Montreal and neighboring municipalities.

Fine Display Of Vegetables, Fruit, at Fair

There was a fine display of fruits and vegetables in the horticulture building, arranged attractively in pyramids, plates and baskets.

The fruits consisted of apples, including Ben Davis, Blenheim; Duchess, Greenings, Russets, MacIntosh reds, Melba pippins, Starks, Wealthy and Wolfe Rivers. Pears were of the Bartlett variety and plums of the Burbank and Shiro.

The vegetables showed a good selection of mangels, Swede turnips, cabbages, green and red variety, ornamental squashes, and the favorite Hubbard squash, cucumbers, beets, parsnips, sweet peppers, celery, beans, cauliflowers, red peppers, salsify, watermelons, pie pumpkins and potatoes.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

Other attractions were those of baby contests, both artificial flowers from Kleenex, paper toys of umbrellas, Japanese lanterns, a sandbox display from the Queen Elizabeth playground, false faces, birds, wall pictures, knitting and other articles depicting the work of little fingers.

Some nice sheaves of grain were also shown, barley, wheat, oats and buckwheat, as well as bags of the same, of nice quality and size.

Junior Farmers Of 4 Counties Take Over Fair

Events got underway at 8.30 when registration of juniors for the livestock judging competition commenced. Also planned for the day was an agricultural quiz and identification of specimens and pictures common to farming.

Included in the day's program will be placing of exhibits by 4-H clubs from the four counties. Prizes will be awarded on the exhibits.

Wednesday members of the Belleville 4-H Calf Club will hold their achievement day and exhibit their calves—both on Tuesday and members of the Hastings 4-H Swine Club will show their swine.

This year's junior program at the fair is confined to junior farmer club members with no events exclusively for the girls being scheduled. A complimentary banquet at Hollowell Street Unified Church and attendance at the evening horticultural program will conclude the day's junior program.

A pictorial record of previous year's junior farmer events and competition winners has been placed in the agricultural room beneath the new grandstand.

The model industrial farm, the R.C.A.F.'s air defence set-up, along with an exhibit by the department of agriculture on the production of beer finishing of market hogs, also is set up beneath the grandstand.

Familiar Scenes Along Watershed Shown in Display

The display of the Moira River Conservation Authority in the Manufacturers' Building is one of the non-commercial exhibits at Belleville Fair, which is attracting a fair share of attention at this fair goers.

Feature of the exhibit is the series of colored slides showing familiar scenes along the watershed which are projected on an illuminated screen. The colored slides, 30 in all, show river scenes as well as farm properties in the valley and emphasizes the importance of conservation in all phases.

The background of the entire exhibit is made up of large pictures showing conservation projects ranging from good woodlot management, contour farming and provision of farm ponds for assurance of water down to supply.

Literature on conservation is available to all visitors at the booth, which is in charge of Authority field officer Don Bell.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Shares of New Mifamaque — Exploration today were hit by the greatest demand any issue has had in the last six months on the stock exchange.

The day's opening price was 26 cents. In the first hour it hit a 1954 high of 79 cents—a price climb of more than 130 per cent—and turned over more than 500,000 shares.

Brokers credited reports that the biggest pitchblende find since Eldorado Mining's strike at Beaverlodge, Sask., had been made by New Mylamaque.

Heavy trading in the company's time boosted first-hour volume on the stock exchange to 1,028,000 shares, leaving the rest of the market with a fairly good 500,000 shares traded. The market trend was slightly higher.

The industrial index climbed more than half a point to a 1954 high of 356.38.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was weak on large graded eggs but steady on all other grades. Offerings were in excess of a quiet demand.

Railway, Union Contract Talks Are Resumed

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiators striving for a settlement of the railway-union contract dispute resume talks at 10:30 a.m. EDT today.

The second day of government-requested conferences follows an opening day of discussion at the end of which the delegates had nothing to report for publication.

They adjourned overnight last evening with an all-around "no comment" for reporters after a series of joint and individual meetings in the centre block of Parliament Hill.

First, railway officials and union chiefs representing 145,000 non-operating workers got together to debate the unions' demands for fringe benefits.

At the afternoon session, the union officers—whose membership have empowered them to call a strike if negotiations fail—met for a time with the railways and then withdrew for an hour and 40 minutes for private consultations. The two groups met again together shortly before recessing for the day.

The sequence of developments indicated the possibility that the railways had made a proposition to the unions, but spokesmen for both sides refused to confirm or deny this.

President Donald Gordon of the CNR said they had agreed before adjourning that neither party would make any statement to newspaper men.

The unions are seeking fringe benefits of eight statutory holidays a year, 18 days a year sick leave, higher Sunday overtime pay and longer paid vacations.

Large Crowds Greet Opening Of 'Best Belleville Fair'; Midway Is Stellar Attraction

Belleville citizenry and residents of the district put their collective stamp of approval on the 1954 Belleville Fair on Monday.

The colorful exhibition, with all its show-window glory, was given the patron "OK" by thousands who attended the opening of the four-day show.

The weather man was in a fickle mood. He sent down brilliant August sunshine to usher in the fair but in the late afternoon the skies clouded and there was a drizzle of rain. Changing again, the skies cleared and the weather cooled to almost autumn temperature.

The government heads of two counties clasped hands and Warden Mitchell of Hastings County, officially declared the 1954 edition of the Belleville Fair open. With him was Warden Don Walker, of Prince Edward county.

WARDENS OPEN FAIR

President Harry Rollins of the Belleville Agricultural Society, addressed the capacity-packed grandstand shortly after eighteen o'clock. With him were the special-guest wardens, His Worship Mayor John Both; Frank Foldwell, M.P., Hastings South; William Reid, race master and secretary-treasurer Lawrence Beecker, and directors Dr. Russell Scott and Jim Barber.

President Rollins extended the official welcome of the agricultural board and its directorate, voicing the collective appreciation of the fine attendance on opening night.

Warden Mitchell recalled the first fair he attended here 50 year sago and remarked on the progress and quality during that period of years.

"Fairs have their places in the affairs of our county and city in that working together to make it a success, it helps to create a feeling of goodwill and comradeship between the two municipalities, . . ."

He paid Tribute to the Junior Farmers and 4-H Clubs, stressing the point that the interests they are taking now will for the future."

Warden Walker was brief in his remarks. He brought the greetings of the sister county and congratulations to the directors on what he said was "a grand show."

Mayor Both extended the official welcome of the city, adding in a jocular vein that "this must be the world's fair for everybody in the world is here."

MIDWAY BEST EVER

The exhibition is living up to all advance notices. From the humble shoat to the proudest holstein and Percheron; from the family exhibit to the handsome drought horse, and from all points of exhibitional view, the fair stands out as being the best in years.

The Conklin Midway, by far the best ever to appear here, is crammed full with novelties, tented shows, games and rides. The stage performance is said to be the best ever presented here. The exhibits are tops, as was expected from the rich agricultural and industrial area from which they come.

The Cherokee, Oklahoma Rodeo, which played yesterday afternoon and evening, and which gave way this afternoon and night to the sensational New York Variety Show, was tops in western entertainment. The rodeo story appears elsewhere.

The exhibition opened at ten o'clock Monday morning. It was Children's Day and all afternoon the place was thronged with kiddies and proud parents escorting their offspring through the wonders of the midway, the thrills of the many rides and the grandstand presentation.

THE MIDWAY

Paddy Conklin, owner of the Midway lived up to the promise that his 1954 presentation would be the best ever seen in Belleville. It is just that, and thousands of people cannot be wrong.

The tented city, gleaming with gaily-colored lights at night resounds to the familiar cry of the "barkers". Again many laudatory comments were heard anent the paved roadway. However, the midway which, Mr. Conklin said yesterday, is the second best attraction of its kind in Canada, has been extended to other parts of the Fair Grounds than the regulation "corridor."

KIDDYLAND.

One of its better features and example of the Conklin foresight, is "Kiddyland". This is a special area which contains ten kiddie rides, and where the youngsters can get all their enjoyment in one package. Many parents have voiced appreciation of this "concentrated" idea.

Mr. Conklin has left nothing to be desired as far as rides go, especially for the younger fry — and the oldsters as well. There are airplane rides, swing-a-longs, auto rides, perhaps the most ridiculous merry-go-round and the equally popular ferris wheel, a spine-tingling railway train drawn by a pint-sized diesel engine, whirling swings and many other mobile attractions.

When you figure that it took forty-five railroad cars with 450 personnel to bring the Conklin Midway here, it should reveal the enormity of this attraction, that plays in its entirety at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto later this month.

There are twelve brand new shows and many new rides. There is the "Snooper", the "Rocket to Plane", the "Laff-in-the-Dark", the "Moon-Rocket". There is the "Fly-a-Plane", the roller coasters, miniature, that is and many others.

In the "tented city" there are shows which have never been seen here. Conklin's Alberta Slim and his Rodeo; the "African Compound with real lions and tigers; there is the Kid Circus, with all kinds of miniature performing animals, a monkey circus and a "Bug house". Then there is "Nature's girl, a girlie girl, and a trailer filled with "Believe it or Not" the famous Bob Ripley attraction.

Then there is the "Moulin Rouge" (Mata Ootis) said to be a relaxation for tired husbands; the Rose Midgets, a good attraction, and the "Circus Side Show". Then a freak show that is said to be top, and many, many other tented attractions.

The tented shows are but part of this colorful midway. There are games and contests galore. You can pitch darts, shoot air rifles, toss balls, play at a steam shovel, play horse racing on miniature tracks, manipulate a steam shovel and play bingo. You can have your weight guessed, your head read and your fortune told.

You can eat hot dogs, candy floss, hamburgers, French fries, ice cream cones, cheeseburgers, potato chips and other appetizers to your heart's content.

NEW GRANDSTAND

One of the greatest improvements to the Exhibition Grounds and which is meeting with general approval, is the new grandstand. Yesterday, directors felt, the new structure attracted more than the usual number of "first-day" patrons because of its spacious accommodation and added facilities. In fact, the grandstand is being used to facilitate the general administrative work of the secretary and president, as well as housing a number of the fair's grandstand projects.

Some of the province's most competent judges have been and will, go into action during the early days of the fair. There is a programme today, tomorrow and Thursday,

Way Family Holds Reunion at Tweed

Forty guests present at dinner, started the Way family reunion for 1954 at Tweed. After dinner a program of sports started the afternoon's agenda.

Prizes were given for the following: Oldest lady, Mrs. Hannah Russell; oldest gentleman, Albert Vardy; youngest girl, Dianne Hardy and youngest boy, Johnny Way.

Man and lady from the farthest distance were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Schwigert, Newton, N.Y. Lady who had attended most picnics was Mrs. Florence Way, Stirling. Gentleman who had attended most picnics was Glenn Way, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Business was taken care of and Ernest Way presided as president.

Election of officers is as follows: president, Lawson Way, Carrying Place; vice president, Mrs. J. B. Harder, Belleville; secretary treasurer, Mrs. Harold Pitcher, Frankford and sports convener, Mrs. Percy Way, Trenton.

It was moved by Mrs. Ed Way seconded by Mrs. B. Way that the picnic be held the 2nd Wednesday in August at Tweed.

Mr. Glenn C. Way of Niagara Falls, N.Y., the family historian was welcomed and gave a short history of the family.

A vote of thanks was also extended to Mr. Ernest Way, Picton for his work as president during the year.

Votes were able to stay for the evening meal before farewells were said for another year.

Oppose Control by U.S. Of St. Lawrence Seaway

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—A resolution urging the federal government not to give the United States complete control of navigation works and shipping on the St. Lawrence seaway was adopted by city council Monday night.

Alderman Romain K. Ross said he understood the Canadian and U. S. governments had agreed to undertake the project as partners but that it was now "no partnership if the U. S. is to have control of Canada's most important natural asset."

Wren to Face Censure Motion Says Paper

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says today it has learned that Albert Wren will face a motion of censure in the Ontario legislature's select committee on highways if he fails to substantiate or continues to delay any attempt to prove his sectary chiarge against Highways Minister Doucett.

The story adds that committee chairman Kelso Roberts, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Toronto St. Patrick, says the affair has reached the "put-up or shut-up stage."

Mr. Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the legislature for Kenora, has charged Mr. Doucett with perjury in connection with the highway irregularities case. Mr. Doucett has denied the charges.

QUOTES BOTH

The newspaper says:

Committee chairman Kelso Roberts, who has refused to call a special meeting of his committee for investigation of Mr. Wren's charges until Mr. Wren names his witnesses, said the whole affair had reached the put-up or shut-up stage.

He said that it might be just as well if the committee were called into session promptly, letting Mr. Wren stand or fall by the results immediately."

The story quotes Mr. Wren as saying in a telephone conversation from Kenora Monday night:

"I don't know what it's all about. I don't know whether that is the police."

The story adds that Mr. Wren insisted he will supply the names of his witnesses and will not back down on his 30-mth-old charge against Mr. Doucett.

Portuguese Troops Retake Goan Fortress

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Portuguese troops were reported in full possession today of Goa's Tiracol fortress after a show of force dislodged a band of pro-Indian demonstrators who had seized the bastion Sunday.

Reports published in New Delhi newspapers made no mention of any casualties in the recapture of the fort Monday but a report received in Bombay said one of the demonstrator was killed and another wounded.

The band of Goan nationalists occupied the fort on Goa's northern frontier early Sunday after eight Portuguese police garrisoning it fled. Capture of Tiracol was the nationalists' only success in their widely publicized "liberation march" which fizzled down to only a token invasion of the Portuguese-Indian territories claimed by India.

All reports published in New Delhi said a Portuguese warship landed 120 soldiers at Tiracol early Monday and that the troops quickly regained the fort, hauled down the Indian flag, and rounded up the nationalists.

PENITENTIARY RIOT NEEDS INVESTIGATING

A formal investigation will be held within a few days into Sunday's riot at Kingston penitentiary.

Any such investigation, so promptly instituted, is unlikely to satisfy public curiosity — and the public has a right to be curious because, in the final analysis, it is responsible for the manner in which the affairs of the penitentiary are administered.

Unless the Federal Government can present concrete proof that rumors and stories about conditions in the penitentiary are untrue, a sweeping investigation, with full publicity, should be instituted not only into Sunday's riot, but also into the possibility that there may have been underlying causes for it.

Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries, describes the riot as "a senseless thing."

Perhaps it was. It is obvious that many of the inmates of the penitentiary are men whose minds are warped. Only the naive would accept their statements at face value.

Still the public, because it must shoulder the ultimate responsibility for the manner in which society treats its prisoners, cannot ignore such statements without some assurance that they are erroneous.

One inmate of the penitentiary is reported to have told a newspaperman that an earlier fire last Friday was set by inmates and that a prisoner was stabbed during or after the blaze. Warden Walter F. Johnstone has denied that an inmate was killed and has voiced his conviction that Friday's fire was not deliberately set.

That makes other statements by the same prisoner suspect. It makes one doubt, for instance, whether it is true that Frank Watson and John Fox, who escaped last July 2 and were recaptured in Belleville, carried with them over $2,000 from the prisoners' canteen fund, as this prisoner claimed in his interview with a reporter. It makes one doubt, too, whether he was telling the truth when he said that inmates were "hopping themselves with dope and alcohol." It tends to make one shrug one's shoulders when he says that the riot was an expression of the prisoners' determination to "wipe the Kingston hell hole off the face of the map."

If this was the only disturbing report of conditions in the penitentiary one might ignore it. But, from time to time, have come other hints. Only a week or so ago, for example, a small Ontario newspaper quoted a former inmate of the penitentiary as saying that some of the practices at the penitentiary were relics of past ages and that the public would not believe that such practices existed in this day.

There is one potential source of accurate information which should be tapped. A number of former inmates have, since their release from penitentiary, lived honestly and established good records as useful citizens of high integrity. What have these men to say?

If conditions at Kingston penitentiary, or at other penitentiaries, are unsatisfactory, what is the cause? Are hardened criminals making these prisons "hell-holes" for some of the inmates, in spite of the best efforts of the guards? Are the guards at fault? Or is it merely a case of out-moded rules?

If the guards are at fault, how can this condition be remedied? Is the remuneration too low to attract men of the required calibre? Are the methods of selection wrong, or is the training of guards faulty? Proper administration of a prison demands the firmest type of discipline; only men who have the necessary strength and spirit are capable of combining such sternness with justice in such a manner as to encourage inmates to reform.

As for the riot, the public is entitled to know the facts, they require constant revision. Time makes great changes outside prison walls. These changes are reflected in the character of the prison's inmates, requiring pace-keeping changes in the manner in which they are handled. Have sufficient changes been made—or have too many changes been made? Is the discipline too hard—or too soft? Or, more likely, are these remnants of the unreasonably harsh attitude of other years mingled with usually unreasonable instances of so-called "progressive" indulgences?

These and many questions the public is entitled to answers arrived at by independent and trained men after thorough investigation.

GUARDING LIBERTY

"Sometimes he went to extremes, but often that is the only way in guarding liberty."

What striking sentence appeared in a British newspaper in a tribute to a highly individualistic member of Parliament, now dead.

We do not know whether, in fact, he did go to extremes. But we do know that going to extremes is never the way to guard liberty.

Liberties only flourish in an atmosphere free from extremism. If an action is necessary to guard liberty it is not extreme; if it is extreme it does not safeguard liberty.

There are times when extreme actions are imperative; But when this is true liberty always suffers, temporarily at least.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright 1954, Edgar A. Guest)

NOW AND LATER

It may be when at home are they
With all their toys
And they annoy me I shall say:
"Come, play, make noise!"
And like as not when home they come
I'll hear the beating of a drum
And wish they weren't so troublesome.

I'm sure when they are home
once more
That it will be
The needless banging of a door
Will bother me.

And once, beyond the slightest doubt
When they are racing in and out
I'll wish they'd stay.

But they have been six weeks away,
And I'm alone.
The stairway squeak by night and day
Is all I've known.
A change of heart has come somehow.
The home has been so still, I vow
I'd like a little noise right now.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

August 17, 1934

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hall of Port Arthur, are the guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. T. S. Deacon and Mr. Deacon.

Mrs. McCombe and children of Chicago, Ill., are also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Deacon.

The Commis has returned home after spending some time at Baptiste Lake.

Miss Catherine Fenton, of Grimsby, Ontario, is visiting her grandfather, Lieut.-Col. W. N. Ponton, at Sidney Cottage, Trent Road.

Miss Patsy Holland has returned home from Toronto where she spent her vacation.

Mr. Frank Cushing, barrister, and Mrs. Cushing, of Ottawa, formerly of Belleville, are visiting relatives here.

30 YEARS AGO

August 17, 1924

Massanoga Park with its fine hotel and dancing pavilion, was a popular resort in times past. Here is a small item from our file copy at this time in 1894: "The Bachelors of Belleville entertained their friends at a "hop" at Massanoga Park last evening." Many events of this kind took place at the park and also Sunday School picnics.

Green corn was on the market this morning at 20 cents per dozen ears; cherries at cents to 65 cents per basket; red raspberries 18 cents per box; blue huckleberries 25 cents per quart; gooseberries 15 cents; potatoes 80 cents per peck; butter 42 cents per lb.; eggs 18 cents; spring chickens $1.50 to $2.50 per pair.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wotten have returned home after a motor car trip to many points of interest in the United States.

Mrs. Stephen Licence, Albert Street, has returned home from Toronto where she visited relatives for several weeks.

Mrs. and Mrs. S. McGuire are spending a vacation camping at Moira Lake.

40 YEARS AGO

August 17, 1914

Mrs. James R. Gibson of Yorkton, Sask., is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. C. Vermilyea, West Bridge Street.

Ald. Fred Wallbridge arrived home today from the Old Country.

With the loyal women of Belleville who wish to do something for the boys who are going overseas to serve their country, meet in the parlors of the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday morning next at ten o'clock.

Tents were erected at the Agricultural Park today for the men of the 34th battery who have enlisted for active service overseas.

The frost came dangerously near the pumpkin in the fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McGie are spending a few days in Ottawa.

50 YEARS AGO

August 17, 1904

Mr. Reginald Dean of Toronto is visiting friends here.

Miss Anna Quinn of Bay City, Mich., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. T. Collins, in this city.

Mr. John Sparrow of this city, is visiting friends in Tweed.

Mrs. James Johnston and daughter, of Bowmanville, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonald, Wellington Street.

Mrs. Brandon and daughter, Myrtle, who have been visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Frank Thorpe, have left for their home in St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. John F. Thompson and son of Winnipeg, Manitoba, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Price, here.

Typewriter Bears Grudge

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

Our typewriter has developed more strange characteristics during the over the years—but the most irritating thing this fiend has inflicted on us, so far, happened the other day in the midst of a wedding report. Our "e" had evidently decided to be among the missing, function-wise, and it did considerably as we reasoned in vain with the lig, black monster to kindly print this all-important vowel.

We never quite realized just how often in a story we punch the letter "e"—and possibly that is the reason it has become tired, worn or contrary. Before we realized that the "e" was acting up in this fashion, what appeared to be a wedding account in a strange tongue, with a few places there was a blank where the "e" should have been, but for the most part the words had been formed without even benefit of a space to denote its absence.

After a bit of shoving and pushing we eventually convinced the stubborn machine that the lonely "e" should start printing again—and, aside from the occasional stiffness with a letter of another sit-down strike our copy has reverted to its original state complete with this all-important vowel. We have enough trouble without suddenly realizing that we have typed something to the effect of "The brid looked lovly in a dras of whit nylon tull with lac jacket as she nird ch church. The quit but pretty wedding was solmnied in th prsnc of svral frinds."

The only thing that could be worse would be for all the vowels to go on strike at the same result of which would be fantastic

Execs Rely On Printed Word

(Royal Bank Letter)

Few top executives try to carry in their head all the facts they need in the course of a day's work. The printed word—whether found on the shelf of a personal bookshelf or in the biggest public library—as the best source of knowledge.

The vast pocket dictionary and the encyclopedia for the "bird's-eye view" will cover most inquiries. For more detailed search there are business directories, almanacs, the "Who's Who" type of biographical record and year books.

But reference books are not enough. To make the best use of them, there are two habits of childhood which we would do well to retain as we grow older; curiosity and observation. Those who succeed in maintaining a lively spirit of inquiry find it rewarding, increase their understanding and find joy in the search itself.

Creating the need for information is a refreshing way of self-education.

Even if the answers to our questions do not turn out to be what we expected, or if we decide we sought ceases to have any point in the new situation we invented, no true values have been destroyed or impaired by learning the truth about them.

to say the least, the "test sentence" running in the following essay: "The sick brwn fox jmpd ov th lzy dg." Perhaps we had better revert to the hand-written word before it is too late!

Fortunes Made With Gadgets

(By Walter Manfred in the Milwaukee Journal)

In the field of invention, the little things quite often count. Sometimes the count goes up into the millions of dollars for the inventors or promoters. Who first crinkled a hairpin to make it stay in place? Who first thought of placing a mall chute in an office building? Their names are not remembered by the world as grateful posterity, but each of them needed a device nothing else and won a fortune.

The late Gideon Sundbach is a striking example of the power of little things. As a youthful Swede, he came to America to make dynamos for Westinghouse. He was persuaded to change jobs to help perfect a trifling fastener device. And when he died recently, at his home in Meadville, Pa., he had accumulated wealth in abundance — all from a little gadget.

The same story, with slight variations, can be told many times. What of the zipper? Or the shoelace tip — the ice cream scoop — the fountain pen — the beer can opener — the monkey wrench? All of them simple and little — but how important.

Nobody even made a fortune more quickly than Lewis Waterman of Philadelphia. He simply thought it a good idea to place an ink supply in the cylindrical body of a pencil. He sold his patent for $100,000.

At the patent office, too, they like to tell of the Washington (DC) sales clerk who, about 50 years ago, picked up a hairpin while he was waiting for a streetcar. He twisted the wire around it and soon he had a paper clip. A patent, he later said, and how some profits have ensued.

About 50 years ago Mrs. C. J. Walker of Indianapolis was in a slump as called Mme. Walker — noticed that white men were selling hair preparations to their Negro women.

Mme. Walker, as she later said, she got the idea of a salve which would straighten and soften hair. She formed the Walker Co. in a small frame house and then in a big factory. Profits increased steadily, and after 10 years Mme. Walker moved to New York.

In fourteen she cornered the market and the press wh ich she needed. She bought and commercials in leading Negro papers, she set up schools of beauty culture, and she became a social celebrity.

Her mansion on the Hudson river became a favorite meeting place for Negro women, and her daughter has become a social arbiter. Millions of men and women throughout the world buy her hair straightening preparations.

What could be simpler than the top of the bottom opened for can which is closed by a slight twist? It wasn't too simple for Milton Reynolds, Chicago, to take out a patent on it and sold it for $26,000.

The safety pin is an old, old idea — variations of it were used by the Greeks and Romans. In 1849 an observant American, Walter Hunt, invented the safety pin and patented it, so he applied for the rights, successfully, and is now honored as the inventor of the safety pin. America and abroad make hundreds of billions of his safety pins yearly.

Can we imagine the cash which has accumulated for Mr. Hunt and his heirs? All he did was devise a little thing and sell it. He placed on bottles of beer, and soda water. A grocer at Cedar Rapids, Minn., was astonished to observe that his customers couldn't always carry home all the bottles of beer they bought. He made a large paper bag, reinforced by cardboard, and running along the sides up into a handle. Such a clever little idea! — his in fortune. He sold it for $5 million weekly.

Edward R. Law, of Fresno, Calif., who died a few days ago, saved countless lives and must have accounted a godfather-doctor of mankind — he is credited with originating the white line on the centre of highways.

Some decades ago Daniel O'Sullivan, a tester of electrical equipment, was instructed by his boss to and upon a rubber pad so he wouldn't be shocked. Now and then, he forgot, and was jolted as a result.

To avoid the nuisance of dragging around the rubber pad, he cut off small pieces and studied how the heels and soles of his shoes. Then he noticed the combination of war-to-be resilient heels, and he took out a patent, which brought him millions, and has created a sizable industry.

Back in the 1890's, when the westward push was on, cattlemen were irked to see their critters bash through the wooden and wire fences. Some ranchers put prongs, spurs, barbs and other metal points on their fences, to discourage bovine wanderings.

Joseph Glidden, of Illinois, in 1873 was shrewd enough to take up a patent on a simple barbed wire. A manufacturer paid him $60,000 down and $2c for each hundred pounds of the wire produced. Barbed wire royalties have run into millions.

Compared to most of these highly salable little inventions, the modern fastener is a complex challenge to ilk makers.

Whitcomb L. Judson was the true pioneer in the field. He exhibited a clasp lock fastener at the Chicago exposition in 1893, and a young lawyer of Meadville, Pa., Lewis Walker, liked its possibilities.

Judson and Walker went into partnership, with Judson in charge of financial hardship. Judson made a slide fastener for shoes, but he couldn't make the machinery needed to turn out fasteners in satisfactory lots. He tried out, and won a fortune in automobile clothing.

Walker kept his faith in the fastener, however. Needing an engineering genius, he hired Gideon Sundbach. Sundbach, laughingly, says that when he saw how far the operations had proceeded, he joined the firm at Hoboken, N.J. Within a year he had invented not only a workable machine but a slide fastener that could make it. Patents were taken out in 1908.

Walker and sons persuaded a Brooklyn tailor to put slide fasteners on sailors' flannel suits. The order kept the firm going. In 1920 the Hookless Faster Co. did over $1 million worth of business with only 30 employes.

In that year, B. F. Martin, a Goodrich rubber overshoe executive, noticed the slide fastener on a tobacco pouch at a shop window. "Just what we need for our overshoes," he thought. He went to Meadville and got the rights. He and his staff developed a neat overshoe with the new fastener, and showed it to the Goodrich president, who said:

"A dandy idea!" Work exclaim-ed, "a regular slipper, isn't it?"

And thus the slide fastener was happily christened.

German And English Man

(From a speech by Dr. Hans Schlange-Schoeningen, West German Ambassador to Great Britain.)

The German is in too much of a hurry; the Englishman lets too much time slip by. The Englishman is given to understatement, the German to overstatement.

Twice already — fundamentally — has the difference of character have contributed to plunging the two nations into wars against each other.

To misunderstand each other a second time might be a downright tragic, but perhaps fatal for both peoples. Perhaps can be defended today neither without Germany nor without Britain.

The task of the leaders of the states men today consists in recommending and bringing to Germany and speed to Britain.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IT MAKES ALL THE DIFFERENCE

It's the little things that so often "amount as eagles" and form the basis of respect and happiness.

I recently took from my library Spencer's famous old fascinating book which he called "The Summing Up," and I came across this sentence to his mother. A friend of hers, Lady Anglesey, told Herbert Spencer that since she was faithful to that ugly little man with the big nose so many people in love with her, she felt she was entitled to be

FRUIT

All the fruit prizes were won by Allen Weese and Robert Weese, they being the only two competitors. Allen Weese won 14 firsts and 21 seconds, while Robert Weese won 21 firsts and 14 seconds: Manson MacDonald won with Flemish Beauty Pears and Chopp, Bartlett Pears.

The best plate of dessert apples went to Allen Weese and also the best collection of fall apples. The best collection of fruit went to Robert Weese with Allen Weese second. Best plate of plums and pears went to Allen Weese also the best bushel of McIntosh with Robert Weese, second. The best bushel cons was won by Allen Weese with Robert Weese second. The best 11-quart basket of McIntosh was won by Robert Weese with Allen Weese second. The best six-quart basket of New Greenings and the best six-quart basket of Bartlett Pears were won by Allen Weese.

Man Hangs Self In Cell at Jail

TRENTON, (Special) — Alfred J. Williams, 53, of Trenton, hanging himself with his belt from a cell of the Trenton jail, Monday evening, shortly before 8.00. Williams, who served 20 years for intoxication, was found by Sgt. Douglas Bradshaw and Chief Constable Jack Taylor at 7.50 p.m.

He had looped his belt around a cross bar in the top of the cell door and then slumped against the belt and strangled.

He is survived by a wife and two sons in Trenton.

Ford of Canada Marks Fiftieth Birthday

WINDSOR, Aug. 17.—Within striking distance of producing its 3,000,000th motor vehicle, the oldest automobile company in Canada is celebrating its 50th birthday today.

Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited was incorporated on August 17, 1904, and completed its first motor car on October 24 of that year. It is not known for the fact that employees have been in the employ of Ford for the past two weeks, it is more than probable that the 3,000,000th car will be rolled off the assembly line at Ford Oakville on the actual anniversary date. To-day, as production was only 7,000 vehicles short of that total when the vacation period began. The target will be reached early this week.

The company began operations in a former wagon works in Windsor with 17 employees and produced 117 cars in its first 12 months in business. It was not until 1910 that annual production passed the 1,000 figure, but from then on, because of the ever-growing popularity of the Model T, Canadian Ford plants expanded by leaps and bounds. It exceeded 100,000 in 1926, and when the last Model T was built in May 1927, more than three-quarters of a million of this one model had been produced. Canadian production of Model A cars between 1928 and 1932 exceeded 250,000. The company made its 1,000,000th car in March, 1929, and the 2,000,000th in August, 1946.

During World War II Ford of Canada was the largest single source of military land transport in the British Empire, producing 370,000 vehicles for the armed forces, including 4,000 armored units

GREAT EXPANSION

The company has experienced tremendous expansion in the post-war years. Canadian sales for the past half-century have gone well past the 1-2 billion dollars, and the past eight years have accounted for almost half of this amount. Better than one car in every five motor vehicles produced in Canada so far have been built by Ford of Canada.

The plants, offices and warehouses of Ford of Canada, together with those of its wholly-owned subsidiary companies in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Singapore, have a combined floor area under roof of more than 165 acres and give employment to about 25,000 persons. The Canadian plants alone employ more than two hours as many vehicles as were turned out in the first 12 months of the company's existence.

Celebration of the 50th anniversary is being confined largely to the events for employees of the citizens of Windsor, including a giant Golden Jubilee Panorama which is being presented this week-end. It will take place on a 5,000 square foot stage, with a cast of 250, and will tell the story of the company against a background of drama, music and drama. Giant pieces of scenery, self-propelled on tractors, will be manoeuvred to show the interior of the original Ford plant and other historic scenes. Antique vehicles including the first car made by Henry Ford in 1896, the "999" race car of 1902, the first automobile to travel 60 miles per hour, and the original Model T, will be seen in operation on stage, as well as several Model A Fords. The Panorama is being staged in Windsor's Canadian Exhibition Stadium.

AUSTRALIA'S REMOTE-CONTROLLED JINDIVIK

Australia's latest pilotless aircraft, the "Jindivik", comes in for a landing with skids and flaps in down position. The plane will be launched, manoeuvred in flight to simulate the evasive tactics of an enemy aircraft, then brought back to its runway. The Jindivik is in use at Woomera as a high-speed remote-controlled jet-propelled target ranging near the speed of sound. Originally intended to function as a target for anti-aircraft weapons, the pilotless plane is providing experience in high-speed remote controlled mechanisms that will help in solving problems in development of guided weapons.—Central Press Canadian.

Many New Horse Exhibitors Swell Entry List to Record

Record entries in light horses many exhibitors showing, not have never before exhibited and an all-time high in the number of pigs shown. Here features in the horse and livestock show at the Belleville Fair.

"Every available horse stall was taken up by show animals before the fair opened" stated as exhibitors brought in their show horses from parts of the province. Judging of horses will get underway at the fair today and continue through Wednesday and Thursday.

Also an increased interest in hogs seemed evident as showmen from the Central Ontario district filled all the hog pens at an early hour. Yorkshires were predominant, but there were also pens of Tamworths and Berkshires on show.

Exhibits of sheep, cattle and heavy horses, made up the livestock display.

The display of 12 Belgian horses by O'Keefe's Brewing Company, including two mares and colts, are attracting much attention from horsegoers. The big horses will be shown in multiple hitches and also singly.

Also in the light horse classes three exhibitors were showing Percherons with W. D. Shea of Manilla leading with seven; while W. Moynes of Codrington, was on hand with two Percheron stallions and a brood mare and foal, while Garth Robinson of Bowmanville, is scheduled to arrive with another six Percherons.

MANY LIGHT HORSES

But the biggest display was in light horses with half a dozen or more exhibitors. The largest was shown before at Belleville fair on hand. Included among the new exhibitors are Jack Cochrane of Blackstock, Dr. Bartlett of Brampton, Kenneth Bowman of Cavan, and Charles O'Connor of Newburg.

At least four exhibitors are showing in the saddle horse class with John H. Bush's beautiful Palomino drawing the most attention from horse lovers. Others showing saddlers include Jack and Charles Culver of Picton and H. Atkinson of Bloomfield.

There is a big entry in the Hackney class with Dr. E. G. Hockey of Belleville showing a mare and foal; Kenneth McMillan of Georgetown, four Hackneys and Mr. Atkinson, a Hackney stallion, mare and pony. E. Hodgins of Orwell is also showing in the pony class.

In the road horse class Clifford Heath of Madoc is on hand with a colt, pony and mare; George Hutchinson of Belleville, mare and W. Lindsay of Campbellcroft, three road horses. J. A. McKay of Georgetown has a road mare.

Elmer Wood of Ivanhoe and Dave Cowan of Belleville are in the span with Ayrshire cattle, with three exhibitors, Lorne Jarrell of Campbellford, Ross Cowan of Campbellford and William Matthews of Cannifton showing. Two pens of calves were lacking but one exhibitor A. Ackerman of Bath was scheduled to arrive with his herd.

DEFINITE TREND

A definite trend toward the Yorkshire breed of hogs was shown in the record swine exhibit. Several exhibitors expressed their intention of showing swine but all pens filled were pondering what to do with their stock.

Wesley Finch of Campbellford was on hand with six pens of Yorks; while Higgins of Marmora, Burg and Bruce Cummings of Napanee were also showing Yorks. Norman Chambers of Napanee and M. A. Park and Son of Bellebelford also showed Yorks. Tamworth hogs were shown by Vernon Ackerman of Bath and by M. A. Parks Son.

Half a dozen pens of sheep were on hand by Thursday morning and these pens were being utilized by junior farmers in their Jr. Judging competitions. Don Beach of Stirling and N. R. Green of Nestleton were showing Leicester and Suffolk sheep.

Adenauer Hits French Plan To Alter Treaty

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government today ripped into France's defence proposals, charging they "would affect the very foundations" of the European defence treaty if accepted.

In its first official comment on French Premier Mendes France's sweeping proposals to change the 43-nation treaty, the West German government said:

It is a known fact that the foreign ministers' conference in Brussels this week was originally intended to limit itself to such talks as would not require a new ratification of the treaties."

May Raise Speed Limit on 4-Lane Roads Says Nickle

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — W. M. Nickle, chairman of the Ontario legislature's select committee on highway safety, said Monday he will ask the committee to approve a recommendation for a 60-mile-an-hour speed limit on the province's four-lane highways.

Mr. Nickle, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Kingston, said the recommendation will be considered by the committee meeting next week.

The 10-mile - an - hour extension would apply only to limited access highways, such as the Queen Elizabeth Way, Highway 400 and 401 and the future trans-provincial throughway.

Mr. Nickle said in an interview that the committee's investigation of highway safety has revealed that higher speed limits did not add to the accident toll. The majority of committee members indicated that they supported the plan, he added.

He said another recommendation the committee will make is the floodlighting of railway crossings. The committee will inspect the facilities of the highways and traffic conference in Chicago before preparing its report.

PICTON

Liberal Leader Visits Picton On August 27

PICTON (Special) — Farquhar Oliver, Toronto, Liberal leader, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at a meeting in Picton, Friday, August 27th, called for the purpose of reorganizing the Prince Edward - Lennox Young Liberal Association.

Approximately 100 persons from all parts of the county are attending and their guests are expected to attend the meeting which is to be held in the Royal Hotel.

Chief item of business for discussion and consideration is the election of officers for the newly-reorganized association.

Guests expected to attend, in addition to Mr. Oliver, are Frank Hodgson, M.P. for Hastings South, Senator William A. Fraser, Trenton, Gordon Lynch, president of the Eastern district of the Ontario Young Liberals Association, Robert Hamilton, vice-president of the Ontario Young Liberals' executive, and executives of the Central Ontario Young Liberal Association.

The Prince Edward - Lennox - Young Liberal Association will play host to members of the senior Liberal organization, and representatives of associations in Hastings, Northumberland West, are also expected to attend.

Cite Millionaire For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Monday night cited Connecticut Republican Purtell Yorker, on contempt of Congress charges.

The 85-to-0 roll-call vote followed hours of debate in which Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wisconsin) called the latter Thomas W. Lamont while Senator William a m Langer (R-ND) referred to Lamont as "an underdog" despite his riches.

Purtell refused to testify last year on Lamont's testimony at a private hearing before McCarthy last Sept. 23 at which Lamont said "I am not and never have been a member of the Communist party" but refused to answer many of McCarthy's questions.

At the time McCarthy was sitting as a one-man quorum of his Senate investigations committee. Lamont based the refusal on a general challenge of McCarthy's authority to question him.

"Whether he is a rich man or a pauper black or white on the Senate floor he's entitled to a square deal," Langer said in defense of McCarthy's handling of the case.

Two contempt citations now go to the justice department for a decision on prosecution. Maximum penalties upon conviction are a year in jail and a $1,000 fine for each count.

Many Varieties of Flowers Seen in Horticulture Building

In spite of the heavy drought of weeks, the floral display in the horticulture building brings merit to the growers in the variety shown, and the fineness of the blooms, both in coloring and size. Nevertheless, there was an appreciable decrease in size of bloom and length of stalk over that of last year.

The cacti display showed some slightly different varieties including the ball type; the cream-edged Agave Americana, a decorative type, the aeroplane plant so called because of its wing-like leaves; the flaming torch with its russet-red wide mass of blooms; the hoary 'Old Man'; the opuncha, the Agave Victoria Regina.

ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY

The horticulture display was attractive with its baskets of gladioli in shades of mauve, reddish purple, salmon pink, white, flame red, and pink-lipped cream.

Among the begonias, of which there were a fine collection, were seen the Rex, the pendula, the beefsteak, the palm leaf, the variegated, youth and old age, and the variegated wax begonia. The sprays included gladioli in white, deep cream, red and white, mixed pinks and white, and the wreaths red and white florets of the gladioli. There were also some beautifully arranged baskets of mixed gladioli, and others of various summer flowers including tiger lilies, phlox, canterbury bells, sprays of ambrosia and blue delphiniums, gaillardia and fragrant cedar sprays.

Among the other summer flowers and late fall were asters of varying hues, deep reds, pure whites, lovely rose, deep purple, and soft pink, Zinnias were in the small and large variety, pom pom, and quilled, yellow, mauve, rose, cerise, gold, orange and white.

Two tall standards were most attractive; these contained tall spikes of mixed gladioli.

PRETTY CENTREPIECES

The centrepieces were of tiny zinnias in mixed shades; others were of cornflowers; roses and gypsophelia; while another was outstanding in its lovely red anemone centre mingled with white clematis. The corsages were of gladioli florets in soft pink tones.

Sunflowers also had their place as did the ever favorite cosmos in the fall flower class; the cornflowers, the coreopsis; clarkia cuntoria, (thistle) and the tassel flower, a newcomer to the show with its tiny little blooms.

Others included snapdragons African violets in colors of white, mauve, pink, and purple, pansies with their cute delightful aliure; petunias single and double; tall phlox in pink and white, purple and light orchid, as well as deep pink shades; Japanese hops, orange sultans, and white-edged sultans; the lovely velvet-like gloxinia with its deep purple and red bell flowers; geraniums were in salmon pink.

FERN FERNS

There were few ferns shown, these included the Boston Compactor, and graceful sword fern. The Sansevari with its majestic spikes; the little tree-like rubber plant with its variety of names; foliage in lovely mingled colorings, and the old favorite, the angel begonia, and an eye-catching, three-tiered arrangement of the rose-like cacti, the hen and chickens variety.

There were displays of window boxes with a variety of suitable flowers, geraniums, coleus and trailing ivy; and hanging baskets with the same assortment.

The fall queen of display showed the salvia with its rich, red spikes of color, while some fine specimens of single spikes of gladioli drew the attention with their lovely shades in mauve, crimson, deep dark reds yellow-tipped orange, white and pale pink.

In all, a worthy exhibition by flower lovers.

NOW WE ARE FOUR

Taken especially for her fourth birthday, Aug. 15, this picture shows Princess Anne wearing a pink coral and pearl necklace, a present from her mother, the Queen. The necklace was worn by the Queen when she was a child. The official birthday portrait was made by Marcus Adams. (CP from U.K. Information Office).

Best Baby Show in Years Has Twenty-Nine Winners

The big, white tent behind the red palings glistened in the afternoon sunshine, and, inside there was a steady hum of activity as the white robed nurses, with their assistants in grey and white with flowing white veils prepared for the highlight of the Fair's first day, the baby show, under the sponsorship of the St. John Ambulance Corps.

Soon there was a solid line of mothers and baby carriages lined along one side, while tables at both the east and west ends were made in readiness for the little bundles of animated loveliness. This was a new innovation and cut in two the strain on both the babies and parents, not to mention the nurses in charge.

26 BABIES

The genial master of ceremonies was Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P. who welcomed the many mothers and the 76 little ones, including one set of twins, a boy and a girl, Paul and Pauline Graves, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graves, and called the names of the entrants who were then made ready for the ordeal, amid waving of little hands and feet. Some even vented their dire displeasure by banging their heels in no mean tatoo upon the table top.

There was no 'best' baby of the show, as many might have taken this place. The following list gives the winners as judged in order of merit:

GIRLS ONE TO SIX MONTHS

Sharlene French, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy French, R.R. 1 Belleville; Ciaka Polmanter, Mrs. Roy Polmanter, R.R. 4 Belleville; Anne June Shields, Mrs. Cecil Shields, R.R. 2 Belleville; Jerrilynne Rogers, Mrs. Douglas Rogers, 75 S. Weddings

IRWIN—WILTSE

Before a lovely arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums intermixed with ferns, in the United Church, Wellington, Ontario, on Saturday, August 14, at 2.00 p.m., Dorothy Fay Wiltse, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Boyce Wiltse, of Dundee, Ontario, became the bride of Clement Murray Irwin, of Belleville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin, of Toronto. The Rev. J. W. Robins, assisted by the Rev. Alfred Poulter, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mrs. Jack McNeil, cousin of the bride, furnished the wedding music. Mr. Hilliard Campbell, uncle of the bride, soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown of white eyelet embroidery over taffeta, fashioned in princess style with seed pearl trim. She wore a fingertip veil of fine net held by an eyelet coronet studded with seed pearls, matching gloves and carried a cascade bouquet of white poma pink carnations and stephanotis and adiantum fern.

Mrs. Alton Cass, of London, Ontario, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore pink eyelet organdy over pink taffeta, with large halo hat, matching short gloves. She carried a nosegay of mauve buds encircled with white poma and net streamers.

Mrs. Thomas Nash, of Wellington, and Mrs. John Irwin, of Toronto, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in mauve eyelet organdy over mauve taffeta, with halo hats and matching gloves and shoes. They carried nosegays of Sweetheart roses, encircled with poma and net streamers.

Mr. John Irwin of Toronto, attended the bridegroom, and the ushers were: Mr. Bruce Slider, of Toronto and Mr. Alton H. Cass, of London, Ontario.

The reception was held at Grahamnor, Wellington, where the bride's mother, in rose lace over taffeta with matching hat, received the guests assisted by Mrs. L. Read, of New York, sister of the bridegroom, who wore blue nylon net over taffeta with corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to Wiggwam Lodge, Muskoka, the bride chos a black and white checked suit or imported cotton with deep white cuffs, studded with rhinestones; with small, white hat and accessories and corsage of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Irwin will reside at the Edgetown apartments, Belleville.

Guests were present from Vancouver, Minneapolis, Brockville Toronto, Duncas, London, Napanee, Belleville, Westport, and Ottawa

For the past three years the bridegroom has been on the teaching staff of Albert College; the bride, a member of the office staff of the Optical Company for the past five years.

Fred forgot one thing...

HE FORGOT that a bit of wood preservative, applied at little cost when the fence was put in, would have saved him the cost of new posts now.

In the telephone business, as around your own home, we find it's better to do the job right in the first place and then look after it. It's the best way we know to avoid heavy repair and replacement costs, to save expense and give you most service for your money.

That's why we treat telephone poles against rot; why we keep our trucks clean and in good repair; why we put up exchanges and offices to last.

It's common sense if we are to keep our costs down—and the price of your telephone service low.

If you would like to get useful information on the preservative treatment of wood we suggest you write Forest Products Laboratories of Canada, Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources, Ottawa.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MAYBE THIS PROBLEM IS SIMPLER THAN YOU THINK

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am married to a man I just don't seem to love any more, yet my principles are such that I feel it would be wrong to leave him.

On the other hand, I don't want him to be hurt by realizing that I don't love him, although I am afraid he has begun to suspect it because it is so hard for me to respond to his affection.

Can you advise me on this? — Mrs. H.W.

Dear Mrs. H.W.:

Perhaps this problem of yours is not quite so difficult as you feel it is. It's possible that there may be some things about your own feelings that you don't quite understand, and that a doctor, for instance, might be able to explain to you so that you would feel differently. The cause may be a physical one.

Or, again, there may be some psychological difficulty which a marriage counselor could help you straighten out. At any rate, I would certainly advise you to seek help from either doctor or a marriage counselor, or even both, perhaps, before consigning yourself to continuing marriage with a husband you feel you don't love. If you will seek help and guidance, you may yet find new happiness in your marriage.

SHE GOT THE WRONG ADVICE —AND ACTED ON IT

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Some months ago I started going with a boy two years older than myself. He is 21 and I am 19. A friend of mine told me the way to keep a boy interested in you was to act toward him as but now I'm not so sure. The reason is that last week we had a date for a certain evening and he never showed up. I asked this friend what to do, and she said I should make a point of seeing him, and demand an apology and an explanation. Do you think this would be wise? I really do like this boy a awful lot, and he was always very good to me, but I have never had too many dates, and so didn't know too much about how to act and I guess I got the wrong advice. — Jacqueline 'T.

Dear Jacqueline:

You certainly did get the wrong advice. There's nothing so foolish as to try and be something you are not, in your relations with anybody at all, whether old or young; her or girl. If, instead of putting on an act, you had just been yourself, you would probably still have your boy friend. While it is always rude for a young man to stand a girl up on a date, it is undoubtedly your own fault, and he is just giving you a dose of your own medicine. I hardly think that, if you do see this chap again, you would be justified in demanding "an apology and an explanation." On the contrary, I think you owe him both.

Perhaps you might write him a note and ask him if he would feel like coming over to your house some evening, because there is something you would like to tell him. Then, if he does come, be perfectly honest with him for a change, and explain why you acted as you did, telling him that perhaps he got fed up with your attitude and that was why he stood you up. If he is sincere in you however, I'm afraid you will just have to let it go at that and learn from your mistake.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

IT'S EASY TO BE GRACEFUL

Like several other qualities of beauty, poise and grace begin in the mind. One must have the desire for a regal appearance. This happy state of affairs does not depend upon facial features nor is it something that costs money to secure. You just build it—and rejoice in it.

A graceful carriage and attractive bearing are impossible without poise, which is the quality of being well-balanced. It is equilibrium, an equal distribution of mental and physical forces that enables one to carry the body with ease, repose, grace and elegance. The body must be held correctly, kept as tall as possible.

The spinal column should always be fully extended in a strong, vibrant manner. Then the torso is given its fullest length, the internal organs are in position, the head is carried so that no muscles are under stress or strain. The chest expands easily and naturally, the muscles of the abdomen are strong and flat.

Graceful figure lines cannot always be cultivated as they belong to the physique. But grace of motion is possible to every woman who desires to replace the prettiness and freshness of youth with the beauty of rhythm, balance and self-control. This can be acquired through conscientious effort.

The light step must be cultivated. There are lovlies of the stage and movies who seem to float through the air. One rule to remember: on place your feet upon the ground that a person approaching cannot see the soles of your shoes—even the slightest bit at the toes.

Note how you sink into a chair, what sort of a picture do you present when you flop yourself from it? Be body-conscious. It is the only way to appear your best.

Don't cross your legs. Or, if you must, cross them at the line of the ankles.

When walking keep your chest lifted, head balanced and arms swinging easily. When standing, do not place your hands on your hips, that habit isn't pretty because the elbows should be kept close to the body.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

MAKES SENSE. . .FOR GUEST TO BE HOSTESS SOMETIMES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine, a girl with whom I worked for quite a few years in the same company, has accepted our invitation to spend her two weeks' vacation, the first two weeks in September, here with us. We're delighted to have her come, but we've a problem about paying for all the entertainment. She has an excellent salary, has no dependents, and can afford to pay for many entertainments we can't afford. My husband and I have been married only two years, and we're paying for our new house, as well as providing for my mother. She knows this, of course, but still my husband and I are not sure whether we should accept if she, as our guest, should suggest paying for certain of the entertainments (for example, tickets for the very fine summer theatre we have here, tickets for the nearby races, dining or lunching at restaurants or country inns). Would it be proper for us to accept if she suggests paying for some of these entertainments — Deborah R.

Yes, indeed, entirely proper for you and your husband to accept entertainments tendered by your guest. Today, in circumstances like this, the tactful and sensible guest, if she is financially able to (as your friend is), suggests paying. In fact she be not allowed to bestow /at certain entertainments. This really makes sense, for she is doubtless delighted to have the privilege of spending her two-weeks vacation with you and your husband in your new home, delighted to have the opportunity of seeing good summer theater, to go to the races, to dine in attractive places with congenial companions. With tact and friendliness and good sense, this give-and-take of hospitality can be delightfully distributed and deeply enjoyed.

DON'T JUST SMILE, GIRLS. . . SAY A FEW WORDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sister says that when after a man has thanked a girl for the dance, she just "responds" with a nice smile. I think she should say something about the dance — not just smile. Do you agree with my sister or with me? — Mary Louise

I agree with you. . . I think it's fairly dumb for a girl just to smile her appreciation after a dance. With a little practice and effort I think she could and should manage to say a few words that will please her partner: "It was delightful, Bob," or even "It was a wonderful dance, I enjoyed every minute of it."

A TIP IS A TIP. . .BY MAN OR WOMAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Are women guests in a restaurant expected to tip as much as men?—Flo.

Why not? . .to a waiter or waitress, a tip is a tip, whether given by a man or a woman. (Incidentally, your question sounds as if you thought that men always tip more than women do. . .which, as the song goes "ain't necessarily so." (Not today, Flo!)

BRIDES! THANKS FOR COM-MUNITY WELCOME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am in Canada's very soon, and we are going to live in the medium-size town where my husband-to-be was born and has always lived. He tells me, and his friends have told me, that there it is the custom to have a shower for a newcomer, and to present her with a present for the new home. First someone says or reads a short and welcoming letter into the community. I'm completely at sea as how to respond to this speech. Will you help me, please? — Katherine

Yes, might say something like this, in your most gracious manner: "I thank you with all my heart for your warm-hearted words to welcome me to this friendly community where my Peter has always lived. How good of you to offer me the right hand of fellowship. I am very happy and very grateful. I shall do everything in my power to deserve your faith, your friendship, your kindly welcome. Thank you, every one of you, deeply.

Young Mother Craves Coaching on Cooking

By Mary Moore

A.M. writes a wistful little letter: ". . . I think I must be the world's worst cook, and I finally decided I must learn now.

"We have just been married a short while and between working in an office and having a small baby to care for I haven't too much time to donate to cooking. Susan is one year and 3 and I have more time. I would appreciate help on utensils that are a must in a kitchen; meat cuts; menu planning; and main course menus. . . . I am also interested in the Protein Diet and was very happy with the information you had in your column covering it. —A. M."

A.M.'s questions seem simple enough but I guess it has taken me thirty years to learn how to answer them—and if I did answer adequately it would fill a book.

If I were the mother of one one-year-old girl and had a moderate income I would want to buy for my kitchen in the way of utensils: 1 medium and 1 small double boiler; 1 medium copper-bottomed frying pan with lid; 1 1-quart size covered glass casserole; 1 medium uncovered roaster; 1 8x8x2 inch aluminum or glass cake or baking dish; 1 8-inch aluminum or glass pie plate; 1 aluminum cookie sheet; 1 4-cup drip-o-later; 1 porcelain or glass pie pan; 1 pancake turner; 1 wall-type canopener; 1 rubber-bottomed stirring spoon; 1 slotted spoon; 2 measuring cups, 2 sets measuring spoons; 1 potato masher; 1 ball-bearing rotary beater; 1 pastry blender; 1 flour sifter; large, 1 medium, 1 small mixing bowl; 1 wooden chopping board, 1 medium-sized strainer, 1 medium bath pans and dish drainer; vegetable brush, 1 each best quality carving and paring knife.

I can just hear the buzzing remonstrations of some of the well-equipped housewives in this audience: "She's left out muffin tins" or "How in the world can anybody get along without a rolling pin!" (she can use a milk bottle or glass sealer) and a dozen other comments about so-called essentials. But cracking good meals can be prepared on that minimum of equipment.

I will mail A.M. some of my previous lectures on meat buying. Also a Dominion Government booklet on meal planning.

I lecture on basic nutrition in this column constantly, but will give you today's menu for August that includes the items essential to good health.

BREAKFAST

Six-ounce bowl of fresh blueberries with strained honey and cream; 1 poached egg on buttered whole wheat toast; 1 slice buttered whole wheat toast with black currant jam. Coffee. The baby could have a few of the blueberries mashed, less toast and milk instead of coffee.

LUNCH

Vegetable or Cream of Tomato Soup (preferably homemade); toasted cheese sandwich on whole wheat; tomato and lettuce salad, 1 large ripe banana; whole milk. Small portions of all these for baby except milk—full portion.

DINNER

Broiled chopped beef cakes; boiled small new potatoes in baskets with butter; shredded yellow beans in parsley sauce; pickles; shredded cabbage and carrot salad with mayonnaise; saltines; apple pie, cheese, coffee or tea. Baby would have apple sauce instead of pie and milk instead of tea or coffee.

NOTE TO A.M.

Watch the column and I will try to give you hints on economical buying and cooking every week.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— For the first time science has found a new healing method with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or shrinking (shrinkage) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

And this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.* The price is only $1.10 a tube including applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H.—at all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark

Chou Says Greater Trade Between Britain and China Aid to Peace

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Chinese Communist Premier Chou Enlai yesterday told a visiting British Labor party delegation that Britain should co-operate with his government in resisting other nations "to set an example" for other nations.

Felping Radio also quoted former prime minister Clement Attlee, leader of the British delegation, as pointing out at the dinner that his government had recognized the Peiping regime in January, 1950. It said Attlee expressed the wish that each country be permitted to develop its own system of government.

TRADE A HELP

Chou and Attlee toasted each other's health, according to the radio, and both said increased trade between their two countries would help promote peace.

"The Chinese people and government are willing to adopt every step to further friendship, co-operation and to expand and develop trade between China and Britain," Chou said.

He said the development of this trade "will greatly help our friendship" and added that the visit of the Labor party delegation "will contribute greatly to the promotion of friendly relations."

Chou said that although, Britain and Communist China had different political institutions, "the development of relations is possible and should be promoted to set an example."

NOT QUOTED

Many high Peiping officials and members of the diplomatic corps, including British charge d'affaires Humphrey Trevelyan, were reported to have attended the dinner.

(Peiping Radio, as monitored here, gave no direct quotation of Attlee's remarks at the dinner.)

Garden Notes

August Reminders for the Gardener

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

This is the time to transplant, or buy new peonies. If some of your old plants failed to bloom, better divide and move them. Be sure new buds are about an inch to an inch below the soil surface. Include some of the new approved varieties rated by the American Peony Society. There are the French beauties we call Lemoine-Mouchet, Calhuzac, a beautiful maroon with a high sheen and Primevere which has pastel shell pink, deep creamy yellow with sulphur yellow center. This is handsome in the garden and as a cut flower.

Solange also is the rose type with unusual shadings. It is rose white with tints of orange and golden brown toward the center. Tourangelle is unexcelled for late cut flowers. It is pearl white with profusion of ruffling gold and rose tints. Fragrance is excellent also.

CONSULT NOTE BOOK

Consult your garden note book to recall the plants you admired when visiting other gardens, or displays. Order now for fall delivery. There were those pink daffodils you saw at the garden show. They increase each year. Four bulbs planted this fall will give you 20 blooms in two years. There is also a pink white daffodil that makes a handsome show in the border, or as a cut flower of bloom. Excellent for cutting, too.

Remember how you admired those white and purple grape hyacinths in alternating clumps. Plan your order now for the bulbs and look over the offerings of small bulbs such as scillas, grecus, chionodoxa.

Are you satisfied with your foundation plantings? Plan now to replace unsatisfactory shrubs and evergreens. Local nurseries have these growing in the field where you can examine them and talk over your needs before making your final selection for late fall delivery.

Spring flowering shrubs like many other plants have been greatly improved in the past few years. Get the new improved types they give more bloom for the same care. Lynwood gold is one of the new forsythias. It is a brilliant yellow, much deeper in shade than the old type, the flowers are larger and more abundant. If you have not already cut back and pruned your early flowering shrubs do it now to insure next year's bloom.

Cut back corn flowers, zinnias, snaps-drummondi phlox and other annuals that have become straggly. Give them a good meal of fertilizer and water it in well. You will soon have a fresh growth and a good round of bloom.

CONDITION CUT FLOWERS

When cutting flowers for table arrangements do it in the evening, or early morning. Take along a pail of water and plunge the cut stems into it immediately. Allow to stand in cold water for several hours to condition the flowers. They will last much longer if you do this. Add a handful of ice cubes to the water as soon as you take them into the house. An ice cube, or two night and morning will keep that shallow arrangement fresh for days. Drop them into the water, but see that they do not make it overflow.

For cool-looking arrangements use wide low receptacles, have plenty of water visible and use various foliage material with cut flowers. Look over your yard often and consider the many green leaves, their shape and texture. Leaves with white, or colored markings and the grasses will give a lighter make-up to your piece, and do not hesitate to take material from the vegetable garden, or from houseplants. A rubber plant, geranium, ivy, hollyhock, or violet leaves combine well with flower material, or other foliage.

FERTILIZE MUMS

Feed mums and dahlias well now. Water heavily once a week if there is no rain. Make up liquid manure with dissolved sheep manure, or one of the new instant soluble plant foods. You can pinch back the late mums this week, but by the middle of August they set their bloom. A little later you may wish to do a little experimenting and force some of them to bloom early. You will have to cover the plants with a light weight dark cloth to vcurtail early morning, and late afternoon light. Shorten their daylight hours and they will bloom "aforehand" as the old gardeners used to say.

Shear off the faded bloom of perennial phlox, water and feed to encourage new bloom. Do the same for late blooming delphiniums.

Buy and plant Madonna lilies now. Devide and re-set iris and Oriental poppies now.

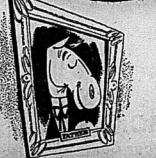
Worth Remembering



Though horse-racing existed over 3000 years ago, the Thoroughbred is a modern development.

Nearly every thoroughbred racing today is descended from one of three stallions imported to England from the Near East around 1728. These horses, incidentally, are the only animals termed "Thoroughbreds" — registered dogs, cattle, etc., are called "Pure-bred". Another sports fact worth remembering!

Car Deliveries At Lowest Level During June

OTTAWA (CP)—The automobile industry in June experienced its sharpest monthly reduction in vehicle deliveries in history.

The bureau of statistics said today factory shipments of Canadian-made vehicles declined 40 per cent in June from last year's level. It was the fourth month in a row that deliveries had been down.

The bureau said shipments have been dropping at a steadily increasing rate since the end of February. However, increases in deliveries in January and February held the half-year decrease to 14.5 per cent.

Dealer sales, lower than last year each month since the start of 1954, were 17 per cent under 1953's record turnover in both June and the half-year.

During June the industry shipped 30,229 new passenger cars and trucks to dealers, a drop of 19,671 compared with the same period in 1953. In the first six months of the year deliveries totalled 243,347, a decline of 40,351.

Shipments of imported United States' motor vehicles also were down 18 per cent in the half-year period, declining to 15,118 from 18,502. Sales of European vehicles totalled 12,338 in the half-year, one-fifth less than the 15,461 models sold in the same period a year ago.

Expert Safe-Crackers Baffle Police By Mysterious New Technique

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A gang of professional Ontario-wide safe-crackers—with a mysterious new method of gaining access to safes—might have been responsible for a $2,400 early morning robbery at the Vanity theatre here.

Police point to ominous similarities of technique shown in recent unsolved safe cracking jobs spread across the province from Penetanguishene to Toronto to Windsor.

MAY BE USELESS

Police believe cylindrical-type safes are useless in the face of the new cracking system which has worked perfectly on five unsolved jobs across the province during the past two weeks.

Detective Martin Coxon today warned all merchants not to leave large sums of money in the cylindrical-type safes until the crime wave can be ended.

Police admit they have no clue as to how the safes are being opened. The safe-crackers, after removing the door of the safe, take the door with them to baffle police in their attempts to determine methods of the robbers. Apparently, no physical violence is used.

An $800 safe cracking in Amherstburg overnight did not seem to tie in with the wave of robberies.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE—On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Robert Spencer was hostess to the Women's Association of Rylstone United Church. Eight ladies were present. Mrs. Ray Stewart, president, was in charge of the following program: Hymn, "Pass Me Not, Oh Gentle Saviour"; Psalm 66, read responsively; Scripture reading, John, Chapter 14; Roll Call answered by a Scripture verse containing the word "Harvest"; reading, "Day by Day" by Mrs. Lily Anderson; reading, "Love", by Mrs. Ellis Jones; reading, "Love and Psychology," by Mrs. Bob Spencer; hymn, "Softly and Tenderly"; Mizpah Benediction.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Chester Meiklejohn. Convener to be Mrs. Ellis Jones. The Roll Call will be answered by a memorized verse from the Psalms. A bazaar of home-made articles, suitable for Christmas presents will be held at the October meeting. On August 23rd, the Women's Association will cater to the community sale at Hoard's. Home-made candy will be sold at the sale table.

Anniversary services at Rylstone United Church will be held on September 12th. Further announcements later.

Apple pie... coming up

A KING-SIZE apple pie weighing over a hundred pounds was recently baked for the Washington State Apple Blossom Festival. The specially built aluminum pie pan was 5 feet across.

Made us wonder how big a pie you'd get if all the apple pies baked in one day on regulation aluminum pans were put together. And that brings to mind all the different aluminum cooking utensils used today in homes and hospitals and restaurants . . . No wonder Canada is stepping up her production of this light, tight metal to one and a quarter billion pounds a year! Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. Aluminum

The Penetanguishene break of the night of Aug. 8 followed the Toronto job on Aug. 2. From there, the crime wave spread to the Shell Oil Company in Windsor a week ago, to Canadian Oil Company here last week, and to the theatre early today.

KINGSTON PRISONERS INTENTION DESTRUCTION RATHER THAN ESCAPE

After hours of rioting, prisoners of Portsmouth penitentiary at Kingston, Ont., are quiet under the eyes of soldiers who were called out in full battle order to supplement the 400 guards. Fifty shots were fired when the prisoners swept forward through the smoke of burning buildings to attempt to escape through one of the gates. —Central Press Canadian.

PENITENTIARY RIOT

Leslie McCallum, 23-year-old guard at Kingston penitentiary and keeper of the keys, heard a commotion and locked himself in a lookout dome over one of the shops just before a riot broke out at the prison. Churches Should Not Bow To Systems--Bishop

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A bishop from Communist Hungary declared today churches must not bow to any governmental system but should stand more resolutely as free instruments of God.

"In the face of all opposing views either within or outside the church we proclaim this freedom of the church's way," Bishop John Peter of the Reformed Church of Hungary told world Christian leaders.

He was the first delegate from behind the Iron Curtain on the program of the World Council of Churches assembly and the most controversial figure among them.

In a prepared speech brimming with scripture quotations he asserted that the church is not bound up with any social system.

"I believe that not only in our country but everywhere in the world where there are Christians the churches ought to voice this independence of the church of all social systems more courageously and more resolutely than heretofore."

There are 20 representatives from Communist lands among 1,500 churchmen from 48 nations participating in the assembly. Their presence has been assailed by some outside groups, and Bishop Peter's role particularly has been questioned.

VISA RESTRICTED

The state department denied him permission to attend a world Presbyterian meeting in Princeton, N.J., two weeks ago but issued a visa restricting his trip to world council activities.

Bishop Peter did not specifically praise or criticize the Hungarian regime but he did maintain that conditions for health and growth of the church had improved in recent times.

The Hungarian government, he said, in "guaranteeing the freedom of church life" provided for gradually decreasing state subsidies. He expressed gratification this was leading to church self-support.

To the assembly, the Hungarian bishop declared:

"I may tell you that there is no pulpit in our churches which has failed to voice in the last months the grand message of the word-Christ—the hope of the world."

This is the central theme of the assembly.

John Is Called Russia's Master German Spy

This is the first of two stories on post-war Germany's greatest security scandal, the case of Dr. Otto John.

By DANIEL de LUCE

BERLIN (AP)—Dr. Otto John is identified now by rueful Allied powers as Russia's master German spy.

The man who dined coolly in Washington two months ago with Allen Dulles, the United States Central Intelligence Agency director—and curried favor with the British secret service for 10 years—sits openly in the Communist camp today.

Until he motored into Berlin's Soviet sector the night of July 20, John was security chief of the West German government.

His Office for Protection of the Constitution spent $2,000,000 a year from the West German federal treasury on espionage. His mission: to ferret out and expose Communist and Nazi plotters inside the Bonn republic.

HAD CONTINUAL CONTACT

From his intelligence headquarters in Cologne, John maintained continual contact with representatives inside Germany of Britain's MI-5 intelligence network, the French Deuxieme Bureau and the American CIA.

Inevitably, he learned a great deal about what the Allies did on their own to fight Communist espionage, which is periodically reinforced with new agents and additional money from the Soviet stronghold of East Germany.

In the East-West espionage battle neither side is safe from turncoats. A former Soviet spy now declaiming anti-communism in Washington Yuri A. Rastvorov, is most recent proof of that.

It is known that John established contact with a German baron who deserted the Nazi diplomatic service for British asylum in 1939, then deserted the British for Communist East Germany after the war.

FRIEND FOUND DEAD

He also became intimate with a Dutch double agent, who twotimed Britain in favor of the Soviet Union in wartime, flitted in and out of John's security office last year, and was found dead, an apparent suicide, in a Swiss hotel last November.

Allied intelligence can only speculate now on the possible links that John forged with the Soviet spy rings that sprang up within Hitler's occupied Europe after 1941.

In post-war England John's work included helping to prepare the war-crimes trial of Field Marshal Erie von Manstein, ablest German commander in the Russian campaign.

At last resetiling in the Bonn republic, John was the British favored choice in 1950 to head the new federal security office. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer did not care for him, but John got the job.

Subway in Confusion After Derailment at Supper-Hour

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto's $50,000,000 subway system limped Monday night because two rear car wheels jumped a switch.

The subway was thrown into confusion during the rush hour when a southbound six-car train split a switch at Union station, derailing the last car.

More than 400 passengers were trapped briefly in the tube. None was injured. They were escorted up ladders and along catwalks to exits at the station, at the southern end of the 4½-mile subway on Yonge street.

It was the second and worst derailment since the subway went into operation last March. The other, a minor one, was at a northern division. No cars tipped over in either accident.

PASSENGER JAM

The trouble Monday night came around 5 p.m. Thousands of passengers were crammed shoulder-to-shoulder on the 12 platforms between Union station and Eglinton avenue at the north end. Hundreds of others jammed the entrance stairways and escalators.

About 50 passengers, many of them children, were stranded in the derailed car. They were freed within minutes. Another 350 persons were on two trains that stopped at the derailment scene.

The accident threw a monkey wrench into the system for at least six hours. The derailed car, which swung around on a 45-degree angle and blocked both north and southbound traffic, was cleared from the tracks around 11 p.m.

Cause of the derailment was not known. Toronto Transit Commission officials said the reason there were no injuries was because the train was moving slowly.

PARTIAL SERVICE

A small section of the car was ripped open wherre it sideswiped a steel beam. Damage was estimated at $7,000.

Subway authorities operated a partial service, running trains as far south as Queen street, a few blocks from the derailment. However, all cars were stopped for 45 minutes when the power was cut off to enable workmen to start their work.

This is where the confusion started. Hundreds of passengers, already late for supper, hopped special buses at subway exits. Other persons walked home.

There was no panic. Those aboard the stranded cars walked to the surface after workmen opened the car doors and took them to a catwalk.

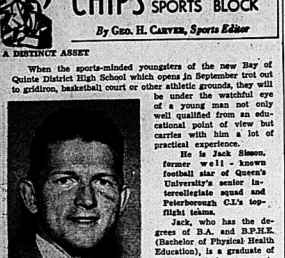
A DISTINCT ASSET



JACK SISSON

When the sports-minded youngsters of the new Bay of Quinte District High School which opens in September text out to gridiron, basketball court or other athletic grounds, they will be under the watchful eye of a young man not only well qualified from an educational point of view but carries with him a lot of practical experience.

He is Jack Sisson, former well-known football star of Queen's University's senior intercollegiate squad and Peterborough C.I.'s top-flight teams.

Jack, who has the degrees of B.A. and B.P.H.E. (Bachelor of Physical Health Education), is a graduate of Queens, and last year attended the Ontario College of Education, taking a special course in physical education.

Jack has laid out a general sports policy for the 150 boys who will be under his tuition in his first year of teaching. He intends to lay out an extensive intra-mural program which will embrace football, basketball and as many of the popular sports as possible.

"Just because football is one of my favorite sports, and I have had some experience in it, it does not necessarily mean that I will concentrate the school's sports activities on the game. Far from it," Jack said in an interview with this department the other day. "I hope to have inter-school sports as well as the intra-mural variety."

However, Jack has hopes that within a few years he will be able to field a junior football squad which will compete in COSSA and other activities.

The sports future of the new high school looks very bright. This personable young man launching his teaching career is enthusiastic, capable, and confident of success. He will work with boys of grades 9, 10 and 11 in his initial year. Next year the grades will be extended to include 12 and 13.

Then too, Jack will have an invaluable aid in his basketball program in the person of Johnny Hayman, also a member of the staff of the school. Johnny is in the commercial Department. He is well-known in city basketball circles, having coached Albert College, and city teams.

Speaking of coaching, Mr. Sisson is not without experience. He coached football teams at the University of Toronto Schools and Regiopolis College, Kingston.

"Both times", Jack said ruefully, "the teams went through their schedules undefeated, and both times, they were defeated in the playoffs."

He would not be drawn into talking of his prowess on the gridiron at Queen's and Peterborough C.I. The Brandon, Manitoba-born grid star played with the Tricolor for four seasons as running-half and halfback. After graduating from the Peterborough C.I. he worked out with the Toronto Argonauts for six weeks before going to university. He has also starred in hockey and baseball.

Frank Tyndall (Queen's)" he said, and there was a look of deep sincerity on his face, "is one of the best coaches in Canada. There is not a boy who played for him that does not worship the ground he walks on. The same goes for Bev Goulding of Peterborough. I am proud to be associated with both of these gentlemen, for that is what they are, both on the field and off."

"But", he added, with a twinkle in his eye, "it would be the irony of fate, if within the next few years, I took a team to Peterborough and defeated a team coached by that grand fellow Goulding."

Jack has been associated with the guard at Fort Henry, Kingston, during the summer, and will take up residence here in the near future. He is married, Mrs. Sisson being the former Elinor Oaks of Kingston.

BACK AGAIN

They're back again. And this time says Ray Villmer, there will be no flying through the ropes. "Paul and I defeated those big lugs fairly and squarely last week and we will definitely prove it this time." Ray and his powerful pal, Paul Baillargeon, are back again this Friday at Memorial Arena where they clash once more with those arch-villains of the mat, the Mighty Ursus and George "The Zebra" Bollas. Vern Taft tangles with Pat Flanagan and Jan Gotch meets Bob Jackson in the supporting bouts.

Syndicate Head Discloses Offer Made to Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harry Sylk, head of a Philadelphia syndicate seeking to buy the Philadelphia Athletics, disclosed Monday his group had offered $2,500,000 for the American League franchise, would keep present owners Roy and Connie Mack on the job and allow the Macks to buy stock.

Sylk, drug store chain executive, said his group of 13 would spend an additional $2,000,000 for refurbishing the ball park and improving the club. He expressed confidence the Athletics would remain in Philadelphia. The Macks have also been considering a Kansas City offer.

It takes only three negative votes to prevent a clubowner from transferring a franchise to another city. Sylk said he didn't think Baltimore and Washington would have much trouble getting one one vote to block the A's.

Sylk estimated the syndicate's $2,500,000 offer to the Macks would settle the family's obligations with the team and leave between $800,000 to $1,000,000 to be divided among the family as they decide.

MANAGER FINED

CINCINNATI (AP) — President Warren Giles of the National League fined Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs $50 for his argument with umpire Bill Stewart in Friday night's Cincinnati-St. Louis game. The fine was assessed for "prolonging and reviving" the argument over whether outfielder Gus Bell caught or trapped a fly ball which scored three unearned runs for St. Louis. Stewart ruled Bell trapped the ball.

Trail Giants by Full Game And Keep Wary Eye on Braves; Tribe Meets Dangerous Tigers

By BEN PELEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phils, last team outside the New York area to win a National League pennant, get a chance tonight to show whether they're playing favorites in the 1954 flag chase.

They move across the river from Ebbets Field to the Polo Grounds for the first of a threegame series with the slump-ridden New York Giants.

Monday night the Phils did the Giants a big favor by thumping Brooklyn 9-6 in the only major league game scheduled. The Dodgers had a chance to pull within two percentage points of the lead. Instead, the Dodgers head west to Pittsburgh trailing by a full game with 38 to play.

The Giants have beaten the Phils 8 out of 10 times so far.

The Dodgers had won 12 out of 18 from them up to Monday night, but they couldn't keep up the pace. sure even though they caught Robin Roberts on what must have been one of his wildest nights in the majors.

WALKED FOUR

The Philadelphia righthander walked four batters in the first inning and a total of six in the game. That walked only 73 all season. He was charged with a wild pitch and might have been charged with another. He was credited for some acrobatic backstopping by Smokey Burgess in the final innings banged eight solid hits, two of them homers by Pee Wee Reese and Gil Hodges.

Despite this, Brooklyn was ahead only once until the 9th on a real chance after the fifth. The pitching staff fell apart. Rookie Bob Rush couldn't get anybody out in the third. Clem Labine and Preacher Roe finished the game in the fifth when the Phils put it out of reach on a three-run and an error which produced five runs.

The Milwaukee Braves, hottest team in the league, face the other pace game winning streak into a threegame series at home against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Over in the American League the series is between Cleveland where the Indians, winners of six in a row, play host to the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers were the last team to beat them, exactly a week ago when Bob Carver shut them out on five hit..

Wednesday, Aug 18— Quinte at Point Anne.

Thursday, Aug. 19.—Trenton at St. Andrew's.

The annual 'men's doubles tournament was started last week-end but due to a sudden downpour of rain was postponed and completed on Aug. 15.

Tom Woodley and Ken Woodley of the Quinte Tennis Club, won the tournament defeating Arnold Anderson and Dan Cowley of Quinte in the finals 6-2; 6-4.

Thorold Horwood of Point Anne and Gerald Ireland of Trenton, won the men's consolation series defeating Ralph Hamilton and John Houston of Quinte 6-2, 6-3.

Prizes were present from Trenton, Campbellford, Norwood, Point Anne and Belleville.

Brantford Sox Take Twin Bill From Guelph

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It must be a pleasure for Brantford Red Sox every time their schedule calls for a game against Guelph - Waterloo Royals. The Royals have been the big stepping stone for the Sox towards the top division of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

Brantford has won nine of its 10 meetings with the Royals this season. The one Guelph victory was a 2-0 seven-inning decision back in the third week of the schedule. The nine Brantford victories have gone a long way towards putting the Sox in second place—three points behind Galt Terriers.

Monday night in Guelph the Sox took another two from the Royals. In the completion of a game from July 3 Brantford edged Guelph-Waterloo 8-6. Then in the regularly-scheduled game the Sox crushed the cellar-dwellers 17-6.

NEEDED 'EM—GOT 'EM

The July 3 game was called at the end of the innings with Brantford ahead 5-4. Monday night the Sox scored three runs in the ninth inning on a double by George Carruth, a home run by Wilmer Fields and an error. As it turned out the Sox needed the runs because Guelph scored two runs in the bottom of the ninth.

Harry Fisher, starter of the game July 3, finished the Royals off tonight to post his 12th win of the year. Bobby Schnurr was the loser.

The Royals were never in the second game. Brantford got all its runs before Guelph could score. The Royals got three runs in each of the eighth and ninth innings. Brantford batters belted four Royal pitchers for 16 hits, including two doubles, a triple and three home runs.

Centerfielder John Lockington was Brantford's power hitter in the second game. He had three hits in six trips to the plate, including a home run, and knocked in four runs.

A doubleheader between London Majors and St. Thomas Elgins was rained out.

In Sudbury Garson Greyhounds defeated Coniston Red Sox 5-3 in a Nickel Belt Senior League game.

Swims Channel But There's No Turkish Delight

CALAIS, France (Reuters)—Murat Guler struggled for 16 hours and 50 minutes swimming across the English channel from France to England Sunday night, but for all the attention he got, he might just as well have taken a ferry. Guler, the latest hardy soul to brave the 21 miles of undercurrents and choppy waters, declared himself a "most disappointed" man.

He raised his right hand for the time-keeper in the boat to record the minute of his arrival, then looked around for the cheering crowds.

There was no one in sight. The beach was deserted.

In London, an official of the Channel Swimming Association said his organization had no prize notice of Guler's swim, and he indicated the 26-year-old Turk's swim would not be recognized.

'Jolly Cholly' Has Faith In Breaks

TORONTO (CP)—Charlie Grimm who has his share of baseball stars says breaks have plenty to do with a team's hopes for a pennant. He wants them to keep coming for his Milwaukee Braves.

The Milwaukee pilot said:

"We've been getting the breaks lately. And we'll have a good chance to take the pennant, if we keep getting them."

Charlie, who has such stars as home-run slugger Eddie Mathews, Danny O'Connell, first baseman Joe Adcock, speedy outfielder Hank Aaron and Andy Pafko in his lineup made his comments shortly after bringing the Braves to Toronto for an exhibition game Monday night against another team with pennant aspirations—Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League. The teams played an 11-inning 4-4 tie.

Gate receipts from the game, which attracted 10,343 fans, went to the Canadian Cancer Fund.

Toronto took a 4-0 lead in the first inning when nine men batted and collected six hits off Ernie Johnson, the 1947 Milwaukee pitcher. Catcher Elston Howard led the hitting parade with a triple while in two runs. He also hit two singles before he was relieved in the sixth inning.

Jim Pendleton, centrefielder for the Braves, smashed a home run with one on base to cap a three-run sixth inning for Milwaukee. Jack Dittmer, second baseman, tied the score in the seventh inning when he singled home Roy Smalley who had doubled.

Grimm made good a promise to Toronto fans to put most of the Braves in the game. Twenty-three players saw action for Milwaukee, including seven pitchers.

Toronto Leafs Hold Braves To Four-All Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rest of the International League teams can feel a little better today about finishing a reasonable first-place margin.

The Maple Leafs made the triple-A circuit look good Monday night by holding the red-hot Milwaukee Braves of the National League to a 4-4 tie in 11 innings.

Batting against the same pitchers who have powered the Braves into the thick of the National League pennant fight, the Leafs collected 13 hits, three more than the Braves' major rivals.

In the only regular league action Havana closed in on fourth-place Syracuse with an 8-4 triumph at Buffalo. Don Nicholas hit home runs in the sixth and seventh innings. Ray Noble also hit a homer for the Cubans. Ellerbe Hiliens lost for the ninth time in their last 13 starts.

Richmond's game at Syracuse was washed out.

Milwaukee Goes Batty Over Belting Braves

By CHRIS EDMONDS

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee baseball production is becoming a better show than a three-ring circus.

Charlie Grimm's Braves, the hottest items in major league baseball circles at the moment, are the reason the entire town is going even battier about baseball than a year ago.

It was hilarious here then, when fans hungry to watch players they'd been reading about for years stormed to a new National League first year's operation outside Boston. Now the hilarity has turned to frenzy in the scramble for tickets.

SLOSHING IN THE RAIN

Take last Saturday night. One hour before a game with the seventh-place Chicago Cubs it was raining hard, so hard, driving was difficult. But the roads down to County Stadium were choked with cars and fans sloshed happily toward the gates. The rain forced cancellation of infield practice but the game went on and the crowd hit 18,139, third largest of the season.

It's getting better all the time, too. Five of the Braves' next 10 playing dates at the stadium were complete sellouts today.

The total attendance for the 50 dates played so far is just under 1,300,000, an average a shade below 30,000. All that's needed the rest of the way to equal last year's record of 1,826,397 is an average of 16,000.

Canadian Junior Golf Champions Have Field Day in Amateur Tourney

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The big guns move out today from the shrubbings of Thorncrest Byes to lay siege to the Canadian amateur golf championship and it looks as if the Canadian will be terrified.

The little fellows, as golfing prowess is rated, tasted victory and Indians in Monday's first round and had a whale of a time.

For the most part, they had the worries about the top-flight Canadian and American sharp-shooters as I pop-gunned each other all over the London Hunt and Country Club course.

There were 70 first-round byes, and out of the scramble that was left the few name players came through pretty much as expected. Canada's junior provincial champions had a field day and a 15-year-old youngster from Winnipeg rated top billing in a mediocre show.

BUTCH SHINES

The young star was Butch Crabtree of Winnipeg, whose given name is Lesmond. Lesmond lifted up forthwith a couple of days after he was born. Urged on by his mother, who called him "Butch" "to win it he is putting all right," the husky Winnipeg youngster polished out a 2 and 1 win over Larry Fink of Paterson, N.J., a man old enough to be his father.

The net result of Monday's struggle left Crabtree's ego slightly was that 47 players advanced to the second round this day in search of winning. Eleven others had the easy route through defaults.

Except for a few upsets, expected defaults, today's second round shapes up this way: Crabtree vs. 70 Canadians left, 51 Americans and seven Mexicans. All the Mexicans and all but 20 of the Canadians and Canadians who played in the American Cup competition the first week had first-round byes. So did a good share of the Canadian interprovincial Willingdon Cup team members.

LITTLE TROUBLE

The more redoubtable Americans who were injected into the opening round had little trouble, although there was a bit of surprise. Hargy Palmer of Grosse Ile, Mich., eliminated John Ashmore of Wilmington, Ill., on the 19th green. Levinson was third-ranking amateur in the Detroit District at Oakland last year.

Glenn Johnson, Michigan state champion, also from Grosse Ile, won 3 and 2 over Gordon Ball of Toronto, and Ken Kroncyk of Newington, Conn., brother of Stanley Kroncyk, former Canadian ladies' Open champion, disposed of Gerry A. J. Longo of Toronto by a 6 and 5 count.

Stan Balluk, Ontario junior title-holder from Fort William, edged out 4-up Wade Orchard of Kingston of the host club and finds himself today against Merv Mosley of Winnipeg.

Doug Lewis of Moncton, N.B., P.E.I. junior champ, made his home hole a pay-off spot and de-

CANADIAN CHAMP EYES U.S. CROWN

Grand slam queen of Canada's feminine golfers, Marlene Stewart now eyes the U.S. amateur crown which-will be at stake at Pittsburgh, starting Sept. 13. The Fonthill, Ont., girl recently blasted her way to the Canadian women's open golf title at Dartmouth, N.S., where she also won her fourth straight close title in two weeks before. It was Marlene's second sweep of the Canadian titles in her career.

feated Hank Galloway of Sarnia, Ont. Doug rests his luck today against Eric Hanson of Toronto, member of Ontario's Willingdon Cup team.

The lone provincial junior loser was David Nixon of Halifax who fought it out to the 21st with Garth Simmons of Stratford, Ont., and was eliminated when the western Ontario boy ran down an eight-foot putt.

Other first round scores included:

Phil Cote, Sarnia, defeated Jim Scarff, London, 5 and 3.

Dave Bryant, North Bay, defeated Joe Mulfier, Sault Ste. Marie, 2 up.

Win Richest Prize In Harness History

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Peter Vanguard, Bishop's First, Gracie Coleen and Eclipse Queen Monday captured the richest prize in harness racing history.

Purses totalling $229,350—an all-time high for a single day of harness racing—were offered at the Illinois State Fair program.

The big payoff drew a field of 89 trotters and pacers.

Peter Vanguard, owned by Allamont Stables of Allamont and driven by Mel Hermiking, won the three-year-old pace, which grossed $47,500 and paid the winner $30,543.

Bishop's First, owned by Herman Graham of Salem and driven by Russell Rose, won the three-year-old trot, which grossed $47,500 and paid the winner $31,509.

Gracie Coleen, owned by Calvin Boland of Allamont and driven by Ira Gallion, won the two-year-old pace, which grossed $38,350 and paid the winner $20,543.

Eclipse Queen, owned by C. E. Dickey of Poplar Bluff, Mo., won the two-year-old trot, which grossed $38,025 and paid the winner $21,269.

Native Dancer Wins by Nine

Mrs. Rea Warner's Trusting was unchallenged in the only other horses in the special event which was held with no betting. But Native Dancer left the Belmont Stables watched—and cheered—as he took the lead from the start and drew away from his stablemate, First Glance.

A heavy deluge of rain and hail 30 minutes before the start left the track sloppy, but the four-year-old son of Polyfoot rated splendid, finishing third another 4½ lengths away. First Glance carried 119 pounds, Gigantic, 107.

Eric Gortrin rode the Dancer, who was making his 31st victory in 32 starts. It was the first start for the Dancer since May 15 when he won the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park, then was sidelined with a foot injury.

Batas Meet Oaks or Petes

There was fire, fun and verbal fury at the Oshawa and the Viaduct Ontario Senior Baseball League meeting held in Oshawa on Monday.

To make a long story short, Oshawa meets Hoskings in a three-of-five series starting Sunday and the Belleville Batas meet either Oakville or Peterborough in the other bracket.

The Petes have yet to come to play and must win to tie the Oaks. If they do this they will meet Oakville at Station Stadium next Saturday to decide the league.

If the Oaks come through the first game of the best of three semi-finals will be played next Saturday night.

That is the news that came out of the confab, the rest of the three hour session was confined to verbal argument about fances.

Tiger-Cats Big Cash Outlay Demands A Winning Club

Written for The Canadian Press
By IVAN MILLER

HAMILTON (CP)—The costs get higher and the teams get better, and Hamilton's Tiger-Cats, Grey Cup champions of 1953, are going for the big times.

Carl Voyles, general manager and coach, is not a man to sit around and wait. With a flock of new Canadian players, in an effort to put together a squad infinitely superior to last year's, he has shelled all opposition last season.

CAREFUL COLLECTION

Coach Voyles, having won the Big Four championship three years in succession, went all the way last year. Immediately after winning the Grey Cup, he set out to assemble his 1954 team and to add strength, he thought, could be gained through the winter and spring for tryouts to a long list of Americans, "names" and others, otherwise.

Many came into the Hamilton summer camp unheralded, among them Glenn Dobbs, former all-American who left Regina Roughriders last season and who was a free agent.

Dobbs' future with the club is problematical and, in a big injury during training season obscured the future a little more.

Many of the Americans left camp of their own accord, convinced they hadn't a chance to make the grade with the champs. While assistant coaches Ralph Sazio and Vince Scarpa, official of the club and Carl Wize, former Big Four star Washington and Lee and now backfield coach of the Tiger-Cats, have looked over the material in Hamilton and St. Batten of Missouri, Shad Garnett of Kansas, Roger Saunders of Florida A and M, Al Varner from the same school and half a dozen others have either been cut or have left because of their own accord.

Gone from the most highly-rated of them all, J. D. Roberts, All-American goal kicking fullback, since the late cut, heading for the All-Star vs. Detroit game in Chicago and thence to Green Bay Packers. He was considered too small in the TiCat scheme of things.

RICH IN QUARTERBACKS

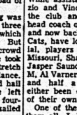
Fighting for the quarterback with Dobbs are holdover Ed Songin, Travis Tidwell, former New York Giant and Don Trull, former Texas A and M. Along the line the TiCats have Ken Ploen, holdover late out, heading for the All-Star vs. Detroit game in Chicago and thence to Green Bay Packers. He was considered too small in the TiCat scheme of things.

RICH IN QUARTERBACKS

Fighting for the quarterback with Dobbs are holdover Ed Songin, Travis Tidwell, former New York Giant and Don Trull, former Texas A and M. Along the line the TiCats have Ken Ploen, holdover four-year veteran with Chicago Bears, "Red" Ettinger, secured from Toronto Argonauts in trade, Ted Kukowski, centre from Syracuse U., Bill Quinlan, record end from Michigan State, Ray Ramsay, formerly of Brooklyn Dodgers and Dick Yanikoski, battering all-American centre and linebacker from Michigan State.

Then, of course, the TC's have big Vince Mazza, Vince Scott, Lou Kusserow, Bernie Custis, Earl Lowe, fleet half from Texas, Bob Ondilla, from Wake Forest College, Vilo Ragazzo and practically all of last year's line-up with the exception of Buster Mitchell, stout lineman who has retired from foot-

LINE STRENGTH



Frank Dempsey, four-year veteran with Chicago Bears of the National Football League, has been imported by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the line duty. The Tiger-Cats, winners of three straight Big Four league titles and last year's Grey Cup championship, have nearly two dozen imports to sell as flock of new Canadians trying out this week-

COACHES CHAMPIONS

Carl Voyles, general manager and coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four football union and last year's Grey Cup champions, works on the theory that champions must continue to improve as well as the losers. He now is checking nearly two dozen imports together with a flock of new Canadian players, to keep his squad up to his record of five straight Big Four titles (CP Photo).

ball to devote his time to business.

Unknown quantities joining the TiCats in the training season for trials, are Carl Bolt, backfielder from Assumption and Lee University, and Joe Caprara, formerly of Notre Dame.

SPEEDY WAGGONER

The TiCats are fortunate in that they'll have an early season start from speedy Hal Waggoner, the Purdue lad who starred with the club before entering the U.S. Air Force. Waggoner, on a long furlough, is due to play in pre-season exhibitions and perhaps one or two league games to qualify him on an extra year as a Canadian-American.

He'll training time cut short because of their western trip, during which they scheduled games in Calgary, Calgary and Vancouver, the Hamilton club has run into injuries because of the strain involved in the work. In addition to Dobbs, Tip Triplett and Ed Songin were on the limp for a while, but both recovered nicely. Coach Voyles planned to cut the squad of 50 only after the western tour and in time for the Big Four opener on Aug. 28.

While the coach half of Voyles is in charge of the team, Scarpa is office field and the formation of a starting club in the business office half of the Hamilton boss considers the financial angles.

Last year the club figured on a budget of approximately $250,000. Without an official figure, it is believed that the cost of the Grey Cup, over all, cost the Hamilton club below the $250,000 and $300,000. One club official has said that the team going to the Grey Cup final this year will exceed that with a total expenditure of something over $325,000.

Meanwhile, Coach Voyles refuses to hand out an outlook on the team's chances. He would prefer the critics to select TiCats second or third best, for a change, but ever something to spur them on, he says.

Asked for a comparison, Voyles declared: "I'll tell you after one swing about the fifteen I've seen early yet to have an opinion. Just say that we hope to have a good team and, we're certainly going to do everything in our power to retain what we have (the Grey

Karpuk Drops Legal Suit; May Go West

By BERNARD DUPRENNE
Canadian Press Sports Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Unpredictable Pete Karpuk soon may be free to seek his football fortune in the Canadian West or Vancouver Lions.

The 28-year-old halfback was placed on the waiver list of the Big Four Monday after his legal action to obtain a release from Ottawa Rough Riders was settled out of court.

Karpuk agreed through his lawyer to drop legal proceedings against the Ottawa club, the Big Four and the Canadian Rugby Union.

Settlement of the dispute was announced by Sam Berger, Ottawa club lawyer and director, after telephone conversations with Ronnie Hay, Ottawa club president representing Karpuk.

The following manager of Galt Terriers of the Intercounty Senior Baseball League, said:

"I'm just glad to get this matter settled because I want to play football this year." He did not say where, however.

SAYS SATISFACTORY

Reid said at Preston that "a satisfactory settlement has been arrived at for all concerned."

Presumably that means Karpuk obtained the things he sought in a legal action filed in Ontario Supreme Court Friday. These were:

1. A court order stating he is under no contractual obligation to the Ottawa Football Club. Berger said Karpuk has signed no contract.

2. A court order stating he is under no contractual obligation to the Big Four. A roundabout way of recognizing this by granting the waiver list. If all other Big Four clubs—Calgary Stampeders, Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats—pass him up, Karpuk becomes a free agent.

3. A CRU player's certificate endorsed by Ottawa or any other club member of the CRU. A free agent status for Karpuk through the waiver route would settle that point.

HAVE 72 HOURS

The Big Four clubs have 72 hours to decide whether to pick up Karpuk. Most of the 27 courts of the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club, Ottawa, are used by the city's men's open singles. Play also begins in the boys' open singles and the junior women's singles.

It's Too Early to Conduct Funeral Over Gasping Giants, Says Talbot

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—One returns to the workaday world after a period of earnest silences to learn with some surprise, that the vast majority of local baseball analysts consider the Giants to be dead absolutely, and equally certain that Milwaukee Braves will be the National League entry in the World Series.

Brooklyn Dodgers, say this city's savants, probably have enough bottom to make the Braves realize they are in a race, especially since young Billy Loes turned into a winning pitcher. But the Giants have made their run and now are gasping like a beated flounder.

These are trange words for the oracles to be writing about a ball club which, if our information is correct, still is at the top of the standing, even though barely. It seems a little early to conduct a public funeral over Leo Durocher's baseball corpse. Or not in particular to debate the point with men who have been friends in the room with the stricken outfit.

They say they cannot recall having heard a more exasperated sound and seemingly inspired team come apart at the completion of the Polo Grounders have in the last five weeks, and especially in their four straight losses to the Braves and three straight to the Dodgers. The latter disaster to strike the club which once was winging along seven games in front and throwing punches like a flyweight champ was the sudden and inexplicable collapse of its pitching staff, all except Johnny Antonelli.

To make matters worse, the hitting has fallen off, too, though not to such a painful degree. During the big victory splurge, Durocher's dandies propelled an average of 5.7 runs across per contest. Since then the average has been 4.6. This isn't too bad a figure, in itself, but when it is parlayed with uncertain pitching and jittery fielding it spells trouble.

Mays is still punching, his one or two hits in most games, but they haven't been coming with such electrifying regularity with men on bases as they did while he was the hottest thing on spikes.

At any rate, there it is, and it charges, but we are not in position those who should know and Giants both are daily picking up on them with 40 games yet to go. Or, for that matter, in awarding the pennant to Milwaukee while Brooklyn's veterans still have breath in their bodies and a bountiful lot of games coming up with their Pittsburgh cousins.

Rain Stops Tennis Tourney

OTTAWA (CP)—John Swann of Vancouver and Senih Tumgan of Montreal had one-third of a semifinals match to play today as the Canadian junior tennis tournament went into its fifth day.

Swann and Chapman were tied 4-4 in games at the end of the third set of the junior men's closed singles Monday when rain chased them from the court. Swann had won the first set 6-2 and the second three-sets match 6-2 and Chapman the next 6-4.

The winner of the final set meets Guy Durocher of Sherbrooke, Que., in the semi-final match. The Juvenile girls' open singles championship is also slated to be decided today.

Officials hope to run off at least 100 matches. Most of the 17 courts of the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club, Ottawa, are used by the city's men's open singles. Play also begins in the boys' open singles and the junior women's singles.

Foreign Film Actresses Outshine Hollywood Stars for Temperament

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood's glamor girls have to take a back seat in temperament-honors when compared with foreign stars, says an international expert on such matters.

My source on this is Pedro Armendariz, one of the finest actors of Mexico and almost any other place you could mention. He has made movies in the United States, Mexico, France, Italy and Spain. He has just finished "Untamed Conqueror" here and leaves shortly for films in Paris, Rome and Egypt.

I got him talking about leading ladies he has known. He said the Hollywood variety could not hold a candle to some foreign stars. Even our most pampered darlings cannot compare to Maria Felix of Mexico and Anna Magnani of Italy, he said.

"More than any other actresses in the world, they get the star treatment," he remarked.

HELD UP FLEET

There is a story about Miss Felix. She was making a picture in Spain that required the Spanish fleet. Weeks of lengthy negotiations went on before the Spanish officials agreed. Half the fleet was sent to the film location. But on that day Miss Felix did not want to appear before the camera. No explanation. She just didn't want to work. So the fleet went back to its base.

Armendariz estimated that Miss Felix draws around $200,000 per picture and Miss Magnani around $100,000. These are momental sums in their countries when you consider that the income taxes are relatively small. No Hollywood actress can earn the equivalent, no matter what the tax deals are juggled.

"You seldom see temperament from actresses in Hollywood any more," observed Armendariz. "The system will not allow it. Hollywood set the pattern for temperament in the old days, and that's what the foreign actresses are copying."

NO TEMPER FITS

"I expected Jennifer Jones to have fits of temper when I did 'We Were Strangers.' But she was as pleasant as you would wish. The same is true of Susie Hayward in 'The Conqueror.'

Some actors hate actresses, claiming they take too much time on the set with hairdressers and makeup men and demand too much attention. I asked Pedro bluntly: "Do you hate them?"

"Oh, no," he replied innocently. "I understand them."

He added that the trouble with most actresses is that they don't get enough love.

Pedro is one of the most successful of those pan-American actors who work both sides of the border. Born in Mexico City of an American mother, he handles either language with dexterity.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, AUG. 18, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Strong, good influences for worthy endeavors, wholesome activities generally, and for personal and romantic interests, too. But, Saturn warns, be careful in dangerous work, sports, etc.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A sensible but hopeful procedure in your affairs can bring pleasant and fruitful results not only for today but for the future. A splendid day for personal achievement.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — It's a day: don't waste or abuse it. You can be ingenious, original, your natural sparkling self in this encouraging period. At the same time, do not be reckless with health, assets.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Today is full of promise and good tidings for worthwhile interests, and there should be no time or room for pet peeves, unnecessary jealousies. Enjoy this day rightly.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your innate initiative, buoyancy and general capability can, properly used today, bring gain, fresh benefits, perhaps valuable new friends and contacts. Be hopeful, usefully employed.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—You, too, should be inspired this promising day. Big undertakings, menial tasks and chores, the seemingly unimportant are all sponsored so, no matter what your program, you should advance.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Good resolutions, clever management and wholesome activities, whether of work or recreational nature, are honored by benefic aspects. Be alive to opportunities but don't overdo.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Switching from a well organized schedule not advised now, but it is a day for attainment, new advantages, good times with family, friends and business associates. Blessings!

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Keep that natural alivness and smart sense of judgment and management with you and you should reap a goodly harvest for your efforts. A fine day for recreation, rest and work.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—An open mind, cooperation with associates and family can do much good for you and yours now. Thank God for your blessings and the privilege of working and enjoying real freedom.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Genuine accomplishments are indicated today and are your rewards today for intelligent endeavor and sound direction. Day should include some relaxing diversion from usual routine.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Original ideas, uniqueness in management and skill in workmanship rate high today. Give rein to your cleverness; have faith in you. You can, will accomplish.

YOU BORN TODAY are exuberant, kind-hearted, usually pleasant, generous. You may at times be too dictatorial, perhaps egotistical, but you are not the petty kind and will shun gossip and prying into others' affairs. If you will recognize and acknowledge (to yourself, at least) your faults, you will set about correcting them now. Never become discouraged: you are capable of high achievement when you determine to push on consistently, courageously. Always seek God's guidance and aid. Birthdate: Chas. Lucis Adams, noted Amer. diplomat.

East-West Exhibition Series Ends in Gridiron Deadlock

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The East-West exhibition football series ended in a deadlock Monday night with two Big Four and two Western Interprovincial Union teams meeting twice apiece.
On the win side of the ledger were Calgary Stampeders, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Rough Riders. Losers were Hamilton Tiger-Cats, Toronto Argonauts, Saskatchewan Roughriders and Edmonton Eskimos.
The Stampeders loosened a little Grey Cup gift from the champion Tiger-Cats by bowling over the visitors 12-5 before 10,000 fans in Calgary. The battle looked more like a regular league game and the Stamps had to come from behind for their second consecutive exhibition victory.
About 17,000 Winnipeg fans, including Free Press sports writer Bob Muir who covered the game from a grandstand seat, saw the Blue Bombers humble Toronto 19-2 in a rugged contest.
FIRED THREE
Muir, refused a press box pass by Blue Bomber officials who objected to a report on a player they saw Jack Jacobs fire three touchdown passes for Winnipeg's second victory and Toronto's second defeat.
In Regina, Alouettes took to the air for an 11-1 triumph over Roughriders which left the Alouettes in the East, Ottawa Rough Riders scraped by a fighting band of Edmonton Eskimos 13-12 before 8,000 capital fans.
The deciding Grey Cup champs took the lead in the second quarter when Hal Waggoner ran 85 yards for a touchdown. Waggoner scored in the same frame when Eddie Macon plunged over.
Calgary sewed it up in the third quarter with quarterback Eddie Lebaron tossing a major pass to Lynn Bottoms. Import Tom Miner converted both touchdowns.
Winnipeg's three touchdowns were converted by Bud Korchak, Blue West's leading scorer with the season. Jacobs accounted for the other point with his conversion after Jesse Thomas, Michigan State back, went over twice and Bud Grant got the other touchdown.
Argos' two points came when Oatters Fisher nailed Joe Zaleski for a safety touch.
RICHERVERY STARS
Sam Etcheverry, Montreal's star quarter, hurled two touchdown passes, John O'Quinn caught one in the third quarter and Jackie Parkerson got the other in the fourth. Ray Poole succeeded in converting one.
Saskatchewan's single was scored in the third quarter when import quarter Larry Isbell kicked on the field and Jack Jacques Delco being rouged.
Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts tallied two majors and John Waggoner added the other for Ottawa on an Eskimo fumble behind the Edmonton goal. Roberts converted the three. But the deciding point was scored by Hank Tanamachi when he replaced Don West in the second quarter.
Edmonton's majors came from Normie Kwong, Steve Bendiak and Roland Prather. Bob Dean converted all three.
Kwong, a fullback, suffered a rib fracture in the third quarter and was carried off the field.

Awards Contracts For New Track

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Jockey Club Monday announced award of a $226,611 contract for building tracks at its new $5,000,000 racing plant on the Malton road northwest of Toronto.
The contract went to Peacock and McQuigge of Toronto to build two miles of turf track, one mile of dirt training track, a 1½-mile timing system, retaining walls and infield lakes.
It is the second contract let for work on the plant originally scheduled to be completed by 1955. Plans for the 400-acre plant, to have parking space for 40,000 cars, were announced two years ago. It is to replace Woodbine Park in Toronto, traditional home of jockey club racing.

Minor Baseball

Bobby Green's pee wee team, the Goldies Shellers, took a two-game sweep over the Lions' end-five series for the city championship last night with a 15-1 decision over Point Anne at the Alemite Field. The two teams meet again tonight at Point Anne.
Duffy Folwell pitched a two-hitter for the winners and had a shut out going until the final frame. He whiffed nine and walked three. Ken Gelsthorpe pitched for the losers with Marshall Fyfe the loser in relief duties. Between them they gave up 11 hits, fanning three and walking four.
Lewis and Moore led the victors with a triple and single each while Westfall, Till and Gelsthorpe had a brace of singles apiece.

Line score:	R	H	E
Point Anne 000 000 1—1	2	6	1
Goldies 142 017 x—15	11	1

Marcelo, Cook (7) and Hull; Folwell and Gelsthorpe.

Come, Come, Mr. Smythe, It's Two to One

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe said Monday night he "was the most surprised person in the world" when he read reports that he was prepared to subsidize Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.
At a Junior A council meeting here Sunday Tony Gregg, OHA president and Frank Buckland, vice-president, both said Smythe, managing director of Toronto and Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, was prepared to guarantee Flyers "against financial loss" if an independent Barrie group would take over the Flyer franchise and if the team plays Sunday hockey.
Smythe denied that he had made such a statement. He said Gregg and Buckland must have misunderstood him.
He said he did authorize Gregg to advise Barrie that he (Smythe) would pay the salary of any coach the Barrie club wished to hire for Sunday purposes.
ONLY PLAYOFFS
Smythe also said that Barrie would not have to play Sunday games during the 1954-55 schedule but only in the playoffs.
Before Sunday's meeting Gregg and Buckland talked to Smythe by telephone. Each gave the same version of the talk to Junior club delegates. Each insisted that Smythe had promised to "guarantee an independent Barrie group against financial loss" if Flyers would play Sunday hockey.
Gregg subsequently relayed this information to Hap Emms, coach of the Flyers, by telephone. Emms replied that he was "amazed at such a generous offer." He indicated that he would have little difficulty selling his club with a guarantee like that.

Tigers Triumph Over St. Kitts

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tigers defeated St. Catharines Athletics 14-9 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior A intermediate playoff game here Monday night.
It was the first victory for the Tigers in the series. They have two defeats. St. Catharines has two losses against their credit. Peterborough Trailermen, other team in the series, has one win and no defeats. Each club must play each of the other two teams four times. The top two clubs then meet for the league championship.
Jim McNaughton led the Tigers with five goals. Tony D'Amico added three, Bob Dobbie fired two and Skip Teal, Cook Brown, Glen Thomore and Doug Davidson notched singles.
Jim Bradshaw and Roger Smith each scored a pair for the A's. Don Moore, Les Howard, Fred Hunt, Doug Smith and Ross Fowless got the others.

CANCEL FIGHT CARD
MONTREAL (CP)—Boxer Paolo Melis of Italy was rushed to hospital for an emergency appendectomy Monday morning seven hour before he was to enter the ring against Armand Savoie, former Canadian welterweight champ. The entire card was cancelled due to lack of time to obtain a suitable substitute.

FRANKFORD

Frankford Edges Trenton 8-7 In Series Opener

FRANKFORD, (Special.)—Moet Leavitt's bases emptier in the bottom of the eighth broke a 7-7 deadlock last night and gave the Frankford Merchants a 8-7 decision over Trenton in the first game in the best of three intermediate "B" O.A.S.A. playdowns at Frankford.
The second game will be played Wednesday night at Trenton with the third tilt, if necessary, coming on Friday.
The two evenly matched teams were tied at 2-2 in the fourth when Wannamaker smashed a grand-slam homer for Trenton with the Merchants coming back to tie it at 6-6 in the sixth. Both teams notched one run in the seventh and then Leavitt won it with his circuit blast.
Doug Radmor went the distance for Frankford, allowing seven hits, striking six and walking four. Madson, Walker and Curtis shared the hurling problems for Trenton with Walker taking the loss.
Dafoe and Cosgrove paced the victors at bat with a double and single each while Leavitt had his important home run. Singles went to Rankin, Austin and Cooke.
Wannamaker was tops in defeat with a homer and double while Curtis tripled and Samuels had a double. Istead, Hastings and Wilson also hit safely.

Score	R	H	E
Trenton . . 110 040 100—	7	7	1
Frankford 200 004 11x—	8	6	2

Madson, Walker (6), Curtis (8) and Samain, Radner and Wickson.

Tennis Stars Win Doubles

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—The top-seeded United States pair of Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert and their Australian counterparts Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall swept to easy doubles victories Monday as the national doubles championships opened at Longwood. The two Davis Cup tandems are figured good bets to wind up in next Sunday's final, won last year by Australians Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose.
Frank Murphy of Fort William and Ray Summers of Toronto defeated Neel Hitz, Framingham, Mass., and Arthur Wright, West Hartford, Conn., 8-5, 7-5, 9-3 to advance into the second round men's doubles.

CANUCKS BEATEN
COLWYN BAY, Wales (Reuters) The Canadian cricket tourists suffered the first defeat of their tour Monday when beaten by six wickets in a one-day match by a team raised by former Hampshire player R. H. Moore. The Canadians were officially welcomed to Wales on behalf of the Welsh tourist board by Miss Janet Jones, "Miss Wales" of 1954.

Bank Clerk, 16, Captured Thief At Gun-Point

KINGSTON (CP) — A sandy-haired 16-year-old junior clerk became a local hero Monday when he foiled the first bank holdup in Kingston's history.

Ronald Smith braved a bandit's gun to set off two alarm buttons in the Imperial Bank of Canada branch on downtown Princess street and then vaulted the teller's cage with a bank gun and captured the man at gunpoint in the street after a short chase. Later it was learned that the man's gun was not loaded.

REVOLVER SHAKING

Police Chief Jack Truaisch said Walter Klesavitch, 47, no fixed address, has been charged with armed robbery. He will appear before magistrate James B. Garvin today.

The robbery took place shortly before noon. A man entered the bank and with a revolver shaking in his hand ordered customers and seven staff members to lie on the floor. Three employees pushed alarm buttons.

The bandit snatched a briefcase containing $21,000, week-end receipts from two brewers' warehouse stores, from one of the customers. The money was recovered by Smith when he captured the man.

"I was standing behind the teller's cage," the young clerk said later. "I walked toward the alarm buttons and the man said to me 'do that again and I'll shoot.'

VAULTED CAGE

I dived into the cage and pushed both buttons and then picked up the teller's gun. I vaulted the cage after the man.

"He ran into the street. On the corner he turned and pointed the gun at me. I levelled my gun and told him to drop it. He was shaking like a leaf.

"Just then a policeman on a motorcycle came around the corner and covered the man with his gun. He made him lie down on the sidewalk until a squad car arrived."

Chinese Reds Claim Victory Over Flies

By FRASER WIGHTON

PEIPING (Reuters)—Eight British Labor party delegates visiting Communist China were rowed in gondolas over the lake of a former Imperial summer palace here today.

Lean, bronzed boatmen, wearing shorts and broad-brimmed coolie hats, propelled Labor leader Clement Attlee and his seven colleagues over the lake as thousands of Chinese strolled through surrounding pavilions and pagodas.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, former Labor health minister, discussed health problems with Chinese officials who claim to have made China" the country of no flies."

the visiting delegates have noticed the absence of flies in Communist China despite the hot sun and high humidity. Chinese officials say a nation-wide campaign, based on the national slogan "kill that fly," has driven almost all flies from the country except for a few last-ditch blurbottles.

Traffic Deaths At Oshawa And Napanee

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two persons were drowned and two died in traffic accidents Monday in Ontario. Another was killed by a tractor.

Drowned were Augustus Locke, 24, of Trinity Bay, Nfld., and Donald Grant Moreton, 2½, of Toronto. Locke died in the St. Clair river at Sarnia after a dinghy capsized during a sudden squall. The Toronto child died in the Sturgeon river near his parents' cottage at Victoria Harbor, 20 miles northwest of Orillia. He apparently fell in while playing.

The traffic deaths were at Oshawa and Napanee. Brian Bone, 2, was killed Monday night when he ran out from between two parked cars on an Oshawa street and was hit by another automobile.

Ronald Peter King, 20-year-old motorcyclist from Pickering Beach was killed in a collision with a dump truck near Brantford. Robert Keifer of Cayuga, Ont., who police said was driving the truck, was charged with manslaughter and dangerous driving.

At Napanee, William Huff, 11, of Camden East was killed when he fell off a plow and was crushed by the wheel of a moving tractor.

Waiting for color TV?

Well, here's a word of friendly advice, don't.

That is, don't put off buying a standard black-and-white set until color sets are on the market. If you do, it's liable to be a long wait.

The experts tell us color TV for Canada is many years off.

In the States, where they're always ahead of us in these things, the best estimate is that it will be 1956 before color sets are in operation for free viewing. It will have novelty value — but it won't attract a steady audience.

There are plenty of reasons, of course. The production nuts on color tubes is now. As a result, few color sets are being built. On those, the prices tags are impressive.

Then there's substantial audience is created there aren't going to be many good programs.

The backbone of TV programming will continue, as far ahead as we can see, to be transmissions in black and white.

Color TV, like so many new products, is "a good thing to wait for". So are we. Why not drop around and see us.

Whether it's black or white, or color when it comes along, we believe one of the finest sets we can recommend to anyone is the magnificent new 1955 Electrohome. We have a ready demonstration on hand and the sharp, steady picture will convince you. If a lot of doubts in your mind as to what to buy, try Hitchon Radio & Television, 4 Bridge Street, East.

$65,000 Fire At Tillsonburg

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP)—Fire Monday night destroyed buildings and equipment of the W. E. Lambden and Son coal and lumber company causing an estimated $65,000 damage.

The fire was believed caused by spontaneous combustion.

A police constable inspected the plant at 10:35 p.m. and found nothing wrong. A few minutes after 11 p.m., the entire woodworking plant was on fire.

Flames roared several hundred feet in the air and could be seen for miles.

Firemen used hundreds of feet of hose as the blaze threatened large gasoline storage tanks in nearby oil company yards.

Flying embers threatened the Canadian Pacific Railway station, and a number of houses in the immediate area. A railway car loded with lumber was destroyed along with a large quantity of lumber in the yard.

The company officer was saved after records and most of the equipment had been carried to safety.

Youth Goes Beserk

KINGSTON (CP)—A 19-year-old man wielding a carpenter's knife went beserk Monday on Union street on the fringe of the downtown area. He was subdued by constable Norman Cook, one of a half - dozen constables who answered citizens' summons to the scene.

The young man, said by police to have received a head injury while playing hockey two years ago, hacked briefly at the wall of a house with his knife.

STORM CAUSES DEATH

CLEVELAND (AP) — A violent thunderstorm, accompanied by 55-mile-an-hour winds, whipped across Cleveland Monday leaving one man dead and seven persons injured. Property damage was reported in both industrial and residential areas. Inspectors of the city were without electricity for periods up to six hours. Stephen Prokop, 71, was electrocuted when he tried to remove a fallen power line from in front of his home.

Two Planes Were in Dogfight Says Boy Who Found Wreck

Says U.S. Fleet Should Be Able To Block Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep.-N. J.) said today the American 7th Fleet should be able to block any Chinese Communist attempt to invade the island of Formosa.

Smith, chairman of the Far East sub-committee of the Senate foreign relations committee, backed President Eisenhower's declaration Tuesday that any Communist invasion of the Chinese Nationalist-held island would have to run over the 7th Fleet.

Premier Chou En-lai said only last Friday that Communist China would capture Formosa, headquarters of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists, and warned the United States against interfering.

Eisenhower said Tuesday orders to the 7th Fleet to defend the island are still in effect. Therefore what would happen in this: An invasion of Formosa would have to run over the 7th Fleet.

Eisenhower said he has not taken up with his military advisers the question of whether other than American naval forces would be used to repel an invasion.

The defence department said Tuesday that on the assumption destroyers will be sender for planes make up the Formosan patrol. However, the 7th Fleet contains three large aircraft carriers with supporting cruisers and destroyers. Military officials said these could be rushed to the area in no more than 36 hours.

Frost Is Ready To Appear Before Special Committee

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail today quoted Premier Frost of Ontario as saying he is ready to appear before the legislature's special committee on highways irregularities on six hours' notice to answer questions, including those by Albert Wren.

The newspaper said Frost spoke Tuesday night to Mr. Frost in Sioux Lookout, one of the stops on his tour of northern Ontario with other legislature members.

Mr. Wren, a Liberal-Labr member of the legislature for Kenora, submitted a list of 10 witnesses, including Mr. Frost, to the highways committee and asked that they appear at a special meeting.

The story quotes Mr. Frost as saying:

"I'm a servant of the people and if they give me half a dozen hours' notice, I'll be there."

The special committee meeting will be held shortly in connection with Mr. Wren's personal accusation of perjury against Highways Minister Doucett. He has accused Mr. Doucett of perjury in testimony before the committee. The highways minister has denied the charge.

Kelso Roberts, committee chairman, said Tuesday the date of the meeting may be announced late this week.

HOOVER NOMINATED

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday nominated Herbert Hoover, Jr., 41, to be undersecretary of state succeeding Walter Bedell Smith. The White House said Hoover—son of the former president—will take over his new duties as soon as the Senate has acted on his nomination.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: It was clear and cool over most of Ontario early Wednesday morning, but cloudiness extending out ahead of a cold front in the west in the central sky is moving eastward into the province. Showers are expected to reach western sections by this evening and to spread over Ontario tonight and Thursday.

The bodies of two RCAF officers, who crashed into the Trent River, near Meyersburg, 22 miles northwest of Trenton on Tuesday morning, were recovered from their Harvard trainer shortly after 4.00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by two Trenton divers.

Killed in the crash were Flt. Lt. Robert Ralph (Bob) Biggar, 27, of Midland, and Pilot Officer P. R. E. Neill, 24, of Geraldton.

Group Capt. G. G. Diamond, commanding officer of RCAF Station Trenton, said there would be a full investigation.

The crash occurred about 10.45 Tuesday morning in an area used by the Air Force as a low flying area.

Teen-ager Alex. McDowell, who located the sunken aircraft off the western tip of Hickory Island, said that two planes were having a dog fight when the accident occurred.

The plane which was very close to the water "suddenly levelled off, have made an extreme left turn, the wing hit the water and the plane cartwheeled."

Report of the crash was relayed to the tower at Trenton by the pilot of a second plane. A Mitchell bomber immediately flew to the scene to begin the search and was joined by other aircraft.

McDowell out on the river in an outboard motor boat, discovered the wreck in ten feet of water.

Trenton Police Constable Ron Mitchell and Les Collar, Trenton fire merchant, volunteered to dive for the bodies. The two men, wearing squalungs, loosened the bodies of the two fliers which were lounged in the plane's cockpit, and by means of a rope brought them to the surface where they were pulled into a boat and moved to shore.

One wing of the plane, which was originally described by airforce officials as being almost intact in the water, broke loose and was recovered by fishing spear, a tank of a nearby island to which it had drifted.

Flight Lieut. Biggar leaves his wife and two daughters, Sharon Elizabeth, 2; and Wendy Louise, six months.

FIRE DESTROYS STOCKYARDS MILL $1,000,000 LOSS

200 Hogs Roasted Alive in Holocaust

MONTREAL (CP)—Fire ripped through Montreal stock yards early today as hundreds of fear-crazed animals milling, fought to save themselves from their blazing quarters.

Unofficial estimates said about 200 hogs were roasted alive in the holocaust. It was a lot of luck it hadn't caused nearly $1,000,000 damage. Some 100 more animals were rescued by firefighters.

The fire gutted a two-block brick and wood building, owned by Canadian National Railways, in less than an hour. Adjacent stock yard cattle pens were saved from the fast-spreading flames by the efforts of more than 100 firemen.

The two-storey building was humming in rapid activity shortly after midnight as flames, fed by stored grain, shot almost 100 feet into the air.

The flames for a time threatened an abutting bridge as the street and sparks, fanned by a strong northwesterly breeze, started small fires on the open lot near tenement homes and warehouses surrounding the stock yards. None of the buildings suffered damage however.

An official of Wilsil Meat Packers Ltd., one of the companies whose premises were in the stock yards, told reporters on the scene about 2,000 hogs, sheep and calves had been penned in the building. But stock yard officials said later a large number of animals had been moved from the yards during the past few days.

The terror-stricken animals battered at their pen doors as flames leaped up, concerned always supporting the building. Firemen managed to get most of them to safety but the main pen doors were kept closed for fear the hogs would run berserk.

The trapped animals were heard squealing in pain until the roof of the building finally collapsed on top of them.

Cause of the outbreak was not immediately known but fire-fighting officials said damage "will be from $800,000 to $1,000,000."

They said the gutted quarters, along with the other four-storey buildings, were valued at $3,000,000.

Rookie Policeman Prevents Suicide

DETROIT (CP)—A rookie policeman Tuesday crawled along the ledge of a 20-storey eight stories above the ground to prevent the suicide of a Negro woman.

Patrolman Ed Hall straddled the grill fence on the roof of a downtown building, ignoring screaming and threatening suicide.

Police tried to talk her out of it but the woman apparently was rushed to the scene. Before it arrived, however, Hall inched cautiously along a three-foot-wide ledge behind the woman and pushed her to safety on the roof.

Striking Germans Battle Police

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Striking metal workers brawled for an hour with 400 police Tuesday before they launched a huge Siemens electrical plant. It was the city's biggest riot since the Communist uprising. Munich metal workers began 10 days ago.

Twenty-one persons were injured but there were no arrests.

The battle started when pickets attacked nonstrikers on their way to work. Two hundred policemen waded into the fray, swinging rubber truncheons. Some of the nonstrike pickets counter-attacked the police from the rear and 200 more police were rushed into the melee.

The battle brought an abrupt end to the peace wage talks which had settled over Bavaria's strike front last Friday after a week of violence. The strikers at Bavaria's 690 metal factories are demanding a wage increase of nine cents an hour; management has offered half that.

Re-Open Elevator

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—The Prospect Point elevator leading to the base of the American Falls was re-opened to the public today.

The elevator, a popular tourist attraction, was closed shortly before the rockfall July 28 when an estimated 185,000 tons of rock collapsed into the Niagara river gorge.

Penitentiary Riot Planned as Mass Break Taken Over by 'Windsor Mob'

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Telegram says today Sunday's two-hour riot at Kingston penitentiary was originally planned as a mass break but was taken over by a "Windsor mob," a faction of convicts within the prison, who turned it into a destructive fire-setting orgy.

The newspaper says the trouble "was part of a plan being struggled by the Windsor faction for power over the prison population."

The newspaper named an unidentified ex-convict as the source for its story. He said that as early as June the word was out around Toronto's underworld that at the first sign of trouble cars were to stand outside the penitentiary walls to provide getaways for a large number of escapees.

The Telegram quotes the ex-convict as saying the plan was touched off prematurely by the Windsor mob who were not interested in escape but in gaining domination of the "rackets within the walls."

Bipartisan Solution Seen Possible for Red-Ban Bill

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader William Knowland of California said today he thought it was still possible to find a bipartisan settlement for a much-debated bill to ban the Communist party.

Twice Tuesday administration leaders were rebuffed, first by the Senate and then by the House of Representatives, in their efforts to keep out of the measure a provision making Communist party membership a crime.

The double setback was a surprise upset to administration leaders after they had engineered a move that only the day before put the bill through the Senate in a form satisfactory to President Eisenhower.

With Congress now rushing toward adjournment, Knowland told reporters he was pinning his hopes on a Senate-House conference committee in which a compromise agreeable all around.

In its present form, the bill would:

(1) Deprive Communist-domin-ated labor unions of any legal standing before the National Labor Relations Board; (2) strip the Communist party of all legal rights and (3) make membership in the Communist party illegal, punishable by five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Attorney-General Herbert Brownell has contended that outlawing the Communist party would interfere with, if not wreck, the enforcement of present Communist control laws which rely on a more indirect approach such as the 1930 internal security (McCarran) Act and the 1940 Smith Act.

The Senate bill, first passed last week 85-0, was revised in the House Monday after administration pressing to take out the part making membership in the Communist party illegal.

The House substituted a provision to deprive the party of all its rights, privileges and immunities under the law.

But when the measure came back to the Senate Tuesday, Senator Hubert Humphrey (De.-Minn.) called it as "a powder-puff approach." He said it left the party membership untouched.

Author of the original Senate amendment to outlaw Communist party membership, Humphrey offered the same provision again. Over the objections of Republican leaders, it was added to the House bill by a vote of 41 to 39.

The House handed the administration its second setback by approving the latest Senate version, 208 to 100.

Daley Trying to Arrange Nation-Wide Conciliation

TORONTO (CP)—Labor Minister Daley in an effort to reconciliate a union contract dispute in the packinghouse industry, is working on a formula which may blaze a trail for further negotiations in industries with branches across Canada.

He has asked the labor ministers of other provinces to accept a three-man conciliation board which would be appointed in Ontario as a legal conciliation board under the laws of their provinces.

It is a rare attempt to conciliate on a national basis as is alleged which comes under provincial laws, Mr. Daley said Tuesday that some progress has been made with the other labor departments.

The plan, if accepted, will permit one conciliation board to consider demands of 10,000 workers in 27 plants operated by the Big Three packers across the country. They are Canada Packers, Burns and Co., and Swift Canadian Ltd.

It will also, if approved, give the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL) the right to call a national strike if the conciliation fails.

The labor relations of the meat packers and their union come under provincial laws. The companies negotiate with the union on a national basis.

In each of the provinces, workers must not strike until a conciliation board appointed under the provincial law has made its report. A strike in other provinces is illegal, Mr. Daley said.

Mr. Daley said he had received three or four replies.

Those he has agreed, others have pointed out the difficulties involved.

He added that some provinces may require that members of a conciliation board be residents of that province.

Labor officials said they asked for national conciliation because only Alberta requires residence of board members—but an amendment specifically exempts the coal mining and meat packing industries.

Over 4 Per Cent Of Live Births Illegitimate

TORONTO (CP) — More than four per cent of all live births in Canada are illegitimate, Rev. Dr. Ernest of the board of evangelism and social service of the United Church of Canada said today.

"This means of an estimated 400,000 live births this year, some 16,000 to 17,000 will be born out of wedlock," said Mrs. H. L. Luffman, chairman of the board of Victor Home for Girls, who prepared the report.

"Family life has changed," she said. "Home in many instances has become the cold, cut system where meals can be had. Social drinking, the cocktail lounge, lack of housing, the automotive, cheap, trashy literature and advertising all take their toll."

Mrs. Luffman said of 100 young women admitted to the home last year, 31 were office workers and 24 were students. The ages varied from 17 to 27 years, with an average of 19 years.

EDINBURGH SAILS FOR HOME ABOARD ROYAL YACHT

Completes 3-Weeks' Visit to Canada

By DAVE STOCKAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh sailed for home today aboard the royal yacht Britannia, leaving as casually as he'd been visiting Canada informally for three weeks.

Just after 10 p.m. ADT Tuesday night he left the RCAF officers' mess at this Labrador air base and walked up the gang to the dock.

There were maybe 20 people there counting newspaper men and Mounties.

He shook hands with one or two. A reporter called goodbye. The duke turned around and waved and went aboard ship.

At first light the Britannia sailed.

HAS MANY MEMORIES

At times the keynote of the informality was curbed by the many receptions, dinners and guards of honour. But there are the memories the duke will take back across the Atlantic. Memories which range from the Atlantic to the Pacific and up to the Arctic.

The duke covered 9,200 miles from Victoria, north to the Kitimat aluminum project to Whitehorse in the Yukon, Fort Simpson, Port Radium, Copper-mine and Yellowknife in the Northwest Territories and Churchill on Hudson Bay.

On the last couple of days the duke went fishing at a camp 115 miles east of Goose on the Eagle river. He finished off with proof positive of his angling prowess—16 speckled trout and three salmon.

He even had a near encounter with a wandering bear. The bruin managed about the radio tent 30 yards from the duke's tent Monday night and awoke the campers. The bear scampered away, however. Mr. Laurent, a member of the Privy Council, Tuesday night announced that negotiations between the railways and unions had broken off.

BRIEF MEETS

The prime minister had spent the morning in an unprecedented personal intervention in an attempt to get the disputants to agree on a new contract. A meeting of the cabinet was scheduled for 2:30 p.m. to discuss the situation.

Mr. Laurent told reporters to the committee, Mr. Hall said:

"Under all the circumstances, particularly that those we represent are being deprived of the right to strike . . . and as a measure of personal and official protest against this repression and discrimination I have decided to submit my resignation as chairman of this negotiating committee."

"The prime minister's statement that a special session of Parliament will be called to deal with the railway dispute before the end of a date for withdrawal from service (strike) is premature. I submit that arbitration of the dispute will be imposed as it was in a former dispute," he said.

Seven Horses Burned

GALT (CP) — Fire destroyed seven horses and two barns on the nearby farm of Dr. E. E. Foster, prominent Ontario horseman, Tuesday night.

Diana Lee, six-year-old show horse, was among the victims. Several horses were saved, including Diana's dam, a grand champion standard bred mare of Canada and unbeaten in the show ring.

Cause of the blaze was not known.

Premier at Dinner Calls for End Of Discrimination Against Indians

SIOUX LOOKOUT (CP) — Premier Frost has called for an end to discrimination against Indians.

Speaking at a dinner here — where the density of Indian population is the highest in Ontario—he said the province's 35,000 Indians have been treated "shabbily."

Canadians have no right to criticize the racial policies of other nations "until we remove the mote from our own eye," he declared.

Hall Recommends Union Compliance, Then Resigns Post

Union Chief Voices Protest Men Denied Strike Rights

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today that railway non-operating unions have agreed to accept government arbitration of their contract demands. The announcement came a short time after negotiations with the railways collapsed.

"There won't be a strike and there won't be a special session of Parliament," he told reporters a few minutes after talking to members of the unions' negotiating committee.

"They have agreed to accept arbitration," he added.

HALL RESIGNS

Mr. St. Laurent's announcement came shortly after Frank Hall, chief union negotiator, had recommended acceptance of arbitration and had resigned dramatically as chairman of the union committee before it considered his recommendation.

Mr. Hall told reporters he was resigning primarily as a protest against railway workers being denied the right to strike as a result of compulsory arbitration which he expected would be imposed by Parliament when the unions accepted it.

He proposed acceptance, he said, because he regards arbitration as inevitable and acceptance would save the country the expense of a special session of Parliament.

The committee's prompt agreement with his proposal made it likely Mr. Hall would quickly resign as chairman, possibly after a committee meeting to be held this afternoon at 2:30 p. m.

Mr. Hall walked out of a meeting of the union committee in the East Block on Parliament Hill about 20 minutes after Prime Minister St. Laurent had announced that negotiations between the railways and unions had broken off.

BRIEF MEETS

"The prime minister's statement that a special session of Parliament will be called to deal with the railway dispute before the end of a date for withdrawal from service (strike) is premature. I submit that arbitration of the dispute will be imposed as it was in a former dispute," he said.

Two Men Killed As Jet Crashes Near North Bay

NORTH BAY (CP) — Two airforce planes, one a jet and the other a Harvard, crashed in Ontario Tuesday. Four men were killed.

The smashups occurred on Lake Nipissing near North Bay and in the forest area near Bellefille.

Pieces of broken aircraft were dragged from Lake Nipissing Tuesday night a few hours after the jet trainer exploded and sank. There was no sign of survivors and no one that either man survived.

Identification of the victims was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

The jet trainer crashed two miles from here after swooping over the lake with apparent engine trouble. Flt. Lt. Thomas Stewart Burgoyne Falls said she heard the jet scream past the cottage with the engine sputtering.

FLAME EXPLODES

"A geyser of mud, debris and water shot into the air as the plane exploded when it hit the lake," she added.

An Indian youth, Jim Goulais, 17, said it "glided into the water with a big splash." It was about 200 feet up when he first saw it.

Reeve Will Take Steps to Curb Land Speculators

TORONTO (CP)—Reeve George Beavers of Morningbarg, Ont., said Tuesday he will take immediate steps to curb land speculators looking for a quick kill because of increased business brought on by the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

He made the statement after Tuesday's meetings between Ontario Hydro and provincial planning department officials and 20 delegates from the eastern Ontario communities affected by the development.

Mr. Beavers said: that as soon as the delegates arrive home a council meeting will be held to pass a subdivision control by-law. This would give the municipality full property for building lots without approval from the town planning board and the provincial planning department.

SOUTH AFRICA OUT

SAARBRUCKEN, Germany (Saar) (Reuters)—The International Youth Hostels Association threw them out a South African application for membership because of South Africa's apartheid racial segregation. The hostels executive committee, meeting at Bliss-Kastel, near here, admitted Israel and Japan to membership.

KIWANIANS EXTEND CONGRATULATIONS TO TWO MEMBERS

The Kiwanis lunch on was held yesterday at the club centre. During the luncheon congratulations were extended to Major Ev. Fairman, who last week was promoted to commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment. Congratulations also were extended by the club to Major Fairman's predecessor, Lt.-Col. R. H. Widdifield, who commanded the regiment for the past two years.

The meeting was presided over by president Lawrence Kelly.

DRUM AND TRUMPET BAND WELL RECEIVED BY FAIR GOERS

The fine drum and trumpet band of the Quinte Sea Cadet Corps drew a lot of laudible comments on the first appearance at a Belleville Fair on opening day. The trim, nattily-dressed cadets under the baton of Petty Officer Shipman Neil Judge gave a finished performance in front of the grandstand prior to the official opening, and the boys and their officers deserve a lot of credit for a tuneful offering exceptionally well done.

SIDNEY BUSH FIRE ONE OF 3 ALARMS

Three fire alarms were answered by city firemen yesterday.

One of the runs was for a brush fire north of Trenton in Sidney township and another was to Stanley Street where a pile of ties got afire.

The third run was to a Hillside Street address to put out a meat cooking on the stove went dry and burned up. The meat was ruined and the kitchen was scoted up by the smoke from the burning meat.

Belleville Man's Brother Hears Choir in Abbey

A capacity congregation of Londoners and visitors to the English capital was in attendance at West minister Abbey last Wednesday when the boys' choir from St. George's Anglican Church of Kingston, sang during the regular service.

Yesterday a Moira street resident received an airmail letter from his brother in London who had attended the service at Westminster and heard the Kingston choir conducted by George Mashinpaan Neil Judge gave a finished performance in front of the grandstand prior to the official opening, and the boys and their officers deserve a lot of credit for a tuneful offering exceptionally well done.

The letter read as follows: "

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—A single stock accounted for more than two-thirds of the first-hour stock market trading today.

Total market volume after the first hour was only 172,000 shares, which apart from the heavily-traded New Mylamaque Explorations, means that only an extremely light 220,000 shares were exchanged.

Utilities, foods, refining oils and financial institutions showed scattered strength and papers were a little easier.

Senior base metals moved narrowly ahead but juniors eased penalties. Western oil issues outnumbered gains two to one but price changes again were small. Junior golds and uraniums eased a little in scattered trading.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was about steady with offerings fairly heavy for a quiet demand.

Quotations provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, graded, in fibre cases; A large 46-48; A medium 36-37; A small 28; B 30; C 24-25. Wholesale to retail: A large 53-56; A medium 41-42; A small 34; B 30; C 26-30.

Butter solids: Ontario, 1st grade, delivered 58; non-tenderable 55¾-56½.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Trade was active at steady prices on the few good to choice cattle offered today at the Ontario stockyards. Receipts: Cattle 400; calves 80; hogs 255; sheep and lambs 300; holdover from Tuesday 1100 cattle.

Choice weighty steers, 21-22; good steers, all weights 20-21; common to medium down to 15; common light bone-crye steers and heifers down to 8; good heifers 18-18.50; medium heavy heifers down to 16; good cows 12.50-13; a few heifery cows to 14; canners and cutters down to 7; good heavy bologna bulls 12-12.50; a few to 13; common light bulls down to 8; choice fed yearlings 22-23; mediums down to 20; medium replacement cattle 17-17.50.

Good to choice veal calves were 21-23; mediums 14-20, common light dairy-type calves down to 8.

Hogs were unchanged at 28 for grade A; B1y 27; 341 hogs sold out on Tuesday at 28.25; sows 16-17; stags 12.

Lambs were steady at 23 delivered by rail and 22 by truck for good ewe and wether bacons; discounted 81 a hundredweight; heavy lambs discounted as much as $2 a hundredweight; common to medium 15-18; good light sheep 8-10; common down to 4.

Over 45 Persons Given First Aid

Over 45 persons received first aid at the St. John Ambulance Brigade booth at the Belleville Fair during the first two days, it was stated today by brigade officials.

First aid given ranged all the way from minor cut to treating a young boy whose finger had been bitten by a monkey and a 3-ung girl who had a cactus needle stuck in her mouth. The young girl had been in the horticultural building and got the cactus stuck in her finger, then put her finger in her mouth. It took brigade workers over half an hour to get the cactus needle free.

A midway horror must have meant two more customers for the brigade. Two girls visited at the show and were revived at the St. John Ambulance booth. In charge of the booth are Mrs. M. J. McLuskie, superintendent, and Mrs. L. Hending, nursing officer.

St. John Ambulance Cadets under Mrs. L. Ashley have a special tent at the entrance to the midway with 25 girls sharing duties of baby sitting and looking after lost children. They reported a busy day on Monday which was Children's Day at the fair.

Ten boy cadets under David Thompson stand on the fair grounds on the lookout for lost children and to direct persons in need of first aid to the first aid booth.

Steel Business Is Unchanged

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel business is expected to continue about the same this month as in July, Iron Age, the national metal working weekly, reported today.

A sharp decline in automotive orders for steel is being offset by an increase in miscellaneous orders ffom small users, the weekly has said. Orders from small manufacturers and parts makers are keeping production from sagging still lower.

Iron Age reported steelmaking operations this week scheduled at only 62 per cent of rated capacity, a drop of two points from last week.

Steel prices are generally firm despite efforts by several auto firms to break the price line.

Orders automotive manufacturers as they go into production of new models will undoubtedly pace an upturn in steel buying, the weekly said.

New Highway May Be Built Across River

TORONTO (CP)—A new highway, recommended as a toll road, may be built across the St. Lawrence river to link Ontario with New York state.

Plans for such a road atop the proposed Iroquois control dam between Cornwall and Prescott, Ont., were announced jointly Tuesday by Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders and Provincial Planning Minister W. K. Warrender.

The road would connect the section of Highway 401 to be built in the Ontario area with New York state Highway 37 and would be the shortest route between Canada and the United States across the St. Lawrence river.

Mr. Saunders said it has not been decided what price would be charged or how the tolls would be used.

Plans for the proposed toll road have yet to be approved by the joint board of engineers for the seaway and the New York state power authority, Hydro's partner in the power project.

Sovereign Grand Priory to Meet In Kingston

Eminent Knight Bram Humphreys, the presiding preceptor of King Baldwin Preceptory, Knights Templar No. 6, has received the program for the annual assembly of Sovereign Grand Priory, to be held in Kingston Saturday to Tuesday, August 21st to 24th.

As this year is the Centenary celebration of Hugh-de-Payens Premier Preceptory No. 1 of Kingston special guests from overseas will attend. The Grand Priory of England will be represented by its Grand Master, Lord Harris, MC, GCT. The Great Priory of Scotland by its Grand Master, the Earl of Elgin and Kincardine, KT, CMG, GCT. The Grand Encampment of the United States of America by its Grand Master. Most Eminent Knight William Cletus Gordon. The Great Priory of Canada by its Grand Master Frederick G. Maun.

A large delegation of Knights Templar, from Belleville and district will form a living cross in the parade from the Cenotaph to St. Georges Cathedral on Sunday afternoon.

Christ Church Choir of Belleville are also taking part in this service.

On Monday evening the Grand Master's Banquet and Ball will be held at Grand Hall.

Iroquois Folks Disappointed By Hydro's Plan

TORONTO (CP) — The village of Iroquois, which planned for growth to 40,000 population from 1,100 through the St. Lawrence river seaway and power development, had its hopes dashed Tuesday.

Members of the Iroquois council were openly disappointed, said the hydro proposal was "story book planning" and in no way resembled its own independent plans. They said 20 industries were ready to move into their new town but feared the loss of the biggest, a textile plant, because it might be shut out of its preferred waterfront location under the hydro plan.

The hydro plan for one new town to replace the communities of Mille Roches and Dickinsville, both near Cornwall, won approval of Floyd Barkley, representing the joint chamber of commerce for the two centres. However, he said Iroquois's continued silence on what would happen to farmers in the St. Lawrence River area was unsatisfactory. Hydro chairman R. H. Saunders promised a statement when plans were worked out.

CIGARET FALL HALTED

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The National Tobacco Tax Research Council said Monday the downward trend in United States cigaret consumption was halted in May after a 10 months' continuous decline. P. M. Parkinson, director of the council, said the decline for the fiscal year that ended June 30 was 4.6 less than the decline for the previous year.

Obituary

L. E. R. STEPHENS
(Sudbury)

SUDBURY (CP)—Principal of the Sudbury mining and technical school for 20 years, Llewellyn Earl Roy Stephens died suddenly at his home this morning. He had recently celebrated his 56th birthday.

A graduate mining engineer from Queen's University, Mr. Stephens worked in Alaska and Quebec before coming to Sudbury.

At least three coronary attacks have followed a severe heart seizure that occurred in 1951.

Born in Campbellford, Ont., he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stephens. He was a past master of the Masonic Order, and a member of the United Church.

Mr. Stephens is survived by his widow, the former Lillian Mary Newell, he married in 1928, a daughter, Marilyn Virginia and a son, Richard Edward.

Glamorous Lady Of Seas Known As a Tramp

VANCOUVER (CP) — The MS. Ramon de Larrinaga is a sleek, glamorous lady of the seas, but she's known as a tramp.

The new British motorship, here loading lumber for the United Kingdom, is furnished in the style you would expect to find in a first-class passenger liner—a far cry from the tramps of the old days.

Australian driftwood and ash inlays feature decorations of the officers' quarters. The smoking-room has a big fireplace, comfortable chintz-covered chairs and a large mural of an eagle swooping down a mountainside, made of inlaid hardwood.

No passengers are carried, but there is a luxurious suite connected with the captain's quarters by sliding panel doors. The lavish living salon has murals in carved woodwork.

The officers are berthed amidships in double-berth cabins, and have a recreation room aft. Crew members are Malayans. The officers are white.

The Ramon de Larrinaga is the first of three new vessels built by the Larrinaga Line at Liverpool. She showed 14-knot speed on her trials.

She has the most modern equipment, including folding steel hatchcovers, noiseless electric winches, radar and automatic pilot.

Visitors to the ship here reached that as recently as 1939 many ocean tramp ships had no running fresh water or refrigeration; crews were berthed in damp forecastles and standard diet at sea might be salt horsemeat and hardtack. Not so on this ship.

Lower Supports For Farm Prices Approved in U.S.

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm legislation calling a halt to rigid, high price supports headed for a White House welcome after a hectic dispute that routed disgruntled senators from bed early today.

By a 46 to 28 post-midnight rollcall, climaxing a session of 14½ hours which also saw action on much other legislation, the Senate gave final congressional approval to the Eisenhower administration's request for flexible authority to deal with farm supports and surpluses.

The House of Representatives passed the omnibus measure by a standing 208 to 47 unrecorded vote Tuesday. Supporters hoped to get it through the Senate in much the same way.

But after a seige of highly critical speeches, many from the Democratic side, midnight neared with many Republicans absent. Republican leader William Knowland asked for a recess and a showdown in the morning.

Senator Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), bitter opponent of flexible price supports, protested furiously. He demanded a test vote on Knowland's request to quit without delay.

AGREES TO ROLLCALL

Finally, apparently satisfied that enough supporters of the bill had been mustered, Knowland agreed to the rollcall.

On the final test 31 Republicans and 13 Democrats voted for the compromise bill worked out by Senate and House conferees. Five Republicans, 22 Democrats and one independent shouted no.

Moscow Fair Is Impressive

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. E. S. Hopkins, chief of the experimental farms service at Ottawa and leader of the Canadian delegation to the Russian all-union agricultural exhibition in Moscow, said here today it was one of the finest exhibitions he had seen.

The delegation is stopping over in London on its way back to Canada.

Hopkins said he and his associates had been "greatly impressed" by the size and quality of the exhibition.

THE ACID TEST

The United States Senate last week voted 85-0 to outlaw the Communist party in the United States. Monday of this week the House of Representatives voted 305-2 to outlaw the Communist party.

Whether to outlaw Communists or not to outlaw Communists has been a topic for debate for everyone from university debating societies and radio forums to the houses of parliament in all the countries of the West since the end of World War II. Serious scholars on both sides of the argument have advanced their beliefs so skillfully that stalemate has resulted, and, until this precedent-shattering vote by both houses of the United States Congress, no action has been taken to outlaw the Communist party anywhere in the West.

It was reported that President Eisenhower, Attorney General Brownell, and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, were strongly opposed to the Senate vote and would make a serious effort to sidetrack the vote in the House of Representatives.

Reason for the difference of opinion lies in two different appraisals of Communism. Those who oppose any move to outlaw the Communist Party recognize that Communism is a conspiracy, but fear that outlawing it will drive its members underground and hamper the work of investigating and watching its members. They feel that it is wiser to keep Communists in the open and their activities open to public scrutiny than to drive Communists into obscurity where their conspiracies may breed undetected.

Those who would outlaw Communism maintain that it is a world-wide conspiracy directed by Moscow and bent on the overthrow of all democratic governments by all means available and by force if necessary. They contend, therefore, that Communists are conspirators and traitors, whose every activity threatens the state and as such are committing criminal and treasonable acts. Outlawing the Communist Party makes it possible to prosecute Communists under the law and to send known Communists to jail.

"What benefit is there in watching traitors advance treason if there is nothing done to stop them from committing acies?" is a typical argument of those who would outlaw the Communist Party.

By providing legal machinery for the prosecution of Communists law enforcement agencies would be able to deal effectively with Communists in labor unions, governments and communications agencies which they cannot touch at present because of propaganda. Outlawing have exploited as instruments of communist activity as criminal the 'party' stamp. Communist activity as criminal and dry up the talent pool of fellow travellers who have been serving Communist purposes but who would balk if faced with prosecution for treason.

Those who would outlaw the party contend, too, that too much is made of the argument about driving Communists underground. Murder, arson and robbery are all punishable by imprisonment and they maintain that it is unreasonable to prosecute Communists for treason and then domestic to recognize Communism as treason and then do nothing about it. The bulk of direct Communist espionage has been carried on by underground groups. Secret party cells, taking their orders directly from Moscow, and deliberately divorced from the open party, carry on the underground work of conspiracy whether the open party is outlawed or not. Those who would outlaw the open party contend that its activities, by diverting attention from the underground elements of espionage, actually shield the underground and impede the investigation of its activities which is the real menace Communists present. They contend that driving the open party underground would not increase the peril to national security presented by Communist groups already operating underground.

Communism has advanced its cause in all countries in the Western world unhindered by legal barriers since the end of the war. Keeping its surface activities under surveillance has not diminished Communist activity or surveillance has not diminished Communist activity or lessened the danger which it presents. The debate on the merits of an outlaw measure is likely to increase in intensity rather than diminish now that Congress has voted to outlaw the Communist Party. Outlaw legislation, however, from this point on in the history of the West, will not be facing merely academic questioning but the acid test of application.

WRONG ANGLE!

The Swedes are supposed to be a hard-headed people. It is therefore disillusioning to find Svenska Dagobladet, our distinguished contemporary in Stockholm, getting all excited about a particularly uninspiring German achievement.

The Huils chemical works at Marl, in western Germany, has acquired 10,000,000 gallons of French red wine, reports Svenska Gadobladet, and will turn it into artificial rubber.

This is something that one would expect of the Germans. Personally we shall remain unenthusiastic until we read that some French company has acquired 10,000,000 tons of rubber and intends to turn it into red wine, good wine, of course.

We have no difficulty in disposing of all the red wine that comes into our possession, but would welcome a worthy use for the family chariot's old tires.

"WHEN I GET TIME"

"When I get time," a phrase of ours
That often we are heard to say,
Yet all have four and twenty hours
To use or lose with every day.

The busy man may have no more,
The idler's day is just the same
And sixteen of the twenty four
Are alright for sleeping all may claim

In every day we journey through
There's time enough from start to finish
Our necessary tasks to do
And time enough to be a friend

Our lives depend on why and how
To use the hours allowed we choose
"When we have time!" We have it now
And time too precious is to lose,

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 17 1934.

Miss Kathryn Gallagher has returned home from Kingston after attending the summer school at Queen's University.

Mr. Fred W. Harris is spending the week-end in Kingston.

Miss Ruby Donnelly, Frank street, has returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gael E. Donnelly, Rochester, N.Y.

Trenton wanted a police magistrate and according to the following item from our file copy at this time in 1934, "The Trenton council has petitioned the government to appoint a police magistrate for the city, with a population of 4,500. The fines collected last year amounted to $1,000."

Col. Roscoe Vanderwater has returned to Ottawa after registered O.A.C. No. 21 barley from eight acres on his farm on the sixth concession of Sidney township. This grain is the third generation from Elite seed.

Mr. Charles Treverton of this city has purchased the Royal Hotel in Trenton. This property has been for many years the property of the Dillon family.

30 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 13, 1924.

Mr. Ernest A. Geen will spend the week-end with Mrs. Geen and children at their summer cottage at Bell Ewart.

Miss Mamie Waters, Forin street, is spending her vacation with friends in Windsor, Ontario.

Mr. H. Wilder has returned to Detroit, Mich., after visiting his mother at her home on Grier street.

Mrs. Alfred Brown of Holloway Street Church parsonage, is visiting friends in Owen Sound.

Miss Nina Embury of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Embury, Grier street.

Mr. R. F. Anderson has returned to Detroit, after visiting his mother, Mrs. Robert Anderson, Hillside crescent.

Burglars entered th Ritchie Drygoods Store last night and got away with 80 cents in merchandise. Entrance was also gained to the Vermilyea Shoe Store and several pairs of shoes were stolen.

In honor of School Inspector H. J. Clarke's birthday, a corn roast will be held at Oak Lake this evening.

40 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 16, 1914.

Dr. Oliver Duprau has returned home after a trip to Calgary, Alberta.

Patterns For Vacations

(New York Times)

For some vacationers the first criterion for lodging the success of a summer vacation would be in terms of the degree of personal isolation achieved, free of number of other people avoided. There is something to be said for certain vacations that would rate high on this test. The rating would depend, of course, on a person's taste as well as a quantitative one—it is not just how many people one can abide a little while, if is also a matter of getting far away from the people one best like without. Even inspired planning does not guarantee the perfect vacation, judged on this point, for there is always the unhappy possibility that at the Grand View Inn or at Trail's End Lodge you may meet some character from your own office—and you cannot choose for a holiday companion.

There are many people whose summer vacation is in a pattern that is becoming more and more familiar. The family finds a place that is fairly well established as a summer residence. This residence may be in a lean-to or in a fashionable villa with all modern baths, air-conditioning and a two-car garage. It is usually a family headquarters for some part of each summer. There is the development of a "summer colony" and enduring friendships are established with members of other families of the colony. And these summer friendships are part of a family that makes them notable. The vacation period becomes an occasion as well as a time for opportunity to reaffirm old friendships in the colony and to make new ones.

Friendships flourish among people on vacation, and it is always surprising to find at Christmastime that many of the cards that friends to whom one sends cards so many names of vacation friends in his list. It is the contact during the summer we have garnered a friend that is the key to it. The fact that for most of us is the distinctive feature of a true vacation. Where else can we find vacation among unfriendly people?—or even among people with whom we have no special interest? The scenery is less important to us than the friendships that develop in that scenery. The family snapshot albums will have millions of pictures recording summer holidays, and most of those snapshots will not be of vistas but friends.

The summer vacation is both science and art. The scientific element—finance, transportation, reservations, planning—is obvious; all these are relatively objective and can be figured out by the clever travel bureaus, the specialists in sportswear, and the many purveyors of the luxurious gadgetry of "vacationism" may be consulted for assistance. The art of vacationing is more elusive, something else again. It is in some way related to the fine art of friendship. It is subjective and personal. Perhaps it is a gift, but a gift widely shared by people whose smiles are charged with vacation sunshine and amiability. . .

On Admirals And Bishops

(Philadelphia Inquirer)

This explains why a joke is going the rounds of the British Embassy in Washington:

Admiral Lord Mountbatten of Burma is going to the same exclusive school and when the new boy arrives he tells the admiral, while the other was ordained and promoted to bishop. During dinner I chat with the boy, hated each other and the years passed and both were in London as boys.

The bishop was on a train journey when he met the boy's man in all his splendor standing there.

"Mr. Stattonmaster," said the bishop to the admiral, "will you please tell me where I can find a toy for London?"

"Madam," said the admiral to the fat bishop, "it is right over here. But you should not be travelling in your condition."

Family Man Gets a Break

(Canadian Register)

To rear a large family these days is tough. The man with six children gets the same salary as the man with none. Granted, he will have six more little income tax exemptions and perhaps four family allowances. But, on the whole things work against the apartment or house, he usually finds it next to impossible to give the decent comforts of a home of his own. Then, if he does get his own house, there is the difficulty of finding one within his budget which will be large enough. Most architects and contractors seem to take it for granted that the family stops with two children.

Advertising is geared to the small family, and fiction presents the typical young household with two children. Even the father who can deal with large families more often than not give short shrift to those who have to rear them at present.

Living the year round in conditions that are suitable for their large brood, the parents of such a family often feel that they have more than the next couple. Here again they run into difficulties. Overnight accommodation is expensive, transportation likewise.

That is why we would like to tip our hats to the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways for their new family rates. Applicable to Canada and the United States, these rates add up to a tidy saving. The family of four pays one return fare for himself, one-way fare for his wife and two children between twelve and twenty-two, and two-thirds of one-way fare for those between five and twelve, and nothing for those under five. There is no limit to the length of time for which they are travelling together.

Now we don't doubt that the railways were motivated by business acumen as much as by any Christian charity in this matter. But in these days when business firms and manufacturers are bending over the fact that people have families anymore, it is good to see that someone is thinking of them.

Another notion which makes for a more inexpensive family vacation — add a more enjoyable one at that — is camping out with several very magazine on the stands. Many families have had the fun of families who pack tent, camp stove, provisions and children in their car and head for the national parks to spend days or weeks in the bush. The cost per is low and it seems even Mother gets a rest—there's some magic in this camping out which somehow which transforms getting meals, doing dishes and making beds into something which the children love to do.

Embattled Boundaries

(Financial Post)

Occasionally one of the millions of Canadian and Americans who cross each others borders for every year runs into a oil or trouble. Undoubtedly one of the most recent we could make this business easier and pleasanter. But not this little story from a Turkish newspaper in Istanbul:

"A Bulgarian civilian tried to escape into Turkey.

"Three Bulgarian border guards fired at him, killing him instantly.

"In attempting to recover the body the guards entered Turkish territory, fell into a mine field and were killed."

Few of us fully realize how fortunate we are to be living in a country blessed as part of the world.

We aren't hungry; we aren't afraid and we're free to go where we please.

AAA-CHOOOO

(Edmonton Journal)

Science's most depressing discovery in recent years is that ragweed seed can remain dormant for forty years, and then grow up to cause hay fever.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

ALLERGY AND THE CALCIUM SHORTAGE

In 1919 John Bostock described an "A Periodical Affection of the Eyes, and Chest" which he himself had been subject to since he was about 8 years old. His annual bout began the first or middle of June and subsided the middle of July. He optioned the trouble was due to "a close moist heat, a too bright glare of light, dust or other substances touching the eyes."

Dr. Brady

In 1831 Elliotson asserted that hay fever was caused by pollen —if I were not in conformity with the bowling green I'd try to ascertain how the hay got in there —and in 1852 Blackley began a series of studies of the subject which gave us most of our present knowledge of hay fever.

Even so, there is much merit in the query of a reader, a nurse of the Isle Dr. had declared he had never heard of hay fever when he was a medical student. How come?

I was practising in Penn Yan—no, I had moved to Elmira the year the late Dr. Bob received his degree. On thinking it over I decided not to say I heard of it Ca & vitamin Dhay fever when I was in medical school. I can't for the life of me remember about that, but never mind. Hay fever was discussed in many medical textbooks and in medical journals published here before either of us began the study of medicine.

It does seem that physicians are finding a steady increasing proportion of the population subject to allergy, a peculiar sensitivity to, and intolerance for certain substances of animal or vegetable origin, such as shellfish, pollen, horse dander, cat hair, feather dust.

As nearly as I can learn, no one has advanced a plausible explanation for this hypersensitivity that is, no antidote specialist or famous headline hunter. It is my belief, as though anybody cares that the underlying factor of this American hypersensitivity is what I have harped on here for years, namely calcium deficiency.

Yes, indeed, knurks, whether your allergy manifests itself as hay fever, hypersensitivity rhinitis, migraine gum snoezing fits, hives, giant hives (angioneurotic edema), bronchial asthma, chronic sick headache, migraine or moist eczema, let me tell you the first thing to do, regardless of any special treatment, is adopt a high calcium diet and supplement the diet with an optimal daily ration

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THANKS AND DOLLARS

There is always a great deal more in a worker's pay envelope than he takes out in dollars. There is the blessed satisfaction of work itself. New things learned, experience enriched. You have, or you own, a background investment that cannot be taken from you and on which you can draw for satisfaction immediately are initiated.

For all this you can thank God, your employer, if employed, and you can thank yourself for the will and the purpose that are essential to all success and happiness.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, noted physician, and teacher to the fishermen of Labrador, tells in one of his interesting books of being invited to an isolated part one night to look after a sick man. He found the people highly courageous, and he administered to the sick man, but was told by him and his benefactor who took him in, that neither had any money. The man was ill, and when with his blind wife, but the other one took him in. "How long have they been with you?" asked the doctor. "Just twelve months come Saturday," replied the kindly benefactor. "Thanks, Skipper" was all the good doctor could say, but the confidence that prompted the example of these brave folks he had received the largest fee he had ever been given.

I have watched men in a restaurant count out their change tip upon leaving a luncheon or dinner, and wondered in the warmth of my heart what a word of thanks to the giver. I have seen diner wish to express, and give in appreciative thanks that the diner must have felt his tip inadequate far more than mere extra service—far more than dollars.

There is a business of thanking when, and where, due is something that underlies the heart of the one giving it. Two of the most wonderful words in the English language are these: "Thank You!" We can never be rich enough to buy all these words carry. Habitually they return to bless both giver and receiver.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The Kidnappers, in my humble and non-professional opinion, is by far and odds the best movie of 1954. And 1954 is only half over. Let it stand.

It is a British movie, as so many of the best have been in recent years. Its setting is Nova Scotia around 1900, and the people are all Scots. Nova Scotians, could take exception to. The trees are too Scottish—for it was filmed in Scotland—but we possess a number of kidnapped children did not, even in 1900, go hunting on horseback. But there is so much reality in it, so much tenderness and human understanding, and so much for all Canadians to ponder, of toleration and racial sympathy, that I sat in the lobby, eyes still wet with tears of all the emotions that can be aroused, when I was struck with a sudden angry surmise.

Why was this picture made in Britain? Why was it not made in Canada. We have the cameras, the cameramen. We have writers, actors. We have technicians, directors. We have, in fact, a beautiful picture about Canada were it not for the country?

What is it we lack in Canada? Is it money? Are there no rich men ready to risk a little of it as lovely as the Kidnappers?

Something along the line we Canadians are sadly wanting. I think we have a fairly high opinion of ourselves as a people. If you asked us, off hand, what was lacking in us we would be offended. Yet we swallow the literature of the world and offer nothing in return. We consume the music of the world, and give nothing back in response, as fully as any other section of the continent, to the first in movies. But I repeat, what is it, when we see a movie like the Kidnappers, to feel a little guilty that strangers feel so little it, about us.

What the Sam Hill is the matter with us?

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

GAMBLING

Gambling is sometimes described as something resembling nothing. It is precisely the opposite. It consists in getting nothing for something.

Gambling, also called gambling the child of avarice and parent of prodigality. Old Ben Franklin spied his readers that as they would keep flax from burning they should keep youth from gambling. And the observation has often been made that the best throw one has to make with dice is to throw them away.

It is inconceivable that although everyone knows that slot machines are rigged to bring only a very tremendous profit and the player consistently loses, people go on wasting their money, hoping that some day they will strike the jackpot. Now and then a person wins a tremendous amount of money on a comparatively small bet, as when he wins, a million loss.

Many years ago, America's most famous gambler died after tying up what little he had in trust for his grandchildren, in the hope that would get into the boy's hands and thus prevent squandering the result of a lifetime of gambling, the man who had won millions had lost them, of course, he never had sense enough to stop when things were going his way.

For some reason or other, gambling seems to rule out the ability to reason logically. Drunkards are often reformed, but gamblers seldom. This is a vice that robs the very life out of moral characters.

Second Bridge Badly Damaged

WALLACEBURG, Ont. (CP)— This town—split three ways by the north and south branches of the Sydenham river—was left with only one bridge Tuesday night when a heavy truck crashed into a bridge of the north branch, causing a 12-foot section of sidewalk to go.

Three weeks ago a bridge over the south branch was closed to traffic when a barge smashed into the north draw and split the bridge in several places.

Drivers who use the north bridge now will have to go to Beachville about six miles north, to cross the river.

PROCLAIMS STIFF SENTENCES

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Parliament Monday night passed a law providing heavy prison sentences up to life for crimes committed by infiltrators from neighboring states. The law also provides for deportation of offenders.

Women's Activities

WHITE'S W.A.

WHITE'S DISTRICT. — Mrs. Walter Jones opened her home on Thursday for a pot-luck dinner at noon with a splendid attendance of members and several visitors.

Following a social half-hour, the president, Mrs. Frank Sandercock, called the meeting to order and all joined in singing "Let the Beauty of Jesus Be Mine." Mrs. W. A. Jeffery as pianist. The Rev. A. C. McCallum led in prayer.

Mrs. Arnold Ketchreson was in charge of the devotional period. Mrs. George Arthur read the Scripture and Mrs. L. Hunt gave a reading.

The minutes and roll call were given by Mrs. Walter Jones. Mrs. Jeffery and Mrs. Ghent gave birthday donations. Some business was discussed and a picnic was planned for a wedding reception. It was decided to send an air mail letter to Mrs. George Bilham, who, with her husband and family, are on their way to England.

Mrs. Jermyn Palmer had charge of the program. Mrs. L. Hunt gave a reading "Check Up On Your Good Mind Tomorrow".

Mrs. W. Jeffery read "Gathered Here and There." A poem, "Our Neighbor", was read by Mrs. H. Mooney. Peppy saying were read by several ladies.

A contest on "Things Unknown to Grandma," was won by Mrs. Hon. Mrs. Finkle of Marsh Hill, who is a guest of Mrs. J. Palmer. She received a flower-holder. Mrs. Frank Sandercock received an ornament as consolation prize.

A "green" contest was won by Mrs. R. Ketcheson, who received a Pyrex plate with Mrs. H. Mooney receiving trays as consolation.

Mr. McCallum closed the meeting.

Whiteman Family Holds Reunion

About 60 members of the Whiteman family recently gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Whiteman, at Frederick, to spend their annual reunion together. Being near to the old homestead, brought back memories of the past to the older ones.

Dinner and afternoon tea were served on tables on the lawn by the younger members of the family.

Guests were present from Kingston, Midland, London, Toronto, Hamilton, Shannonville, Deseronto, Marlbank, Latta, Hallowray, Waterdown, Belleville and Lonsdale.

All left for home in late evening with the feeling the day was well spent. The weather was perfect for the occasion.

COAST EXPLORED

The whole coast of Australia was explored during the years 1837-33 by Darwin in the Beagle.

Interesting Displays Seen In Horticulture Building

Among the many interesting displays in the Horticulture building not yet mentioned in the news were the ladies' work; domestic science; the fine arts and elementary S.S. exhibit.

Most of the ladies' work was as usual, of splendid calibre and embraced women's clothing, including dress, sweaters, housecoats, pyjamas, nylon blouses, crochet-edged handkerchiefs and gloves; household linens lovely as dreams with their fine cutwork runners, crocheted chair sets, embroidered luncheon and tea cloths, embroidered, lace and tatting-edged pillow slips; embroidered towels, and fancy knitted shawls.

FINE NEEDLEWORK

The quilts were indeed works of fine needlecraft and lovely in design. These included the ever-popular star quilt; the dogwood, the children's circus quilt; the flower-garden quilt, with its fine bias scroll; and the green-squared patchwork quilt.

Rugs were numerous and of several rag mediums showing flowers, and geometrical designs in round and square and shirred shapes, in deep wine, and mixtures, some being braided, while others were hooked.

Cushions were many and of diverse shapes, and colors, including the satin tufted, the plain satin in gold and black appliqued, knitted, and in pom-pom design.

CHILDREN'S CLOTHING

A variety of clothing was shown for children, woollen dresses, rompers, knitted sweaters, socks, jacquet, and baby boys' mitts, overalls, and layettes.

The men's and boys' section had shirts for sport wear, pyjamas, long-sleeved knitted pullovers; hand-knit socks for heavy duty, as well as fancy socks, and a host of other items as well made, and deserving of praise.

In the miscellaneous section there was display of tatting as fine as spiderwebs, filet crochet, and lovely cutwork articles, petit point, as well as fancy knitted socks, and mitts.

The crocheted table cloths and bedspreads were exceptionally well done, as was the knitted spread of former acquaintance. A fine exhibit.

SCHOOL EXHIBITS

The school exhibit displayed samples of writing and map drawing, both of which were outstanding in neatness. The maps in color and accuracy. Among the schools exhibiting were Queen Elizabeth, Prince of Wales, Thurlow S.S. nos. 20, 20 S.S. 2 and 3, Point Anne Public School, Sidney S.S. No. 13, and Ameliasburg S.S. 6, and Foxboro.

The map drawing of Province of Hastings county, and the Commonwealth in plain design and in color.

The Elementary S. S. section had a fine display of health bulletins, nature study, a monument to "Our Glorious Dead", "Canada's Castle", an aquarium, fine leaf collection, moth and butterfly collection, plasticine sculpture, a quilt showing the native flowers of each province, fine freehand blot houses, murals showing the West Indies, and woodland scenes, dressed dolls and cigaret stand.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

In the Domestic Science, with its delightful array of layer cakes, tiny tarts, fancy sandwiches, chocolate cakes, cookies, macaroons, berry tarts, cup cakes, loaf cakes, doughnuts, homemade bread and buns, pies, lemon, apricot, and cherry with both lattice and two crust, mouth-watering cocoanut cream cakes, rolls, fruit cakes, birthday cakes, three-tiered cakes, and nut-sprinkled chocolate cakes.

There was also a fine assortment of jams, jellies, canned fruits, pears, peaches, mixed pickles, custard beans, sweet pickles and relishes.

The display of lunches was varied and of balanced rations, including milk, wholesome sandwiches and dessert of cake or canned or fresh fruits.

The fine art section drew many interested spectators with its unique exhibit of the "Frogs' Regular "Bullfrog" at their card game. This was most realistic and amusing in the scenes depicted, with its hilarious effect. The scene portrayed the end of the game, with its laughable results, as one frog was seen bursting his sides in laughter, and others in lesser stages of merriment, while down below one fellow was playing and singing on his 'cello. An exceptionally fine work of taxidermy.

Other exhibits meriting mention were the water colors and oils, seascapes, and forest scenery, needle point work, ceramics, showing tiny baskets of colorful flowers, garden decoration set of Peter Rabbit and his family, floral paintings of roses and mixed flowers, a portrait of a little girl, as well as handpainted china, cups and saucers, rose bowl and sugar and cream set.

Other booths were those of the Ontario Cheddar Cheese, and the Ontario Cream Producers, each with its interesting information, showing Ontario's fine contribution to the wealth of the province.

Alexandra Earns Title Of Dancing Princess

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—They call her "The Dancing Princess" and Alexandra, tall 17-year-old daughter of the Duchess of Kent, earned the title in her first glittering social season.

For Princess Alexandra, who leaves by air Aug. 21 for a three-week Canadian tour with her mother, brought to the gay, crowded season's end since pre-war days a tireless spontaneity and exuberant gaiety reminiscent of her cousin, Princess Margaret.

The slender princess burst into the social world this spring, fresh from a French finishing school.

She brought back from Paris a mature poise for such official events as launching a tanker. But she also brought enough youthful zest to slide down a long bannister into a crowded ballroom.

The brown-haired girl with bright blue eyes endears herself to many with her mixture of dash and decorum, of fun and fashion.

CAME NATURALLY

The dash and fun came naturally. The decorum and fashion sense came from influence of her well-dressed mother, at 47 a veteran of 20 years in the public eye.

The influence of her mother was underlined in her clothes and carriage. Alexandra mirrored the duchess' elegant dress.

Friends, remembering the unpainly lumber called Alex who led her school in a crosse team, marvelled at the change.

It was little more than a year ago that the princess left her school to stay with a family friend living near Paris.

This spring she returned to Britain, ready to pick up her royal burden under the spotlight of public scrutiny. Her manner was polished and correct.

But away from the public gaze, at dances and parties, she kicked up her heels. She revived the mid-20s craze for signature tunes and dance bands swung into her favorite, "Ain't Misbehavin'," upon her appearance at any nightclub or ball.

Two New Recipe Books Off Press

Two new Robin Hood publications are just off the press. One is a new 164-page cook book, "Robin Hood Prize Winning Recipes". The other is a new type of booklet, "Robin Hood Mix Magic" devoted entirely to the modern and popular method of quickly preparing tasty desserts by the use of ready mixes. Incidentally, all the information in the booklet is shown in the back section of the Prize Winning Recipe book.

"Robin Hood Mix Magic" can be obtained, free of charge, from the nearest company office or by writing to Rita Martin, Box 190, Montreal.

REPUBLICAN DIES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Paul W. Shafer, 61, Michigan Republican, died Tuesday. Born in Elkhart, Ind., he published newspapers there and at Battle Creek and Bronson, Mich. His death leaves the House line-up at 218 Republicans, 213 Democrats, one independent and three vacancies.

School Teacher Turns Time To Tending Rats

TORONTO (CP) — A would-be school teacher who suddenly found a strange fascination in rats is spending her summer months and a $600 fellowship trying to prove that a group of Columbia University researchers are on the wrong track.

Attractive, 21-year-old Beth Reilly, disproving the old adage that women are afraid of rats, has replaced her interest in children by a serious interest in the rodents. Her summer chores require that she keep the rats under close observation.

Miss Reilly, a third-year psychology student of University of Toronto, says it was by chance that she won the social science research fellowship that is financing her experiment. She had been unable to decide on a suitable experimental design to present to the fellowship examiners last summer.

COLUMBIA CLUB

But that was before she happened to read a magazine article by the Columbia professors reporting that outside influences had little effect on learning. The results of the U.S. experiment so surprised Miss Reilly that she decided to investigate further.

And, she said, that decision was a big turning point in her life. It finally convinced her to devote all her time to psychology.

Miss Reilly, born and educated in Toronto, had really started out to be a kindergarten teacher. When she entered university on a scholarship she intended to take summer months in nursery and settlement centres.

Why all this concern about rats and learning?

"Women's got to put-puter around for theories," she answers. "And anyway we assume that animal experiments will have some application to humans."

BRITISH LEAVE

PORT SAID (Reuters)—An evacuation vanguard of 2,300 British troops sailed from this Suez canal zone port Tuesday, bound for Britain and Malta. An estimated 80,000 troops are to move out downzone in the next two years.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T ASK FOR TOO MUCH TOO SOON!

It's pretty hard, sometimes, to decide the wide gap between parents who are over-strict and young people who want too much freedom.

Here is a letter from one such teen-ager who, true enough, is too tightly restricted by her parents but who, at the same time, is perhaps asking a little too much too soon.

She writes:

"My problem is how to meet boys my age and a little older.

"I work at my father's store which is near an army post, and the boys at the post are much too old for me. I am 14 years old.

"My parents won't allow me to go with my girl friends to the movies downtown. They have heard and read in the papers so much about girls being annoyed by strange men that they are afraid if I went out by myself or with my girl friends I might be next. They also say that if I were to go to town alone, I might get lost, because I have never been downtown alone. In fact, I never go anywhere without the whole family going, too, and almost the only place we ever go is to a drive-in theatre. There are five of us in the family, and if any of us don't want to go to the drive-in, we are forced to go. Once my parents minds are made up, we have to go.

"How am I ever going to meet any nice boys, the way my life is arranged? My girl friends have told me you have helped them and other girls with their problems, and that you are bound to have at least one suggestion about what I can do or say to get my parents to let me go to town alone and to movies with my girl friends."

Although I can understand very well how this girl feels, I can also understand her parents' worries. After all, she is only 14 years old, which is pretty young to go about very much on her own.

Still, I do think she should have a little more freedom than she apparently does and that she should be able to enjoy the normal activities of girls and boys her own age.

I don't think she ought to ask to go to the movies at night, but I should think she might be allowed to go with a group of friends on a Saturday afternoon, for instance. Is she too busy at the store to get away at such a time? I would think she is a bit young, too, to be tied down to working in a store so much that she had no time for fun, and I hope this is not the case.

Don't some of her girl friends belong to some nice club she might enjoy, and, if so, couldn't she get them to ask her parents if she might join? If the activities of the club were always carried on at a proper level, and in a proper manner, her parents might be willing to let her go. If she doesn't know of any such club, how about asking some older woman she knows to help start one?

Is there no teen-age center anywhere in her city? If she doesn't know, she can pick up the newspaper and ask. How about activities for boys and girls at her church? Many churches make a special effort to provide the whole some entertainment, and other worthwhile activities, for young people, and I suggest she find out about these. Surely the parents would permit her to take part in anything the church would have to offer.

Here, then, are more than the one suggestion for which she asks, and I hope she will think them over and try them out, then write me again and let me know what progress she has been able to make. In the meantime, I'll think about her problem and perhaps have something else to suggest later on.

Mother's Helper

by Hoffman & Pearson

ONE EFFECTIVE way to divert a child's tearful attention from a minor bump is for Mommy to pretend to put the hurt on herself, brush it off and step on it. Sister's wails usually give way to active interest in helping stamp on the thrown-away hurt.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

CORRECT SIGNATURE TO HER LETTER TO EMPLOYEE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I haven't been married very long, and I'm still not too sure about correct signatures. The other day I had to write a note to an employee in my husband's office. (My husband is a junior executive in the company.) I signed my letter "Mrs. John Smith." In your column the next day you wrote that a married woman should never sign any letter to anybody "Mrs. John Smith." How should I have signed this letter? I thought that signing it "Mary Smith" would be too personal. — M.

True it is that it is absolutely incorrect for a married woman to sign a letter to anyone "Mrs. John Smith." The direct signature of a letter is your informal name.

The correct signature to your letter to this employer:

Sincerely yours,
Mary Smith
(Mrs. John Smith)

GIFTS TO THE MALE HOSPITAL PATIENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I know it's "proper" to send flowers, or a plant, to a male patient in a hospital, but this seems to me wishy-washy, as no one hadn't the imagination to think of anything else. Mother thinks my sister and I should abide by this "rule," but we think it would be just as proper to send a careful ly-chosen book or even fruit or something else to eat. What is your point of view? — Marcia D.

I agree with you and your sister that flowers or a plant are all right, but many men aren't particularly interested in these, and a sick-room often find them more trouble than a delight. A really well-chosen book is a good choice, of course; perhaps a book of short stories, easy to read a little at a time. Or I've found that a group of new, new magazines are always welcome, also easy to read a little at a time. It's often a problem to give fruit or other food, and you must be sure they're allowed.

Trials In Summer Cottage

By Mary Moore

The two non-holidaying members of the two families had to have the two cars belonging to the two families to do their work (to support the non-working members). So the holidaying members were stranded 4 1-2 miles from the nearest town, without a car. Their only means of transportation were two pairs of legs, two pairs of oars and one rowboat.

They were dependent on friends in town for mail, drinking water, forgotten items like scotch tape and chlorinated lime (you know what for) and bread and perishables like lettuce.

But city folk aren't quite as helpless as they look.

You will be surprised (like we were) to hear that we caught a 16-inch pike, so I baked that instead of slicing from our emergency ham. A few of the items in the menu I though were worth passing on:

Baked Pike
Pan-baked tomato halves
(see below)
Fried Potatoes
Shredded Beet and Cabbage Salad
Compote of Plums and Cherries
Cream Cheese and Whole Wheat Wafers
Coffee

The tomatoes, the salad and the compote are the improvised dishes we improvised ourselves with so I'm passing them on to you for you to try in your summer cottage or winter home if you like.

PAN BAKED TOMATOES

Doris cut very small tomatoes in halves, allowing three per person. She sprinkled the cut side of each with salt and pepper, and dotted each half with 1-2 teaspoon mayonnaise. At the halfway mark for the baked pike when it was turned over, she arranged the tomato halves around it to bake for about 15 minutes at 375 deg. Fahr. They were attractive on our plates, delicious to taste and we thought a genuine discovery

BEET AND CABBAGE SALAD

Wash pare and finely shred one raw beet. Add it to 2 cups of finely shredded cabbage and moisten it with a dressing made of two tablespoons mayonnaise mixed with one tablespoons lemon juice and 1-2 teaspoon sugar. Serve this in little lettuce cups. The shredded raw beet with the cabbage is lovely.

PLUM AND CHERRY COMPOTE

By the time both carloads had arrived on the first day and had stopped on the high-way to buy luscious looking fruits from roadside stands we had two baskets each of tomatoes and cherries, one basket of plums and two big bags of beans. The electric refrigerator was medium size but would not hold all of these provisions so that fruit had to have attention.

I washed 25 plums and a quart of sweet cherries and pitted them I boiled 2-3 cup sugar with 2 cups water and dropped the fruit in, let it barely come to a boil, covered, removed it from the heat and let it cool, covered then chilled it. When serving time came to half of it I added a sectioned orange and a banana. This tasted heavenly. We were very hungry from all the swimming and fishing we were doing though. If the last half tastes as good tomorrow it will be worth talking about.

TO PREVENT BLINDNESS

PARIS (Reuters)—Canadian Col. E. A. Baker, who presided over an international "white cane" conference here last week, urgently called Monday for action to prevent blindness. Baker, who lives in Toronto, was blinded during the First World War. He said "many needless cases are occurring, many of them caused by diseases which can be prevented."

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

WHAT EVERY SUB-DEB SHOULD KNOW

You are growing up, Pretty One, standing on your own two feet, being somebody. You want people to like you, especially those in your own age brackets—girls as well as boys. You want them to find you interesting. You want to learn how to get along with all these individuals with whom you come in contact. In other words, you are developing your personality.

Look around in your own social circle, and take note of the girls who are not popular. There's bad examples are perfect illustrations of what you should not do, what you should not be. That is a better method of social education than being a copy-cat, imitating the methods of girls who have more dates than they can conveniently accept.

Example No. 1 is the girl who is lovely of appearance. She spends forty minutes every night putting up her hair in pin curls, is very fussy about her clothes, can't pass a mirror without a long survey of herself. Her mind is so intent on her appearance that she thinks of little else. Her personality stops right there. Being vain, she demands attention, makes no effort to make herself charming.

Example No. 2 is the over-painted girl who goes around with a book under her arm, talks about serious subjects that are of little interest to girls of her own age. The young intellectual! The result? No telephone calls, no dates.

And now the good example! Here we have a girl who loves pretty clothes, who does her hair in a chic manner, is always in top form sartorially speaking. She uses a little make-up, puts it on with restraint.

She loves books. She enjoys good music and dances well. She is, in fact, an all-around girl. Her interests keep widening. But, best of all, she is a good listener and doesn't attempt to be the life of the party. She is responsive. When a boy tells her what a great fellow he is, as most boys do, she agrees with him, though she may be chuckling to herself.

RAWDON

Missionary Activity in South America Outlined at W.M.S.

RAWDON — Mrs. Eric Summers was hostess on Wednesday for the August meeting of the Pleasant Rawdon Woman's Missionary Society. Seventeen members, eight visitors and several children were in attendance.

Mrs. Carleton Potts played quiet music and the president, Mrs. Frank Jeffs, read a selection on the theme, "Honour."

Mrs. Rose Jeffs reported $5.87 for July. Mrs. Ross Hoard read an article "Stewardship of the Needle," Mrs. John Holmes gave an explanation of a good citizen, his privileges and responsibilities and a temperance item.

The name of Mrs. R. R. Bonisteel will be transferred to Jarvisville W.M.S. for the balance of the year.

Mrs. Roy Thrasher presided over the program which she had arranged. Mrs. Kenneth Weaver read a paper on the theme, "We Help Ourselves, When We Help Others." Mrs. Robert Mercer, the Bible lesson. Carol and Jean Sharpe sang "Praise Him," with their mother as accompanist. Mrs. Herbert Smith gave a devotional paper on the theme, "Honor," which is the basic characteristic for Christian living.

Mrs. Rose Hoard rendered piano music.

MISSIONARY ACTIVITY

Mrs. Burton Sharpe outlined "A Widening Circle," which pictured Missionary activity in South America. Wherever there is work to be done in the name of Christ the Protestant church has a mission. There are hospitals in Puerto Rico, leprosariums in Paraguay, experimental agricultural projects in Brazil, mission schools in Argentina, and Colombia, and a fellowship house in Buenos Aires.

The Presbyterian hospital in San Juan stands as a symbol of Protestant belief that a man's whole life is to be protected by the love of God. It is the only hospital in the Caribbean with its population of 12 million people.

SENSITIVE PEOPLE

Like the United States and Canada, Latin America has her forgotten people and her slums, but she also has cities as modern and even more beautiful than ours. She has the enthusiasm of an expanding frontier and she has wonderful people as quick and sensitive, as gracious and progressive as any in the world.

The missionaries are called "Evangelicals" and there is a large number of Bible translators at work in Latin America from Mexico to Argentina.

The various evangelical organizations in Mexico, Brazil and Colombia are now united as the Protestant mission. In 1951 there were 70 delegates from 16 countries gathered in Buenos Aires for the third congress and here Christian youth met "as brethren around the word of our common Lord." They sang "Jesus Shall Reign," which drew them all together in the "Kingdom" that stretches from shore to shore."

CONGRESS OFFICERS

The meetings were held in Ward College and Central Methodist Church in Buenos Aires, and the officers of the Congress were as follows:

President, A. E. Waldensian from Uruguay; vice-presidents, a Congregationalist from Mexico, and a Presbyterian from Brazil, and a Methodist from Argentina. The secretaries were a Presbyterian from Colombia; a member of the Christian Missionary Alliance from Ecuador, and a Methodist from Peru.

This made up the Protestant Evangelicals of the Third Congress which has total community of 3,000,000 people. The modern missionary needs a plane as very often his field stretches over an area of eight thousand miles. They have 30 airstrips ready for the plane that brings the preacher and the doctor and the Christian books they are learning to read.

These missionaries have also been world pioneers in radio evangelism, and the power of the living Christ has blazed its way across the continent.

Mrs. Will McAdam and Mrs. Ira David contributed a vocal duet and the service closed with "Come Ye Thankful People."

The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Blake Sharp with "Charity" as the theme and Mrs. Ross Hoard in charge of the program.

The hosters and a few friends served light refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Demand Reds Account For 2,840 Missing Men

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The United Nation command Tues., demanded an accounting of 2,840 missing Allied soldiers named in a newly revised list of men the Reds are accused of holding prisoner.

Rear Admiral T. B. Brittain told the Communists the UN wants to know when the men will be freed if they are alive and when their bodies will be returned if they are dead.

The unaccounted-for United Nations soldiers included 19 British, nine Australians, four Canadians, eight South Africans, one Greek, four Turks, two Colombians and three men from Belgium and Luxembourg.

STIRLING

Bride-to-Be Feted by Two Two Showers

STIRLING. — Last Wednesday evening, Mrs. Kenneth Cooke entertained 30 guests at her home with Mrs. James Cranston as cohostess, in honor of Miss Marie Montgomery, bride-to-be, which was a real surprise to the special guest of honor.

A chair was decorated with bridal streamers and a canopy of balloons overhead filled with confetti which popped open at the appointed time.

The group played games and were awarded small prizes for their efforts.

Marie received a large array of miscellaneous gifts for her new home, and she graciously voiced thanks for party and gifts.

The hostesses served refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

On Friday evening, Mrs. Ralph McCabe entertained about 30 people at her home, in honor of Marie. The co-hostesses were Mrs Ivan Eggleton and Mrs. Thomas MacConnell.

The rooms were decorated in crepe streamers and bells with Marie's name specially lettered on the entrance door to the McCabe hour. A large umbrella filled with confetti made a canopy over the bridal chair.

Several contests were staged with prizes awarded to the winners.

The large array of kitchen, linen and useful household articles were hidden in various groups around the rooms and an alarm clock directed the bride-to-be to the hiding place at intervals during the evening. As Marie opened the large array of parcels, she was showered with confetti.

The guest of honor voiced gracious thanks for all the lovely gifts to all the friends who were in attendance, and also expressed thanks to the ladies who entertained in her honor.

The three hostesses served dainty refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed. The group extended best wishes to Marie for a happy matrimonial voyage through life. The wedding is scheduled for August.

Convicts Behind Minor Trouble At Industrial Farm

BRANTFORD (CP)—A group of former Kingston penitentiary convicts Tuesday were reported behind a minor disturbance at the Burtch Industrial Farm.

Col. G. Hedley Basher, deputy minister of reform institutions, said everything now is under control. There was no violence in the Monday night affair.

Col. Basher said the trouble started when the men refused to eat their evening meal. It consisted of macaroni, cheese, cottage brown potatoes, salad, pie and tea.

He said the men would give no reason for their actions.

They were ordered back to their dormitories. A number of prisoners were seen talking and visiting with the others, agitating against eating breakfast and working Tuesday, Col. Basher said.

URGED TO WORK

Tuesday morning the superintendent of the institution urged the men to use their good judgment and go to work.

About 40 responded to the superintendent's urging. The others were warned that no bargains would be made.

Col. Basher said the ringleaders were then picked out and the remainder of the holdouts indicated they were ready to return to work.

The colonel said the disturbance was agitated by a group of "ex-Kingston convicts," serving short sentences here, "apparently in sympathy with their pals in Kingston."

Burr's

BURRS — Rev. and Mrs. David Osborne and daughters, Penn, and Mrs. G. Black, Trenton, were Tuesday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Pulford.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Harns and Mr. A. Harns attended the drovers' picnic, east of Deseronto.

Rev. A. Foulter was a neighborhood caller Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Blakely spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Foster, Wellington Road.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Fulford entertained at a birthday dinner for the latter's brother, Mr. Ray Humphrey, and cousin, Mrs. A. Fox, Belleville, on Friday evening. Other guests were: Mrs. A. Calnan, Mrs. Ray Humphrey, and Roswell, and Mr. and Mrs. V. Jessops and family, Picton.

DEER AND WOLF

Mrs. R. Humphrey on a recent huckleberrying trip, north of Arden, saw a herds of 12 deer. A deer was seen in the woodland of Mr. H. Hall. Coons are also prevalent.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Werden and Scott of Reading, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr were Thursday tea-hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Burr.

Mr. and Mrs. Murney Parks were Sunday guests of friends near Ajax.

Mrs. S. J. Munro, Crofton, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr. Thursday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. A. Werden at the same home were: Mr. and Mrs. S. Werden, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dick and sons, Mrs. H. Montgomery, Margaret, Mary and Brian.

Miss Elsie Soble was the recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dempsey and Terry, Rossmore.

Mrs. F. Furtelle, Mr. F. Huffman and Mr. O. Diggins have renewed their homes with fresh coats of paint.

Mr. A. Werden was Saturday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Werden.

Aged Chinese Clubbed to Death With Hatchet

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — One aged Chinese was clubbed to death with a hatchet and another was injured with murder here Tuesday.

Slain in his room was Hong Hi, 70. Ng Gee, 64, was charged with his murder.

RCMP said they believed Hong was in bed when his assailant entered the room. The victim reached under the bed for a knife with a locking blade which he kept there for protection.

He was chopped down before he could use it.

Agrees Polluted Air Might Cause Cancer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Lung cancer may be caused by breathing polluted air just as much as by inhaling cigaret smoke, a University of Western Ontario scientist says.

Dr. R. W. Begg, associate professor of medical research at UWO, said in an interview Tuesday there is no reason to doubt statements by California doctors that industrial exhaust products in the air cause cancer.

"It throws some doubt on cigaret smoking as a cause of cancer because coincidental with the increase with smoking has been an increase in industrial wastes in the air," Dr. Begg said.

Koreans Protest Troop Withdrawal

SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean National Assembly will meet tonight to consider the reported withdrawal of "part of the U. S. 8th Army" from Korea, assembly chairman Lee Ki Poong said.

Demonstrations against the reported withdrawal were being scheduled throughout South Korea Thursday, official sources said.

An 8th Army spokesman refused to comment on the report.

"This is a time when South Korea must oppose any withdrawal of UN troops from Korea in view of the fact that the Communists are building their strength in the north," Lee said in a statement.

Serious Setback To Five-Year Plan by Floods

The writer of the following dispatch covered the Chinese Civil War for The Associated Press. During his China tour from 1946 to 1948, he travelled extensively through the regions now hit by floods.

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON (AP) — China's 1954 floods, the worst in modern history, have dealt a serious setback to Mao Tse-tung's five-year economic plan, Western officials say.

The tidal wave of destruction hitting central China is expected to compel the Peiping regime to stretch out its program to industrialize the country and build up its military potential, Mao's ambitious plan now is in its second year.

Experts in London have pieced together from official Peiping radio broadcasts and reports filtering out of the country the picture of a vast disaster which has cost hundreds of lives.

Waters of the mighty Yangtze and Huai rivers have spilled over hundreds of thousands of rich agricultural acres. About 100,000 men and women are battling along miles of dikes, by lights at night, to save the already-crippled Wuhan industrial zone which includes the cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang.

FARM CROPS LOST

Hurting the Reds most is the loss of farm crops.

China, where millions go hungry year after year because of the country's chronic food shortage, can ill afford to suffer big losses in crops. But the blow falls heaviest today because the government is grabbing a big share of the farm output to finance its factory building.

The Chinese Reds, lacking cash and big export industries, depend on the sale of farm products to pay for the machines and raw materials they must import.

Seventy-five per cent of China's trade is with the Soviet bloc and on that basis—farm products for industrial goods.

To make up for the losses suffered in the floods, Chinese officials are urging the untouched regions of the country to boost their farm output above already high quotas. Western experts doubt that they can.

Actually releases up to 15% more power by overcoming lead and carbon deposits constantly accumulating in your engine

Acts before you've finished your second tankful

Think of it! Without touching a tool—you can get up to 15% more power from your engine automatically.

The major cause of power loss—preignition and misfiring—can now be overcome by the gasoline you use.

It's an engineering fact

All of today's gasolines—because they are designed to meet the needs of modern high-compression engines—contain deposit-forming compounds. This means that lead and carbon deposits are constantly accumulating in most engines. These deposits rob you of power two ways!

In combustion chambers the deposits get so hot they set off the fuel mixture prematurely. The explosion hits the piston before it's reached the proper firing position.

When this happens, power works against you, not for you. It is called pre-ignition, and it occurs most often when you actually need more power—for accelerating or climbing a hill.

The second way these deposits steal power is by coating the ends of your spark plugs. Because the deposits divert electricity, the spark "shorts out," the plug misfires. Fuel is unburned, produces no power—just wastes your money!

Now you can get that power back—tune your engine without tools with a new kind of gasoline. You do this by using Shell or Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP—the greatest gasoline development since the introduction of tetraethyl lead.

TCP additive breaks through the power barrier set up by the lead and carbon deposits. It "fireproofs" the hot spots in combustion chambers, preventing pre-ignition. Power works for you again.

And on spark plugs, it changes the nature of the deposits to prevent misfiring. You get a full spark again and the spark plug fires every time. Your engine smooths out and delivers up to 15% more power.

TCP acts quickly

Before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. Remember, because these lead and carbon deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell or Shell Premium with TCP is essential to retain its full benefits. Both Shell Gasolines now with TCP are available only at your Shell dealer's.

Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

CAMPBELLFORD

Zion W.A. Marks 40th Anniversary

CAMPBELLFORD. — Members of the Zion Woman's Association gathered in the church on Wednesday afternoon to celebrate the 40th anniversary of their organization.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with baskets of gladioli and other mixed flowers and a basket of white and mauve gladioli was placed in front of the alter in memory of the departed members.

Among the visitors which numbered close to 100 were, Rev. D. McTavish of Bradford, and Mr. J. E. Glover, of Marmora, and their wives, both gentlemen having been minister of the Seymour circuit.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Charles Bland of Colborne, daughter of the late Rev. M. L. Hinton, also a former circuit minister, was guest speaker for the occasion.

The opening hymn and prayer was given by the Rev. Gordon Whitehorne followed by a minute's silence in honor of the departed members. A Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Ernest Irwin and Mrs. Albert Case, of Toronto, entertained with a vocal solo.

Mrs. John Simpson, who had been president of the group for 23 years, gave a short address. Mrs. Simpson is 84 years old and still takes a big part in all activities of the community.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Ernest Irwin thanked everyone, on behalf of the organization, for making the affair such a success, following which refreshments were served in the Sunday School hall.

Seated at the head table, which was centred with a birthday cake bearing 40 candles, were the only three surviving charter members, Mrs. John Simpson, Mrs. Fred Barnum and Mrs. Thos. Brunton. Also seated at this table were, Mrs. Albert Petherick, past president; Mrs. Lindsay Anderson, immediate past president and Mrs. Caroling Wright, president.

PASSES ANTI-SPY BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Monday night passed an omnibus anti-subversive measure tightening up the present United States sabotage laws, providing possible death for peacetime spying and requiring registration of all persons trained in espionage or sabotage by a foreign government or foreign political party. The bill now goes back to the House.

Marmora

MARMORA—Miss Jean Reynolds, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with her brother, John R. Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds.

Mrs. H. A. Seeley and daughter, Madeline and Mrs. E. T. H. Seely and two sons, of Westmount, Quebec are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frost.

Golden Star Marmora R.B.P., No. 748 took part in the Derry Day celebration at Frankford on Saturday.

Marmora Branch No. 227 Canadian Legion has decided to hold its annual Decoration Day ceremonies on the afternoon of Sunday, August 29, and is requesting all plot holders to join in the decoration of their graves as they decorate the graves of deceased ex-service men.

Private Earl Deering, of Kingston, visited his brother, William R. Deering and Mrs. Deering, over the week-end.

Scientists Urged to Organize In Development of Science By Danish Ambassador to UN

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — An organization embracing scientists of both the East and West in the peaceful development of science has been called for by William E. Borberg, Danish ambassador to the United Nations.

Mr. Borberg, in an address Tuesday to a plenary session of the fifth International Congress on Mental Health, suggested of the United Nations as the organizational point.

"In the field of peace it must be admitted that it is insanity for a species to commit suicide, and we have reached that stage in regard to military preparations for war that we do risk race suicide . . . the approach to the quest on of peace is therefore . . . scientific, by which I mean that we are not dealing with war and peace on an abstract basis for humanitarian reasons."

Mr. Borberg said the enormous sums spent by the Soviet Union on science and the ever-increasing number of men scientifically trained that are turned out there every year must represent many elements common to our scientists.

MAKE ISSUES REALISTIC

"Let us then face the fact that an affirmative answer from Communist countries would be met with suspicion in many a Western mind. So would a negative one and no formula will allay that suspicion. But it seems worth trying, whether we cannot by a joint enterprise humanize the ideologies, making the issues more realistic and more scientific."

The ambassador said if the West started the trend for deliberate scientific development in organization of science with a nucleus, a special team consisting of experts in, for instance, social psychology, sociology, applied anthropology, human organization and a few others, the groundwork would then be laid for further expansion on a permanent basis.

Dr. G. R. Hargreaves, chief of the mental health section of the World Health Organization at Geneva, asked for more teamwork between the psychiatrist and the public health worker in the field of mental health.

He said the psychiatrist must sell his knowledge of the cause of ill health to local communities and public health services.

GET RID OF BIASES

Dr. Hargreaves said that if such teamwork were undertaken, psychiatrists would have to rid themselves of certain biases, among them "our praiseworthy conviction that mental ill health is a grave social problem, and mental health a state for which all should strive."

"We are eager that others should share this view and so perhaps devote too much of our efforts to persuading them to agree with us that 'mental health is very important' and too little to the more specific end of persuading the communities in which we live to take the practical steps that arise from what etiological knowledge we have."

Dr. Frank Fremont-Smith, New York psychiatrist, was elected president of the World Federation for Mental Health, sponsors of the congress. He succeeds Professor H. C. Rumke, rector of the University of Utrecht, Holland.

Duke's Expedition To Reach Sunken Ship Under Way

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Argyll's expedition to reach a sunken ship of the Spanish Armada—which legend says may hold £25,000,000 worth of gold—is under way.

An announcement in London Tuesday on the duke's behalf said:

"The depot ship SS Archchatan and other vessels are now anchored in the bay of Tobermory (near the Argyllshire shore of Scotland). The operation of removing the silt from around the wreck will begin in about two days time."

Sixteen previous attempts by treasure hunters have been made to get at the ship on the bottom of the bay near the island of Mull since it sank, apparently in 1588.

These seekers were after the gold. The Duke of Duke says he has a different approach.

"The expedition is an attempt to identify and explore the only known galleon of the Spanish Armada," he says. "That's what attracts me."

Not Worried Over Al Rosen; Avila's There

CLEVELAND (AP)—A big reason Cleveland manager Al Lopez isn't yanking out his hair by the handful over Al Rosen's current batting slump is Bobby Avila, whose ninth-inning single won the Indians a 4-3 victory over Detroit Tigers Tuesday night.

The little Mexican second baseman has taken up the slack this month while Rosen is having the worst batting trouble of his major league career.

Even without much help from their big man, the Indians have kept the second-place New York Yankees from gaining as much as three games.

"I look for Al to come out of it," Lopez said, "and Avila and Doby are keeping us in there on the attack."

While Lary Doby has provided 16 homers in 17 August games, his batting iverage actually has dropped five points to .275. Avila, however, has been hitting at a .360 clip for the 17 games, batting in 13 runs on 27 hits, including three homers.

Peiping Life Much the Same After Revolution

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story was written by a reporter for the London Daily Telegraph who is travelling with the Labor party group.

By JOHN RIDLEY

PEIPING, China (AP) — While much of Peiping life remains much the same as it did before the Communist revolution, a great deal actually has been changed. To anyone who was in China before, it seems astonishing that waiters refuse tips rather haughtily. The laughter and gaiety of streets has for the most part gone.

From the walls of most buildings saturnine portraits of Mao Tze-tung, Stalin, Malenkov and Minister glower at passing multitudes.

Bookshops are crammed with Communist books.

Generally the city is cleaner than it was and public buildings such as the Forbidden City Temple of Heaven, the Lama temple and various pagodas of Peiping are beautifully kept with paintwork renewed and new grass around them banked with flowers. On the whole the people are poorly dressed, but even high government officials obviously consider it the thing to appear only in depressing looking dungaree suits.

FRIGHTFUL POVERTY

There are still frightful sights of poverty but there are no beggars in the streets. Although I was earnestly and frequently informed that "New China" is doing everything for children, even here in the capital of the country, there are obvious signs of starvation amongst many potbellied, naked little boys and girls sitting apathetically beside gutters.

Everywhere here are soldiers all fully armed with automatic weapons and even grenades. This, it was old, was because invasion is always feared from Formosa. Around the airfield on the edge of the city an electric fence has been put up and guarded every few yards by soldiers.

Whereas in the old days soldiers were considered the scum of earth in China, now they are given an honored place and apparently a great many privileges. Most lookhusky and somehow achieve a dedicated look when seen marching along the street.

ONE ROCK FALL LEADS TO ANOTHER

Dynamite crews blast away thousands of more tons of rock from the face of Niagara Falls as a safety measure. Various sections of the falls' Prospect Point were considered dangerously loosened by the recent collapse of another section of the giant waterfall. This ground level view was made during blasting of Prospect Point. Half of the 2,700-ton chunk of rock rose momentarily and then crashed down into the Niagara river gorge.—Central Press Canadian.

Leaders of 6 Nations Gather To Discuss European Army

BRUSSELS (AP) — Leaders of the six European army nations converged on the Belgian capital today for crucial talks on the French demands imperilling the projected European Defence Community.

From all sides opposition mounted to French premier Mendes-France's proposal for major revisions in the EDC treaty. But reports from Paris said Mendes-France would tell his colleagues at the foreign ministers' conference opening here Thursday that only his new European army plan could be approved by the French National Assembly.

Many observers doubted that an acceptable formula could be worked out for the six-nation army, in which a rearmed West Germany would pool her troops with those of France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

So far the five other EDC nations had shown nothing but opposition to the French proposals. Critics contended they robbed the army plan of much of its supranational aspect. All argued the amendments would require new parliamentary approval by the four nations, all but Italy and France which have ratified the pact. The West Germans considered the proposals raised new discriminations against them.

The Dutch in a foreign office statement earlier this week went on record in opposition to Mendes-France's demands. An Italian foreign ministry source in Rome said Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni would reject the proposals at the Brussels meeting.

West Germany, Belgium and Luxembourg appeared certain to line up with Italy and Holland.

Judge Grants Actress Decree, Keeps Property

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — The bolly contested Susan Hayward-Jess Barker divorce case ended Tuesday when a judge granted the actress a decree and the right to keep all her real and personal property.

Her property includes more than $250,000 in cash, bonds and insurance and a $1,000,000 movie contract.

Barker, also an actor, was awarded a station wagon and the right to visit the couple's twin sons on alternate week-ends. Miss Hayward was given custody as part of the ruling.

Barker had contested his wife's divorce action and at one point his lawyer said he had turned down a $100,000 settlement offer from Miss Hayward because of "certain strings attached."

During trial of the case last June it was brought out that assets in her own name totalled $293,319. Barber's bank account was set at about $5,000. In 1951 and 1952 he earned a total of $955 while she earned $374,068.

CLOSES BOOKS

OTTAWA (CP) — Though the United Nations command in Korea is still trying to trace three missing Canadian soldiers, the army has closed its casualty books on the Korean War. The army said Tuesday it is convinced the three soldiers in question are dead and that it does not want to raise false hopes for their relatives.

Commander at Dien Bien Phu Is Included Among Prisoners To Be Released by Vietminh

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, heroic French defender of Dien Bien Phu, is included in a group of officer prisoners to be handed over to the French in an exchange beginning today, Communist Vietminh radio said.

The broadcast said that 280 French Union officers would be released during the operation. It did not make clear when, de Castries would be handed over.

The radio said three colonels captured at Dien Bien Phu would also be handed over. It said the complete list of 280 officers has been handed to the French high command delegation to the joint armistice commission for Viet Nam.

It added that prisoners to be delivered by the Vietminh through one exchange point alone total 4,210, of whom 4,200 are European whites and Africans and 320 Viet Namese nationals.

The slender, hawk-nosed de Castries, who defended his crumbling fortress through weeks of bitter siege, finally had to surrender the north Viet Nam bastion when the Vietminh overran his positions. He was marched away with about 7,000 of his men last May.

Descendant of a long line of famous French soldiers, de Castries started the Dien Bien Phu battle as a colonel with an adventurous career behind him in the Second World War.

He was promoted at the height of the siege, when his defiant messages out of the shell-pocked redoubt became an inspiration to the whole French army.

The battle lasted 57 days and the French high command conceded the loss of 14,000 men.

Dog's Bark Save Four Children Adrift on Lake

TORONTO (CP) — A German shepherd dog barked 15 minutes Tuesday before attracting lifeguards to the plight of four children who had drifted into Lake Ontario in a motor boat.

Police said the four—Deby Hood 2, Teddy Edwards, 5, Betty Mann, 6, all of Toronto, and Billy Rogers, 11, of Brampton—untied the boat from its moorings and began paddling with their hands. The dog, Betty's pet, had been left on shore.

A strong wind took over when the children were some way off shore and carried them out about 400 yards into rough water. The dog attracted lifeguards, who rescued the children. On the way back Debby fell into the water but was pulled to safety.

Desertion of Otto John Political Hydrogen Bomb For Western Solidarity

This is the second of two stories on the postwar Germany's great security scandal, the flight of Otto John to the Communist East.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BONN (AP)—Dr. Otto John's treason to the West is a kind of political hydrogen bomb.

In four weeks since the Bonn republic's security chief deserted to the Soviet zone, his explosive case has:

1. Poisoned Allied-German relations and strengthened Russian diplomacy.

2. Shaken the European Army project, which faces the French National Assembly's crucial vote in a couple of weeks.

2. Thrown grave suspicion that all German and Allied intelligence organizations may contain other Soviet double agents.

4. Humiliated Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government and high Allied officers, who had worked here with John for years in top-secret anti-Communist espionage.

TRAGEDY TO TRIVIA

Dead by his own hand, a United States counter-intelligence captain Wolfgang E. Hoeber, is still a mystery figure. The German-born naturalized American had been John's school chum in boyhood. He shot himself when questioned by other officers in Berlin about the latter John's flight.

2. Mrs. Lucie Marion John, seven years her 43-year-old husband's senior has been left stranded by him in the West.

3. Half a dozen night club cuties are bereft of the companionship of Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, the "parlor Bolshevik" who quired John in his car into Berlin's Soviet sector the evening of July 20.

Gilh and dapper, John is treated as a distinguished guest by the Soviet zone regime and appears to relish the West's consternation. He and ex - field marshal Friedrich Paulus, defeated Nazi commander of Stalingrad, now are propaganda ials in the Red "peace camp."

Paulus dangles the prospect of reviver careers for the officers in a new German army, staff barks, back to historical periods when German power in Europe was based on alliance with Russia.

RADIO MCOMMENT

John is expected to become a weekly commentator on the big Communist radio station, Deutschlandsender, with his political messages beamed at West Germany.

His song is pitched in a different key than Paulus' but it means the same thing for Russia.

He declares former Nazis are back in governmental power in Bonn—the percentage actually is less than in East Germany—and that incorrigible German militarists are plotting with the U. S. to attack the Soviet Union.

The time of John's treason is one of its most disturbing features to Allied diplomats. Closely associated with the British secret service for 10 years, he bolted eastward just when Britain and the U. S. had hit a post-war peak of dissension in their grand alliance.

He appeared last week on a flower-decked East Berlin stage to assail what he called the "warmongering" U. S. and its best friend, Chancellor Adenauer. It was almost the very hour that former prime minister Clement Attlee and seven other British Labor party leaders had chosen to take off on a flying visit to Red China.

JOHN BOASTS

John boasted that he will expose "secret agreements" to the European Army pact at some future date. But this is almost the only thing he has said since his desertion that has not made Western officials flinch.

The confirmed fact is that the treaty has no secret military clauses. But there is an understanding connected with it that has not yet been officially made public.

Prank Halts Subway Traffic

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Transit Commission subway was tied up again Tuesday night. This time a prankster caused it.

An unknown person pulled an emergency power cut-off switch at a station on the northern part of the city shortly after 7 p.m. (EDT) and tied up transportation for 20 minutes.

Monday subway traffic was held up six hours when a car was derailed.

Mrs. William Slavin had charge of the devotional. Scripture readings, Romans 14:5; 19-22; Matthew 3:29-30; 1 Corinthians 6:18-20 were read by Mrs. G. Sills.

Mrs. Judson Kelly gave a most interesting temperance reading.

Mrs. Kelly also mentioned what exceedingly good friends she and Mrs. French are; adding that in seven years of living together, never a quarrel arose. Mrs. French mentioned with a twinkle in her eyes, "but we sometimes differed at each other". Mrs. D. Halton pinned a lovely red rose on Mrs. French's dress in honor of her eighty-eighth birthday.

Mrs. R. Hart and Mrs. D. Thrasher, on behalf of the ladies, presented two attractively packaged gifts to the honored lady; who promptly opened them. In the smaller box were a home teapot and stand, cream pitcher and sugar bowl. The large box contained the remainder of the table service for four. Mrs. French expressed her grateful appreciation with great emotion and "Happy Birthday" was sung.

The hostess and helpers served bountiful refreshments, which included a beautifully decorated lighted birthday cake, which the guest of honor blew out, bringing to a successful conclusion, a most enjoyable afternoon.

RELIEF PROMISED

For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain

Now relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB," this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation to overcome pain—the "skin barrier"—goes to work to relieve pain deep down in muscles and joints. The blood-stream carries the soothing medication right to the seat of trouble where it actually helps drive away pain—causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage. InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written testimonials attest to the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prompted, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a doctor's prescription from your local drug store for only $1.25. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money refunded in full.

LIQUID TILE

Just Paint It On! Hardens Like Tile!

Here is the fastest, easiest — and most economical — way to get a tile-finish floor. Just pour LIQUID TILE out of the can and smooth it out with brush or roller. This way you get a tile-finish floor for only the price of paint. Chemically, the finish is actually similar to one of the most beautiful and long-wearing forms of tile. Goes directly on all floors — bare concrete, wood or linoleum; or over old paint.

LIQUID TILE is more than a paint. It smooths out rough spots, and one application can put it on thickly, and it will still dry thoroughly. Lies up beautifully, too. Simply finish it off with a brush, and you get a LIQUID TILE CLEAR. The CLEAR promotes and features the finish, giving a high gloss, waterproof, chip-proof surface. It is alkali-resistant, bright and deep. LIQUID TILE can go right on damp concrete. Cuts costs to a fraction. Good for walls, too.

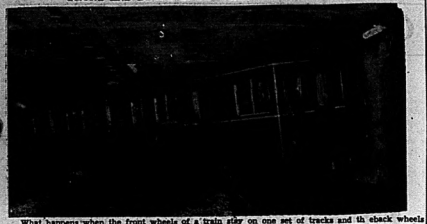
FRONT END DIDN'T KNOW WHAT BACK WAS DOING



What happens when the front wheels of a train stay on one set of tracks and th eback wheels switch to another set? The answer is given by this car in the Toronton subway. The last car on a train of six, its rear caught in an open switch and was headed in a different direction than the front end. It didn't go far before it jumped the tracks, bringing the whole train to a halt. Passengers were amused — until they found that it meant a half-hour delay in rush hour—Central Press Canadian.

French Proposals Would Require New Ratification

BRUSSELS (AP)—A member of the Belgian government said today the government decided at an emergency meeting this morning that French proposals for European defence would have to be ratified by the Belgian Parliament if Thursday's Brussels conference accepts them.

The emergency meeting was held to hear a report from Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak on the proposals put forward by French Premier Mendes-France for modifications of the European Defence Community treaty.

The Belgian government, it is said, supported Spaak's reported attitude that Mendes-France's proposals could be rendered acceptable, but emphasized that unless the French premier accepts substantial changes it would be a difficult task.

Meanwhile, in Luxembourg, officials said the Mendes-France proposals would mean the European Defence Community would cease to be the nucleus of a politically unified Europe.

One official wondered whether Mendes-France's purpose in making such proposals was not to get rid of the EDC as soon as feasible.

The changes proposed by Mendes-France have been so far opposed by all delegations to the conference except the Belgians who refused to comment officially and to the Luxemburg premier who kept the same attitude.

But reports from Paris said Mendes-France would tell the delegates that only his plan could be approved in the French House.

CHILD IS KILLED

TORONTO (CP) — Two-year-old Callie Ann Jamieson of suburban North York was killed Tuesday when struck by a car in front of her home.

Man Electrocuted

TORONTO — (CP) — A laborer working on a tree-clearing project was electrocuted Tuesday night when a cable used to pull down a tree touched a high-voltage wire.

Michael Mazzei, 41, an Italian immigrant, was dead on arrival in hospital. Another worker, Leonardo Lescio, 32, was hurt when the cable struck him on the head. He was treated at the scene.

Workmen Injured

TORONTO (CP) — Three workmen were injured Tuesday when the second-storey wall of a building being demolished collapsed on them.

James McInerney suffered a broken shoulder and ribs, Louis Topor received a broken right leg and Joseph Blandino suffered internal injuries. All are from Toronto.

Southeast Asia Pact Not Liked By Ottawa

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—In the Ottawa view, the proposed Southeast Asia defence pact is not all it might or should be.

"The worst seems to have been prevented," one informant said today. "That is, the alliance isn't starting in the teeth of defiant Asian disapproval. On the other hand, the Indians don't like it."

"We hope that the Asian countries won't be hostile to it."

Eight countries will meet at Bagnio, the Philippines, Sept. 6 to discuss a Southeast Asia alliance. They are the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan.

India and Indonesia have said such an alliance will increase tension in Asia. They and Burma and Ceylon have declined to attend the conference.

ASIAN HELP NEEDED

External Affairs Minister Pearson said in the Commons May 28:

". . . a little of a substantial or permanent character is likely to be achieved in establishing peace and security in Southeast Asia, or any other part of Asia, without the wide, co-operative assistance of the free Asian countries.

"I think it is most important . . . that those countries should feel that, even if they are not members of it, any collective security arrangements in Southeast Asia that may be worked out should be in their interest, and have taken into consideration their interests.

"If not enough Asian states feel that way, the foundation of any Southeast Asia security organization will not be very firm."

Canada is not a likely member of the pact because the government has said the country's foreign commitments are heavy enough now and the seven nations which plan to form the alliance want to keep it on a regional basis.

Jap Premier To Leave Sept. 25 For Vancouver

TOKYO (AP) — The Influential Tokyo Shimbun said today Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida will leave Tokyo via Canadian Pacific Air Lines for Vancouver, Sept. 25 or 27 on the first lap of a long-delayed foreign tour.

The prime minister originally planned his round-the-world trip for last June but postponed his departure after a brawl in the Japanese Diet (parliament).

The Shimbun said Yoshida's tentative schedule called for him to visit Ottawa and sail for Europe from New York.

36 Stitches in Cheek

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP) — Alf Coutts, Toronto prospector, used about every safety precaution he could think of before setting off a charge of dynamite on a mining claim Tuesday. It didn't help.

While helpers held highway traffic back at a distance approved by police, Coutts laid the dynamite and retired 300 feet to what he thought was a safe distance. Then the charge was set off.

A shower of rocks flew at Coutts, sliced away one of his cheeks, broke his jaw and injured his shoulder. No one else was hit.

It took 36 stitches to sew the cheek back in place at a Geraldton clinic.

Saving money . . . and writing cheques

A bank offers you two types of deposit account, Savings and Current.

If your main purpose is to save, to accumulate funds, it's good to have a Savings account.

If you write cheques frequently, you will like the many advantages of a Current account.

The money you leave in a Savings account earns interest, and your bank book gives you an up-to-date, continuing record of your financial progress. If your funds are active, with frequent deposits and withdrawals, a Current account provides a special service; a monthly statement, together with your cancelled cheques—useful as receipts and a ready reference for budgeting, bookkeeping and other purposes.

'Bums' Walk The Plank Before The Onslaught Of Boisterous Buccaneers

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Hennery Gang is definitely up against the wall tonight when it takes on the Loft-Elliott crew in Point Anne. Yep, Herb Ind, it's do or die this evening with an Ox Point victory giving them the series four games to one.

But, ——— if, (and don't bet against it) Northern Electric grabs this one, the sixth fixture will be played in Belleville on Friday night. The Clucker reports that his boys are all ready for this one with Lum Carson the likely starter and Bobby Hunter the probable candidate to hurl in Elliott's behalf.

The first two games of the series went to the Pointers by one-run margins with the Northerners taking an 8-7 decision in a wild, woolley contest last Friday and then dropping the fourth game on Monday by a 7-5 score.

* * *

THIS ONE, WE DUG UP!

The fastest play in the annals of baseball? Four seconds, perhaps a fraction more, for a batter to be thrown out at first and a runner going from second tagged at third.

It happened in the famous Yankees-Giant world series in 1921.

Oldtimers say, says the story, that they never saw a faster-moving, more dazzling function on the diamond than the double killing in behalf of the Giants—Johnny Rawlings, second base, to George Kelly, first base, to Frankie Frisch, third base.

In that era the world series was the best of nine. The Giants led 4-3 as the eighth game began.

Came the 9th inning with the Giants out front.

Babe Ruth, a pinch-hitter, of all things, bobbled weakly down the first base line. Ward walked. Frank Baker rifled a scorcher between first and second. Johnny Rawlings, Giants second baseman, was ten feet from the direction of the ball as it ripped to a field. He made a desperate lunge into the pathway of the ball.

The ball hit him in the pit of the stomach with terrific force, rolled off and lay dead a few feet away.

As Baker hit the ball, Ward on first, streaked for second and headed for third as Rawlings picked up the ball and fired in an almost flat position flipped it to Kelly on first. The ball beat Baker by a step.

Then came the play of plays.

Two men out, a runner roaring along the baseline for third. If he reached it he might score, tie the game and give the Yankees a chance to win.

Kelly at that fraction of a second was exactly 127 feet three and three quarter inches from third base. Ward, in full flight, was no farther off than about 30 feet.

A powerful thrower—and Kelly was one of the greatest—can pitch a ball from the box to the heart of the plate in one-third of a second—40 feet six inches. The highest expectancy of speed for a 127-foot throw by a sharpshooter like Kelly was about seven-eighths of a second.

A fast baserunner when in full flight can cover thirty feet in one second—perhaps less. When you take into consideration that such a runner, under pressure, elect to slide the last 10 or 15 feet, which is faster than running, you will find Ward was capable of completing those last 30 feet in about the same time that the fastest thrower could negotiate 127 feet with a baseball.

All things being equal it would result in a tie. But the odds were all against Kelly—all in favor of Ward. For Kelly had to make the fastest throw that was humanly possible and with such accuracy that baseman Frisch could take it in a perfect angle and make the tag without the loss of a fraction. If the ball was a foot too high or a foot to either side Frisch never would have the time to whirl and make the putout.

Kelly, taking the throw from Rawlings with his foot on the bag, sent it across the diamond. It shot in a line for the outstretched hands of Frisch. It never was more than four feet off the ground, neither higher nor lower. It was aimed for the exact centre of the cupped hand of Frisch as it came.

Ward leaped ten feet out from the bag in a cyclonic slide. The ball raced with him. A cloud of dust arose, shrouding Ward and Frisch and the grotesque of each, forging him, the ball itself and the figure of Umpire Quigley stooped over, leaning into the play.

A fraction of a second later the form of Frisch went somersaulting over and over from out of the group. The clearing dust revealed Ward on the ground, with one foot hooked to the bag. Quigley was turned watching the whirling Frisch who had been knocked ten feet by the impact of Ward's tremendous slide.

Frisch fought to halt himself, and did, after four or five complete turns. He leaped erect, jumped into the air—and displayed the ball.

"You're out" yelled Quigley—then he made the "out" motion. The game ended with the end of the rally, and also ended one of the most dramatic, the fastest plays in baseball annals. Total time elapsed for the complete play from Baker's swing to Quigley's ruling, was four seconds — perhaps a trifle more.

Perky Pirates Bewilder Fans With Nine Wins in Eleven; Tribe, Yankees Maintain Pace

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three years ago Branch Rickey invited a group of sports writers to attend the 1954 world series in Pittsburgh. The only way Pittsburgh will see the 1954 world series is by television. But the old master's amazing assortment of grizzled veterans and fuzzy - cheeked youngsters apparently are going to have a lot to say about where the series will be played.

The dead - but dead - game Pirates own today's longest winning streak in the National League —five games, including a 4-2 triumph Tuesday night over the bewildered Brooklyn Dodgers. Pittsburgh has won nine of its last 11, the best record by a Pirate team since 1949.

The Dodgers had reason to be bewildered. This was their second loss in Forbes Field in seven starts this season. In all of 1953 plus all of 1953 they lost only twice in the Pirates' den.

BRAVES STRING ENDS

Pittsburgh's streak became the longest when the Milwaukee Braves were beaten 4-1 by St. Louis, ending a nine-game string. The league-leading New York Giants capitalized on the misfortunes of the Dodgers and Braves with an 11-3 victory over Philadelphia. This put the Giants 3½ games in front of Brooklyn, 4½ ahead of the Braves.

Max Surkont, one of the pitchers Milwaukee decided it didn't need this season, beat the Dodgers on five hits as Frank Thomas drove in three of the four runs.

Johnny Antonelli, also traded away by the Braves during the winter, won his 18th game against three losses for the Giants. Bobby Hofman drove in four runs with a pair of homers and a single. Willie Mays drove in the pair with three singles in four times up, running his hitting streak to 12 games. The Giants record is 24.

"Operation Treadmill" continued in the American League. The New York Yankees won their eighth in a row, 11-1 over Philadelphia, and again failed to close the three game gap on the Cleveland Indians, who came from behind in the last of the ninth and nipped Detroit 4-3 for their seventh straight.

CHICAGO WINS

Both Chicago teams won double-headers. The Cubs whipped Cincinnati 5-0 and 9-3. The White Sox defeated Baltimore 2-0 and 3-1.

Boston edged Washington 4-3 in their private and fifth fight for place in the American League.

A single by Bobby Avila with the bases loaded in the ninth brought victory to the Indians after Detroit had come up with two-run leads. Bob Lemon, who won his 17th game, drove in the tying run in the ninth with a single. Lemon's record shows eight victories in the last four weeks.

The Yankees turned an easy victory into a runaway at Shibe Park in Philadelphia with six runs in the ninth inning. Bill Skowron's pinch-hit grand-slam homer was the crusher.

Billy Pierce and Virgil Trucks combined for the White Sox' shutout victory over Baltimore. Pierce, who struck out five in a row at one point, was replaced after walking two men in the eighth. The Sox beat Bob Kuzava for the second time in a week in the nightcap with an 11-hit attack.

REMEMBER WHEN

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mrs. Dorothy Round Little of Bridgewater, N.S., and Don Mc-Diarmid of Ottawa carried off five titles between them in the Canadian tennis championships at Halifax 14 years ago today. Mrs. Little, former Wimbledon champion, won top in the singles, women's doubles and mixed doubles; McDiarmid headed the men's singles and doubles.

SET NEW YACHT SERIES

TORONTO (CP)—At least 18 of the fastest six-metre yachts in North America will sail a series of three races for the North, American championship and the Globe and Mail trophy on Lake Ontario during the Canadian National Exhibition. The races will inaugurate a new series of competitions for the most highly-developed sailing craft in the world and will rotate annually among the Great Lakes, the Pacific coast and the Atlantic coast. It is expected that in future years European yachting clubs will send entries.

Leafs Drop Two To Royals; Wings Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Toronto Maple Leafs had to face Ken Lehman every day they'd probably be in last place in the International League instead of heading the loop.

Lehman has faced them five times this season and beaten them five times. Tuesday night he won a doubleheader for Montreal Royals over the Leafs the easy way. He received credit for a suspended game that was completed, with the Royals winning 10-1, then took to the mound to whip the Leafs 5-3.

In his nine-inning effort, Lehman was handed a four-run lead in the first inning that was all he needed to coast to his 16th victory.

Richmond Virginians, buried in the cellar, broke out Syracuse Chiefs twice, 5-0 and 6-0. Tommy Fine tossed a three-hitter in the three-inning opener in which no Chief got past second base, in the nine-inning nightcap. Bob Habenicht went his mate one better by holding the Chiefs to two hits and two walks while he got past first base.

Jack Fazoholt recorded his 16th triumph as Rochester turned back Ottawa Athletics 6-2 behind a 15-hit attack. Buffalo Bisons overwhelmed Havana Sugar Kings 13-1, with Frank Lary holding the losers to four hits.

50 Professionals Tee Off Today For Canada Cup

MONTEAL (CP) — Fifty professionals from 25 countries tee off at nearby Laval-sur-le-Lac tomorrow day in the official tune-up for the second annual Canada Cup golf matches.

The entry list for the 72-hole medal play tournament includes teams from as far away as Britain and Japan and is headed by long-driving Sammy Snead and colorful Jimmy Demaret, two United States veterans favored to wrest the cup from defending champion Argentina.

All but six of the pros had checked in at the lakeside course Tuesday night. Among those still to come were Snead and Demaret, Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Peter Thomson of Australia.

Most of the others spent the day testing the course's tricky greens. And from pros and amateurs in par seemed certain to take a beating when the players start the official 18-hole practice Thursday.

CERDA UNDER PAR

Antonio Cerda, one of the defending championship three Argentina, sized up the course nicely in his first trip around and came in with a five-under-par 67.

Bobby Locke, the veteran South African star, turned in a 68 while Peter Allis, 22-year-old member of the English team, was only one stroke back at 69.

Ireland's Fred Daly, who fired a 67 shortly after his arrival here late last week, had a three-under 69 Tuesday, as four Argentins on Canadian courses—three at Laval and one at Royal Montreal—he has not been less than three under par.

Others who have found the 6,589-yard course to their liking include Eric Brown of Scotland, who shot a 67.

Long-hitting Roberto de Vicenzo and Cede are back to defend the title they won four years ago on Montreal Beaconsfield last year. De Vicenzo checked in Tuesday after he turned in a tie with Thomson for sixth place in the Tam O'Shanter tournament at Chicago.

Leonard, a member of last year's Canadian team, will join host pro Jules Huot to represent this country. Huot fired a 65 recently in practice for the event.

The matches get underway Friday afternoon with an 18-hole round. Another round will be played Saturday and two on Sunday. Scores of the two men on each team are totalled to determine the champion.

Teams entered are from Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Egypt, England, France, Germany, Holland, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, New Zealand, the Philippines, Scandinavia, Scotland, South Africa, Spain, Switzerland, the United States and Wales.

Canadians Doing Well, Thank You In Home Amateur Golf Championship

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Beset already by ominous storms, the Canadian amateur golf championship undergoes a double shakedown today, and some nightfall only 16 of 64 hopefuls will be left.

The long second round Tuesday, dragging into the evening's closing hours, fired off a few eruptive blasts. The biggest bomb skyrocketed Dale Morey right out of the tournament and on to Detroit where he keeps for more considerate treatment in the United States Amateur next week.

The man who pulled the cannon trigger on Morey is Garth Simonson of Strafford, Ont., whose report card to date shows C-minus in major golf and honors in civil engineering.

The 30-year-old government employee, who once worked in Kirkland Lake, Jon 4 and 2 and it was for Duke. At the golf club in Indianapolis and runner-up in the U.S. Amateur last year, Simonson didn't have his day. He was bedevilled by a man who shot par golf in the 70s for a second-place win and gave up only one hole in the process.

CONTINUE STILL IN

Other Canadians did all right by themselves, too. When Tuesday's final reckoning of the second round was totted up it found that 11 Canadians were left to start out today, 29 Americans and 24 Americans. The lone senor is Fernando Mendez who disregarded the reputation of Stratford's gallery golf and pushed aside John Pyper, 2 and 1.

Two invaders confront the surviving golfers today and there's no telling what will happen. As an example, Phil Rodgers, 19-year-old one of those steady, rock-bottom golfers from Long Beach, Calif., sidelined Tuesday by Jim Sykes, Pennsylvania state amateur champion from Swarthmore 2 and 1.

CHERRY WINS

Crooner Don Cherry from Wichita Falls, Texas, winner of the 1953 Canadian Amateur, calmly walked to a 4 and 3 win over 16-year-old Wilf Homenuk of Yorkton, Sask. He meets up today with Eric Hanson of Toronto.

Glant-killer Ed Oxon goes against Mel Wilke of Normandy, Mo., who snuffed out Roy Kepron of Winnipeg, 5 and 4.

There are at least a dozen golfers upon whom Canadians are pinning their hopes despite Tuesday's losses.

Don Doe of Granby, Que., who almost tossed out Cherry in the final last year, had just enough trouble Tuesday to put him on edge. He got rid of Irving Lightstone of Toronto 2 and 1.

Long Doug Bajus, the six-foot-five walloper from Vancouver, coasted to a 5 and 4 win over Mike Cassidy of Toronto in preparation for his meeting with Bill Morland of North Bay.

NORMAN COASTS

Moe Norman of Kitchener, whose clowning is a perfect camouflage for his golfing ability, spanked Richard Nardone of Buffalo 6 and 4 and takes on Jay Law of Utica, Mich., in today's morning round.

Morey, the 1953 runner-up to Gene Littler in the U.S. amateur saw a one-hole lead disappear mid-way through the first nine to a pair of birdies and from there on Simonson was always in front.

CRUCIAL HOLES

The most crucial holes for Morey were the 11th and 12th where he thought he could catch up with the Canadian government employee. But Simonson halved both of them with marvellous putting — a 40-footer on the 11th and a 10-footer on the 12th.

It was Simonson's day all the way. He lost only one hole, the fourth where Morey was down for a birdie two. But Simonson came back with birdies at the fifth and sixth and went two up at the ninth with a par to a two-over by Morey.

Both were in trouble at the par-four 10th. Simonson pitched out with a five, and he ended the match on the 16th with a birdie four.

TAKES IT CALMLY

Simonson is an unknown so far as top competition is concerned and in fact, Tuesday's round this year was trounced 7 and 5 by Ken Jacobs of Toronto.

Simonson took his victory calmly and left almost immediately afterward with his mother.

"I was expecting him to make mistakes," said Morey, "and I found myself playing defensively. But he didn't make mistakes.

"He doesn't look good but he is—was today. But I doubt if he could break 75 tomorrow."

Simonson's next match for the out nine was par 35 to Morey's 37. For the in holes of the back nine Simonson was again even par to Morey's three over.

Other Canadian Results

Mike Dowling, Brantford, defeated Ted Holmes, Brantford, on 19th.

Grant Shirk, Kitchener, defeated David Ashland, North Bay, 4 and 3.

Jack Nash, London, Ont., defeated Charlie Stager, Galt, 4 and 3.

Bill Morland, North Bay, defeated Bob Gray, Charlottetown, one up.

Jerry Graham, Westbury, N.Y., defeated William Parkes, Woodstock, Ont., on 19th.

On The Football Fronts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pete Karpuk, the fellow who perpetrated the Stamps-Eskimo double tackle in Canadian football, was a backfielder without a field today. He has hopes of getting placed, though.

There were plenty of indications that Karpuk, dropped by Ottawa Rough Riders after only one week, won't get out of the Big Four Football Union this year. At least two teams are interested in him. One, Hamilton Tiger-Cats, already has claimed him for the $500 waiver price.

Karpuk got considerable attention from coaches in the Big Four during an otherwise quiet football night Tuesday. But it wasn't nearly as much as he got in 1951 when he dashed off the Ottawa bench to tackle linebacker-bound Ulysses Curtis of Toronto Argonauts.

The Tiger-Cats, defending Grey Cup champions now on an exhibition tour against clubs in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, wired their claim against Pete Tuesday. They may not get him.

ARGOS INTERESTED

Coach Frank Clair of Argos said Tuesday night he is interested in Karpuk and intends "to talk to the boy." Argos have first call on him because they ended in last place last season. The teams had until 3 p.m. today to put in their claims.

The way it stands now, Karpuk won't get his chance to play in British Columbia Lions in the WIFU. He had said he hoped to line up with the Lions. But coach Annis Stukus said he isn't interested in him.

Meanwhile, the nine teams in the big leagues took things easy. Two exhibition games are scheduled for tonight, the Tiger-Cats at Vancouver and Edmonton Eskimos at Kitchener for a meeting against the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

They are the final games of the exhibition series. The clubs return home to prepare for league openings this month.

LOSES KICKER

Stukus will go against Tiger-Cats without the services of star kicker Vic Chapman and two important ends, Chapman is resting an injured knee. Andy Hillhouse, formerly of Chicago Bears of the United States National Football League, is out with a twisted knee.

Flo Chadwick Will Train In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Florence Chadwick said Tuesday that when she becomes "a storming unpredictable Lake Ontario holds no fears for her. It may not be easy, but she's confident she'll complete her projected 32-mile lake swim Sept. 6—and collect $10,000.

The 35-year-old San Diego dietitian's swimming star thinks it will be a different story from her recent attempt to conquer the Strait of Juan de Fuca off the British Columbia coast. She was pulled from the icy water after five hours then and blamed the 47-to-50 degree temperature and a seven-knot tide.

When she attempts the Fort Niagara, N.Y.-to-Toronto marathon the lake temperature will be a bit warmer, between 65 and 60 degrees. There are some currents in Lake Ontario, but nothing to compare with the rips of Juan de Fuca.

Miss Chadwick will get the $10,000 from the Canadian National Exhibition if she finishes her non-competitive grind. Exhibition officials figure she'll be a great drawing card when she finishes in front of the Toronto exhibition grounds.

The 135-pound swimmer said she will start training in the lake within the next few days, first swimming part of the course.

Guy Durocher Wins Junior Mens' Canadian Closed Tennis Crown

OTTAWA (CP)—Now that Guy Durocher of Sherbrooke, Que., has settled the junior men's closed singles, officials of the Canadian junior tennis championships can concentrate on open matches.

Durocher's victory over John Swan of Vancouver Tuesday completed the all-Canadian section of the tournament.

The first open title is being decided today. Pam Dewis of Halifax and Virginia Hesse of Hammond, Ind., meet in the final of the juvenile girls' singles.

Matches also are slated in the junior men's and junior women's singles, which will be brought to the semi-final round at least, but most of the 17 courts at the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club will be used for doubles matches.

Officials, who cleared up some 100 matches Tuesday, hope to get at least the first rounds of the junior men's and women's, the girls' and boys' doubles matches played.

Durocher and Swann, both 18-year-olds playing their final year in junior tennis, battled emery shot by shot the way through 83 games before settling their best-of-five set match. The score was 6-3, 4-6, 9-7, 3-6, 6-3. Marrietta Strandtmann of Montreal, playing her final year in junior tennis, moved up to the semi-finals Tuesday in the junior women's singles. She whipped Ann Heard of Rothesay, N.B., in 12 straight games.

Don Grosso Named As Chatham Coach

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Don Grosso, who coached Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds to three consecutive Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior A championships, said Thursday he will accept a coaching position with Chatham Maroons of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league.

Grosso said he has visited Chatham and "found the setup ideal. The people there are swell and I intend to move my family to Chatham just as soon as final arrangements are made. Chatham is a great hockey centre and I am proud that I have been asked to coach there."

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—News from Melbourne that the Australian Lawn Tennis Association has temporarily voted down a motion to censure that country's Davis Cup captain, Harry Hopman, bears out private advices that opposition to Hopman's methods has grown so strong he has little chance of holding the big tri-yearly international challenge round, no matter what the result.

The motion to censure the tennis martinet was made by Norman Strange, head of Australia's telephone system and a highly influential man. He objected to some flippant remarks made by Hopman after one of his players, Ken Rosewall, had been beaten by Jaroslav Drobny in the recent Wimbledon final. It was decided to shelve the matter until 9 p.m. at a meeting home from the United States.

It was only by the bare margin of a 3 to 2 vote by the cup selectors that Hopman was permitted to captain the powerful seven-man playing in the national doubles championships this week at Brookline.

One of the counts against Hopman, we learn, is the growing belief that he does not encourage his players to be a working tennis journalist himself. Another is the feeling in the Aussie team on its annual tour across Europe and America. This, it is realized, could prove embarrassing if the tennis association of the U.S., or any other country should ever make an issue of it.

Each year, Lew Hoad or Rex Hartwig take a leave of absence from sports writing when the team leaves Australia, thus conforming to one of the game's oldest rules. From that point on a string of papers which normally carry the Hopman "byline" report the day-by-day doings of the Aussie stars in Paris, London and New York under the misguided heading "from a special correspondent."

The only thing the anti-Hopmans have to think about that is the cutting circumstance that his particular correspondent is the only one of any description who obtains daily interviews of some length not only with the team captain but with those of his players who happen to be in the news. Such is his diligence and industry that he often appears to be capable of reading Hopman's most secret thoughts. Other less gifted correspondents often find it difficult to get a daily greeting either from the little captain or from his well disciplined charges.

Harry Hopman Not Worried Over Censure

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—"It doesn't bother me a bit."

This was Harry Hopman's terse comment Tuesday to a report out of Melbourne that a move had been launched in Australian official tennis circles to censure the Davis Cup coach for a statement made at Wimbledon.

Hopman criticized the Wimbledon gallery, charging it favored Jaroslav Drobny, the winner, in the match with Australia's young Ken Rosewall.

The move to censure Hopman was made by Norman Strange, influential member of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia, who said, "as captain and manager he should have accepted defeat and say the best man won."

The LTAA deferred action on the motion, a delegate was quoted as saying. "We decided to wait until Hopman returns. We can go into the matter then."

Vet. Admits Doping Horse

CHICAGO (AP)—A veterinarian disclosed Tuesday he administered a drug to Citation before the 1951 Hialeah Derby but says before the thoroughbred won the Hyperion Hasty House Farm stable won the Grassland Handicap at Washington Park Saturday.

The Illinois racing board ordered a hearing at the track Tuesday when it was disclosed a postrace test of Mister Black showed presence of a drug "in the nature of amphetamine."

Amphetamine is another name for benzedrine.

The veterinarian, Dr. Alex Hartbill, of Washington Park stewards he gave Mister Black the medicine before the Derby and Thursday because the horse had "tightened up" and couldn't urinate.

The veterinarian said he "made the injection in accordance with instructions to stewards as prescribed by racing officials. Horse experts said ordinarily effects from such a medicine would be done by 1951.

REDS HAVE BIGGEST GROUP

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Soviet Russia will send the largest contingent of athletes and officials—100 in all—to the European track and field championships here Aug. 28-29. The organizing committee Tuesday announced an entry list of 828 athletes, more than 700 men and 200 women, from 28 nations.

Braves' Boss 'Digging' In International

NEW YORK (CP)—Sports columnist Milt Gross of the New York Post said Tuesday that while Milwaukee Braves "are digging for the National League pennant, their owner, Lou Perini is ditch-digging in International League" territory."

The Braves played an exhibition game with Toronto Maple Leafs Monday night in which Milwaukee's share of the gate—$7,500—went for cancer research in Ontario.

Gross quotes a typical Milwaukee player's reaction to this:

"If Perini wants to help the cancer fund, why doesn't he mail a cheque instead of sending us? We could stand a day off at home."

Today Russ Lynch, sports editor and columnist of the Milwaukee Journal, startled baseball fans by cryptic remarks for me. The Perinis, it seems, are deeply involved in Canadian construction projects and, like all good business men, they want assurance Leaguers Perini will using the Braves to further that end. . . .

"There is a building boom on in Canada and Perini's company has been able to grab some of its gravy. It helped build the Macarthur falls dam, 150 miles of the Labrador iron ore railroad, a Trans-Canadian Airlines hangar in Toronto, and a Toronto airport. The company also has a hunk of the huge Labrador iron ore development."

SHADE BRITONS

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—District 2 of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association completed the tournament of teams, 112-106, in a six-rink match Tuesday. Today the visiting British Isles team will play district 2 of the OLBA at Chatham. They are scheduled to leave for England Monday.

Lost 'Cushion', Still in Front Says Durocher

NEW YORK (AP) — He's not quite as confident as he was back around the all-star game, but manager Leo (Skakewell) Durocher has not exactly counted his New York Giants out of the National League pennant race.

"I know we've lost that fat cushion we had," he sighed today as he prepared to send the Giants against their cousins, Philadelphia Phillies. "But the fact is we're still in front and we've got as good a chance as anybody. It's really a new season with some 40 games to go."

Durocher was glad to see the Phillies arrive on the scene Tuesday night, especially since he was unlikely to see their ace, Robin Roberts, who tamed Brooklyn Dodgers Monday. The Phillies have been as easy as pie for the Giants this season, having split a rivalry was New York's sixth in a row over them.

St. Kitts Whips Hamilton 12-5

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Athletics defeated Hamilton Tigers 12-5 in an Ontario baseball association senior A playoff game here Tuesday night. St. Catharines and the Tigers now have won one game each as has Peterborough Timbermen, the other team in the round-robin series.

Al Frick, Fred Martin, Ross Rowsome and Norm Corrigan each scored two goals for the Athletics. Singles were by Bob Dewar, Jim Bradshaw, Les Howard and Doug Smith. Doug Davidson notched a pair for the Tigers now Tuesday night. Dave D'Aimeo Skip—Teal and Jim McNulty rounded out the scoring.

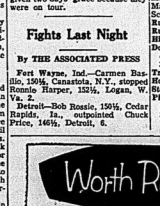
Worth Remembering



"Horsepower" in engines is really horsepower-and-a-half! One horsepower is the power needed to lift 33,000 lbs. a distance of one foot in one minute (about 1½ times the power an average horse can exert). A little-known fact worth remembering!

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here's one movie house that doesn't worry about converting the stereoscopy, vistavision or cinemascope. It hasn't even tried talkies yet.

The place is called Silent Movies, and it is a labor of love for a man named John Hampton. He digged draws are Clara Bow, Lon Chaney, Emil Jannings, William S. Hart, Harold Lloyd, Mary Pickford, Pearl White, Charlie Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks Sr.

On Feb. 21, 1942, Hampton opened Silent Movies near the heart of Hollywood. He managed to keep the place open during the war and has been in business ever since. His wife takes tickets and he runs the projection machine and record player. He hangs the posters, glues the old film together and re-develops it if fading has set in.

"Our biggest problem is getting the pictures," he told me in his workroom - apartment over the movie house. "Some of the studios will lend them, and so will those producers and directors who have their old films.

"A lot of them are in bad shape, and I make it a policy of running only whole pictures, not fragments. This can be difficult. I had to piece together five prints of 'Tillie's Punctured Romance' before I had a complete five reels. It's the best copy in existence."

"Tillie" was Mack Sennett's first feature, and it starred Chaplin, Marie Dressler, Mabel Normand and Wallace Beery in 1913. Hampton runs it almost every year, and it's a big draw. So are "Birth of a Nation" (1914), "Phantom of the Opera" (1925) and "King of Kings" (1927).

The showplace draws heavily from the movie workers for its audience, both from oldtimers who want to see their early films and newcomers who want to study the silent technique. Steady customers include Mae West, Fan Johnson, Lillian and Dorothy Gish, Donald Negri and William (Hopalong) Boyd.

Like all movie attractions, silent movies were hard hit by TV.

"We felt it the same as the big houses," said Hampton. "For about three years, people just stayed home and watched TV. We barely managed to stay open. But things have picked up lately."

AT THE BELLE

Victor Mature, Susan Hayward Top Cast of Spectacular 'Robe' Sequel

"Demetrius and the Gladiators", Twentieth Century-Fox's multi - million - dollar Cinema-Scope production starring Victor Mature and Susan Hayward, with Michael Rennie, Debra Paget, Anne Bancroft and Jay Robinson in co-starring roles, will have its local premiere, today at the air-conditioned Belle Theatre. This spectacular picture, which was filmed in color by Technicolor, begins where "The Robe", the company's first CinemaScope success, left off.

"I really feel that the full magnificence of the story of "The Robe" would require two feature length pictures", producer Frank Ross explained. "When we had completed the first picture our enthusiasm for it was such that we just had to make plans for the second production. Since "The Robe" was essentially the story of the acquisition of faith, Demetrius and the Gladiators" logically is concerned with the faith acquired".

The same production team of Ross and Director Philip Dunne has translated Lloyd C. Douglas' famous novel to screen form, worked together on the filming of "Demetrius and the Gladiators". As Ross explained it, the characters of "Demetrius, Messalina and the Emperors Caligula and Claudius, and the fabulous Rome in the first century, gave Dunne about as colorful people and settings as literature and history can possibly contribute to a screen story.

In "Demetrius and the Gladiators" Mature, as Demetrius, Michael Rennie, as the Apostle Peter, and Jay Robinson in the Caligula role, repeat the roles they had in "The Robe". All the other characters are new to the story with Miss Hayward playing the part of Messalina, the vital young wife of Claudius who falls in love with Demetrius. While the story is told in terms of Roman Magnificence and brutality, many of the exciting scenes taking place in the Roman Arena where the gladiators fought, it is essentially a modern triangle.

Debra Paget and Anne Bancroft have two of the important female roles in the picture.

"Piano Encore" in CinemaScope

A special added attraction in CinemaScope and Technicolor is "Piano Encore", a tuneful toe-tapping Technicolor musical treat, the popular Fox World-Wide News, and "Howling Success", a fast-paced Technicolor novelty.

LESS SEAL-SKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government reported today that 62,882 fur-seal skins were taken in this year's sealing operations on Alaska's Pribilof Islands. The number to take over the past 10 years has been about 65,000 skins. The fur seal wildlife service said that 20 per cent of the take will be delivered to Canada under terms of a 1942 agreement.

AT THE CAPITOL — Dashing Tyrone Power's "Yank in the R.A.F." and Betty Grable is his stunning girl friend in the Twentieth Century-Fox encore triumph opening Thursday at Capitol Theatre and on the same program having first Belleville showing "Three Young Texans", in Technicolor, starring Mitzi Gaynor, Keefe Brasselle and Jeffrey Hunter.

AT THE McCARTHY

IT'S GORE GALORE IN SPILLANE FILM, "THE LONG WAIT"

Not unexpectedly blood flows like a spring freshet in "The Long Wait", new Mickey Spillane thriller opening on Thursday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release. This, the second of Spillane's novels of high-powered violence and sex to be adapted to the screen, co-stars Anthony Quinn, Charles Coburn, Gene Evans and Peggie Castle, and features Mary Ellen Kay, Shawn Smith and Dolores Donlon, a trio of very pretty girls. Victor Saville directed "The Long Wait."

The entire cast sheds its blood in various but generally copious quantities during the course of the film, indeed, the makeup and property departments each of which in well-defined provinces, controls the studio supply—were kept quite busy making the stuff. Statistically, "The Long Wait" is the goriest picture Hollywood has made in several decades.

Not unlike the rent thing, which is tyred, roughly as "A", "B," and "C," movie blood comes in several distinctive flavors. The main divisions are:

1. Blood on or about an actor or actresses' person.
2. Blood off an actor's person, such as bloodstains, pools of blood, etc.

Blood on an actor or actress falls into the province of the makeup department. It consists most commonly of powdered, dehydrated beet juice that has been compounded into cosmetic form with glycerine, sour sour and water. But, since this concoction photographs as it might be is hardly tasty there is a special elixir for use when blood trickles from a performer's mouth. This is either chocolate syrup or berry juice in capsule form.

The property department is in charge of all blood off an actor's person—spilled, blood. This consists or chocolate syrup, and the usual admixture of glycerine and water.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, AUG. 19, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Some aspects unfriendly. This period is a timely one in which to start building for a better tomorrow, however. While present outlook is not wholly optimistic, some achievement is possible. Plan for better security.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Entertain tendencies in finances and some business matters. Be careful signing contracts, taking on fresh obligations involving money. Take precautions before making decisions.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You can achieve benefits from progressive projects properly executed. Unexpected help from associates, friends may stimulate your day. Romance especially favored in p.m.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Lively, productive activities out front most of this day. However, don't take needless chances as a little extra intelligent work will be sufficient to produce fine returns.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Prudence, consistency of effort and sincerity are keys to gains today. Some advantages may be slow in appearing but look beyond the sun spice for possible leads to future prospects.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Take a constructive view of the day's problems rather than let them get the best of you. Not all have unpleasant tasks; doing them with a smile will lessen the burden, enhance efficiency.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra) — Maintain a realistic, down-to-earth attitude toward day's tasks. Accept small compensation: it's better than none. P.M. indications may be lively, unpredictable, so be alert, understanding.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Try not to be misunderstood by friends, superiors. Don't be too forceful in your attitude and don't forget to listen to the other fellow's side. Promote friendship.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Aim at harmony, vital element now. Make haste slowly; be a listener as well as an order-giver. Check budget, expenses. Are you saving for retirement?

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Barter with colloidal sources; consider new propositions with a view to improvement, progress. Changeable conditions prevail. Seek to better your prospects by work, prayer.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—You may have to double your effort, smarten up on what's going on to keep pace with major happenings. Depend upon your own work and resources but don't worry. Smile!

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Stars stress extreme care in financial matters, accident-proneness. Work faithfully at urgent duties, tasks. Get them done before leisure hours; then rest.

YOU BORN TODAY are ingenious, clever, usually versatile and somewhat adventurous. You love fun, and the good things in life but are apt to go overboard at times spending money. As a rule you can be persuaded by kindness and diplomacy but you dislike taking orders. However, you don't mind giving them—and with authority. Try being as patient and co-operative as possible and, with your natural gift for salesmanship, you should really have desirable success. Pray for guidance. Birthdate of: Orville Wright, pioneer in aviation.

Chinese Obtain American Goods

PEIPING (Reuters)—High officials today discussed Sino-British trade talks of the Chinese government for nearly three hours with Western correspondents reporting the visit of Clement Attlee and seven other British Labor party leaders to Communist China.

Lu Shu Chang, head of the China national import and export corporation, directed attention to many modern American cars seen in Peiping. He was questioned whether China still received goods from the United States despite the embargo on the shipment of strategic goods.

He agreed also that many modern hotels are equipped with American elevators.

He said the volume of Chinese foreign trade in 1953 was five times more than in 1949, when the Government came to power. China could supply Britain with edible oils, foodstuffs, tobacco, raw silk, tea, bristols, wood oil and soap oil, he told correspondents.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma went to a meeting of the Current Events and Bridge Club, and after dinner she said to pop, We had a very intristing discussion, tonite. The subjick was about flying saucers and whether they are really manifestations from other planets, or only accumulate with us.

They're manifestations from dizzy branes rite here on this planet, pop said. Yes gods the stuff women will think, he said, and ma said, Now William, they're actually been seen by a lot of people.

So have pink elefants in bathtubs, pop said, and ma said, And furthermore some of them have actually landed, and strange little men have disappeared.

Have you looked under the beds? pop said, and ma said, You dont need to be so proud of being a doubting Thomas. Just a few generations ago, people were laffing up their sleeves at the very suggestion of being able to talk to each other thousands of miles of empty wire, and now it's possible to have a telephone in every room, she said.

But not in every flying saucer, pop said, and ma said, And besides, when it comes to believeing in the impossible, men are the worst. Lorra Pitter's husband paid a fortune to have his head treeted by a shrunk, and it still looks like a primitive egg, but he insists there's hair growing all over it, Lorra told me, ma said.

Heh? What place was that? Where did she say he went? pop said, and ma said, Now William, your hair has gone, for better or for worse, and you know it.

All I asked you was, where the place is, pop said, and ma said, Is a flying saucer.

Being all she would tell him.

DOPE SYNDICATE PUT OUT OF BUSINESS IN U.S.

James C. Ryan, New York supervisor of the bureau of narcotics, left; Police Chief Willis mA. Sullivan, and Deputy Sheriff John McCarthy, right, look over a table full of heroin and narcotic items seized in a raid by U.S. federal agents. Arrests were staged in Manhattan, Queens, the Bronx, East Harlem and White Plains by about 30 federal agents who uncovered a giant nation-wide wholesale dope distribution syndicate which did a $25,000,000-a-year business.—Central Press Canadian.

Mendes-France Pleads His Case At Brussels Meet

European Army Conference Of Six Nations Is Opened

By ALFRED CHEVAL

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — French Premier Mendes-France, who wants to revamp the European Defence Community treaty, outlined his views of the continent's political aspects before foreign ministers of five other prospective partners today.

Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian foreign minister and president of the conference, appeared discouraged as the group broke up after a meeting of almost two hours of general aspects of the crisis provoked by Mendes-France's proposed changes.

REFUSES STATEMENT

Spaak refused to make a statement, saying it was too early to know what might develop. The ministers plan to continue their general discussion this afternoon.

It was reported that Mendes-France had assured the ministers his aims are to find some way to tie Germany to the Western alliance, to permit the rearmament of Germany, to give German Chancellor Conrad Adenauer help in his difficult internal political situation and to get a European organization started.

There was also a report he had sounded out the other ministers about a possible new Big Four meeting with Russia to seek a German peace settlement. The United States and Britain oppose such a meeting at this time.

DUTCH CRITICAL

J. W. Beyen, Dutch foreign minister, was said to have spoken extremely critically, in a critical tone, of Mendes-France's assessment of the European political situation. Spaak's address was reported to have been milder.

Diplomatic leaders of West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy and Luxembourg were reported solidly opposed to most of the revisions in the army treaty demanded by Mendes-France as necessary to win the French National Assembly's ratification of the pact.

At stake was the key Allied program for a six-nation European Defence Community aimed at rearming Germany within NATO and avoiding a revival of German militarism. At the same time, EDC is designed to advance the long dream of an integrated Europe.

The parliaments of West Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg already have ratified the EDC treaty. But Mendes-France is known to feel that his Parliament will not approve the EDC treaty in its present form.

Italy has not yet ratified the pact, but its chances of final success meeting expressed opposition to the French objections.

The United States and Britain, while not represented at the two-day parley, are deeply interested in the outcome. They also are firmly opposed to any changes which would compromise the original purpose of the treaty and further delay German rearmament.

CONFERENCE OPENS

The crucial conference opened just after 11 a.m. in the gold and green banquet hall of the Belgian foreign ministry. Sitting around the U-shaped table were Mendes-France, Paul-Henri Spaak, Antonio Konrad Adenauer, Luxembourg's premier Joseph Bech, Belgian foreign minister Paul-Henri Spaak, Attilio Piccioni of Italy and J. W. Beyen of The Netherlands.

The conference is scheduled to last two days.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A trough of low pressure moving through the province brought cloudiness into Ontario yesterday, and caused a few isolated thunderstorms in southern areas.

As this disturbance moves eastward out of the province today, skies are forecast to clear in western sections this afternoon and in eastern counties late this evening.

Friday will be sunny and pleasantly warm over southern forecast regions, but air moving down from Hudson Bay will bring some cloud and cooler weather to northern Ontario.

Teen-Age Boys Swim Niagara With Flippers

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)— Three teen-aged boys from Niagara Falls, Ont., dared themselves into successfully swimming the treacherous lower Niagara river here Wednesday.

The boys plunged into the river about a half-mile below Rainbow bridge, downstream from Niagara Falls, and challenged each other to swim farther and farther into the 12-mile-an-hour current.

One of the youths, 14-year-old Ted Mercier, twice was almost swept under in midstream, but his companions, Scott Graham, 16, and Joe Hawryluk, 18, pulled him free.

The swift current and swirling eddies carried them across the half-mile river and about 400 yards downstream from where they had started.

They emerged exhausted and frightened on the American shore just about opposite the point where various daredevils have launched themselves or rides through the rapids and the whirlpool farther down stream.

The boys said they could never have made the swim without the aid of rubber flippers.

Marines Mount Guard at Old Fort Henry

KINGSTON (CP)—The United States Marines came back Wednesday to this old Lake Ontario fortress city they tried to capture in the War of 1812. This time they got a different reception.

Old Fort Henry, looking down on Deadman's bay and Kingston harbor, played host to the marines in a ceremony to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the Ogdensburg Agreement of 1940, which initiated the joint defence of North America by Canada and the U.S.

The Canadian government and the Fort Henry guard invited the marines to mount guard at the fort in a commemoration ceremony.

Never before have the marines taken up guard duty on Canadian soil. They did so Wednesday night in a colorful ceremony marking international friendship.

During the War of 1812, marines were aboard U.S. warships which tried unsuccessfully to capture Kingston harbor and the naval dockyards.

Grave of Jesuit Martyr Brebeuf Is Located 300 Years After Death

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—A Jesuit missionary was martyred near here more than 300 years ago. This week a Jesuit archaeologist unearthed the remains of what is believed to have been the priest's grave.

The martyr was St. Jean de Brebeuf, one of four missionaries tortured to death in 1649 when marauding Iroquois Indians attacked Fort Ste. Marie, the Jesuit headquarters in Huronia.

The archaeologist was Rev. Denis Lepage, member of the Martyrs' shrine staff at the reconstructed fort-mission on the shores of Wye, town 25 miles northwest of Orillia.

Father Hegarty, working with his assistant, James Hood of Midland, uncovered a lead burial plaque and an iron nails around the outline of what appeared to be a wooden casket, about three feet from the chapel.

The plate bears the inscription "Pere Jean de Brebeuf 1649" and other markings blurred by decomposed wood and soil stains. The casket is thought to have contained the missing bones of Father Brebeuf, who was tortured and dismembered during the Iroquois raid.

The Indians had "baptized" the four missionaries i.e. boiling water and strong reed-hot as they anointed their naked shoulders. Brebeuf, the strongest, was scalped, and sent the major bones to France. The others were left behind within the ruined walls of the old fort. Since the 1649 raid, the fort has been abandoned close to the present structure—but built almost on the very site of the historic mission—officials believe they may have marked the martyr's resting place.

Rev. John Caffrey, the shrine's director, said Wednesday the find "has created further confusion of the site." Wilfrid Jury, archaeologist at the University of Western Ontario in London, was to be called for consultation.

Study Details In Arbitration Of Rail Dispute

Government Must File Rules for Procedure

OTTAWA (CP)—There will be no rail strike.

Unions that have been threatening a tieup of Canadian rail transport, and the railway companies they have been battling for months on fringe benefit demands, will submit their multi-million-dollar dispute to arbitration.

They agreed to this Wednesday, after eight months of off-again, on-again negotiations and during a day of tangled manoeuvering in which Prime Minister St. Laurent was in personal touch with what is to be tempt to have the disputants work out a settlement without arbitration.

Today, with the threat of a paralyzing strike out of the way, the government was still at work on two points:

1. Who will be the man named to dictate terms of settlement.

2. How it will be appointed and what procedure will be followed in the big job he has to resolve—railway-union differences on which monetary estimates run to $60,000,000.

The government, it was understood, will in practice do both ways and the non-operating unions representing 145,000 men agree on the arbitrator among themselves.

Authoritative union informants say the union leaders had not been empowered to call a strike if negotiations failed, will leave this to the government.

The railways have been silent on this issue, though it was learned they favored arbitration as long ago as Tuesday. 24 hours before the announced collapse of railunion negotiations and subsequent formal declaration of the antagonists to submit to arbitration.

Police Probing Possibility Of Arson in Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said Wednesday they are investigating the possibility of arson in a fire Tuesday night which gutted a huge lake boats in the Montreal harbor docks yards.

The police arson squad was reported investigating a watchman's report that the blaze appeared to have started simultaneously in two separate spots of the two-block long transit building.

Meanwhile officials of Canadian National Railways, owners and operators of the yards, said Wednesday night during the fire feared that the complete loss of the building and its contents might send damages as high as $1,000,000, said they were always the loss will probably not quite reach $100,000.

Cause of the blaze or loss was confined to the hog bins and to the roof of the structure. The building itself appeared to have weathered the fire reasonably well.

Drop Clause Making Illegal Communist Party Membership

WASHINGTON (AP) — A joint committee of both Houses of Congress today dropped a provision making Communist party membership illegal from its anti-communist legislation.

The committee, working on a compromise version of bills passed by the Senate and House of Representatives, substituted a clause saying a person who is a member of a communist-action group shall be subject to the penalties provided in the 1950 Internal Security Act.

The 1950 law provides that members of communist-action groups shall be barred from defence plants, from employment by the federal government and from obtaining a passport.

In addition, if they fail to register with the attorney-general as required by law, they are subject to imprisonment for five years and to a fine of $10,000.

Administration doubts about earlier versions of anti-Communist legislation had been based on concern that it would produce a mass acceptable to attorney-general Herbert Brownell.

Knowland said also he thought President Eisenhower would sign any bill Congress might pass which was aimed at the Communist party.

Laborites Ready to Assist Chinese With Advice--Attlee

PEIPING (Reuters) — Visiting British Labor party delegates today crammed in a last round of sightseeing in Communist China's capital before leaving Friday for a quick tour of northern China and Manchuria.

When they return here early next week, they are expected to have a long-awaited meeting with head of state Mao Tse-tung.

At a banquet Wednesday night Attlee promised the delegates would be ready to help with experienced advice if Communist China's leaders ever feel the need of it in solving their social problems.

He referred to Communist China's task of changing its ancient civilization "in accordance with modern ideas and concepted by effort with the Labor party's own work in Britain.

"In our younger civilization with its different traditions, we of the Labor party have had extensive changes in order to achieve the aspirations of the working masses of our country," he said. "We were able to do this by peaceful and constitutional means."

Bevan also spoke at the dinner given by the People's Consultative Assembly, the Communist Chinese Parliament. He told the 600 guests that Labor cannot be based on stagnation."

"This is what the defenders of the old order cannot be brought to see," the left-wing leader said. "Collective security cannot be based on the social status quo."

"It must be possible for people to improve their lot without their efforts being condemned as part of a plot against a particular ideology on others."

Our presence is sufficient to show our support for the Chinese people's revolution," Bevan declared.

Earlier, the delegates and accompanying British correspondents visited a prison occupied by the Japanese during the war, formerly inmates. The jail's director said about two-thirds of the prisoners were "counter-revolutionaries."

Six Vacancies Will Be Filled Late in October

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated Wednesday that federal by-elections to fill six vacancies in the House of Commons will be held after the middle of October.

The prime minister told reporters after a cabinet meeting that enumeration of voters' lists will not start until after Labor Day Sept. 6.

"They could not be held before the middle of October," he said. "That is the earliest date we could select."

The six vacancies include three in Ontario, two in Quebec and one in Manitoba. They were caused by the death of three members and the resignations of three cabinet ministers July 1.

The vacancies are:

York West, previously held by Rodney Adamson, Progressive Conservative, killed in an air crash at Moose Jaw April 8.

Toronto Trinity, formerly held by Lionel Conacher, Liberal, who died at a Commons softball game May 26.

Stormont, previously held by Progressive Conservative new Canadian chairman of the St. Lawrence seaway authority.

St. Lawrence—Georgy, formerly held by Defence Minister Claxton who has been appointed Canadian general manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Montreal St. Antoine-Westmount, formerly held by Finance Minister Abbott now a member of the Supreme Court.

Selkirk, formerly held by Robert J. Wood, who died of a heart attack in Winnipeg Aug. 5.

Grapes Plentiful

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—A plentiful supply of grapes this season was predicted today by district growers.

Drought is drying up vineyards in the Niagara area, and crops are free of insect damage and disease, they said.

Will Get $61,600 If Future Hubbie Changes His Name

LONDON (Reuters)—In six or eight years, a fair-haired girl will be looking for a husband who doesn't change his name.

The girl, 12-year-old Genia Pugh, will get $61,600 under the will of her grandfather, the late Maj. Hector Bevan Pugh, if she can find a husband willing to adopt her name instead of having her take his.

The grandfather made the stipulation in his will because she and her sister, Imogene, 10, have no brothers, and grandfather didn't want the family name to die out.

If Genia fails to find a willing man Imogene will have her turn, and if necessary, another branch of the family gets grandad's money.

Washing Dishes Is Good for Men Says Visitor

TORONTO (CP) — Don't gripe about washing the dishes, men. It's good for you, says Gwendolyn V. George Williams says he has found families are not nearly as close as their Indian counterparts.

"I have discovered," said Mrs. Williams, "that your young people do not have the same respect for their parents and their elders generally as ours do."

Among the things he plans to introduce on his return are square-dancing, which would break down the Indian taboo of holding a woman too closely in public, and folk dancing, which he feels will arouse more interest in farming among village young people.

THREE CIO-CCL UNIONS MAY STRIKE JOINTLY

United Walkout Would Hurt Canada's Economy

TORONTO (CP)—George Burt, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers, said today there was a "distinct possibility" three huge CIO-CCL unions might embark on a united strike within a month or two to counter what union leaders say is a united front by management to destroy labor's gains.

The three unions are United Auto Workers, United Steelworkers and United Packinghouse Workers.

They are now locked in labor disputes with basic steel, auto, farm implement and meat packing industries.

A united strike in these industries could seriously cripple Canada's economy.

Steel workers at Hamilton and Sault Ste. Marie have voted their union officials permission to call a strike although the dispute between the USW and Steel Company of Canada and Algoma Steel Corporation is still in the conciliation stage.

A strike vote by Massey-Harris-Ferguson employees in Toronto has been postponed until Sept. 7, pending a round of negotiations between the UAW and the farm implement firm.

A conciliation board recently turned down UAW demands for 25-cent increases and other fringe benefits at Massey-Harris. The union now says the company has threatened to cancel its agreement with the UAW unless the conciliation stage.

A strike vote by Massey-Harris employees in Toronto is being held Thursday in all the four Canadian plants.

Howe Awarded Aviation Medal

NEW YORK (CP)—Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Canada's minister of trade and commerce and minister of defence production, was presented 1954 winner of the Daniel Guggenheim medal, one of the highest honors in aviation.

The medal will be presented in Toronto Sept. 9 at a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, which sponsors the award jointly with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Royal Aeronautical Society.

The announcement said that ever since 1939 Howe as a Canadian cabinet minister has been responsible for "most of his governments vast wartime activities."

It gave him credit for organizing the Canadian aircraft industry, air route and founding the government-owned Trans-Canada Air lines.

Previous recipients of the Guggenheim medal include Orville Wright, Sir Frank Whittle, Igor Sikorsky and Charles Lindberg.

GUNMEN ROB BANK

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two masked gunmen robbed the Vancouver-NDWD in a lightning raid on a suburban branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. One, waving a sawed-off shotgun, shouted "this is a holdup" and ordered the staff to lie face down on the floor. His partner, armed with a revolver, then vaulted a counter and scooped money from two tills into two large bags. They escaped in a waiting car.

British Government to Keep Kille Gift Of Castle Where Jack Killed Giant

PENZANCE, Eng. (Reuters) — The castle where Jack climbed the beanstalk and killed Giant is going to be nationalized.

Its new owner, Arthur Guest, a descendant of the giant-killer, announced he is handing the historic, granite structure over to the government organization formed to preserve ancient buildings and open them to the public.

Behind in ceding the castle to the National Trust, the 58-year-old baron Wednesday night stipulated that he and his wife must be allowed to go on living there for the rest of their lives.

The big attraction for tourists is the beanstalk itself, which legend says grew in the place where Jack trapped the Cornish giant Cormoran and brought him dead.

But Michael's Mount Castle also is host to a score of other legends and traditions. It is named after St. Michael, prince of the angels, who is supposed to have appeared before a group of fishermen on the rock in 495 A.D.

Another legend makes it the scene of at least part of the action of Cornish love-story Tristan and Iseide on which composer Richard Wagner based his opera.

6,000-Man Brigade May Be Reduced In Next Few Months

U.S. Taking Out Four Of Six Divisions in Korea

By DAV EMGINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada "almost certainly" will withdraw a substantial proportion of its 6,000-man brigade in Korea in the next few months, officials said today.

"We expect to reduce our forces in Korea proportionately to the Americans," one authority said.

The U.S. Army announced Wednesday night it will withdraw four of its six divisions in Korea in the next few months.

Defence Minister Campney said withdrawal of the Commonwealth Division—in whole or in part—now is being discussed by senior U.S. and Commonwealth army commanders at Camberley, England. Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the general staff, is representing Canada.

Pull-out of Canadian troops from Korea will be made with regard to the wishes of the British and Australians, also part of the 1st Commonwealth Division, officials said.

NUMBER DOUBTFUL

They added that it is still too early to say whether the Canadian brigade will be reduced in exactly the same proportion as U. S. forces in the United Nations command.

But with the U. S. taking out three of six divisions, Canada would be able to make a "very substantial" withdrawal by the end of the year.

The South Koreans are expected to react bitterly to the withdrawal as they did when the U. S. took out two divisions some months ago.

It was believed Canada might be able to withdraw roughly half of the brigade or possibly two of the three infantry battalions and some of the artillery and tanks.

However, the proportion of the withdrawal and the exact time was still a matter for discussion.

Pull-out of the last troops in the brigade would depend on how the situation there developed, officials said.

TWO POLICE OFFICERS ATTEND CONVENTION

Two police officers from Belleville are in Hamilton this week attending the annual convention of the Ontario Police Association. Attending the three day meet are O.P.P. Constable Ivan Tinkess, secretary of the provincial police association, and Constable Jack Parker, secretary of the Belleville Police Association.

DEAD GULL BANDED BY U.S. GOVT.

Miss Sydna Vermilyea, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Vermilyea, Dundas street East, while playing near the beach at her parents' summer cottage, found a dead gull, which apparently had been shot by some mischievous person.

Around the leg of the gull was a band with instructions to advise the U.S. Government in Washington, D.C. if the gull was captured or found. The little girl is sending her letter with the address, "that it is a pity the gull was shot."

New Challenge For Pioneers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sourdoughs of the Klondike were told Wednesday "the achievement of world peace challenges spiritual pioneers in all lands today."

The 1,000-odd members of the International Sourdough's Association were addressed by Frank Simmons, member of Parliament for Yukon Territory, at their 32nd reunion banquet.

"Alaska and the Yukon are an example of international co-operation and good will in a world familiar with friction and misunderstanding," he said.

Many Helping Hands Make Fair Success

A love for well bred poultry motivates the interest taken in the poultry show each year at the Belleville fair. One of bigger supporters is Percy Day of Purdy Street. Mr. Day has been interested in poultry breeding for some years, his love running in the veins. His breed is the Seabright, golden and silver and at the show here won all the prizes offered in these two classes.

Mr. Day is also an associate director of the fair and offering his assistance to R. J. Messervey, worked like a trojan to have the building in shape to receive the poultry. He worked all day Sunday until late in the evening and on Monday the first birds arrived. Monday the building was ready to receive them. There are many associated with the board such as Mr. Day, who enjoy working so that the fair can grow bigger and better and that probably is one of the reasons that the fair board has reason to be proud of the fine exhibition they are presenting to fair visitors this week.

Mr. Messervey, noted White Leghorn breeder and judge, could not show his birds at the Ottawa fair next week but on Monday and Tuesday will be in charge of judge the poultry exhibit. The next week he will be in Toronto at the C.N.E. to judge poultry.

Tomatoes, Corn Feature Market In Slow Trading

Trading was slow on the local mid-week market this morning, with prices about steady to Saturday's close.

Apples made up the main small offering, with transparents selling at 20 cents a quart and 75 cents a six-quart basket, while astrachans and duchess were 25 cents and up to 80 cents a basket. Blueberries were $2.75 a basket and 30 cents a quart and raspberries, last nearing the end of their season, were offered in small quantities at 60 cents for blues.

Luck sometimes attends a fisherman even if it has nothing to do with a whopper on the end of a line . . . for instance

Two happy anglers were enjoying themselves in a quiet way. Eventually one brought his line around heavy so he reeled in.

At the hook emerged he was startled to see a tiny minnow attached to it. On examination it was found to belong to the angler's friend. Apparently it had slipped out of his pocket, and dropped overboard. Anyway the wallet contained not only valuable papers but holiday money as well.

Conservation officer Bob Davison of Flinton met the two anglers during a patrol and the wee purse was exhibited as evidence.

Harness Horse Races Full Mile Without Driver

The instinct of a harness race horse was amply demonstrated on Wednesday afternoon during the second heat of the 2.20 class. When the horses were going into the first turn after leaving the mark from the starter, Billy Elgin went down when his bike wheels locked and Judy Herbert was knocked off stride and the driver thrown to the ground with a thump.

The little mare knew she was in a race and immediately got busy with the rest of the pack. The way was kept clear for her and when she came to the wire on the last time round the oval, she opened up her usual stretch drive and passed the horse she was racing against. Immediately after the finish she settled down to a walk and was easily rounded up. As one wag remarked "She needs better control without the driver than with him".

A large crowd witnessed two exciting races but many were a little restless because the heats were spaced too far apart. Judging of horses in front of the stand takes a considerable amount of time and it is quite hard for the drivers to keep their horses in proper condition so that no so long intervals between races.

WINS SECOND RACE

Dr. A. M. Johnson of Peterborough with Jimmy McIntyre in the "Wheelhouse" took his second race of the meet on Wednesday when Lady Victoria J toyed with six other aspirants in the 2.20 pace. As was said before this race was marred by an upset but the winner was kept clear of the interference and simply jogged to her win. Dr. Johnson's other is cally-owned horse, Mabel Mack, supplied the opposition.

The first race of the meet that was divided was the 2.23 class. Black Magic, owned by Dale Sands of Kingston, won the second heat after finishing a poor fourth in the first heat. The driver was trying out a new set of hoppies in the first heat but the shoes did not take kindly to them. Changing back to the old set in the second heat the mare showed up when ready and came to the wire ... plenty to spare. Donald Dale, another Kingston-owned horse took the first heat.

The track was in much better condition than the day previous. Considerable work was done on the track was flooded and heavily watered and the footing was much better. The times of the several heats were good taking into the fact the footing is not the best for race horses.

Largest Crowd Of Fair Jams Way Into Grounds

With the finest array of exhibits and the best horse show in years, Belleville Fair continued to be a success attendance-wise Wednesday evening as the largest crowd of the fair jammed its way into the exhibition grounds.

The new grandstand with a seating capacity of 2,700 persons was jam-packed for the evening grandstand performance by George A. Hamid Shows and the cash customers went home satisfied with what they had seen.

What they saw was some of the finest horse flesh in Ontario put through its paces on the race track in front of the grandstand, the second round of square dance eliminations between Sidney township junior farmers and Thurlow young people and the top notch entertainment provided by the various acts of the Hamid Shows.

SIDNEY DANCERS WIN

Sidney township dancers won the nod of judges Mrs. Thurlow young people all of whom were under 15 years of age. It was the first appearance in competition for the Thurlow young people. The square dance competition, which got rounded up tonight when Thurlow seniors and Sidney township competete in the finals.

Members of last night's victorious Sidney team are Ray Bateman and Joyce Ray as lead couple with George Frost and Marion Bush, Carman Rose and Ella Mallais and Griffon Ketcheson and Geraldine Harry. The Sidney team's prize money was made up of Andrew Vos and Ruth Luxton as lead couple, Tony Goetbeyer and Mrs. Hilton Thompson, Gary Chambers and Patsy Datoe, and Gene Badgley and Beverley Urch.

MUNICIPAL BAND ON HAND

The Rhythm Rangers are again providing the dance music, while Ivan Claire, Charles Fair and Cam Bunnett acted as callers. Judges for last night's competition were Mrs. C. Bunnett, Lloyd Doran and Jim Mills.

Prior to the grandstand performance members of the Belleville Municipal Band entertained the grandstand customers with several numbers.

The final two performances of the Hamid Shows before the grandstand will be given this afternoon and evening.

Today, the last day of the fair, has been designated as Farmers' Day with special attractions to interest the rural residents. Judging of horses in the front grandstand will continue under the direction of chairman of the horse committee, Ivan Claire. Judging of cattle will be concluded at other points of the fairgrounds. Swine club will hold their sch-levement day.

Squadron Leader 'Ted' Lee of City Posted to USAF Training Command

Squadron Leader P. F. (Ted) Lee, CD, 40, son of Mrs. Emma Lee, of this city, has been posted from Air Transport Command Headquarters, Lachine, P.Q., to duty with the U.S. Air Force, at Scott Air Force Base, Illinois.

S/L Lee, whose eighteen-year career already includes everything from instructing aeronautical engineering to flying the Korean air lift, reported to Washington on Monday. From there he will proceed to the Scott Air Base, where he will be working with the Training Aids section of the USAF Training Command.

Born and educated in this city, S/L Lee joined the RCAF in 1936. He served with torpedo bomber squadrons as ground crew early in the Second World War until 1942, when he became an instructor at the aeronautical engineering school. In 1944 he transferred to Air Crew and trained as a navigator.

Posted to the 426 Squadron, Dorval, S/L Lee flew in the Korean Airlift during the early part of that operation. Following that he became Senior Personnel Staff Officer, at Air Transport Command Headquarters in 1951.

Accompanying S/L Lee will be his wife the former Marion Josefa of Colborne, Ont., and their three children, Judith Anne, 12, Patrick 4, and Mary, ten months.

Firemen Kept Busy Wednesday

Calls for minor fires, including a false alarm to Belleville General Hospital, where a fire drill was in progress, kept firemen busy on Wednesday.

Firemen were called to Hillcrest for a grass fire and also to Trent Road, where a car was reported afire. The driver of the car had left his emergency brake on and burned the lining out.

Early today the department was called to the Maple Leaf Groceteria on Victoria Ave. for a smoke investigation. The motor of the refrigeration unit had burned out causing the alarm, to be sent in.

Grandfather Got Himself 'Lost' At the Fair

This is the story of the excited grandfather who got himself "lost" at the fair.

A Bancroft district family with several children arrived in the city yesterday morning to visit grandfather and to take in the sights at the Belleville Fair.

The doting grandfather took it upon himself to treat the kiddies to the rounds at the fair. They "did" the various buildings and other exhibits and finally wound up watching the horse judging and other grandstand events.

Then it happened.

Grandfather suddenly realized his 10-year-old granddaughter was no longer with him. A search of the immediate area failed to locate her and finally after a half hour's tour of the grounds had been on results, the police were called in and an organized search got underway, still without results.

Finally after two-and-a-half hours during which time the frantic grandfather combed almost every foot of the fairgrounds the little girl turned up.

"Where in the world were you?" asked grandad. "We've been looking all over for you and even called in the police."

"I wasn't lost," was the unconcerned reply. "You just thought I was."

LONG-MILKING COW

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—Betty, a jersey-Ayrshire cross dairy cow, was destroyed Wednesday after a record 19½ years of continuous milking since she was her first calf in 1935. Betty was owned by W. Easton, of Ukaarra, West Australia, who said she had given about one gallon of milk every day of her life. Authorities said the longest previous period between calvings was 2½ years.

IN MEMORIAM

BAY — In loving memory of a dear mother and father, Alfred Bay, who passed away August 19, 1950.

Days of Sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of memory fall for you;
Memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died years ago.
—Ever remember your son Gordon and family. A19

BROWNING — In loving memory of Robert Browning, who passed away August 16th, 1952.

Memory's hand is reaching back
Across the years to you,
When one we loved so dearly, so suddenly had to part,
But God in His wisdom knew it was God's will.
It's worth the while that we never can fill
The place remembered by Wife Agnes and family. A19

BAY — In loving memory of our dear sister-in-law, Viola Bay, who passed away August 19th, 1952.

Wept not for me, nor wish me back,
Rest from pain and sorrow,
And in my saviour's arms I rest
Until the resurrection morn.
—Sister Mary and Family.
Now I will watch for you,
And when you come Golden
Gate
I'll come and lead you through.

We cannot say and we will not say
That she is dead—she is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of hand,
She wandered into an unknown land
And left us all again as sadly we say,
We'll not dead, she is just away.
—Sadly missed and remembered by husband Norman and Norman, Stewart and Irene Bay. A19

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market crept ahead in moderate forenoon trading today.

Volume was fairly heavy 666,000 shares in the first hour.

Volume in New Mylamaque, which reached about 1,400,000 shares Tuesday and Wednesday after reports of a big uranium discovery at Tazin lake, northern Saskatchewan, dropped to about half today.

Papers, agricultures, steels, liquors and financial institutions moved up with fractional gains. Banks maintained Wednesday's strength.

Senior base metals were steady and juniors gained slightly. Western oils had a few more penny gains than losses and golds showed little change in narrow-range dealings. Uraniums were mixed and Manitouwadge and Bathurst stocks drew little interest.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Sales were steady on a light offering of slaughter cattle. Receipts: Cattle 100; calves 25; hogs 400; sheep and lambs 90 heifers from Wednesday 650 cattle.

Pearkes Moves Against Rebels

VICTORIA (CP) — The national Progressive Conservative party has ordered a new federal association established in Victoria, riding in the first move here against a British Columbia party rebels, it was reported here on Wednesday night.

Robert H. Fort, president of the existing Victoria federal Progressive Conservative Association, said he received notification of the new move from Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, member of Parliament for Esquimalt-Saanich.

Mr. Fort said he immediately replied with charges of dictatorial action and that the new association is unconstitutional.

The national move follows a vote of non-confidence of the B. C. Progressive Conservative Association executive at Vernon July 17. The vote was a climax of an organizational fight between provincial leader Deane Finlayson and Mr. Drew.

Canadian Killed When Jet Crashes

OTTAWA (CP) — FO. Francis G. Robins, 22, of Unionville, Ont., was killed Wednesday in France when his Sabre jet plane crashed on a training flight from Gros Tenquin, air force headquarters announced today.

No details were available here on how the crash occurred.

The pilot's parents, Rev. and Mrs. George E. Robins of Unionville, were visiting in Britain at the time. The air force said they will be flown to Gros Tenquin for the funeral service Saturday in the Protestant chapel of the air base. Burial will be at Metz, France.

Youth Missing In Heavy Seas

NEW HAVEN, England (Reuters)—A 21-year-old German youth was reported missing today in heavy seas off the south coast of England on the first stage of an attempt to sail halfway round the world on a home-made raft.

Ships were alerted to watch for him and the twin-pontoon contraption on which he planned to sail to Australia. Wolfgang Kraker von Schwarzenfeld left here Saturday on the 10,000-mile journey.

Schwarzenfeld's o n l y navigational aids are a compass, a book of charts, and a map of the world. He did his trip was inspired by the Norwegian Kon Tiki expedition made several years ago on a Balsa wood raft from South America to Polynesia.

Objective Outlined

RAITH, Ont. (CP) — Perpetual harvests from perpetual forests is the overriding objective of his department, Lands and Forests Minister Mapledoram says.

He spoke Wednesday at ceremonies inaugurating the woodlands laboratory of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company Ltd. on a 40,000 acre tract 70 miles west of Fort William.

Mr. Mapledoram said that during the present administration there has been a reorganization of forest management policy designed to place the province's resources on a sustained-yield basis and to ensure thorough integration of woods operations.

He stressed the relationship between well-managed and well-protected forest, fish and wildlife abundance, establishment of water levels and freedom from flood and soil erosion.

DOG DOESN'T SWIM, BUT SAVES CHILDREN

When these four children decided to go for a tour of Lake Ontario from Humber Bay, they soon found that the waves which looked so small from shore were really big close up. "The waves looked like mountains and they poured over the side of the boat," says Bill Rogers, top left. Lifesavers say they owe their lives to the fact that their dog, Pat, doesn't like to swim. Pat stayed on shore and barked and howled until lifesavers, using binoculars, spied the boat, full of water and listing badly. Bill, 11, his friends, Teddy Man, five, Betty Man, six, and Debby Hood, three, have decided they won't go joy-riding in a strange boat again.—Central Press Canadian.

Earl Welcomed By Clan Bruce

OTTAWA (CP) — A bunch of Scots from away back greeted the chief of their clan here Wednesday night.

Members of the Clan Bruce in Ottawa and district gathered to pay tribute to the Earl of Elgin and Kincardine and Lady Elgin, who are on a month's visit to eastern Canada.

The 73-year-old earl—Lord Edward James Bruce, baron of the domains of Stenhouse, Downhill and Kinloss—told the more than 140 Scots:

"It is our traditions that inspire us to bear the brunt of the tasks ahead."

Informants said they feel the Chinese Communists do not want to resume the Korean war, halted by an armistice July, 27, 1953.

This was also the opinion expressed by Brig. Jean Victor Allard several weeks ago on his return from Korea where he commanded the Canadian troops for 14 months.

Withdrawal of some or all of Canada's three destroyers in Korea also is under discussion, officials said.

The one-squadron RCAF airlift which had operated to the Far East from July, 1950, was withdrawn in May.

Soon after the armistice was signed, discussions were held here concerning when and how Canadian troops might be taken out of Korea as soon as the situation there was considered stable.

Plans formed from these discussions now have been taken off the shelf and are being re-examined in light of the announced American withdrawal.

Naval forces were the first Canadian units to see action in the Korea war. They sailed for the Far East in early July, 1950, only a few days after the war started.

WAR RECORD

The advance party for the troops arrived in Pusan, Korea, in December, 1950, and one battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian light infantry arrived soon after. It went into the line in April, 1951. An entire brigade was in action not long after.

Canada's dead in the Korean war total 315—309 army and air navy. The army also had 91 deaths due to non-battle causes and 1,203 wounded or injured in action.

Cub Scout Who Was Ill With Polio Was Not Guest at Cedardale Lodge

Frank Booth, manager of Cedardale Lodge, R.R. 2, Carrying Place, has informed the Ontario Intelligencer in a letter that a misunderstanding has arisen with respect to Duncan Campbell, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Campbell, of Trenton, who on Thursday, August 5, was taken to Kingston General Hospital suffering from polio.

Mr. Booth says that people have obtained the impression that Duncan became ill while attending a camp on Mr. Booth's property. This, he says, has caused him a heavy loss of business. The Ontario Intelligencer's report said that Duncan "was attending Cub camp at Cedardale" and made no mention of Cedardale Lodge. The camp in question was situated at a beach west of Cedardale Lodge. For many years the entire area has been known to district residents as Cedardale.

As stated in the original report, published on August 6, health authorities arranged for an inspection of the Cub camp facilities and an examination of its campers immediately. The Cub camp was given a clean bill of health and there is no reason why any person should hesitate to enjoy the facilities of any of the camps in the area, including Mr. Booth's establishment which was, of course, in no way involved in the polio case. As originally reported, Duncan became ill shortly after the three-day Cub camp opened. It is thus obvious that he contracted the disease before his arrival at the camp.

Engineers Study Feasibility Of Deeper Channels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Edward J. Thye (Rep, Minn.) says a study being made by army engineers on the feasibility of deepening the connecting channels in the upper Great Lakes will be completed about Nov. 1.

Thye said that while he has had no information from the engineers on the probable cost, it is anticipated the work would entail some $125,000,000.

WANT APPROVAL

Thye and various other members from the Great Lakes area want Congress to approve deepening the connecting channels to 27 feet to tie in with the 27-foot channel to be constructed for the St. Lawrence SEAWAY

Congress earlier this year finally authorized construction of the seaway, but did not authorize deepening connecting channels between the Great Lakes on the western end.

Thye said in a statement in the Congressional Record it is his hope that when the report of the army engineers on the connecting channels is presented to Congress next session the work will be authorized.

INTO SUPERIOR

The connecting channels are above Lake Erie and include the Detroit river, Lake St. Clair, St. Clair river, the Straits of Mackinac, and St. Mary's river.

Thye made this statement during Senate consideration of a bill authorizing river and harbor projects.

"It is obvious that to give lake ports of Duluth, Superior and Michigan the full benefit of the St. Lawrence seaway, which we know now is assured, the present program must be supplemented by deepening the channels that connect those lakes," he said.

Thieves Upset Mother's Plan For New Home

A young mother attempting to provide a home for herself and two small daughters had that goal set back early this week when thieves carried away 24 sheets of insul board to be used the next day on Mrs. Ronald Foster's new home a Scoharie.

Police said that a dual-wheeled truck had been backed up to the site of the new home and several bundles insul board were carried away. Carpenters were to apply the insul board the following day.

Information as to who may have acquired the insul board would be appreciated both by police and Mrs. Foster.

GALT IS NEXT

TORONTO (CP)—Hydro 60-cycle standardization for Galt is scheduled to be completed by early in 1955, Hydro Chairman announced Wednesday. Crews will be moved into the Galt area next month.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Three entirely new towns are to be constructed in "Seaway Valley", in the vicinity of Cornwall along the St. Lawrence.

The St. Lawrence seaway and power construction project necessitates this undertaking. People whose present homes are to be flooded must be provided with new ones.

Myriad problems will confront those responsible for this project. Already delegates from the areas to be flooded have voiced complaints — that farmers are being ignored, that rehabilitation estimates are too low, that the phrase "just compensation" has not been properly defined. There will be other complaints—and no matter how energetically they labor and how generously they estimate the authorities in charge of the work will not be able to satisfy everybody.

But what a wonderful and unusual opportunity presents itself in this task of planning three entirely new communities!

Almost every population centre in the world, whether it be a great metropolis, a town whose beginnings are lost in the mists of prehistoric earliest history or a backwoods hamlet born at yesterday's sunrise, has "just growed."

Here is a chance for the town planners to show just what they can do when entirely unfettered by the past, or, at least, as nearly, unhampered as is practical. Some restrictions on their plans will have been imposed by Nature, whose foundations may not be entirely to the liking of the planners. That, however, is an unavoidable restraint.

It is to be hoped that to this curb are not added unnecessary handicaps in respect to financial requirements. The original estimate of the cost of the work was $65,000,000. The scheme is now expected to cost more—and indeed these days when a million dollars can be swallowed up in an addition to an existing school or hospital or similar institution a mere $65,000,000 appears small.

Here is an opportunity for all Canada to benefit by having actual examples of what a properly planned community can offer its residents. No objectionable expense should be spared — but at the same time no unreasonable expenditure should be permitted. The new towns should be examples not of dream towns but of what is feasible and within reach of our pocket-books.

That will leave the planners plenty of opportunity to exercise good taste, vision and originality. Throughout Canada, in every city, town and hamlet, can be found examples of mistakes to be avoided. Some pitfalls are obvious. In these new towns, we may be sure, storm water will not empty into sanitary sewers, causing filth to back up into cellars after every heavy rain. It is to be hoped that railways will not push through the heart of residential areas and that industries will not taint the air or waterfront. Proper provision should be made for parks and playgrounds, for neighborhood stores.

When New Iroquois, New Town Hall and New Town No. 2 are completed they should provide Canadians with an additional reason to be proud of their country.

NOVEL BUSINESS SYSTEM

We wish Judy Lewthwaite would found a society, a regular octopus of an association with tentacles twining unto the very ends of the earth.

To date Judy has confined her operations to a spot on the East coast in picturesque Devon. There she runs a hotel. Guests pay what they think their holiday is worth.

This experiment, like so many other daring ventures, started as the result of an argument with friends. They told her that if she allowed people to come in and pay they chose, they would pay nothing. Judy has enough faith in human nature to believe that if people had had a happy holiday they would treat her fairly. Whether her faith has been justified is a moot point. She told a BBC interviewer that as yet it was difficult to say how the scheme is working out in practice.

There can be no doubt, however, that the plan offers many alluring possibilities. Over the course of years, almost every consumer compiles a list of establishments with which he or she would like to deal on this basis. There is one mathematical hitch that has baffled the most despite mathematical theoreticians, for all practical purposes there is nothing that is less than nothing. And nothing is sometimes much too big a sum to express accurately the purchaser's opinion of what an article is worth.

TILLING STONY SOIL

A new twist was given to the modern version of highway robbery when Gregard Forget, 17-year-old Montreal youth, hitch-hiked a ride. The motorist who picked him up robbed him of $7 at gunpoint.

It strikes us that this method was plowing stony soil. Most hitch-hikers thumb their way to their destination because they lack sufficient funds to purchase a car or even a railway or bus ticket. Robbing a hitch-hiker is something like robbing the poor house—the loot is likely to be meagre and, for that very reason, the crime is doubly despicable.

JUST FOLKS

MAN ALONE

Dishes stacked in the sink
And no tablecloth laid;
No reason at all that the bed
should be made.
Still unwashed pot and pan,
On the floor papers thrown.
This the home when a man
Spends two weeks alone.

Not a sound anywhere
By a living soul made.
Save the creak of the stair
Or the slap of a shade.

No "hello" at the door
For the lonely man's ears.
Just two weeks and no more,
Though they seem to be years.

Every promise unkept
Which he vowed she could trust.
The floors still unswept.
On the furniture, dust.
Empty milk bottles lined
In a row near the door.
These are what she will find
When he's lonely no more.

Mr. Charles Nunn has returned to the city from Bodmore.

Mr. A. S. Large has left to spend some time in Bradford.

Going down to the band concert at the park last evening one could see boys being impressed with the great numbers of sailing and steam craft anchored in the harbor. They were thicker than the frogs on the pond and that is saying a great deal. No wonder that some of our young men want an up-to-date yacht club house.

Cafes Noted for Hospitality

(Christian Science Monitor)

Tourists visiting Greece for the first time will find typical native hospitality in the numerous country restaurants, or "cafe-tavernas."

In many respects, these small "tavernas" are the most unusual type of eating place to be found in Europe, writes Wallace Hackett from Athens to the Christian Science Monitor.

Moreover, they are open the year around, not just during summer and early fall, the accent is on out-of-doors dining, usually under a meandering grape arbor. In Athens' months, a roaring open fire lends a cheery air to the small whitewashed dining rooms.

Since the elevation of the Athens-Greece once again has become one of the very cheapest capitals in Europe. Accordingly, a party of four people may share a taxi to a taverna 10 to 15 miles distant there for approximately the equivalent of $1.50 a person. After the individual has dined, he will be presented a bill that totals a dollar.

• • •

When the guest enters such an unpretentious restaurant, he finds himself either in the kitchen or else within a few feet of it. This manoeuvre has a set purpose. The owner wants you to see exactly what he has to offer, a visual presentation which takes the place of a printed menu, as well, he wants you to notice the cleanliness of the kitchen. The guest thus se.ects his own soup, meat or fish vegetables, and dessert.

A typical menu consists of tamara (fresh fish roe mixed with potato, oil and bread) followed by a casserole of lamb cooked in a high urn, or else baby lamb chops. This is followed by a sweet dessert called Copenhagen (no one seems to know exactly how the dish received its name), and then a gigantic orange, which appears to be the size of a grapefruit.

Occasionally the chef-owner dances out of the kitchen to see if you are doing full justice to the meal. If you cannot, the silence hangs heavy in the region of the kitchen.

Should the foreign guest see a Greek family exchanging bites of food, he should not think the party are with his appetite. Quite to the contrary, this is a traditional Greek custom, practiced even in the most expensive restaurants in Athens.

• • •

About the only entertainment one finds in a typical country taverna is provided by a passing pipe-playing shepherd, who pauses long enough to serenade the guests and management. He does not expect any tip, indeed would probably feel insulted if one was offered. Long after the shepherd, his dog and flock have disappeared, along the country road, the thin wail of his pipe comes echoing back.

Occasionally one of the guests will start to sing a popular ballad. Usually it is based on the historical background of the region in which he is dining. Thus, in Epiros, the favorite is a ballad of Greek resistance to the Turks. This is a tale of Greece which few tourists ever hear, and it is a pleasant conclusion to a casual meal.

When departure time rolls around, the owner escorts you to your waiting car, stands bowing and waving, while his small taverna until you disappear.

Tourist Note

(Hamilton Spectator)

"No" is never a pleasant word—and most especially not when it appears in front of a sentence in a motel sign at dusk on a hot day with a couple of worn-out kids in the back seat.

Mysterious, Frightening

(New York Times)

One doesn't have to put in two years' research to discover that the sea is mysterious and sometimes frightening. The recent invasion of sand and dyspeptic mosquitoes along the Rockaway beaches and the premature visitation of jellyfish, the same waters brings to mind some of the terrible horrors that can inhabit, so for ocean bathers.

The constant horror is the ubiquitous shark. Even though the swimmer has often seen stick-armed children badgering the miserable, half-blind, indecisive crab, he notes the less, when bathing himself, pictures the creature as madly obsessed with drawing human blood. There is the infinite unknown fierce that swing back and forth in the dark bottom. And when a bare foot falls on one—though it is nothing but a waterlogged coconut husk—the imaginative owner of the foot forever sees the jaws or corpse or fatal cut awaiting shark.

And, speaking of sharks, the cautious, shoreward sallies of the baby sand variety, though it is a harmless one, still terrify, and sometimes enough to make a swimmer swear off. The big, dead, fresh crab, too, with its black humped back and mighty prow of upraised claws, is hard to withhold. The submerged log that pops up, coming suddenly on one before a breaking wave, the dead fish floating on its side with its big staring eye, the unidentified vessel eating about the legs like an hand.

But these are fruits of the sea and, for the devoted, just part of the game. Only the timid take themselves at such invasions to the fresh-water pool, or where they like as not will find us.

Small Giants Large Heroes

(Kiplinger Magazine)

If there were a choice in the matter, most men would like to be tall—but there is no room to despair if you're not a six-footer. Look at these short men:

Napoleon, who was 5 feet 2 inch, is a famous example. Dozens of military figures.

Alexander the Great, as good a general as Napoleon, was short and maybe better, is listed as 5 feet 5 inches tall.

John Paul Jones, America's first naval hero, was 5 feet 5 inches, didn't weigh much (Damn the torpedoes!) was 5 feet 5½ inches.

Gen. Sheridan was only 5 feet 5 inches, and Gen. Grant was 5 feet 7 inches.

Schubert, one of the giants of musical composers, was 5 feet 2. Toscanini is only 5 feet 6 inches.

Diogenes was a shrimp. St. Francis Xavier was well under 5 feet. Pasteur was 5 feet 7-½ inches. Keats was 5 feet.

Stephen Leacock, the Lillie Glass scarcely reached 5 feet. The late Florello La Guardia, mayor of New York for 12 years, was 5 feet 2 inches. Sir Winston Churchill, prime minister of Great Britain, is 5 feet 7 inches. Gen. Francisco Franco, of Spain, is 5 feet 6 inches.

Whatever else you may think of him, Adolf Hitler, Nazi dictator, had an impact on international events. He has been variously reported as 5 feet 5 inches to 5 feet 6 inches. Hitler and Mussolini, the other dictator, were universally loved figures, were 5 feet 5 inches and 5 feet 6 inches, respectively.

The list can go on indefinitely. Sports annals are filled with tales of pint sized athletes who held their own against bigger men. In the entertainment world, Mickey Rooney is 5 feet 3 inches, and Dorothy Durante, Eddie Cantor, and Darryl Zanuck are all 5 feet 7 inches.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the fashionable restaurant, a party of six occupied a central table. They were conspicuous for several reasons. The head waiter danced attendance on them. He personally prepared their salad for them and paid them various little attentions. The tone of the voice of one of the women of the party caused the chief of the restaurant. The stares of other diners added to the general air of effect on her. She gave the impression that there was absolutely else in the room but her party.

They were people of obvious means, possibly of importance. The men were smartly dressed middle-aged men, the vice-president sort. The women had that easy style which is the product of assurance. They had manners of the noisy woman and the quiet woman in the right sort of balance. It was apparent they were used to them.

The meal of us, she spoiled the dinner. You could hardly pay attention to the conversation of your quiet partner across the table when a noisy and demonstrative woman comes in with a high and strident voice more audible than that of your companion, though you are trying.

They consumed a whale of a dinner. They had a round of cigars afterward, and lolled back in their chairs, listening amiably to the chatter of the chief affected woman. The two other women were content to bask in her shadow. It went on and on.

When at last they rose to leave, the head waiter stood by the exit with a silver tray on which were pencil and white paper. He made a little specialty of the house, a parting gift.

They all helped themselves, even the cigar smoking men.

"Oh, how pretty," yodelled the noisy one.

She scooped a whole handful of them off the tray and dropped them in her stylish handbag.

"I've never seen anything like it before. What a life a head waiter leads! You can scarcely blame him for what he's paid to do. I used to kick woman like that right in the bustle."

WHAT GOES ON IN THE DELIVERY ROOM

Do any of you underprivileged, uneducated high school and college graduates remember the scene described here a few years ago — the expectant father was persuaded to go home and wait until the hospital notified us in plenty of time for him to drive thirty miles back to the hospital before the birth of his baby. As soon as the nine — the jelly — the typical young American prospective father was safely out of the way, who do you think happened in the delivery room? The staff of freshman class from the nurses' training school came running, and every girl in turn made a digital examination of the patient in labor, her protests being stemmed or frowned down by the officious superintendent of nurses.

Of course such a trick could be perpetrated on the average uneducated American girl, but high school or college graduate even if her husband is getting like a dear sweet boy there in the monkey cage right down the corridor, and often enough somebody in the sort occurs in such circumstances.

Why do old fashioned lying-in institutions exclude or try to exclude husbands from the delivery room anyway?

I hope nurses, hospital, superintendents, doctors and other experts officials or authorities will not explain that the idea is to prevent infection. That's a laugh to one who knows what goes on in delivery rooms.

Dr. Brady

The mother of four children writes a touching letter telling how happy she and her husband were with their first three, who were born at home with her physician at her side where a real man should be at this sacred moment. The circumstances that the hospital delivery necessary for her fourth child, the baby girl over the husband, being a male, could not be present. Of course the baby could be, is probably made, but the doctor makes the rules.

There may be factors which the lady does not mention, but two things she does mention may give you an idea of the atmosphere of the delivery room. "The doctor didn't say one word to me, even when I told him about the cramp in my leg and hip." (Her feet were strapped up in holders.) "The doctor brought another man in with him, and they talked and laughed, because of this I started to scream, though she couldn't hear down with the sheet in front of her, I wouldn't give me any anesthetic . . . ."

Who was the man? Out of curiosity the doctor should have introduced him to the patient if he was a doctor. If he was not, the patient should sue the doctor and the hospital for libel in inviting and admitting the stranger to the show. A patient is entitled to privacy even though she doesn't pay a nickel to the institution. The institution and/or the doctor should have asked the patient's permission for the stranger to see the show. But, heck, ninnyhammers, what do such important people care about the sensibilities of you peasants?

LADDERS

Ladders have always interested me. They serve so many purposes. The most useful, I believe, is the part of the fire engines are remarkable. I can't imagine how the latest, I believe, in New York recently, it pointed to a great height for a ladder. I couldn't help but think of the time when it would have many a life, as well as property and time again.

In my youth, in the small town of the midwest, a ladder was an essential. We picked fruit with it, painted the barn, and the house, and put it to many another good use. A ladder was one of my camp. In a log cabin of the handy men! In the Lodge on the island was a ladder that led to a small balcony, but you had to stoop over and pass under it to enter the sleeping rooms, so I put it straight up and down, and anchored it so that it could not move. It's an unusual ladder for it is made of carefully selected hardwoods. People are not afraid to walk in front of it. It's lucky now!

During Biblical times there was a famous ladder recorded — Jacob's ladder, its purpose, how-ever, is not stated and we wonder would remain unpainted, and many a job about there are. We should never be done were it not for the long and wide ladders in daily use in universal use today. How well I recall the ladder that the boy now at school in the barn, as well as the one in which we kept our pony, a Shetland.

Then the personified the ladder and used it as an inspirational theme. They have called it the stairway of Success" and the rounds become steps. The highest step in life, we climb "round by round" upward! There is a belief among a few that to walk under a ladder is unlucky. I can't figure it out. In one camp we had a ladder across the path to a new England city and I walked under it. A lady in front of me refused to do so, walked into the street and miraculously escaped being hit by a car!

OFFICERS AND PLAIN SOLDIERS

Many people feel that only ordained ministers can serve the church. The ministers, they say, are officers, they are certainly not greater in their influence than are the laity and probably not even to be compared with them in influence.

It should always be remembered that our Lord Jesus was a layman. In the midst of a highly organized religious hierarchy that history has been doing about Jesus throughout the 30-odd years of his life remained a simple layman. He undoubtedly attended the synagogue training which all Jewish boys received. He studied the Old Testament until it literally became part of his nature. No doubt as he worked in the carpenter shop year after year he pondered the great truths of prophet and psalmist and gradually more expanded in his mind the glorious messages and the parables which pierced to the very character of his listeners. Jesus was not a minister, a rabbi, or a priest. He was a layman.

Ponder this and think of how important a layman really is. Another important fact about Jesus is that he repeatedly God has put upon you laymen. Indeed, their whole task must look to their fields, marshals, but in the end behind the ministers are not generals—laymen, not ministers.

In the church it is the laity, indeed, who frequently bring the glorious purposes of God to fulfillment.

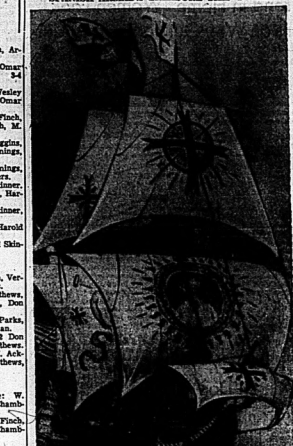
Reeve Declines Swimming Date

TORONTO (CP)—Scarboro Lions Club announced Wednesday Reeve Oliver Crockford would open the new Lions swimming pool by swimming to the centre of the pool and cutting a ribbon.

But alas, said the reeve, he can't swim and doesn't intend to try—even if a bevy of mermaids escorts him across the pool. He'll cut the tape somewhere else or not at all.

Club director Bob Penny said he would consider switching the ceremony to a wading pool.

SPANISH ARMADA TREASURE SHIP SOUGHT



Ruins of a sunken Spanish galleon are being sought in Tobermory Bay, Scotland. The Duke of Argyll, right, has the rights to whatever may be found on the remains of the galleon, and the Duke thinks the salvage operation may be worth $60 to $100 millions. The galleon, he thinks, was the paymaster ship of the Spanish armada, defeated in 1588 in its attempt to invade England. —Central Press Canadian Photos.

Charles P. Taft Defends American Economic System

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Charles P. Taft today spoke up for the American social and economic system before fellow Christians from many lands.

Taft, brother of the late senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, voiced his views while delegates to the assembly of the World Council of Churches were engaged in a round of discussions on the broad subject of a "responsible society."

"We Americans are a responsible society," Taft told an audience of visitors to the convention. Taft is a lay assembly delegate.

He mentioned social security, workmen's compensation for injuries on the job, the minimum wage law, the 40-hour week, farm price floors and public housing, and said:

"I am not reciting these facts to boast but to show you that we are not, and probably never have been, a laissez-faire capitalism, in nearly all of this legislation and in its enforcement has been evidence of the strong reform instincts of America. It comes in large part out of our religious and missionary background."

Order Inquest Into Man's Death

TRENTON, (Special.)—An inquest into the death of Alfred J. Williams, 53, who hanged himself in Trenton jail, Monday evening, will be held in the town hall August 27, police said here yesterday.

Williams was found dangling from his belt behind his cell door shortly after he had been arrested for intoxication, Monday.

The inquest will be conducted by coroner Dr. J. V. Byrne.

MAN IS RESCUED

TRENTON, (Special.) — A 34-year-old man, was rescued from the Trent River last night after his boat capsized below the C.P.R. overhead bridge.

Cy Harrison, Front Street, was trying out a new boat when it heeled over and flung him into the water. He grabbed the boat and hung on until rescued by Bruce Crowder and Guy Patterson, who spotted the incident from the shore and put out in a punt to tow him back to safety.

Fire Law Marks Prove Hot Topic

SASKATOON (CP)—Fire alarm boxes proved a hot topic at the Canadian Fire Chiefs Association annual convention Wednesday.

Chief Ken Buttons of Kitchener, Ont., launched the debate by announcing that his council has decided to forego the $150,000 cost of replacing an obsolete system.

He said in his experience only three to five box alarms were turned in a year, most of them false. He had found it impossible to get parts for the old system, installed when telephones were a luxury. It would be better to spend the money on new fire halls or new equipment.

Chief Tom Lehnon of Saskatoon and Chief Tom Yarston of Regina expressed faith in the boxes.

Harold Ackerman, fire chief of William chief, said that out of 600 alarms turned in, eight were from boxes, four of them false, four of them for grass fires.

CANCEL DIVIDENDS

MONTREAL (CP) — Dominion Textile Company Limited Wednesday cancelled dividend payments on common stock and indicated there will be no further dividends until conditions in the textile industry improve.

THAT FATEFUL CLOUD

LUENEBURG, West Germany (CP) — Thousands of Germans, fearful that a third world war has begun, anxiously telephoned police stations here Wednesday when a huge mushroom-shaped cloud rose with a dull roar over Luenebury heath. Police explained the cloud was just a training device to simulate atomic weapons during British Army manoeuvres near here.

Police Are Told Job Becoming Harder All Time

HAMILTON (CP)—Delegates to the annual convention of the Police Association of Ontario were told Wednesday that their job is becoming harder all the time but they haven't succeeded too well in putting that fact across to the public.

Judge William Schwenger, chairman of the Hamilton board of police commissioners, said crime is on the increase because economic life has become more dynamic.

Rev. Thomas F. Brennan, director of Catholic charities in Hamilton, told delegates that policemen were the worst advertising men he had ever known.

"For a long time the only public relations existing between the police forces and the public was when a man was picked up and thrown in jail," he said. "It is much better now and people are beginning to realize that police work is a professional job."

Underwrite Art Show

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control Wednesday approved underwriting any loss up to $25,000 which the Toronto Art Gallery might suffer on the Dutch Masters exhibition Feb. 16-March 24 next year.

The move had the full approval of Mayor Leslie Saunders, who said a show underwritten by the city in 1951 "didn't cost us a cent."

TO END DST

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Daylight time will end in Windsor Sept. 11 if a recommendation by board of control Wednesday is adopted by city council at its next meeting Sept. 7.

TO CONSIDER SEAWAY SITES

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Board of control Wednesday recommended appointment of alderman John H. Wheelton to a Michigan fact-finding board on the St. Lawrence seaway. The committee will investigate possible industrial sites on both sides of the river in preparation for the seaway. It was appointed to advise G. Mennen Williams, governor of Michigan.

HIS WIFE OBLIGED

STVENDBORG, Denmark (AP)—"Hurry home and get yourself two more children," said a government official after he had turned down P. Jensen's application for a loan to build a home for his wife and three kids. Two hours later Jensen showed the clerk an X-ray picture proving that his wife was pregnant with twins. The loan was granted.

45 Friends Assemble To Honor Bride-Elect

Recently about 45 friends gathered at the home of Mrs. A. Skelly, Plainfield, to honor the bride-to-be, Miss Doreen Cross.

The rooms were gaily decorated with pink and white streamers, and white bells and baskets of gladioli and zinnias.

The guests were entertained by a "mock wedding" which was enjoyed by everyone, after which Doreen was asked to take a special chair and an address was read by Miss Joan Foote, after which Doreen was presented with many lovely gifts which were drawn in to her in a gaily decorated wagon by Miss Helena Cross and Mrs. S. Cross.

After opening her gifts Doreen thanked everyone and invited them to see her married on September 4th, in Roslin Presbyterian Church.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Haight, Mrs. J. McLean and Mrs. J. Skelly.

COLLAPSE FATAL

BILBAO, Spain (Reuter)—Two women, two men, and a boy were killed Tuesday when a mobile wooden balfring collapsed at a village near here before the first bull was released. The promoter of the bull fight, whose wife was one of the women killed, was later arrested, together with the constructor of the ring.

Extreme Modern Trend in Home Decoration, Furniture on Way Out

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—The extreme modern trend in home decoration and furniture is on the way out, says C. Eugene Stephenson, president of the American Institute of Decorators.

"The shock value has worn off," explained this knowing expert in the evolution of the American home. "All the tricks have been done. Modern design is getting more sensible and traditional furniture is getting more contemporary. A happy medium now is in prospect."

SUCCESSFUL TEAM

Stephenson and his wife form a highly successful decorating team, operating from their spacious apartment in New York's fashionable East river section. Their own office-home combines modern and traditional pieces harmoniously, tied together in a color scheme of off-white and bristol blue, a deep, bright turquoise color.

Week-ends they relax in an early American Connecticut farmhouse, in which the only thing they have modernized is the kitchen.

"The little woman is well-informed today on all the latest news in home decoration as well as food, fashions, beauty, child-raising and the newest quirks of psychology," says Stephenson.

"The modern woman knows all about what's going on in almost any field. The only trouble is that she may know too much, and have trouble selecting from all the welter of information the things suitable to her individual needs and tastes."

HANDY ADVICE

Here is where the advice of a decorator comes in handy, he points out. Often a decorator can save the householder money—a fact many people do not realize. A reputable decorator charges no fee for his services, and merely sells the customer furniture and furnishings at established retail prices. His profit comes from being able to buy at wholesale prices, like any other merchant.

This decorator does not believe in ready-made decorating schemes. Instead each home interior should be keyed to the personalities and individual customs of the people who live there. He's even playing around with color schemes to fit the individual skin tone of the lady of the house. He explains:

"A living room is like a dress, should be planned to make its owner look her best."

Women Do All Work in Dhala, Men Lie Around

ADEN (AP)—Chewing narcotic "qat" leaves and wandering around idly while women do all the work is the normal daily life of the men of Dhala.

Beautiful, well-built women of Dhala village in the Amiri protectorate, in the southern Arabian British - controlled protectorates, certainly spoil their men. Besides preparing the meals, housekeeping, going out in search for water and firewood, they do most of the work on the farms.

SOME FIGHTING

The men cultivate qat trees and chew their leaves. They cut the green leaves, fill their mouths with them and chew qat. They may do some fighting from time to time when their tribes differ. Even fighting is done comfortably, behind high strong walls with small openings for the guns. They window-sipe.

The 6,000 inhabitants of the five hundred houses of Dhala live mainly on agriculture, and the main crop is qat. Though there are vast areas surrounding the village, most of the land is waste and only a small area is cultivated, with narcotic trees sufficient for local consumption. Some is exported to Yemen or Aden, nearby.

A Dhali often consumes qat worth nearly $2 a day. He may go without food to buy the stuff.

"It makes you feel energetic and lively. If we stop chewing we feel exhausted and half-dead," Dhali's argue.

Women Look Forward to Cut In Coffee Prices

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Housewives who took a dim view of coffee price boosting are looking forward today to their reward—coffee price cuts.

The Brazilian government hiked the export price of coffee in June. It was one hike too much and buying of Brazilian coffee by Americans dropped sharply in the United States.

Now the Brazilian government is reshuffling its complicated foreign exchange set-up and announces that Brazilian coffee farmers will get just as much in Brazilian money for their crop, but Americans will pay less in dollars.

The American housewife got another break on the government price support a while back when the government—which props the price of many food items just as Brazil supports the price of coffee—lowered the support price for butter. And with lower prices, the American housewife had increased her buying of butter by about eight per cent.

But on another front she is about to lose a skirmish. The price of bread looked to be up one cent in several U.S. cities. Bakers blame many things. One is government price supports for wheat.

The housewife is getting a break at the meat counter, however, although this is due to high production rather than government control. The U.S. Meat Institute says that retail meat prices now are at the lowest level of the year, and down considerably from the first of the year.

Brazil's juggling of coffee export prices was forecast recently when coffee futures broke sharply on the New York coffee and sugar exchange under-selling by houses with Brazilian connections.

The following day Brazil announced it would let coffee exporters retain some American dollars when they sold to the United States. Previously they had to turn all dollars over to the Brazilian government and get cruzeiros for them.

Since Brazilians can get more cruzeiros for dollars on the free market than they can from their own government, it means they can sell coffee for less here and still come out ahead at home.

The real story in the coffee break for the housewife, however, goes back to June 3 when the Brazilian government hiked its export prices by 5 cents a pound from 68 cents.

The June price hike set off a wave of price resistance. Brazil's coffee exports to the United States were cut almost in half. Since Brazil depends upon coffee exports to supply it with the American dollars it needs, the situation became acute.

The Brazilian government bowed to the resisting American housewife, juggled its cruzeiros once again, and came up with a lower price for coffee here.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHEN AN ENGAGEMENT IS BROKEN, RETURN THE GIFTS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

When a girl breaks an engagement, she naturally returns the ring, but should she return all the engagement presents other people have given her? — F.G.

Dear F.G.:

The etiquette books all say that in the case of a broken engagement a girl should return gifts. Most girls would want to do that anyhow, because, after all, these gifts were given her to mark a specific romance, and it would be rather uncomfortable for her to have around reminders of a romance that went wrong. Don't you agree?

DON'T BECOME INVOLVED WITH AN EMOTIONAL, UNSTABLE CHAP

Dear Miss Fairfax:

A. For over two years I have been going with a certain boy and, while I am sure of his love for me, I am not sure of my feelings toward him. At times I think I love him, and at other times I have an odd feeling of being trapped.

He is very jealous and possessive, and although I've tried to make it clear to him that we're not going steady, he does everything in his power to keep me from anything to do with other boys. He even speaks to my parents, which is unfair, because they always take his side.

I don't know what to do. I like him very much; in fact I think I love him, but sometimes I feel as my freedom so I could date other boys. I haven't the courage to break off our relationship completely, not only because I know he loves me very much but because he is very emotional and goes to pieces when anything goes wrong, and I'm afraid that if I broke up with him he would have a nervous breakdown. — J.H.

Dear J.H.:

You don't say how old you are, but whatever your age, you should have the courage to stand on your own feet and do what you know is normal and right—that is, to insist on being free to have all the old friends you like. Whatever you may be trying to sell yourself, you are not in love with this boy, and I hope you will not let anyone talk you into believing that you are. I hope this, not only because your present state of mind shows so clearly that you are not in love, but also because it would be a great mistake for you to tie yourself up to any young man who is "jealous and possessive" to the point of hysteria.

You will never have any happiness with anyone so immature that he "goes to pieces when anything goes wrong." Moreover, in this boy is a unstable as all that you would not be responsible if he had a nervous breakdown over your insistence on running your own life. If he cannot take hold of himself and make himself into a person of maturity, it is not your fault, and you should not allow that to influence you. Too many young women take a maternal attitude toward men who try to win their affection by being dependent on them, and then find themselves trapped into wet-nursing an emotional infant all their lives. The quicker you make this young man, and your parents, understand that you aren't going to be bamboozled into taking on such a liability, the better.

Down for the Count

By Mary Moore

Who is this Count you are referencing for? Your husband? Your boy friend? A man you hope will take notice?

Some sages say a lovely figure is the number one attraction.

Now I guess it is after dear, the only way you can retain or increase your figure is to count the calories.

I suppose you read the cartoon where the doctor is saying to the fatty "Madam, just cut out meals —you eat plenty between them!"

Are you fat? If so, do you eat between meals?

If, won't work my dears.

If you want to reduce about one pound per week try a 1200-calorie per day routine. The only trouble you have to take is to count the calories. I've figured them out for you, for each item that is listed in the following menus is followed with its calorie content in brackets. You do not even have to consult your calorie chart.

Take a look at yourselves face on in a full length mirror. Now turn sideways and look at your silhouette. Are you proud of every curve? If not read on, then make an unbreakable resolution to take off that excess poundage around your midriff.

BREAKFASTS

(1) Two ripe sliced peaches (100 cal.); 1 egg (not cooked in fat) (79 cal.); 1 slice whole wheat bread no butter) (72 cal.); clear coffee 0 cal. (3) 1/2 grapefruit (44 cal.); 1 egg (79 cal.); 1 slice whole wheat bread (72 cal.); clear coffee (0 cal.). (3) 1 large ripe luscious banana (99 cal.) on 1 measuring cup cornflakes (75 cal.) with 1 cup whole milk (138 cal.); clear coffee (0 cal.).

LUNCHES

(1) 1-4 inch thick slice lean beef (about 4 oz. 250 cal.) sandwich on whole wheat with mustard and lettuce (150 cal.). (You will see that a meat sandwich when without butter has 400 calories so don't fool yourself and eat two of them.) 8 oz. skim milk (72 cal.). (2) Salad of 1-3 cup cottage cheese (50 cal.) with 1 medium tomato (30 cal.) and 2 4-inch sticks celery (3 cal.); 1 slice whole wheat bread (72 cal.); 1 pat butter (73 cal.); 8 oz. skim milk (72 cal.). (3) 1-4 lb. hamburg patty burger (300 cal.); 1 raw carrot (medium 23 cal.); 1 medium tomato or 1 cup stewed tomatoes (30, 25 cal.); 1 glass skim or buttermilk (8 oz. 72 cal.).

DINNERS

(1) 2 broiled veal chops 5-8 inch thick (422 cal.); 1-2 cup cooked turnip (11 cal.); 1-3 cup cooked spinach (26 cal.); lettuce, cucumber, tomato salad (about 50 cal. with no dressing in 1 cup) 2 medium plums (90 cal.); clear coffee (0 cal.). (2) Broiled liver (8 oz. when raw about 240 cal.) 2-3 cup cauliflower (31 cal.) 1-2 cup summer squash (18 cal.); 6 medium radishes (14 cal.); 2 fresh apricots (60 cal.) or 1 apple (91 cal.) or 2-3 cup blueberries (85 cal.); clear coffee (0 cal.). (3) Broiled halibut or pickerel fillets (4 oz. about 133 cal.) with lemon; broiled tomato halves (medium 30 cal.); 1-3 cup fresh ;mas (106 cal.); 1-4 head lettuce (18 cal.) with French dressing (1 tablespoon 43 cal.) 1-2 ripe cantaloupe with lime juice (no sugar) (58 cal.); clear coffee (0 cal.).

Let me know if you need help with foods I have not mentioned or included in the chart. Good luck.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

FIRST AID FOR SHINY NOSES.

Of all beauty problems, real and imaginary, the most common among young girls is the oily skin. The weed and tear on their powder pads is terrific. Putting on the dull finish is a never ending occupation. And the nose goes right along its beaming way!

A scientific study of oil is normal and necessary if the skin would be healthy and have smoothness and elasticity. Without it there would be roughness, scaling and cracking of the epidermal surface. Normally the sebaceous glands send forth just enough of their soothing fluids to keep the skin soft and pliable. But sometimes they are over-zealous and their exudations lie on the skin surface as an oily residue. When this condition is present, the pores may become enlarged and blocked with a wax-like substance that attracts atmospheric dust.

While facial treatment is helpful, the smart thing is to get at the cause which, undoubtedly, is found in a diet that contains too much fat.

Cut on butter, cream and pastries if your skin is too oily. Rich gravies and sauces are not for you, especially salad dressings. Nuts and peanut butter should also be avoided.

Start the day with orange or tomato juice for its vitamin C content. Drink four or five glasses of water a day. If you have a sweet tooth, keep it under control. When the coke gang has assembled at soda fountains, close your eyes, walk right by.

Every night before bedtime, have a thorough face washing, fluffing up soap suds to a rich lather, pressing it into the flesh with your finger tips. Rinse away the suds, lay hot moist compresses over your face, then rinse with cold water, dry gently and apply witch hazel.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WHEN BIRTHDAY HOSTESS SAYS "NO GIFTS, PLEASE!"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I know that you advise that when some guests (not all) hand presents to the hostess at a party, the hostess should open them at once and say her thanks. And of course I agree with this, under most circumstances. But recently I had a special problem about this, and I would like to know if you approve of my not opening the presents. I wanted very much to have a few of my dearest friends come to have a buffet supper with me on my birthday. Since I have known this group many years, they knew it was my birthday, but I most definitely wanted no one not to bring me a birthday present, telling each one I had asked the others also not to bring presents. However, three out of the ten did bring presents, very important and expensive ones, and when these were handed their presents to me, I saw that the others were embarrassed. So I just thanked for "your kindness", and didn't open the presents.

Do you think I did the right thing, Mrs. Beeckman? — W.D.M.

Yes, under these circumstances, I certainly do. And I admire your quick tact! You made your request so definite to all the friends that all should have abided by it. If they particularly wanted to give you a present, it should have been sent to you beforehand. The ones who brought presents of course embarrassed those who didn't and I think you were alertly gracious but who would love to have her come to visit us. However, although Ken has not suggested our writing to her, it does seem to us it would be courteous and expected of me to tell her that we would like to have her come. Also, if I had a daughter (which unfortunately I haven't) I'd want to hear from the family of the boy my daughter was to visit. Will you give us your advice, please? — Ken's Mother

Your good point of view is completely right. You, as hostess of your home, should write to this girl, telling her how happy you and your husband are to welcome her to your home for the week-end (give definite dates of arrival and departure), also mentioning the plans for the dance and so forth. (Give her definite ones as to what clothes to bring.) If arrangements are to be made for meeting her train, tell her about this. And yes, indeed, write the girl's mother (or telephone her, if you wish) telling her about your invitation, the dance, and so forth. I know you realize how much this from mother-to-mother letter will please her, to know of your hospitality and to be assured of your friendly welcoming.

Out at home! With so many hard-hitting Little Leaguers like this in the clean-up position, it's no wonder more families run out of Kellogg's Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. But don't blame the boys. Same thing happens every day in every season, because Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste best to more people. Always have. Still do. That's why so many folks pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes any time they buy any cereal of any kind. Good idea, isn't it?

BOYS SCARE HORSE

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Clarence Pearsall of Gilead, drove into Wellington with a team of horses on a wagon which he tied up in the Friends Church shed. It is believed that several small boys playing around scared the horses causing them to back up and break their halters and make a getaway for home. Mr. Gerald Stoneburg passing by in his car as the team came out of the shed to main street raced ahead of them, hurried out of his car and jumped on the moving wagon, grabbing the reins he brought the scared horses to a stop before any damage had been done.

Miss Lyla Adams, of Campbellford, is spending some time with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams.

Little Elaine Smith, seven months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Yandt, who has been quite sick for the past two or three weeks, was taken to Kingston on Friday for a check up.

Congratulations to Mr. Ernest Tenksy and Miss Eleanor Lunn who were married Saturday evening at the rectory by Rev. Heaven.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Parks, Dorothy and Marlene spent the week-end in Detroit

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hubbs, of Western Ontario, are occupying one of the Stoneburgh cottages for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ogilvy and Donnie spent the week-end in Ottawa, guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Hirst and Billy

CHIMNEY FIRE

A few sights ago the fire truck was called out to a chimney fire and when the firemen arrived it was about out. Later on a few remarks was heard about bringing the fire truck out for such a small fire. Maybe the people who made those remarks don't realize that a small fire left unchecked is the beginning of a big fire which sometimes can't be checked.

MONTREAL STOCKYARDS BURN, 200 HOGS PERISH

After an hour of hopeless effort to save 200 hogs from death, firemen concentrated on saving buildings surrounding the Montreal stockyards. About 100 animals were saved by firemen who were sickened by the terrified screams of animals inside the building as they poured hundreds of tons of water on the old wooden structure. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000.—Central Press Canadian.

'I Can Get it for You Wholesale' Popular Slogan Among Dealers

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying officials is a growing habit with many American families in the present buyer's market.

Many manufacturers wink at the cutting of their regular retail list prices. Many others deplore it and fight it. "Fair trade" advocates see red at the mention of it.

"I can get it for you wholesale," long a popular slogan, is only one of many now.

Discount houses are at war with old-line stores in many cities in the United States. Buying clubs have spread through factories and government and industrial offices. Discounts, trade-in allowances, gifts and other sales come-ons characterize this year's auto market. Occasional price wars are seen in many lines.

SIGNIFICANT FEATURE

Even President Eisenhower, in his mid-year report on the American economy, took note of "discounts, concessions, bargain sales, Etc., that have been a significant feature of recent markets." He cited them in his contention that "the value of the people's money has remained entirely intact."

Discount houses have been the chief complaint of other retailers of late. These inflation-born houses slash the usual retail mark-ups to sell goods below list prices. Objecting manufacturers say this cheapens their product in the public's eye.

At first the older stores fought the discount houses by stressing the services and conveniences the regular ones offer. But of late a few have been meeting the competition by slashing profit margins themselves, although usually in the traditional guise of clearances of inventories.

One big chain-store official, however, predicts that a downward trend in mark-ups or major appliances and electric housewares is in the making.

Surrenders to Police

TORONTO (CP)—John Willett, 21, of Black Cape, Que., was charged Wednesday with assault with intent to rob after he walked into a police station and surrendered.

The surrender came as police looked for two men who assaulted and tried to rob candy store owner Harry Winfield last Tuesday.

Legion 'Boiling' Over Treatment

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Men of the Duchess of Kent branch of the Canadian Legion are boiling.

The branch, only one in Canada with the duchess as patroness, had hoped they would meet her during her visit to Canada when it was announced she would visit London.

And now, they claim, they have been left out of things.

"All we want is to be present on the station platform," J. C. Herman, Legion secretary said today. "But the powers that be turned thumbs down.

"We wrote several letters to Ottawa where apparently the visit is being planned and they practically ignored us."

He said the men are "mad" at the attitude officials are taking towards their request and will not be put off "without a fight."

Scoharie

SCOHARIE — Mr. and Mrs. Morley Ireland received the sad news last week of the death of a nephew, Mr. Sly, of Desemonto. This young man was only 23 years of age, and had been in a car accident about two weeks ago, and was thought to be recovering nicely, when he passed away suddenly. Sympathy is extended to the relatives.

Autumn is creeping up with shorter days, grain practically all harvested, tomatoes ripening.

Mr. Ed. Leavitt, a former resident, passed away Sunday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ray Young, Picton. Sympathy is extended to all relatives. Many from this community attended the funeral on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Don Jandrew and Brenda spent Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stone.

Mrs. Ronald Foster and Rhonda spent several days last week at Outlet Camp, Lansdowne.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Knight and family have moved to Greenbush to reside.

Canadian Milk Production Showed Good Gain Last Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Dairy farmers pocketed a peak $413,000,000 in cash income last year as Canadian consumers ate increased foodness for the cow and her healthgiving products.

The average Canadian consumed 314.85 pints of fluid milk and cream, 1.34 gallons of ice cream, 20.88 pounds of butter, 6.03 pounds of cheese and 20.78 pounds of concentrated whole milk products, the bureau of statistics estimated today.

Total milk production last year climbed to 16,424,000,000 pounds, up from 15,734,000,000 in 1952. Of this 15,112,000,000 pounds, up from 14,650,000,000 in 1952, were used in the dairy trade.

With sales increasing, farm cash income from dairying rose to $413,227,000 last year from $398,908,000 in 1952. Almost half of this income came from sales of fluid milk which rose to $207,058,000 from $199,760,000. Another big seller was butter fat which increased to $161,719,000 from $152,803,000.

Little Benny's Note Book

It rained cats and dogs and bobkits late this afternoon, and I got home as wet as I've ever been, and maybe wetter, and pop said, Well this is indeed a pizen, at last I've met the fabled boy who doesn't know enough to come in out of the rain. May I have the honor of your autograph, or perhaps even one or 2 drops from your famous garments? he said.

Well jimminy roosalem, pop, it didn't start coming down till us fellows were half ways home, so I was actually on the way when the rain started, I said, and pop said, For Feet sake, you had enough warning to get home from darkest Africka. The thunder had been rumbling and booming and banging for at least a half hour. How far away were you, 3 miles? he said.

No Sir, I said, and pop said, 2 miles?

No sir, I said, and pop said, How many miles?

No miles, I said. G, pop, heck, You wouldn't of wanted me to be a coward, would you?

Yes pop, what in the name of Noah's ark and all the little arks has that got to do with it? pop said, and I said, Well jimminies, pop, we were all over in the pasture lot when the sky got all shades of black.

And you were so startled you all set off in the wrong direction, pop said, and I said, No sir, Skinny Martin started to walk home as slow as a snale, and he claimed anybody that walked any faster was a yellow chickin.

Well, that's seriouly diffrent, unless it's just exactly the same, pop said. Now run up and change from wet to dry from inside out, he said.

Which I did.

RYLSTONE

Fine Number Attends 5th Band Concert

RYLSTONE.—The fifth open-air concert at Crowe River Bridge picnic grounds was held on Sunday night with the largest crowd assembled, that has been in attendances at any of the previous concerts. The Rylstone community was responsible for the program. Mrs. Wilfred Spencer, Institute president, and Mr. Bourne, picnic grounds operator, welcomed the crowd, as usual, and Mrs. Geo. Kerr, convener for community activities of Rylstone Women's Institute, announced the items of the following program: theme song, "Church in the Wildwood," vocal and instrumental duet, "One by One," with electric guitar and accordion accompaniment by Linda Sine and Shirley Strickwerda, all of Sine with accordion accompaniment by Linda Sine, "I Don't Feel at Home in This World Anymore," encore, "I'm Nobody's Child"; vocal and electric guitar solo, "It Is No Secret," by Freddie Spencer; group singing, Seniors led by Mr. Thomas Fry and Mrs. Roy Fry, "Sweet Bye and Bye"; Intermediates, led by Mrs. Jim Stewart, "Home on the Range"; juniors led by Lois and Norma Tinney, "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall"; several selections by Sentinel Bagpipe Band.

Vocal duet by Clare Windover, of Norham, and Margaret Spencer, Rylstone, "Old Rugged Cross" with guitar and accordion accompaniment by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spencer, encore, "In The Garden"; vocal trio by Arnold, Lalubelle and Brenda Matthews, "Now The Day is Over", encore, "O Wonderful the King"; piano accordion solo, "Nearer My God to Thee," by Linda Sine; bagpipe solo, by Don Baldwin, of Campbellford; vocal trio, "In My Heart There Rings a Lullaby," by Patsy Wallace, Glen and Craig Watson of Wellman's Corners, encore, "Yes, There's a Mansion Just Over the Hill-Top"; accordion solo, "Maid of Spain" by Gladys Clarke, of Holloway, encore, "Lady of Spain"; vocal and guitar duet, by Marion and Shirley Broadworth, "The Loveless Mansion on the Hill".

Several selections were given by the Sentinel Pipe Band.

The time of the concert next week, Sunday, August 22, will be 7:45 p.m., as the evenings are getting much shorter, than they were a month ago. Campbellford Pipe Band will be in attendance, and Seymour East Women's Institute will be responsible for gathering the numbers for the program.

RYLSTONE.— Clare Windover, of Norham and Toronto, has returned home after spending the past few days with Margaret Spencer.

Mental Health of Employees Most Important to Industry

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The civil servant with his sleeve received sympathy Wednesday.

Dr. Frank A. Calderone, United Nations health official, in a paper delivered at the fifth International Congress on Mental Health, called on government administrations to recognize the fact that the mental health of their employees was as important as their physical well-being.

"In business and in industry, they are beginning to learn about human beings . . . they know that if sick leave can be reduced, it means dollars and cents to the organization. They know that if tensions are reduced, it means better parts, more parts, less discards. . . .

"All of this makes sense to industry . . . why shouldn't this make sense in government?"

Perhaps it was because there is no true measuring rod on production by civil servants, or fact what profit is in the eyes of the administrator, he said.

Administrators must become aware that any "profit" in ideas they are making are phantom profits so long as they are at the expense of the workers who produce.

"Gastric and duodenal ulcers, allergies, skin conditions . . . and the whole long list of neuroses and maladies—these are the hidden costs being paid by the workers themselves."

Dr. Calderone called for a team effort by the medical officer, psychiatrist and administrator to operate a mental health program in government.

Dr. T. P. Rees of Warlingham, Surrey, Eng., made a plea for a more sensible approach to the mentally ill.

"Many people are made more dangerous by being placed behind locked doors and windows. Remove those locked doors and windows and you will find that the patient can more or less be treated as an ordinary sick citizen."

He said some institutions boast about the number of beds in their hospitals but give little thought to the improvement of their curative techniques.

Dr. Rees said it was most debatable that public health workers should spend some time working with the mentally ill, and that mental hospital workers approach the public health field, particularly the general practitioner and public health nurse.

Canada, in Note on Seaway, Reserves Right to Build Parallel Link Near Cornwall

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The long-awaited St. Lawrence seaway will be mostly an all-Canadian venture with the exception of an important four-mile stretch of canals and locks on the American side of the International Rapids section.

But even in this part—the Barnhart Island area southwest of Cornwall, Ont.—the Canadian government reserves the right to build a parallel Canadian lock if Canada and the United States find they cannot get along in seaway operations.

The Canadian government, in an exchange of notes with the U.S. made public Wednesday, agreed to let the U.S. build the four-mile, $70,000,000 link at Barnhart and also do $2,000,000 worth of dredging in the scenic Thousand Islands section.

But the International rapids section will not be left to the U.S. alone. The Canadian note, signed by External Affairs Minister Pearson, declared that Canada will immediately begin a 4,000-foot, $14,000,000 canal and lock on the Canadian side at Iroquois, Ont., about 27 miles up-river from Cornwall.

The external affairs department said in a press statement, which was amplified at a press conference called by Mr. Pearson, that the U.S. also has been committed by Congress to build a canal on the American side near Iroquois. But Mr. Pearson expressed the hope that the U.S. "may consequently decide not to proceed with this work at this time."

The $300,000,000 27-foot seaway, providing a water lane for ocean-going ships from Montreal to Lake Erie, is to proceed immediately, dovetailed with the $620,000,000 Ontario-New York power project which has already started. The seaway is to be completed by the end of 1958.

Still to be decided between Canada and the U.S. is the question of tolls and methods of easing border restrictions on the movement of labor and materials. Discussions for easing labor-material curbs now are under way, but the ironing out the tolls issue may take some time.

Mr. Pearson said that if each country decides to impose its own tolls, there will be no administrative problem. But if the decision is made to administer tolls jointly, then Canada will insist on a larger share of the charges because of her heavier investment in the seaway.

On the current division of works, the U.S. will spend about $72,000,000 on at best the $103,000,000 set aside by Congress for the job. But Canada's outlay will amount to $190,000,000 or more.

At Lachine, Que., canals, locks and channel enlargements will cost about $122,000,000; locks in the Soulanges area, a few miles up river from Montreal will cost another $47,000,000; dredging of lake St. Louis below Valleyfield, Que., and Cornwall will cost about $4,800,000; the Iroquois canal, $14,000,000; and another $2,000,000 will go for deepening of the Welland canal.

Canada, for some years, had wanted to build the seaway as a completely Canadian project. Two years ago the U.S. agreed to let Canada go ahead if Congress continued to block American participation in the scheme. However, last May Congress finally agreed to let the U.S. get into the seaway and allocated $105,000,000. That shattered hopes of an all-Canadian project—for the present at least.

The Canadian government agreed in its note Wednesday to be relieved of obligations to build navigational works in the Barnhart and Thousand Islands' area.

But it reserved the right to build on the Canadian side there also if increased traffic warrants such construction or if there is "unwarranted or unreasonable interference with, or delays to, Canadian shipping." Mr. Pearson expressed the hope and expectation that such delays will not materialize.

The Canadian note said both governments recognize the "great importance" of the seaway to Canada and agree to do their best endeavors to avoid placing unreasonable restrictions on the traffic of passengers, shipping or trade in the international section."

The two governments also will consult before either enacts laws or regulations affecting shipping in the international sector.

With respect to laws now in force, either government can ask for consultation on these laws and the other government must accede to the requests.

Kitchener Man May Have Shot Police Officer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—State police obtained pictures of a Kitchener, Ont., man wanted here in connection with the 1952 murder of a Buffalo jeweller and said they would be used in the search for a man who shot and fatally wounded a Lake Placid police officer Aug. 4.

Pictures and descriptions of Ralph J. Grubisich, 30, were obtained from the Buffalo police by police at the Athol Springs substation.

Police said the pictures would be shown to burglary victims at Lake Placid, where a burglary suspect shot and wounded the officer.

Police officers when he was surprised burglarizing a cottage.

Patrolman Richard Stevens died in a hospital Aug. 12. Two other patrolmen, Dominick Viscuso and J. Bernard Fell, were reported improving Wednesday.

Police in Lake Placid said Wednesday night, however, that they still do not know the identity of the man being sought there and that they were interested in all fugitives.

Grubisich is wanted here in connection with the slaying of Donald F. Hurd, killed in his store during an armed robbery by three men Dec. 9, 1952.

The other two men, captured and convicted of the murder—Walter Griffin and Maurice O'Dell—were sentenced Jan. 7 to Sing Sing prison. Both were from Hamilton, Ont.

MAKE NEW PROPOSAL

LONDON (AP) — The United States has asked Britain to take over its compensation demands against Red China for the six Americans killed and wounded in the British airliner shot down July 23 near Hainan island, official sources said tonight. Informants said Washington has proposed that Britain lump its own compensation claims with those of the United States and present them to the Chinese Communists.

Veteran Italian Statesman Dies Of Heart Attack

SELLA VAL SUGANA, Italy (AP)—Alcide de Gasperi, the lean old statesman who led Italy out of post-war chaos and onto the path of democracy, died today of a heart attack.

Death came to the former premier as he rested here in his north Italy mountain retreat, far from Rome and the political wars in which he had battled without respite for nearly a decade.

Italy's mourning for the cause of European union of one of its staunchest supporters. It la ly's struggle against communism and one of its hardest fighters.

Although it was known the 72-year-old leader's health was failing, there had been no public hint he was seriously ill. Only after his death was it revealed that he suffered a heart attack a week ago. His condition was not considered critical until Tuesday, when the heart pains became more intense.

He suffered another attack at 2 a.m. today and died an hour later after still another seizure. His family was at his bedside.

De Gasperi had stepped down from the titular leadership of his pro - Western, middle-of-the-road Christian Democracy Party, Italy's largest, a little more than a month ago.

He ended his 7½ years as head of the Italian government in July, 1953, after losing a confidence vote in Parliament. But his party supplied succeeding cabinets and the protege of de Gasperi, former interior minister Mario Scelba, now holds the premiership.

BRINGS NEWS OF DEATH

A messenger brought the news of the death before dawn to Scelba and the premier hurried from his own vacation spot, Fluggi, to the scene of the death of his old mentor.

Known in the troublesome early days of the Italian republic as the master of political compromise, de Gasperi changed later to become a foe of communism.

The tall, hawk-faced leader first became premier in December, 1945, because he was leader of Italy's biggest party. A noted anti-Fascist leader, and often by Mussolini, he had served since the previous April as foreign minister.

In his first two years as premier he tried to work with his nation's Communists and fellow travelling Socialists, but in the spring of 1947 abandoned the effort and in the 1948 elections inflicted a smashing defeat on the Reds.

For five years after that de Gasperi fought the Reds at every turn, battling to keep his nation closely allied with the anti-Communist West, pushing the cause of European unity.

Two Men Dead After Car Crash

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Oswald Saunders, 41, of Carleton Place, Ont., died in hospital early today of injuries suffered in a motor accident which claimed one other life Wednesday night.

Saunders suffered critical injuries when an automobile in which he was a passenger left the highway four miles west of this town, 35 miles southwest of Ottawa. William Porterfield, 73, also of Carleton Place died in the wreck.

Provincial Const. Paul Smiths Falls, the driver, and three other passengers were injured, none seriously.

Polio Appears in Sharp Decline Across Most of Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Poliomyelitis, the scourge that attacks both young and old with crippling and sometimes fatal results, appears in sharp decline across most of Canada this year. Most dramatic drops are in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario.

A Canadian Press survey shows that only a quarter as many Canadians have been stricken with the disease this year as in 1953. In Ontario and Saskatchewan, the incidence so far is only a 10th as great.

Other provinces showing sharp declines are New Brunswick and British Columbia.

Last year poliomyelitis reached a record high across Canada with 8,724 cases, 83.7 per cent higher than 1952.

National estimates to date this year show about 500 have been stricken with 40 dead. At this time last year 2,000 had contracted the disease and 100 had died.

Some medical men hold the theory that polio strikes in cycles, which would help explain the up-and-down figures. However an official of the Ontario department of health said the reason for this year's decline is a mystery. A Saskatchewan official said he believed the decline there might be due to people building up resistance to the disease.

The theory is that during a high incidence year, immunity is developed that protects a person for the next year or so. Ontario's polio rate last year was the second highest on record, higher only in 1937.

The number of cases by provinces, with the comparative figures for the same period last year: Prince Edward Island, 15 (2); Nova Scotia, 5 (3), New Brunswick, 5 (33), Quebec, 53 (69), Ontario, 77 (782), Manitoba 77 (603), Saskatchewan, 38 (354), Alberta, 206 (158) and British Columbia, 42 (240).

Arrest Four Brooklyn Youths Who Enjoyed Seeing Victims' Blood Flow

NEW YORK (AP)—Four youths, authorities said "got a kick out of seeing blood flow", Wednesday were charged with prowling Brooklyn parks at night and wantonly torturing animals and other victims. At least two persons were slain, authorities said.

Brooklyn district attorney Edward R. Silver said Tuesday the youths admitted beating and kicking a man to death, horsewhipping teen-age girls and torturing a pregnant and throwing him into the river.

JUST FOR THRILLS

Silver said the youths, ranging from 16 to 18 years of age, apparently had no reason for the crimes except the thrill they got.

Two were charged with murder, with Manslaughter charges against a fourth, because of his age, with juvenile delinquency.

The four were nabbed early Tuesday after a passerby told police he had just seen four boys beat a man in a park. They confessed to the crimes after all-day questioning, Silver said.

Charged with homicide were Alfred Kittman and Jerome Koslow, both 17.

Silver quoted Koslow as saying he has "an abstract hatred for bums—I despise them."

"Last night was a supreme adventure for me."

BURIED ELSEWHERE

WINNIPEG (CP) — A drop in business at Brookside cemetery has been blamed on the state of road approaches to the city-owned burying place. Alderman Maude McCreary warned finance committee that "people are getting buried elsewhere."

USEFUL LABOR

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—The Chamber of Commerce, concerned for this city's reputation as a haven for hay fever sufferers, organized a children's ragweed picking contest which resulted in piles the size of "ot dogs" contacts" deposited at the playgrounds.

ROYAL FUNERAL FOR PEARLY KING

Some of the 50 pearly kings who attended the funeral of Jack Marriott, London's paramount pearly king, are shown flanking the hearse as it left St. Phillips church en route to the cemetery. The pearly coat and cap of the late "King" were laid on his coffin. They contained 30,000 pearl buttons. (Central Press Canadian).

Army-McCarthy Verdict Delayed By Verbiage

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate investigations involving Senator Joseph McCarthy were threatened with delays today, but apparently not because of disputes over the controversial Wisconsin Republican.

Leaders of both Senate groups said the stumbling block was unexpectedly difficult work.

The Senate investigations subcommittee which conducted the 36 days of McCarthy-army hearings just about gave up hope of reaching a verdict by the end of this week, the date chairman Karl Mundt (Rep.-SD) had set for a wind-up.

And a special Senate committee headed by Sen. Arthur Watkins (Rep.-Utah) to study a proposed resolution of censure against McCarthy indicated it may have to postpone the start of public hearings beyond the scheduled premiere Aug. 30.

Mundt said in an interview he still sees some hope of getting out a verdict by Saturday.

SEE TUESDAY FINISH

But Senators Henry N. Jackson (Dem.-Wash.) and Everett Dirksen (Rep.-Ill.), assigned by the other five sub-committee members to write a tentative draft report, expressed no such confidence.

Jackson told reporters he doubts the job can be finished before Tuesday.

Dirksen said one delaying factor has been that the 2,000,000 word official record of the McCarthy-army hearings consists of "about two thick surplusages — testimony entirely irrelevant to the charges."

At issue were accusations by Army Secretary Robert Stevens and army counselor John C. Adams that McCarthy and Roy Cohn, then chief counsel to the investigations sub-committee, had exerted improper pressures in efforts to get special favors for Pte. G. David Schine, a former sub-committee staff aide. McCarthy and Cohn in turn accused Stevens and Adams of using blackmail tactics in an effort to halt McCarthy's search for Reds in the army.

Metro Executive Committee Under Fire by Paper

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail today quotes "a highly-placed source at Queen's Park" as stating the executive committee of the Toronto metropolitan council, and the actions it has taken, are without legal foundation.

The source said the only reason the government has not taken action to halt the committee is that the department of municipal affairs has no police powers and it is up to ratepayers to initiate any move.

Metropolitan chairman Fred Gardiner commented on the story briefly:

"The Man who said that has got more guts in his pants than a dog has got fleas."

The newspaper's source said a clause in the provincial act setting up the council provided for "standing committees or other committees," but was not intended to include an executive committee with powers beyond those of regular standing committees.

Labor Congress Will Elect First New Head in Decade; Unemployment Major Problem

REGINA (CP)—Unemployment, public works programs and greater social security measures appear to be the major topics slated for discussion at the 69th convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada opening here Monday.

The 500,000-member TLC, oldest and largest of Canadian labor organizations, also will elect a new president at the week-long meeting to replace Percy Bengough, one-time machinist who has headed the group since 1943.

A wide-open fight for the job has been predicted with Claude Jodoin, head of Montreal garment workers and a TLC vice-president, mentioned as the strongest contender. He is reported to have good support in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia delegations which account for about 450 of the 660 members attending the convention and a considerable following among the 100-odd Prairie delegates.

The factor said to favor Mr. Jodoin is a tradition of alternating eastern and western presidents. Mr. Bengough came from British Columbia.

Other candidates considered likely successors are R. K. Gervin, Vancouver, a vice-president; A. F. McArthur, Toronto, and Gordon Cushing, general secretary-treasurer and former president of the Calgary and District Trades and Labor Council.

To meet the threat of unemployment, delegates are expected to call for a road-building scheme, increased housing construction and larger public works projects. Other probable topics are improved benefits under unemployment insurance, immigration and renewed efforts to unite farm and labor forces.

The convention will hear an appeal from the Fishermen's and Allied Workers' Union of British Columbia against its suspension from the congress.

Speakers include Labor Minister C. C. Williams of Saskatchewan, Premier Douglas and possibly Labor Minister Gregg. Fraternal delegates include R. G. Soderstrom a representative of the American Federation of Labor, and Tom O'Brien, a British member of Parliament and former president of the Trades and Union Congress of Britain. Officials of federal department of trade and labor also will attend.

Queen Elizabeth's 'Aunt Marina' Is Princess With a Broken Heart

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—The Duchess of Kent, "Aunt Marina" to Queen Elizabeth, this month achieves a life-long ambition—her first visit to Canada and the United States.

With Her Royal Highness Princess Alexandra, she flies Saturday to Quebec and will remain in Canada until Sept. 14, when they go to New York. They leave New York by ship Sept. 22 for home.

The duchess, at 47, still is high on the lists of the world's best-dressed women. She loves clothes, her travels and in friendships she has sought to hide the pangs in a broken heart.

She came to England in 1934, the duchess of Kent, youngest daughter of King George V. The princess had wooed his slender Greek princess in a Belgrade society party. The gossips called it a royal love match—and this time they were right.

FAIRY-TALE WEDDING

Their Westminster Abbey wedding was a fairy-tale affair. Europe could still muster more than a handful of crowned heads for the guest list.

The young prince and his bride, now the Duke and Duchess of Kent, seemed supremely happy. Soon a family came along—two boys and a girl. And then came the war.

The duke, his youngest son barely seven weeks old, was killed on active service with the Royal Air Force.

For months Marina plied. Finally, after a talk with Queen Mother Mary, the widowed duchess emerged from her mourning to take an ever-growing share of royal responsibility and an ever warmer place in British hearts.

RELATIVES ON OTHER SIDE

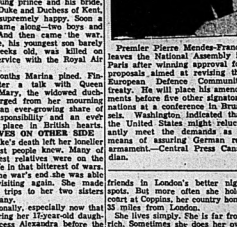
The duke's death left her lonelier than most people know. Many of her closest relatives were on the other side in that bitterest of wars.

With the war's end she was able to go visiting again. She made frequent trips to her two sisters in Germany.

Occasionally, especially now that she is bring her 17-year-old daughter Princess Alexandra before the world, the duchess meets her friends in London's better night spots. But more often she holds court at Coppins, her country home 35 miles from London.

There lives simply. She is far from rich. Sometimes she does her own shopping at the local village store.

REVISES EDC



Premier Pierre Mendes-France leaves the National Assembly in Paris after winning support for proposals aimed at revising the European Defence Community treaty. He will place his amendments before five other signatory nations at a conference in Brussels. Washington indicated that the United States might reluctantly meet the demands as a means of assuring German rearmament.—Central Press Canadian.

Minto

MINTO — Salem W.A. held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. J. R. and Lorne Hagerman last Thursday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Mayo, Mrs. Harold Holden presided over the meeting, opening with a poem and a hymn. Mrs. Holden expressed a welcome to visitors and especially to Mrs. Hagerwaard.

Some business was discussed and Mrs. Delbert Sine offered her home for a quilting during the next week.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. D. Sine.

Mrs. Bert Heagle read the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. Frank McGee gave a talk based on the lesson. Duets were rendered by Marian and Shirley Broadworth and Gail Sine and Shirley Broadworth. Miss Linda Sine rendered two accordion selections.

Mrs. Hagerwaard gave an interesting talk on their work in the mission fields where they had served for eight years. This talk was made more informative by the showing of several pictures which the speaker explained.

Mrs. Murney Johnson expressed thanks to the speaker and all who helped on the program and also to the hostess.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served.

Faith Healer Pleads Guilty To Malpractice

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) William Eugene Ford, 45-year-old faith healer, Wednesday pleaded guilty to practising medicine without a licence. His followers were excluded from the trial.

The former Liverpool, N.S., man also pleaded guilty to having liquor not purchased on his permit. He was fined $100 on each count.

Scores of Ford's former "patients" crowded the narrow corridor outside the courtroom while Ford conducted his own defence.

The crown produced "medicines" seized from Ford's hotel room. Constable Orval Waito produced a bottle of colored stones which Ford claimed before witnesses to be kidney stones removed from human bodies. The constable said a report showed them to be pieces of alum and resin colored brown, green and purple. He also produced cold creams and a bottle of red soda pop.

Ford said in a recent interview the secret of his "cures" lay in "the heat of my hands." He said he rubbed people's backs and shoulders.

He denied diagnosing cases of cancer and polio.

Ford was convicted of a similar offence in Wiarton, Ont., more than two years ago.

Denied Hearing Before Board

TORONTO (CP)—A deputation seeking continued rent controls was denied a hearing before board of control Wednesday by Mayor Leslie Saunders.

The group, comprising members of the Tenant-Ratepayers Association, waited almost six hours but were turned down when the mayor said no deputations not on the agenda would be seen.

Earlier controller Ford Brand said the city would set up a "standby" system to deal with any rent gouging by landlords after the city's rent controls expire Sept. 2.

Nine of the necessary 12 members of council have signed a petition to re-open the whole question. Ald. William Probert said.

Worth Remembering

Nine-pin bowling was a popular game with the first Dutch settlers in New York. Gambling on the game became so heavy, however, that authorities barred "Nine-pins." To outwit the law a tenth pin was added, and 10-pin bowling has flourished to this day. Another unusual sports fact worth remembering.

Christian Unity Efforts Renewed At Illinois Meet

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Representatives of 190,000,000 Christians have renewed their efforts to carry out Jesus Christ's prayer "that they may all be one."

Hopes for a closer union of Christ's followers were expressed before leaders of 163 denominations from 48 countries at the meeting of the World Council of Churches.

Keynote speeches on the unity phase of the sessions were made Tuesday night. Clergymen of four denominations from four countries spoke.

All voiced hope for a stronger and larger alliance of Christians.

They laid the groundwork for discussions of the subject during later sessions of the gathering.

RECALLS CHRIST'S PRAYER

Bishop Anders Nygren of the Church of Sweden recalled Christ's prayer to his Father not long before his crucifixion. The bishop said:

"Jesus prayed 'that they may all be one.'

"One must now take that prayer seriously, that Jesus shall not have prayed in vain."

Canon O. S. Tomkins of the Church of England mentioned differences over such things as a definition of unity, but said:

"It may be that, by every standard of human achievement, the unity of the church is an impossible task and to think of it is an idle dream. But we are not limited to human achievements. Christ has made us his own—and he is not divided."

Minister Did Not Know He Had Been in Moscow

REGINA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner didn't know he was in Russia, as reported erroneously by Moscow radio, until he heard it on his car radio while driving from Saskatoon to his farm home at Lemberg, Sask.

Chuckled the cabinet minister: "I had been up north for a few days, fishing at Lac la Ronge, but I had no idea I'd got as far north as Moscow."

The Russians, usually more accurate in their intelligence concerning Western government leaders, Monday night quoted the Canadian minister as saying after a visit to Moscow's Agricultural Exhibition Monday that he had "conclusive evidence that Soviet and Canadian scientists need the exchange of scientific information."

The report, heard in London by Reuters news agency and carried in Canada by The Canadian Press, caused some wonderment in Ottawa.

Apparently the Russians had confused the agriculture minister with someone on a delegation from his department which is currently visiting the Russian exhibition. The Canadian agriculture party is made up of R. J. Claxton, vice-chairman of the agricultural prices support board; Dr. F. F. Hanna, chief of the botany and plant division of the science service; and Dr. Orland Hall, assistant veterinary director.

Never Before Has Canada Had So Much Grain

OTTAWA (CP)—There's never been so much grain for sale in Canada.

The bureau of statistics Tuesday estimated the total 1954 carryover of wheat, oats, barley, rye and flaxseed at a record 878,800,000 more than 1½ times the 1945-53 average of 534,800,000.

But it's the wheat that's worrisome. There hasn't been so much in the elevators and on the farms in 11 years.

The bureau estimated that on July 31, there were 587,487,000 bushels on farms and in elevators. That's triple the 184,600,000-bushel average for wheat carryovers since 1944 and just 7,100,000 below the record wartime surplus of 594,600,000 in 1943.

The estimated 1954 crop is 513,000,000 bushels. Put them together and there's the prospect of 1,100,000,000 bushels to dispose of this year on a tight world wheat market.

The wheat surplus, carried over to the 1954 crop year which began Aug. 1, poses a critical disposal problem all by itself, but unsold rye, barley and oats have collected in record and near-record stocks, too.

The 1954 wheat carryover compares with stocks of 362,200,000 bushels unsold on July 31 last year and 217,200,000 in 1952. The total 1953 crop was 614,000,000 bushels, just 26,500,000 more than the carryover.

Northern Electric Ties Cementmen In Fifth Game O.A.S.A. Playoffs

(BY GARRY ALEXANDER)

Scoring all their runs in the first four innings, Northern Electric overcame a 6-1 deficit last night to hold the Point Anne Cementmen to a ten-inning 7-7 deadlock in the fifth game of a best-of-seven series to decide their qualification in the OASA playdowns.

The Pointers took a 3-0 lead in the initial frame, added another run in the fifth and notched a pair in the sixth for a 6-1 lead. Northern started with a single, ten in the sixth, but netted two more in each of the next three innings for a 7-6 edge. The Elliott-Loft coached crew came up with the tying marker in the bottom of the ninth, while neither team could score in the tenth.

Glenn Young started the Northerners on the comeback trail in the sixth when he singled Whitling home from second after a walk. They began to hit Bobby Hunter in the next frame when Vern Goyer led off with a sharp single and Doug Bolte followed suit. Pinch-hitting Harry DeRuhle drove Vern home and Whitling drew a walk to load the sacks with Young stepping in to bat. His mate promptly cleared the second straight single and a 6-3 score.

COUSINS HITS DOUBLE

Two were out when Earle Cousins doubled to open the eighth-inning rally, but Don Locke sent him home with a single and DeRuhle slapped one off Hunter's knee. Hunter picked the ball up but threw wild to first with Locke racing all the way home. Pat Maracle came on to relieve the injured Hunter and fanned Boyle after Whitling's harmless single.

Doug Soules beat out a bunt in the ninth to represent the tying marker and Roger Mallory dropped Stradchuk's long fly ball, with Soules taking third. Vern Goyer drew an intentional pass to fill the sacks but Cousins reached first and the lead runner scored on a too-late play at home off Cousins' grounder. Locke lifted a long fly for the second out with Batchelor scoring after the catch to climax the up-hill battle. Doug Hull spaced a beckhander for the third out.

Pat Maracle doubled in the ninth with Jackie Wardbaugh slashing a single to right field for an 7-7 score, while a beautiful running catch by Jake Wade prevented Northern from scoring in the frame.

Errors proved costly in the first frame when Wardbaugh tripled and came all the way on Cousins' hook. Two more infield errors, plus John Green's single netted the other pair.

FAIR IN SIXTH

Roger Mallory's double was preceded by Doug Hull's base hit in the fifth for a single tally, while Bob Strahan squeezed a double between singles off the bats of Wade and Hunter for a pair in the sixth.

Jim Carson started for the Belleville nine, giving up six runs off nine hits in 6⅔ innings. Don Boyle completed the fixture, allowing a single run on three hits. Pat Maracle fanned a pair while Boyle whiffed one, walked one and hit another.

Bob Hunter was touched for five tallies in 7⅓ frames as he struck out four and walked two. Maracle gave up two hits for the remainder of the route, whiffing one and walking a pair.

JDon 'Snuffer' Locke and Glenn Young each collected a pair of singles for Northern while Cousins and Locke, Soules, Batchelor, De Goyer, Soules, Batchelor, De Ruhle and Whiting.

The line-up:

Northern Electric — Young, Carr, Soules, Batchelor, V. Goyer, Cousins, Locke, Bunton, DeRuhle and Whiting.

Point Anne—Wardbaugh, Hull, Mallory, Green, Wade, D. Goyer, Sero, W. Strahan, Elliott, Gilmour, R. Strahan, Hunter, Maracle.

Athletes Must Attend Clinic

TORONTO (CP)—George Duthie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition, said Wednesday night that athletes who do not attend the Olympic Training Plan clinic at the CNE this year won't be eligible for the interprovincial track and field championships.

The OTP will be held Aug. 30 to Sept. 3, preceding the interprovincial track and field championships, which will be Sept. 4-6.

The 10 Canadian provinces will send 250 athletes to the clinic, to be conducted by Bruins Hamilton of the University of Southern California, the United States Olympic coach. He will be assisted by Ken Doherty of Pennsylvania and Hal Brown of the University of Toronto.

Als Release Two Players

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal Alouettes Wednesday night released quarterback Al Dekdebrun and tackle Marv Meirowitz after the other three teams in the Big four passed down Montreal's attempt to have Meirowitz classed as an outright import.

Both Dekdebrun and Meirowitz were classed as "Canadianized American"—players who have been in Canadian football for five or more seasons. Each team is allowed to keep only three men in this classification.

The Alouettes retained halfback Virgil Wagner and linemen Herb Trawick and Ray Cicia. Wagner and Trawick are in their ninth season with the team and Cicia his fourth.

SPORT IN BRIEF

IMPERIALS WORK OUT

SARNIA (CP) — Two thousand football fans saw the Imperials of the senior OHFU play an intersquad game Wednesday night. Coach Trip Trepanier's Blues got two touchdowns in the second half to defeat coach Bill Danylchuk's Whites 23-12. The Imperials begin league play here next Wednesday against Kitchener-Waterloo.

Batas Meet Oaks In VOBL Playoff

Jack Carson, manager of the Belleville Batas, local entry in the Victoria-Dominion Baseball League, announced today that his team will meet the Oakville Oaks in the semi-final playdowns.

Oakville was assured of fourth place and the final playoff berth last night when their nearest rivals, Peterborough, dropped an 11-5 decision to the Toronto Hoskings Burners in the Liftlock city.

The Batas will trek to Oakville on Saturday of this week for the first game in a best-of-three series with the return game here on Tuesday evening. If a third game is necessary it will be played in Belleville on Saturday, August 28th.

Minor Baseball

A one-hit pitching effort by David Poirier gave Vaughan's bantams a 5-1 decision over C.N.R. last night to tie the series at one game each. This is the final series for the city championship.

Pat Aselitine's initial-inning single was the only safe blow given up by Poirier.

Terry Belanger led the winners at bat with a double and single in two trips while the other hits went to Poirier, Brennan, Lessels and Goyer.

MUSICIAN BRANDED TRAITOR

VIENNA (AP)—Communist Poland's composers have put the "traitor" tag on Andrzej Panufnik, Polish musician who recently followed his British wife to Western freedom. The Warsaw newspaper Zycie Warszawy reaching here said the Polish composer union has decided to drop Panufnik from its ranks as "a traitor to the Polish people."

Frankford Whips Trenton 10-3, Meets Picton Next

FRANKFORD (Special)—Doug Radner's batting fireball eliminated Trenton last night at the Frankford Merchants took a 10-3 decision in Trenton to avenge the intermediate "B" OASA first round playdown loss in two games.

The bolo-throwing Radner set 11 down on strikes as he hurled a nine-inning two-hitter. One of his best games among many this season. He was actually behind 3-1 until the eighth inning when his mates exploded for eight runs. They added another in the ninth. Trenton notched all its tallies in the sixth frame to wipe out a single Frankford run.

Madson hurled the first three innings for Trenton, fanning nary a one while walking one. Rosenplott came on in the fourth and was touched for the winning runs while whiffing 11 and walking the same number.

Gilmour was best with the bat for the victors, banging a double and single while Jim Rankin, Radner and Austin also hit safely. Semain and Vanzwinker each claimed a triple in defeat.

Frankford will advance into the second round of the playoffs providing the opposition. The first game will be played at Picton on Monday with the return fixture on Wednesday.

Booth Pee Wees Win City Title

Leo Culhane's Booth's T.V.'s captured the Ralleton Brubvan trophy, emblematic of the city pee-wee softball championship last night for the second consecutive year and for the third time in four years at the expense of the hard-hitting Bland's Sports' an 8-4 defeat.

These two teams ended the regular schedule in a tie for first position, forcing a best-of-three playoff series. Bland's took the first decision and last year's champs came back to take the next two. They will now wait while the Intermediate "B" boys play off, and then clash with the winner for the right to represent Belleville in the OASA playdowns.

Hoole and Duggan were the winning battery with Hook hurling a neat four-hitter in seven innings. He whiffed three. Till and Pointer did the throwing and receiving for Bland's with Till being touched for seven safe blows.

Dave paced the winners with the hickory, slashing out a triple and single while Skinner followed close behind with a double and single. Latchford had a six-inning burner with none on base for Bland's.

It was reported that this was one of the fastest minor softball games played this season with only seven batters taking turns than one hour. There were very few errors.

Boxing Manager Files Suit Against Gavilan

NEW YORK (AP)—Boxing manager George Gilchrist has filed suit in Supreme Court for $150,000 against Kid Gavilan claiming that his "advice and counsel" helped make the Cuban become the world welterweight champion. Details of the action became known Wednesday.

Gilchrist, who once managed former welterweight and middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson, said he was contracted in 1947 to advise, counsel and create bookings for Kid Gavilan for 25 per cent of the fighter's earnings. Robinson was welterweight champion at the time.

He said he lived up to the terms of the agreement and "through the efforts of plaintiff and by reason of his advice and counsel," Gavilan won the welterweight crown and earned approximately $1,500,000. Gilchrist said that he never has been paid nor given an accounting.

Gavilan entered a general denial.

Olson Predicts He Will Beat Rocky Castellani

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — This may not "stop the presses" stuff but it is news when middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson makes an outright prediction.

In a question-and-answer interview that was practically prized out of the 160-pound kingpin, he said he expected to beat the No. one challenger, Rocky Castellani, in their 15-round title fight Friday night.

Olson's unwillingness to speculate on the outcome of any of his bouts is well known. But he decided to loosen up.

"I expect to beat Castellani. I have trained hard and I have trained for a 15-round fight," Bobo said.

GOOD NEWS FOR U.S. TAXPAYERS

President Eisenhower puts a lot of expression in his face as he puts his signature to the revenue revision bill which gives $1,365,000,000 tax relief to U.S. citizens. The bill was designed to wipe out inequities in the existing tax structure though it did not give a decrease in income tax to all U.S. taxpayers.—Central Press Canadian.

In Regina, Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said he had no comment on Wednesday's rail developments. Other national labor leaders had nothing to say immediately, either, on the arbitration decision.

Railway-union officials resumed negotiations here Monday at the request of Mr. St. Laurent after they had been broken off at an impasse last June.

minister's office, recommended to the committee that it accept arbitration voluntarily rather than have Parliament impose it, as appeared in prospect.

Mr. Hall said his resignation was a protest against the inevitability of compulsory arbitration in the light of statements by Mr. St. Laurent. He did not resign his post as chairman of the policy-making 100-man general conference committee.

A few minutes after Mr. Hall left, the committee accepted a recommendation and told the prime minister of its decision.

Mr. St. Laurent, after announcing that negotiations were off, said the cabinet would consider what should be done "to justify my conviction that there isn't going to be a strike."

It was an obvious declaration that Parliament would be called on for no-strike legislation. Mr. Hall resigned almost immediately.

The cabinet took no action at the meeting Wednesday except to authorize Labor Minister Gregg, who accompanied Mr. St. Laurent in his mediation attempts, to round out the parties at to procedure.

Had the deadlocked negotiations resulted in a strike, it would have been the second general rail strike in Canadian history. In 1950 the first walkout by the same group was settled when Parliament imposed compulsory arbitration at an emergency session called after the strike actually had started.

At the same time, unions sought a straight wage increase. This time their demands are for longer benefits of eight paid statutory holidays a year, 18 days a year sick leave with pay, longer paid annual vacations and higher overtime wages for Sunday work.

The big sticking point in the talks, informants said, was that of statutory holidays.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

The "pay-if-we-play policy" imposed on Peterborough and Belleville teams in the Viaduct-Ontario senior baseball league during the regular season by Toronto and Oshawa entries will continue during the playdowns. Not, however, after a lengthy argument.

Jack Carson, manager of the Bataa, and Peterborough's representative put up a strenuous argument against the travelling tab at a league meeting in Oshawa Monday night. The verbal battle lasted more than two hours before the two eastern clubs were faced with a "pay to play" ultimatum. As is fitting in a democracy, a vote was taken to break the stalemate. And, you guessed it, Belleville and Peterborough were outvoted.

Some people might think subsidizing Toronto ball teams a heady proposition but it has been a headache all year. The locals certainly have not had the better part of the arrangement. In addition to doing more travelling than their Toronto opponents, they committed themselves to afternoon-night doubleheaders here for certain engagements. Fortunately the Bataa' drive to second place shored up fan interest and kept this precarious gamble from crashing about their ears. The local management deserves a bouquet for bearing up under the pressure tension and tickling ulcers to bring local fans senior baseball this summer. It had been hoped that the other clubs would appreciate Belleville's and Peterborough's position and take their turn out of their backs for the playoffs. But not so. It is a safe wager however, that senior ball around here in future will not go to bat for its opponents with two strikes against it as it did this year. And rightly so.

The kind hearts and gentle people who call for blood at the weekly wrestling shows in Memorial Arena will be in their glory Friday night. There will be twice as much of everything as there usually is. Not only is tag team wrestling featuring the main bout but two referees are booked to perform at direct traffic. Popular Ray Villmer and Paul Baillargeon will strive to keep from being dismembered by Mighty Ursus and George (Zebra) Bollas. Ursus, the man with the 42 inch chest, will weigh in at 300 pounds. The Zebra will scale only 290.

Last week's donnybrook gave notice that one referee is hopelessly overmatched and this Friday pee one of the referees is being replaced by another man in white. The ring's "extra man" have been instructed to rule with an iron hand? Anyway they are to keep order at all costs.

Dias and Dais—Jimmie Tebworth, who watches his softball in Kingston these days although his heart is still with teams from Berwick, will toe at the Fair, Tuesday, that Kingston's Junior A softball team defeated Ottawa 10-9 in a donnybrook last week-end in the first game of a two-game series. Dais says they look good considering it is their first year in organized softball. The winners of the Kingston-Ottawa series will meet the winners of an Oshawa-Belleville series for the eastern championship title . . . Collapse of the Northern Ontario Senior Hockey League over financial troubles in Pembroke, North Bay and Sault Michigan might give pause to local senior B interests dreamed up by guiding Senior A . . . Sudbury Wolves went to the Allan Cup finals last winter and made a mint of money with attendance and Toe have no league to play in. Coast over there, via an average home attendance of 5,200. The Soo Greyhounds made money in their 6,000 seat Memorial Gardens. The other clubs couldn't compete in that league financially. Now Sudbury said, hit $90,000 per . . .

The local senior league produced the last two Ontario Senior B championships so some nifty hockey. Don't to be too surprised if some of northern Ontario's talent turns up on local rinks this winter. Certain North Bay first stringers were looking for jobs down this way more than two months ago.

Conservation officer Bob Davison, of Flinton, vouches for this one. A holidaying fisherman up his way, and a partner, were tempting trout recently when the partner reeled in a whopper. The husband in his friend who didn't know he had lost it. The wallet contained said friend's holiday money, driver's licence, and personal papers . . . Rangers and wildlife officers also report an increase in deer herds with more than a normal number of fawns observed. An increase in the black duck population of the Bay of Quinte was also noted.

Herb Henn's Northern Electric lads are far from dead. Point Anne found this out last night when the "Chicken" rallied to tie the game in the sixth inning, they prolonged the series with a 7-7 tie in one extra frame.

As a matter of fact, they actually led the battle in the top of the ninth by a 7-6 score but Jack Elliott's gang came back to send it into another inning before darkness called a halt to the affair.

Despite the fact that eight errors were committed last night, both clubs came up with some terrific fielding plays with Doug Hull pulling off a great pick-up and throw as well as spearing a low backhand shot with two on base in the ninth. Jo Wade's fine glove saved only one run to score on a clean outfield single with the sacks filled to capacity in the seventh while he made a good running catch in the ninth. Doug Soules and Johnn Batchelor covered a lot of ground in the Northerner's defense while a fine pick-off throw by Young accounted for one Point Anne out.

These two teams go back at it tomorrow Friday evening, this time at the C.N.R. Field with action getting under way at 6.15. It's been a great series so far and there is no reason why it should change now, so how's about dropping in for a look-see tomorrow eve.

INJURY NOT SERIOUS

BOSTON (AP)—Jimmy Piersall, dancing Red Sox defensive star outfielder, apparently suffered nothing worse than a strain in his strong, scrounged left arm in a play pictures taken Wednesday disclosed no injury. Piersall apparently suffered the injury Monday night when he engaged in an accuracy begging contest with the New York Giants' Willie Mays before an exhibition game.

LEAFS TRANSFER HURLER

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs announced Wednesday night that pitcher Bill Powell has been transferred to the Havana Sugar Kings while they are acquiring left-hander Bob Wiesler from Kansas City. Wiesler, who compiled an 8 and 7 record with Kansas last year, was with the New York Yankees for a short spell this year.

Indians and Yankees Might Play Games Left With Each Other and Get Race Over

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe the American League should let Cleveland and New York go ahead and play the five games they have left with each other and get the pennant race over.

The way the Indians and Yankees are playing currently they might as well win all of their other games anyway. And a nice quick clash between the two would allow the American League champion to get a good rest before the world series.

As it is now, they have to use up their strength playing crucial series with teams mathematically eliminated from all possible chances at the title. A slipup anywhere along the line could spell the difference.

Just consider the futility of the chase. In their last 68 games—more than half of their total played to date—the second-place Yankees have gained exactly half a length on the Indians.

TELLING FIGURES

Here are the figures: The Yankees have won 9 in a row, 15 of their last 16 in the city of their second 52 of their last 68. But Cleveland has won eight straight, 12 out of 13, 17 out of 21 and 31 out of 68.

Even-body with any pennant hopes left in either league won Wednesday. Cleveland beat Detroit 4-3, New York took two from Philadelphia 6-1 and Chicago whipped Baltimore 4-3 in the A.L. and in the National League. The New York Giants thumped Philadelphia 6-2, Brooklyn slashed Pittsburgh 6-3 and Milwaukee defeated St. Louis 3-1 in the National.

In the only action not involving a contender, Boston edged Washington 9-8 in 11 innings on Karl Olson's single with two out. Ted Williams went hitless in six times at bat.

Cincinnati and the Cubs were rained out at Chicago.

Cleveland managed only five hits off southpaw Billy Hoeft but two were home runs—by Bobby Avila with the bases empty in the first and by Al Smith with two aboard for the other three. Early Wynn finally won his 16th game in his fourth try.

YANKS WHACK AW

The Yankees mopped up on the lowly Athletics for the 13th time in 15 meetings. Whitey Ford turned in his seventh straight victory and his 13th of the season. He struck out nine and gave up six hits.

Chicago pitching continued to battle the last-place Orioles but have scored only twice in their last 27 innings. Sandy Consuegra, tabbed in the Cubs for a pitch hitter, registered his 15th success with fine relief from Dick Littlefield and Harry Dorish. Don Larsen was charged with his 16th loss, tops in both leagues.

Another lunch paid off for manager Leo Durocher of the Giants. He replaced the slumping Monte Irvin with Dusty Rhodes and the substitute outfielder belted two home runs that accounted for five runs. The night before, Durocher inserted Rhodes' roommate, Bobby Hofman, and Hofman homered twice.

The Pirates' five-game winning streak came to an end as relief ace Jim Hughes of the Dodgers retired the side in the ninth after two runs had scored on two men were on base.

Lefty Warren Spahn checked the Cardinals in five hits including Stan Musial's 32nd home run.

Toupin replaces Gerry Brown at Aces. Imlach, who accepted a coaching job with Galt Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League.

Gil Turner Starts On Way Back, Defeats Andrews

CHICAGO (AP)—In a battle of savage fourties that left both fighters battered and groggy before it was over, Gil Turner Wednesday night gained a unanimous 10-round decision over Al Andrews and started back on his way to welterweight contention.

The 25-year-old Turner found a tiger in Andrews. Seldom has a fighter absorbed such a beating in Chicago Stadium as the Superior, Wis., youth and then finished so strongly.

By the last round, Andrews, also 25, blasted Turner with long rights that left the latter with his knees rocking, but the gritty Philadelphia Negro by that time had an overwhelming margin in points.

Andrews was outweighed by one pound, 135 to 134.

Sam Snead won the Canadian open golf championship at Toronto 20 years ago today when Harold (Jug) McSpaden missed a two-foot putt on the final green of their 18-hole playoff. Slammin' Sammy posted a 287 to the defending champion's 72. The playoff was forced when both finished the regulation 72 holes in 281.

Gaelins Gain Playoff Berth in IC

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Thomas Elgins have accomplished two big things.

They finished fourth and last playoff position in the Senior Intermediate Baseball League Wednesday night, and also won their first game of the season in Galt. They had dropped five there previously.

After losing the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader 9-0 to the league-leading Terriers the Elgins bounced back with a 10-7 decision in the nine-inning nightcap.

The victory, coupled with a 6-5 loss by Kitchener Panthers to Brantford Red Sox in Brantford, also gave the Elgins fourth place in the standings—half a game in front of the Panthers.

London Majors walloped the last-place Guelph-Waterloo Royals 13-5 in Guelph in the other Intercounty game of the night.

Mel Duncan, Galt's ace right-hander, spun a four-hitter in the first game to lead the 5-0 Terrier whitewash over the Elgins. He struck out seven and gave up only two walks. Jesse Lee hit his 12th victory of the season.

Duncan's pitching was backed up by the strong bat of Jack Colvin who knocked in four runs. Ed Steele belted a pair of doubles and plated another two Galt runs.

Catcher Don Butler knocked out three singles in the second game and cashed the same number of hits for two runs in the victory. John St. Louis clouted a bases-empty homer for Thomas.

Playing manager Tommy White, who relieved St. Thomas starter Johnny Anderson in the fifth innings, was the winner, hoisting his record to 4-1.

The six-hit pitching of Harry Fisher of the Royals stopped the Brantford Red Sox. Fisher also struck out 10 while earning his 13th win in 20 decisions.

Stan Bryard notched two hits and sent home a pair of runs to lead the Brantford batters. Earl Rosenberry, Kitchener first baseman, also had a pair of safeties.

Rightfielder Joe Bechard of the Majors, who collected three hits in five trips to the plate, led the London victory over the Royals, sending Dome Five hurler Frank Colman, who knocked in two, and catcher Dale Creighton, who poled three, each had homers for London.

The Peterborough Toronto Hoskings walloped the home-town Petes 11-5 to eliminate them from any running for a playoff berth in the Viaduct Ontario Baseball League. Bill Fullerton, although touched for 13 hits by the Petes, lasted the distance for the win.

All Is Not Well Financially With Virginians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were indications today that all is not well financially with Richmond Virginians of the International League. Further, owner Harry Seibold hinted that he may transfer his last-place club.

Seibold, in an advertisement in the Richmond Times-Dispatch, said attendance at the remaining 33 home games of the club will determine if he will operate here next year.

The Virginians broke even in Wednesday night's double-header with Syracuse Chiefs. They won the first 7-2 behind the hurling of Frankie Fanovich, but the Chiefs came back to take the second 1-0 behind Jack Sanford's pitching.

Montreal Royals defeated the first-place Toronto Maple Leafs 8-7 while Rochester Red Wings, in second place, slapped Ottawa Athletics 4-1. That cut the Leafs' lead to three games. In Friday's action, Buffalo Bisons turned back Havana Sugar Kings twice, 8-7 and 8-5.

CANADA BEHIND IN CRICKET

LONDON (CP)—Pakistan Wednesday fashioned a five-run lead over Canada's touring cricketers with six wickets still to fall in her first innings in the inaugural of a three-day "Little Test." Pakistan claimed all Canada's wickets for 67 runs shortly after lunch, then stayed off a threatened collapse her own batting to score 92 runs for four wickets at the close of play.

Five missed catches by Canada helped Pakistan recover from 33 for four wickets. M. E. Z. Ghazali, who had been missed before he scored on a near miscue by wicket-keeper A. Percival of Toronto, went on to score 46 not out, hitting Pakistan out of trouble.

Leblanc Bounces Cherry Out Of Amateur Golf Tournament

By W. R. WHEATLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canada's chances of bringing back home this country's own amateur golf championship rested today with seven valiant battlers, a representative crew whose bonds are scattered from Montreal to Vancouver.

None has ever reached the top or figured especially prominently in major national or international competition. Numerically and on the basis of experience, the United States has an edge. There are nine Americans gunning for the title.

In two torrid rounds Wednesday, a start was made on whittling the opposition down to size for today's fifth and sixth rounds.

Genial Joe Leblanc of Montreal, a favorite with the galleries, defeated Don Cherry, the 1953 champion from Wichita Falls, Texas, one up, for Canada's most wholesome victory.

Joe's act was viewed as a measured restriction. Last year the Montreal Cherry, who doubles in nightclub singing and recordings, defeated Don for the Crumby, Ont., on the 36th green in the final.

DOE OUT AGAIN

Doc Wednesday survived the morning round after eliminating Dr. Woodward of Grosse Ile, Mich., 4 and 3, but succumbed in the afternoon to compatriot Robert Meaher, Jr., of Savannah, Ga., 3 and 2.

Leblanc was a happy man. He had easily eliminated Mexico's lone representative, Fernando Mendez in the morning. In the afternoon he beaver trailed Cherry although the latter never totally vanish.

Joe was one hole to the good when they came to the 18th where a crowd of about 1,000 basked green creates a psychological hazard. Joe's approach shot struck a foot from the edge of the bank and bounced on the green. The hole was halved in par 4.

Leblanc is a member of the Whitlow Golf Club in Montreal. His last claim to golfing fame was his 1950 win in the Quebec Open. Today he beat Jack Veghte, a golfing-smart 19-year-old from Gloversville, N.Y., who was defeated by Jennings Randolph, Jr., of Bethesda, Md., at the 20th in the afternoon round.

MOE A HOPE

The golfer who joins Leblanc as one of Canada's main hopes is Moe Norman of Kitchener. Normal, winter-time pin boy in a bowling alley, Queen's golf team and other game golfers. He believes in simply knocking them off and looking for another one to beat. This style provided colorful contribution to golf press aside Jay Law of Detroit, Mich., 6 and 5 in the morning round and then bounced out, 3 and 2, steady Bob Mosteller of San Antonio, Texas.

In the afternoon Moe didn't get rolling on his victory march until after the ninth where he was all square. Mosteller, a steady golfer, had knocked off Dr. Ted Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., in the morning but he couldn't handle the Kitchener youngster on the long stretch and Moe took his win in stride.

Moe has no fear of Jack Kraft of Denver in today's round. Kraft disposed of Erich Nerlich of Toronto and Joe Currie of London in Wednesday's rounds.

Jerry Magee of Toronto, who is rated one of Canada's best golfing prospects, lived up to his reputation in polishing off Jim Harper of Edmonton in the morning, 5 and 4, and then hanging on grimly to turn back Tom Draper of Detroit one up in the afternoon.

OTHER CANUCKS

Two lesser known Canadians came serenely through both rounds. Lyle Crawford of Vancouver downed past Keith Alexander of Calgary and Mel Wilke of Normandy, Mo., in close games. Don Varey of Brantford, Ont., scored one-up victories over Dick Howard of Winnipeg and Jim Sykes of Jenkintown, Pa., conqueror Wednesday of Phil Farley of Tucson.

Two provincial champions are still in the hunt for national honors. Ron Willey of Edmonton caused some surprise when he eliminated Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., former Canadian junior champion, and more surprise when he calmly stopped Ed Merring of Meridian, Miss., 2 and 1.

The top American threat appears to be Harvie Ward, Jr., native North Carolinian now living in San Francisco. Ward is 1953 winner of the British Amateur and runner-up last year. He breezed through two rounds Wednesday, 6 and 4 over Elliott Goelet of Montreal and 7 and 6 over John Beller of Rye, N.Y.

Bill Campbell, an experienced veteran from Huntington, W. Va., had a lesser margin but no great difficulty in overcoming Glen Gray of Edmonton, 3 and 2, and Mery Mosher of Winnipeg, two up. Campbell, runner-up in this year's British Amateur, meets Don Varey today.

Charlie Kocsis of Detroit, who holds the best course competitive record of 65, moved along with 4 and 3 victories over Ben Arbuckle of Westbrook, Me., and Darcy Boucher of Hull, Que., who earlier eliminated Bruce Gale, U.S. western amateur champion from Portland, Ore.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—As long as big league baseball keeps stuffing its exhibition games on off days during the playing season there is going to be trouble. Lou Perini, owner of the Milwaukee Braves, just happens to be the latest target of wrathful protest against the somewhat silly practice.

Perini, co-owner of a construction empire, is being bitterly criticized by Milwaukee fans for having put on his troublesome schedule a trip to Toronto to play an exhibition last Monday when, on the following day, the Braves' regular schedule called for a three-game series against the St. Louis Cardinals that could have a vital bearing on the National League race.

The Braves are being flung at the club president that he spelled the Braves' flag chances in denying them a badly needed rest. It is further being stressed against that he sent them into Canada with the thought that it might not hurt the firm's chances of landing more construction projects in that booming country.

PLAYERS' CRITICAL

The players themselves were reported to have been openly critical of the junket at a time when they felt they should be trying to maintain a sensational winning streak that had carried them into the thick of a three-way battle with New York Giants and Brooklyn.

It did not especially damage the athletes' feelings to know that the proceeds of the game were going to charity. They would have vastly preferred that the Milwaukee club donate a sum to the charity in question and permit them, the players, to concentrate on trying to win a world championship for Milwaukee. There are fat series cheques for themselves.

The fact that the Braves' eighth game straight was snapped last night by the Cards does not necessarily prove that the Toronto trip was a blunder. Possibly manager Charlie Grimm's boys were overdue for a whacking. But if the Braves should by a distressing coincidence lose the flag by a single game, Perini will be a long time hearing the last of it.

TOP TENNIS PLAYERS WIN

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—The top-seeded teams of Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, America's Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert and defending women titlists Doris Hart and Shirley Fry showed championship form Wednesday in the U.S. doubles tournament. All won with ease.

Hoad and Rosewall's duel was the telling factor in their 9-7, 6-3, 6-4 victory over unseeded Gil Shea of Los Angeles and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Tennis Tourney Being Run Off Like Clockwork

By JOHN VAN DUSEN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—"Orderly confusion." That's the only way to describe the workings of the Canadian junior tennis championships being run off here at the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club.

The 50-event, 10-day tournament is guided from two rooms of the picturesque club, nestled on the shore of the Rideau river.

The room too the left facing the ft buoy courts is under control of Peter Rogers, who works on income tax returns when he isn't running tennis tournaments, and Vic Wagner, a national hockey league referee in the winter. The other room is the office of Eddie Condon, a famed doubles player in his day. The competitors are coaches who turn up from all over the United States and from the country are full of compliments.

Mr. Rogers, publicity and accounting expert to good use, can tell at a glance what matches are being played on the 12 courts of the Rideau in one day, thanks to his system.

Mr. Wagner is the official referee. He assigns referees to the final matches and makes sure play is clean and follows the rule book.

Meanwhile, Condon keeps track of the day's results and works out the schedule for the next day.

Bass Will Play With Rough Riders

OTTAWA (CP) — Halfback Bill Bass, released by Toronto Argonauts Tuesday, will play with Ottawa Rough Riders this season.

"He's a good ball player tomorrow," Rough Rider executive member J. P. McCaffrey said Wednesday night.

Bass has played long enough in Canada to qualify as a Canadian. American under the three-year rule and his acquisition by Ottawa will help the latter to meet the full quota of three such players. Riders also have two quality Canadian halfback Howie Turner and lineman John Wagoner.

Veteran Negro backfielder came to Canada in 1949 as a defensive specialist with Hamilton. Later he went to Argos, who used him on both offence and defence. It was also learned that Geoff Crain, Winnipeg Blue Hombre quarterback, is expected to play this season with Ottawa, is returning to Winnipeg. A club official said he was surprised that the understanding Winnipeg will give him his release next year.

BETTERS WORLD MARK

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuters) Norway's Audun Boysen bettered world record for 1,000 meters at Gavele Wednesday night when he was timed in two minutes 19.5 seconds. The previous official record was 2:20.8, set by Mai Whitfield of the United States last year.

Junior Tennis Championships Down to Finals

OTTAWA (CP)—This is "clean-up" day at the Canadian junior tennis championships.

Matches will be run off in rapid succession in the doubles and singles events in an attempt to get down to the final stages. Most of the remaining titles will be decided Friday.

Virginia Hesse, a 12-year-old blonde from Hamtramck, Mich., carried off the only championship decided Wednesday. She whipped 13-year-old Pam Dewis of Halifax in 12 straight games to win the juvenile girls open singles. Miss Dewis won the juvenile girls' closed singles earlier this week.

Doubles matches were started for the first time Wednesday and officials ran off 79 of them in addition to some 15 singles. Some of the doubles events reached the semi-final stage.

Semi-final opponents were decided for Marcella Crambeiss and Eleanor Dodge, the two Montrealers who are favored in the junior women's singles. They moved into semi-final matches Tuesday.

Ann Barclay of Vancouver will meet Miss Dodge. She moved up by ousting Brenda Everson of Hamtramck 6-2, 6-2. Ingerburg Webber of Kitchener, Ont., who beat out Jean MacPherson of Bridgewater, N.S., 6-4, 6-2, will come up against Miss Latrandbobe, who is out to win the title for her fourth consecutive year.

Chatham May Have Senior Team After All

CHATHAM (CP)—Members of the arena committee should know by tonight what prospects there are of bringing an Ontario Hockey Association senior A club back to Chatham.

Ernest Dick, spokesman for a group of hockey fans, told the committee that only the release of eight players from Sarnia is blocking the move to bring the senior A league back.

He said that OHA officials will decide today whether to grant the players their release from Jack Stewart, manager of last year's Maroons who moved the team to Sarnia after failing to negotiate a contract.

Mr. Dick also produced a $15,000 paid guarantee signed by 100 persons, a condition imposed by the committee before it would rent the arena.

East and West Split Wins In Windup of Canada's Pre-Season Football Series

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

East and West split the honors Wednesday night in the windup of Canada's pre-season exhibition football series.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, last year's Grey Cup champions, invaded Vancouver's Empire Stadium to hand British Columbia Lions their second straight defeat, 19-0, while Edmonton Eskimos rode to a 26-6 win over the game Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen at Kitchener.

About 10,000 Vancouver fans saw the eastern Big Four club take its second victory in three games of its tour of the Western Interprovincial Football Union circuit. Hamilton Coach Jim Trimble's Ticat Roughriders 23-5 at Regina and absorbed a 13-3 defeat at the hands of Calgary Stampeders.

The Lions, newest entry in the WIFU, failed to score a point in their pre-season tilts. In their opener against Montreal Alouettes they were blanked 20-0.

STRONG CHALLENGE

The Eskimos ran into a surprisingly strong challenge from the Dutchmen, new Ontario Rugby Football Union squad, in register-ing a two-out-of-three record in the road. They dropped the first to Toronto Argonauts 19-7 but were edged by Ottawa Rough Riders 19-18.

Smart pass defence turned the tide, the Esks knocking down an interrupting four goal-line passes. Another interception, and a 65-yard run by Elmer Spitzer, recorded their final touchdown.

The Dutchmen opened the scoring in the first quarter when Paul Amodio crossed from two yards out after a march along the ground starting on the Kitchener 34-yard line. Gino Sinibaldi converted.

The westerners came back quickly, Claude Arnold converting on Earl Lepp's single. Arnold put into a major with Ted Tully kicking the extra point.

Glen Lippman capped a long drive with an unconverted touchdown and Oscar Kruger knifed over the centre from the seven yard line after the Dutchmen had fumbled the second half kickoff. Tully converted.

An earlier fumble on the Kitchener end set up the third Esk major. Lippman and Arnold then went over from the two and Tully's kick was good.

TOUCH IMPROVED

The Lions looked much improved in their second game although they failed to crack the scoreboard, and showed the power reason equal scorelessness in the second half.

The Big Four Cats started in a rush, grabbing the ball on the Vancouver 30 after a brief flurry of kicks. Quarterback Travis Tidwell tossed one straight from the middle to Hal Waggoner who went over for a major before the game was six minutes old.

Lions rolled on the rain-soaked field in the final four minutes of the quarter for four straight first downs but Hamilton stiffened at the changeover and forced a kick.

Penalties hampered the Lions twice when Hamilton backs dropped kicks deep in their own zone and a blocking penalty later gave the easterners possession on the Vancouver 43 to set up the second touchdown.

Ed Songin took to the air for three completed passes with Lou Kusserow nabbing the third about a yard in the end zone. He skidded about three yards on his face and dropped the ball but the pass was ruled complete.

Ray Truant made both converts.

Big Four Must Abide by CRU Import Ruling

TORONTO (CP)—Harry McBrien secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union, said Wednesday night that the CRU has informed the Big Four it must abide by the CRU ruling on the number of imports each team can play in a game.

The Big Four teams decided at a meeting recently to play nine of the 10 imports each team is allowed to carry after the second game of the regular schedules. The CRU ruled that import limit at 10 at its annual meeting last March ruled that only eight could play in a game.

McBrien said the Big Four is expected to go along with the CRU ruling since it was adopted unanimously at the annual meeting at which the Big Four was represented.

The CRU secretary said it was understood at the meeting that both the Ontario and Western interprovincial Football Union would not use any more imports than what the CRU has agreed upon. He said the WIFU is "perturbed" that the Big Four has decided to play nine instead of eight.

In Ottawa, Brown said he had not received the letter from McBrien. When it arrived, the Big Four executive would have to be consulted before any decision could be reached on the limit abide by the CRU limit on imports.

Lord Carnarvon Died Shortly After Egyptian Tomb Opened

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the famous story of "the curse of the Pharaohs?"

It came from the dim recesses of the tomb of Tutankhamen, a king who ruled Egypt and died at an early age about 3,000 years ago. The tomb was discovered and opened in 1922. There the archaeologists came upon a staggering profusion of gold and jewelry, furniture, chariots, household articles, and the mummy of the young sovereign encased in nearly a ton of solid gold.

They also noted a warning engraved on the wall—"cursed be he who touches me."

MORE TOMBS

Such messages were not unusual in the royal tombs. They probably were put there to frighten away grave robbers. If so, they failed, for virtually every Egyptian tomb —royal, noble or common—was rifled thousands of years before the modern Egyptologist ever began probing into the tombs.

However, less than a year after the opening of Tutankhamen's tomb, the Briton who financed the expedition, Lord Carnarvon, died suddenly. The cause of death—cut short his consultation—was recorded as pneumonia and the effects of a mosquito bite.

This started the story of "the curse of the Pharaohs."

It merely startled the professional Egyptologist. He reminds you that the other members of the expedition expelling young air to a ripe old age and died quietly in bed. And also that thousands of people have been "exposed" to the dire warnings, engraved on the walls of the tombs.

Yet a strange and tragic misfortune has overtaken one of the scientists connected with the discovery of the "solar boat," found a few months ago beside the grand pyramid of Cheops.

GIRL DIED

His two daughters died suddenly, within a few months of each other, while the work was in progress.

Zaky Nour is keeper of antiquities for the region where the boat has been found. He was one of the directors of the excavation of it. In Cairo a few weeks ago, he told me this story:

"Leila, the oldest girl, went to school as usual that day. She was nine years old and apparently in good health. During the afternoon, she suddenly developed a nosebleed. They couldn't stop the flow. She died before sundown."

Doctors diagnosed it as a heart attack, he said.

Three months later his younger daughter, Wafaa, collapsed and fell dead at play. She was six. Zaky Nour said the cause of her death is not known.

She passed away the day before the opening of a chamber in which the "solar boat" was placed beside the pyramid.

He said, as a scientist, of course, I can't believe this is anything but a coincidence. But there are many things we don't know."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Many card combinations give you no hint of the best way of handling them. Others fairly cry out loud that only one method will help you, especially to those familiar with certain safety plays.

Take a good long look at this tournament deal:

NORTH
♠A 9 3
♥K 7
♦K Q 7 4 2
♣9 8 3

WEST
♠Q 6 5
♥J 10 9 8 3
♦10
♣Q J 6 4

EAST
♠J 8 7 4
♥Q 4 2
♦9 6
♣10 8 5

SOUTH
♠K 10 2
♥A Q
♦A J 8 5 3
♣A K 2

South was the declarer at a contract of six diamonds. Opening lead from west was the heart deuce. Dummy had been down and tells you at once that danger lies in only the black suits.

With a possible loser in each black suit, the best hope is to save one in the spade department. Why? Its combination of cards is stronger than the cards in clubs. It has safety play features.

Those who made the contract realized this. At once they knew a plan that would work if the spade faces were split between the two hands. They pointed their future play toward it.

What were they aiming at? A throw-in of either opponent with the third round of clubs to force a favorable lead. This must be done after stripping the red suits.

Declarer took the first trick and another heart after pulling two trump rounds. This left him without any hearts and opponent without trumps. So, he cashed two top clubs and led his third club. Whichever opponent had overtaken a heart or club permits a ruff in one hand and spade discard in the other. Now the faces in spades are split, a spade return gives declarer three tricks.

West won and his small spade return left East jack to south king. Return spade finessed west out of control. If west queen was the return, dummy wins and east jack is caught in the finesse.

This simple strip and endplay may be overlooked because spades ning and ten do not look like potent threats. But you see they are. Especially if neither opponent is two faced.

Lana Turner Wants No Part Of Dior's Flat-Chested Modes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lana Turner has her own answer for Christian Dior: Her curviest film wardrobe to date.

The fashion world and most American males have been in an uproar over Dior's plan to bring back the flat-chested modes of the roaring '20s. Lana, who rose to fame as Hollywood's sweater girl, predicts he'll have no success.

"It's a girl has 'em, she's not going to hide 'em," she opined. "And if a girl hasn't got 'em, she'll use those rubber things."

Unlike some men, she isn't bitter about the controversy. In fact, she speaks admiringly of Dior.

GETS PUBLICITY

"You've got to hand it to him," she said. "He knows how to get the headlines. Last time it was the short skirts. You didn't see the women rushing out to buy those styles, but it certainly created a hubbub. It's the same with these new dresses. I'll bet the other designers in Paris are livid over the publicity he has gotten."

Far from succumbing to the Dior dictum, Lana is coming out with the most revealing outfits she has ever worn in films. She is playing Samarra, goddess of love, in "The Prodigal," based on the parable of the prodigal son. I saw two of her costumes and all I can say is: Wow!

One of the outfits had some beading on the top and a couple of scarves front and back. That's all, brother. The rest is just Lana.

The other was a flowing chiffon gown that flowed in the right places.

The costumes, I was assured by producer Charles Schnee, are authentic as all get-out, having been copied from recent excavations of the period about 950 B. C. While Lana might have been a few elaborations by designer Herschel Mc-Coy.

SOME EDITING

"He's great," said Lana. "And we didn't object to a little editing here and there, for instance, that beaded number had thick material all over. I knew it would look bad, but you couldn't tell them that until they saw it on the screen. So I waited for the tests, and I was right; I looked big as a house. All right, they can have some off."

Beads or no beads, Lana looks great. She confesses to shelving 15 pounds and 3 down to her fighting weight of 113. How did she do it?

"Oh, the usual way," she commented. "I usually start a picture 10 pounds or so overweight, knowing that I will drop it the first couple of weeks through nervousness. But this time I had a couple of months beforehand, so I went to a doctor. He had taken weight off for Van Johnson, who looks wonderful now."

Lana took appetite-curbing pills and stuck to a high protein diet of steaks, vegetables and salads. Fortunately, she has no 7th for desserts.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 20, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Jupiter and Uranus, the most advantageously situated planets today, augur for gain in sound financial matters, established businesses and in new, if sound, enterprises. Care otherwise!

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Though not entirely satisfying in all matters, this day does favor finishing incompleted tasks and making a clean slate to insure a pleasant week-end—and to have things in order for Monday.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your mercury stresses a need for patience and caution in legal matters, signing agreements, any important papers. Also in making estimates. Don't err: be beneficial for most sound interests.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Moon and Sun aspects now urge moderation in all things. Try to finish matters hanging fire rather than undertake new or unfamiliar ventures, unless urgent. A fair day.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Similar indications to Cancer. Much depends upon the demands of your schedule and how you take orders, needed suggestions, etc. Be agreeable and the day will bring joy.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Heed advice to Gemini. Don't become worried or irritated at slow-moving projects or fret if returns aren't intangible or as profitable as you had wished. Day has good offerings; keep serene.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Be liberal in thought, charitable and fair-minded, but do not sacrifice high principles for anyone or anything. Today can be delightful though not showily so.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Good vibrations from Uranus and Jupiter can further unusual ideas and projects, aid financial transactions if caution is exercised beforehand. Know what you are doing and you can gain.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—You are indeed one of the fortunate today with Jupiter favorably aspected. Nevertheless, be careful not to go to extremes and don't be reckless. Tackle day's program with faith, cheer.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Somewhat mixed influences today. So-so Scan chores and duties for the day and attend to the urgent ones first. No need to worry. Smile; be calm.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Your planet Uranus favors honorable activities and your special interests but other planets stress extra care signing contracts, making estimates, promises. A good day for you, we hope.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Neither too promising nor too difficult a period. Take things coolly in order to have better judgment. You can achieve now if you don't overdo or worry.

YOU BORN TODAY have wonderful intuition, marked ability for selling, advertising, engaging in a profession, as actor, nurse, physician. Some of the world's most famous military figures are Leonard Stirke to correct a tendency to dictate and be more amenable to orders and suggestions. You could hold an executive position in business or a profession for which you are trained; should Stirke always to do your best; be patient. Birthdate: Benjamin Harrison, 23rd U.S. pres.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN

STOCKHOLM (CP) — All available policemen have been ordered to take part in a nation-wide traffic safety campaign in an effort to check the growing number of road accidents in highly-motorized Sweden. During July 87 persons died as a result of traffic accidents.

FAITHFUL SEE "MIRACLE" IN ICE

A block of melting ice in the kitchen of the Social Security hospital in San Jose, Costa Rica, caused excitement among the people when the imagination of a kitchen worker decided that the air cavity inside the block took the form of the Virgin of Fatima, standing on a pedestal. Immediately thousands of persons rushed to the hospital to view the apparition. This artistic scene recorded on photo shows the "apparition." Many of the people mopped up water from the melting block in their handkerchiefs in the belief that it contained divine properties.—Central Press Canadian.

"Feel Decidedly Better Since Taking Syntona"

Had Stomach Disorders Four Years Says This Woman, Got Dizzy Spells; Nerves on Edge, Often Felt Tired-out, Couldn't Sleep.

MRS. JULIA McDONALD

Many thousands of men and women every day use Dr. Pierce's Herbal Compound for relief from disorders of stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and associated symptoms such as digestive troubles, rheumatic pains, backache, headache and nervous run-down condition.

An example of the good results Syntona gives is found in the recent experience of Mrs. Julia McDonald of Balmoral Avenue, London, Ontario, who said

"For the past four year I have been troubled with stomach disorders. After almost every meal I ate I would suffer with indigestion, and sometimes I had sour stomach. I became subject to sick headaches, and I felt tired-out all the time. I couldn't rest at night for worrying about my work. I was nervous and on many nights, in the mornings I felt all tired out and had no energy.

Read About Syntona

"After reading about Syntona being so many other people I decided to try it and it won't begin until I noticed my food was digesting better. As I continued taking it I found the sensation of heartburn cleared up so that I could enjoy my meals. Now I feel decidedly better, my nerves are calmed down, I sleep more soundly at night and am not tired-out as I was before.

"I am sure Syntona will help anyone suffering as I did and I will gladly recommend it."

Why not let this pure Herbal Medicine help you as it has so many others? It is effective, easy to take, and contains no harmful drugs.

Eisenhower Says German Troops Key to Defence

Makes Appeal As France Reaches Time of Decision

By WILLY M. HORRACH

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—French premier Mendes-France today reached the time of decision on whether compromise is possible in his dispute with France's five European army allies over the future of their proposed military pool.

Two long sessions of the six nations' foreign ministers Thursday and Friday conferred in the French capital on the various points of view. Mendes - France told the parley the European Defence Community plan as currently drawn stood no chance of ratification by his Parliament. West German chancellor Adenauer turned down French proposals for turning EDC into a looser military coalition.

Today's talks centred on a Belgian plan which would permit the ministers to break off their meeting without formally admitting disagreement, and without taking final action on the French proposals.

At best, the conference promised a full-scale review of Western policy. Led by Britain and the United States, all the allies except France have united in deeming west Germany's speedy military contribution essential to their defence against the threat of Communist aggression. EDC was designed as the safest way to put the west Germans back into uniform and at the same time safeguard against a revival of the German militarism which produced two world wars.

COMPROMISE SUGGESTED

His proposal would permit a five-nation end to the meeting scheduled to wind up tonight. But it would give little satisfaction to Mendes-France, who is out to get yours German rearmament and a European organization but not in the form prescribed by the European army treaty signed 27 months ago.

There was no discussion of Mendes-France's specific proposals for treaty alterations Thursday. The conversations were limited to the general task of finding a problems they raised.

The Germans, Dutch, Belgian, Italian and Luxembourg delegations appeared determined to stand pat on three basic conditions. They were:

1. The EDC treaty must not discriminate against West Germany.

Several of the French proposals appear to do so. Brain Premier Faure said, however, he would reconsider any that were proved to be discriminatory.

2. No treaty changes requiring re-ratification can be accepted.

3. The supranational structure of EDC must be preserved. Several of the French changes say they would destroy it by giving each member nation a veto right on major issues.

U.S. SPENDING IS CUT TO HALF OF 1951 OUTLAY

Congress Appropriates Mere 53 Billion Dollars

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Congress voted a mere $53,909,000,000 to run the federal government this fiscal year—the smallest total since before the outbreak of the Korean war.

At the same time the lawmakers cut only about $2,600,000,000 from the $54,554,000,000 in new cash requested by President Eisenhower in his budget for the year ending June 30.

This year's appropriations fell about $5,500,000,000 below the $59,408,000,000 voted by Congress last year although the Republicans returned to power.

And they were only about half the post-World War II war record total of $101,001,000,000 voted in 1951, the year the nation started in earnest to rebuild its military might after the Red attack on South Korea.

STRESS MILITARY DEFENCES

Congress wound up its appropriating for the session Thursday when the House and Senate, meeting in joint session, then the Senate, passed a compromise foreign aid bill totalling $5,343,275,765. That measure lays heavy stress on military defences, much less on economic aid, in providing $2,781,499,816 in new cash and re-appropriating $2,462,775,949 in carry-over funds to bolster the Free World.

Congress refused to cut about $750,000,000 less than the president asked, the House voted in favor of $1,107 and the Senate acted on to the White House without a record tally.

Although Congress voted just under $54,000,000,000, the president has estimated that spending will reach $65,570,000,000 this fiscal year. And revenues are expected to hit $61,642,000,000, the anticipated deficit would be $3,900,000,000.

India Protests Alleged Killing Of Demonstrator

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters)—India today lodged a stiff protest with Portugal over the alleged killing of a "union with India" demonstrator on the border of the Portuguese enclave of Goa last Monday.

The note accused Portuguese troops of killing an unarmed "Satyagrahi" (non-violent resister) while recapturing a Goan fort from demonstrators who seized it last Sunday. It called a number of Satyagrahis were injured by gunfire from Portuguese forces.

The Portuguese government has not yet replied. It has offered on by heavily-armed demonstrators as it moved in to recapture the crumbling old fortress the day after its seizure.

Discovery to Hasten Understanding, Cure of Cancer Say B.C. Officials

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of the British Columbia Research Council have expressed elation over a discovery they hope will hasten the understanding and cure of cancer.

The council announced Thursday a process has been developed which can cut the cost of a chemical—uridine monophosphate—important to cancer research.

The discovery was made by Dr. Jordan Rafter, 32-year-old research worker from Rainier, Idaho. Dr. Khorana emphasized he had not discovered a new chemical but had developed a method of producing it in quantity.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, director of the council and head of the University of B.C., described the discovery said "we are all very excited about it."

He said the chemical, abbreviated to UMP, will be used to study an even more closely chemical called UPP, or uridine triphosphate. It is believed that isolation and chemical breakdown of UMP and UTP may lead to artificial reproduction of an entire cell and cells producing substances.

"When we understand the synthesis of all these chemicals and their cycle of operation in, cell growth, we may well understand cancer," said Dr. Shrum. "And understanding cancer means that a cure will follow."

Dr. Khorana, who came to the B.C. Research Council two years ago, said his work will mean "a cure for cancer has been brought several years nearer."

The research worker previously won recognition as a biochemical scientist at Cambridge University and the universities of Lahore, Liverpool and Zurich.

DUKE BIDS GOODBYE TO CANADA

Last glimpse of Canada is had by the Duke of Edinburgh as he stands on the deck of the royal yacht Britannia at Goose Bay, Labrador. It was the end of an 8,600-mile tour by the Duke, who ended his six-week holiday by catching a 12-pound trout.—Central Press Canadian.

Boastful Teen-Age Killers Sickened by Sight of Victim

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn's four thrill-killing teenagers, once boastful about their deeds of violence, turned sick and shaken from the sight of one of their hapless victims.

The "fun" was over for Jack Knolow, 18-year-old leader of the brutal four-some. He wept when confronted Thursday with the battered, water-soaked body of a Negro victim and told detectives, "I feel sick."

Then Knolow who two days earlier had allegedly given police details of this slaying and other savage attacks the night before. At that time he told them:

One by one the four youths were brought onto a Brooklyn waterfront pier to identify the body of Wilbert Mentor, 34, who ran afoul of his killers in a Brooklyn park Monday night.

Police knew nothing of the slayings until after the four youths were arrested early Tuesday on an assault complaint and told of beating and torturing a man and throwing him into the East river. Police reported that now.

Koslow, lean and mustached, was the first to be shown the bruised and bloated face stretched out on the pier. He turned pale and whispered:

"Yes, that's the man. Take me away from here before I faint."

Brought to the scene next was husky Melvin Mittman, 17, in a strained and tearful voice he said:

"Yes, yes, that's the man. We threw him into the river."

Police reported that two days ago that Mittman had told them he liked to pummel the gang's victims "to see how hard I could hit."

Jerome Lieberman, 17, answered police questions grimly, but there were tears in his eyes. He bent over the body and then quickly jerked back. "Yes, that's him, that's him," he said quickly.

The last and youngest of the four, 15-year-old Robert Trachtenberg, remarked:

"That man wore brown pants. These are blue."

He glanced up at the policemen around him and quickly added, "I might be wrong, though. It was so dark."

"I think that's the guy," he then said.

Mentor's body was identified by his brother. He had worked in a Brooklyn factory and was last seen by his family Monday night.

Police said the gang fell upon him in the park, beat him and burned the soles of his feet with cigarets and then marched him to the river.

An autopsy showed he died of drowning. He had been alive when he hit the water. Mentor leaves a wife and two children.

Police thus far say they have learned of nine attacks by the gang, including the death of Mentor and another man, Rheinhold Ulrichsen, a 43-year-old steeplejack. They also admitted lashing two girls with a leather whip and beating up five men encountered in Brooklyn parks, according to the police.

Officials are checking into the background of the apparently senseless rampage that lasted for some weeks. The youths come from apparently good middle-class families.

Descendant of Early Seigneurs Prepares to Welcome Duchess

By BERTRAND THIBAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—The descendant of one of the early seigneurs of New France is getting his 124-year-old seigneurial manor house for the visit next week of the Duchess of Kent and her daughter.

Seigneur Alain Grandjean de Lotbinière, 68, and his wife who live in an old-world manor house at Pointe Platon, a little village 40 miles southwest of Quebec on the south shore of the St. Lawrence, will receive there, will be hosts Tuesday to the Duchess and her daughter, Princess Alexandra.

The royal pair arrive here Sunday to start their Canadian tour.

They will drive by car to the Lotbinière manor house at Pointe Platon, hilly area in the Normandy-inspired Quebec style of architecture.

Reached only by canoe in the days of New France, the seigneurie, or domain, was established by Rene-Louis Chartier de Lotbinière in 1672.

It will be the first time a member of the Duchy of Kent visits the seigneurie, although the names of Lotbinière and Kent have been linked before in Quebec history.

In 1791 the first Seigneur Lotbinière acquired a lot of land in upper town Quebec City and built his home where Laval University's father, the Duke of Kent, lived for several years. The house is known today as Kent House.

The Duchess of Kent and her daughter will be the first royal visitors to the manor. A daughter of Seigneur Philippe Francois Joly de Lotbinière who was premier of Quebec in 1878. His brief term in office was short-lived and overthrown when it lost a vote of confidence in the Legislature.

Before visiting the manor the duchess and her daughter will call on the cloistered sisters of the Ursuline convent. On their return to Quebec they will visit Laval University before being guests at a dinner at Bois de Coulonge, residence of Lieutenant-Governor Fauteux.

CAPTIVES FREED BY VIETMINH CHANT RED SONGS

Release of Prisoners In Indo-China Starts

(Editors: The following dispatch is the first description received of the exchange of prisoners between the French and Vietminh in Indo-China yesterday Wednesday. It was delayed two days by rigorous French and Viet Namese censorship.)

By FORREST EDWARDS

VIET TRI, Indo-China (AP)—The French command released 1,000 prisoners of war here Wednesday and in return got 350, most of them North Africans and Africans chanting communist songs, the Vietminh said. French Union troops hugged and kissed their Vietminh captors or submitted to embraces.

At a second exchange site at Sem Sam, 70 miles down the seacoast from Haiphong, the French released 2,000 Vietminh and received 200 troops in return.

Upwards of 30,000 captives are to be exchanged by both sides here in the next 10 days, a French officer estimated. Neither the Vietminh nor the French have revealed how many PoWs they have in their camps.

CONDITION GOOD

At this exchange site, 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, releases of prisoners began in generally good physical condition but one of the French freed by the Vietminh said "those to follow are in worse shape."

He said four prisoners died today in Vietminh collection camps here. Others, he added, are dying daily in Vietminh camps.

The North African and African troops were flown from the Vietminh through corridors and shielded by their own arms around them at the river dock area.

Some 75 were European French troops and Italian, German and Polish foreign legionnaires. Most were captured when Dien Bien Phu fell May 7. Several lots of numerous deaths on forced marches in prison camps in May.

KEPT IN SUN

The Vietminh were buttersmooth in turning over their captives, but they kept the men they were receiving boiling under a blazing sun while they and their officers argued over release details.

Several prisoners fell from heat exhaustion and a French doctor hastily put Vietminh medicine to work their responsibility if there were more casualties. Villagers who had been lined up as greeting committees began drifting away. Then the Vietminh authorities began accepting the PoWs.

Report Vietminh Attacked After Truce Deadline

PARIS (AP) — Agence France-Presse reported from Laos today that Communist-led Vietminh units attacked Laotian army soldiers in Indo-China on Aug. 6, hours after the truce.

The report from Vientiane, Laotian capital, said a relatively large number of Laotian soldiers was killed in the attack as well as several civilians.

Canada Devises New Tourniquet Which United States Has Adopted

OTTAWA (CP)—At the request of the army, the Defence Research Board has developed a new medical tourniquet which may help to reduce the number of deaths in warfare.

The U.S. Army has approved the tourniquet for use in its field and base hospitals. The United Kingdom is considering its adoption.

The tourniquet looks like a long leather's strap and it can be applied by the wounded person himself. Made of black rubber, it is 2 1/2 inches long, 1 1/2 inches wide and 3/32 of an inch thick.

The tourniquet is merely wound around the limb and held in place by slots which fit over collar-buttonlike projections.

Present tourniquets are made of fabric which is subject to attack by bacteria, especially in hot climates. To apply them, a person usually has to have some knowledge of pressure points. This knowledge is not necessary for application of the new tourniquet.

The tourniquet has been tested in the field by the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps and stands up in all weathers starting partly because it had to be tested under Arctic conditions.

Boat Swamps When Engine Is Being Refueled

Two Other Youths in Party Rescued by Fisherman

SUTTON (CP) — Five missing youths turned up safely today at the northern end of Georgina island, in Lake Simcoe.

The five, feared drowned after their boat swamped while they were refueling the engine, swam to the island.

Two other youths were rescued by a man who was fishing near the swamped craft.

Police said the accident occurred about ½ mile off Ducios point, six miles east of here, shortly before noon. They said the youths on a three-day boat trip from Sutton camp at Stroud, 13 miles west of here, apparently stood up to refuel the engine and swamped the craft.

The youths were identified as: Dave Seaton, 17, Jim Gregg, 12, James Costech, 13, Bill Davies, 14 and Jerry Goldar.

Officials said the youths were strong swimmers and were wearing life belts when the boat swamped.

Plan Court Action Against Harvard Men

BOSTON (AP)—Federal court action will be taken in Boston against a Harvard professor and a former Harvard research assistant cited by the United States Senate for contempt in refusing to answer questions by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep.-Wis.) at a hearing last Jan. 11.

U. S. Attorney Anthony Julian said Thursday night he has been directed to institute proceedings against Henry H. Porter, associate professor of physics at Harvard, and Leon J. Kamin, a former research assistant now at McGill University in Montreal.

Furry and Kamin were cited by the Senate for refusing to answer questions regarding alleged Communists with whom they worked during the Second World War.

Kamin refused to answer some questions on the grounds of "good conscience."

Came to End of Rope

KITCHENER (CP)—Jack White literally came to the end of his rope here Thursday.

"How long have you got?" he pondered after falling 65 feet to the ground from a painter's swing on the roof of a factory.

White was working on a five-storey building when the scaffold gave way at one end. He made a desperate grab at a rope, then started to slide down the length of his rate of fall.

He slid all the way down to the second storey, where a knot stopped his precipitous progress. But he had come to the end of his rope.

Another workman swung a second rope to him, and White completed his descent.

RECOGNIZE SMALLER STATES

COLOMBO (Reuters)—The government of Ceylon Wednesday announced its recognition of Cambodia and Laos, the smaller states of Indo-China. The communique said it would not be possible, however, for Ceylon to establish any mission at present because of division of the largest Indo-China state pending clarification of the situation there.

Dynamite Blast Damages British Crete Consulate

ATHENS, Greece (Reuters)—A dynamite explosion broke windows in a British consulate in the Greek island today as excited Greeks protested massive demonstrations and symbolic blood-letting to support their claim to British-held Cyprus.

A single stick of dynamite caused the blast in the garden of the consulate at Canea on Greece's largest Mediterranean island.

PROBE STARTED

A British police started an investigation as 6,000 other police joined tanks and troops in the Athens area to block possible further attacks on British embassies.

Reliable sources of the planned demonstrations today was a 210-mile relay "blood march" organized by the reserve officers' league. Starting tonight from a "blood-taking" ceremony at the southern city of Pyrgos, the officers will carry a phial of blood to British Ambassador Sir Charles Peake in Athens and ask him to send it on to Prime Minister Churchill.

The grim offering is meant to express the officers' readiness to spend their own blood in defence of union of Cyprus with Greece.

Boy's Nude Body Found Hanging From Tree

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) The nearly nude body of the 17-year-old son of a well-to-do Coral Gables family was found suspended from a stick strung between two trees today under circumstances that caused the father to say "somebody murdered my boy."

The youth was Kenneth Grimm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Grimm.

Kenneth was last seen about 6 p. m. Thursday. The father found the body when he came to the home after a search that began at midnight and continued for several hours.

The body was hanging from a stick strung between two trees. The feet had been bound with a rope which encircled his neck, causing him to hang head down with his body bent in a sharp arc. The rope encircled it.

He was clad only in a T-shirt and jockey undershorts. The remainder of his clothing was on the ground at the base of a tree.

Police said the cause of death appeared to be strangulation.

THE WEATHER

..TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A large high pressure area covers Ontario, and Friday will be sunny and warm in all forecast regions.

A centre of low pressure developing over Montana will move eastward and will be centred tonight and Saturday morning its approach toward Lake Superior will be heralded by cloudy skies followed by showers reaching out across southern forecast regions.

The resort areas of southern Ontario will have a sunny Saturday morning but cloudiness will increase during the day and showers are possible in south-western counties by evening.

TORONTO MAN WINS BOAT AND MOTOR

Winner of the draw for the boat, outboard motor and trailer, sponsored by the Belleville Lions Club and drawn at the Belleville fair grandstand show last night was a Torontonian, Mr. Ken Jewitt.

Net profit from the draw towards the club's service work fund was $550.

The boat, a 16 footer, is equipped with a 10 horsepower motor with steering wheel and remote controls.

President of the Belleville Fair, Harry Rollins, drew the winning ticket.

Lion president S. J. Dixon expressed appreciation for the fine support the public had given the project.

Exhibitors, Shows Move Off Grounds, Lights Go Out, Best Fair in Years Passes into History

A bigger show marilted the heavier patronage.

There were some 127 exhibitors entered in the Fair's specific competition lists this year ranging from the hybrid animal to the pantaloon. As yet no one has volunteered to total the prize lists.

This year the Fair had its biggest midway attendance Friday when the entrance gates right past the grandstand to the far end of the grounds, providing such diverse attractions as a well-drilled midget burlesque team to a monkey up a tree.

MANY NEW EXHIBITORS

Many new exhibitors swelled the livestock display lists and record entries showed in light horses, while an increased interest also showed in dog entries. An attraction among the livestock were 12 English horses entered by O'Keefe's Brewing Company.

Next year the fair may inaugurate a class for jumpers. Yesterday an hurt-jumping competition was held with two entrants taking part. Although neither of the horses was a high jumper type one balked every attempt to make him take the leap and the contest attempts of the second entrant received an enthusiastic reception.

Thursday night at the Sharp Road Board also went the whole jog with the grandstand show, opening with an obstreperous rodeo and following it with a U.S. variety show in the best circus tradition.

Last night the Board brought down the band of the Prince of Wales Own Regiment from Kingston to highlight the finale performance.

Under its band major, staff-sergeant Mac Saunders, the band, which before was a militia regiment, gave a 15-minute musical performance on the racing drill as polished as their trumpets, to enthusiastic spectators.

The show ended at second 10 p.m. signalling the end of the Fair for 1954, and the grandstand dribbled out onto the hustling midway.

QUICKLY PACKED UP

Before the ground was empty the show performers were busy packing up. Instruments and props were quickly stowed away in trailers and lorries. Artists scrambled round packing their costumes with a bit of an argument or two, while 75 feet up in the sky, someone was dismantling the huge trapeze used by the aerial artists in their nerve-scratching act.

Shortly after 11 p.m. the midway barkers for the first-time since Monday wanted to be taken seriously, when they rallied their cutlous for "positively the last show, ladies and gentlemen."

The wheels of fortune clicked to a stop and the peek-show and pin-ball machines gradually clicked.

The midway is the only branch of show business where they fold up in your town they play and are happy about it.

LIGHTS GO OFF

Down on the lots of the freak shows and portable circuses, the lights went off and the brash phonographs were stranded, as the roustabouts began to fold canvases and tarpaulins.

One slightly built young man, bespectacled and delicately dressed was watching the husky workers pulling and hauling at the flaring facades of the shows when one of them asked him.

"Hey mac, Wanna work for a couple bucks?"

"Uh—em—for how long?"

"Oh two-a'-a'half hours."

The young man said it had better go home. Thanks very much just the same."

The roustabout went back to pulling and hauling and heaving and the slight young man started home.

All round him the biggest midway in Central Ontario Belleville was coming apart from the wedges and preparing for the road. Behind it was probably the greatest annual fair the city has witnessed.

Thurlow Junior Farmers Dance Team Wins Title

The Thurlow township junior farmers square dance team won the senior division competition at the Belleville fair defeating the Sidney township team in the finals on the last night of the fair.

The Thurlow team entered the finals by defeating the Prince Edward team on Tuesday night, while on Wednesday night Sidney defeated the Thurlow township juniors. The winners received first prize money of $25 with $15 going to Sidney and $10 to third place Prince Edward County team.

The first three square dancing teams from the Ontario Junior Farm National Exhibition to compete in the zone competitions there. The Belleville radio station CJBQ will act as sponsor for the three dance teams on their trip to the C.N.E.

Obituary

MRS. PATRICK FLOOD (Winnipeg)

Mr. Fred McDonell has received word of the death of his cousin, Mrs. Patrick Flood, at Winnipeg, Manitoba. Deceased was in her 65th year, and is survived by her husband, two daughters, and nine sons. Mrs. Flood was formerly Catharine (Cassie) McDonell, who was born in Stirling. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alex McDonell. She attended Stirling George Hall School in Stirling. Her father clerked in the Milne Store before moving to the prairie provinces. For the past 11 years Mrs. Flood has resided in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

MRS. JOHN SHAW

SCOHARIE — This community was saddened over the news received on Tuesday afternoon August 3rd, of the sudden passing of Mrs. May Mulholland, wife of the late John Shaw, at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Don Jandrow Wellington, where she was visiting for a couple of days.

Mrs. Shaw had suffered a couple of severe heart attacks some years ago, but had enjoyed good health for the last two years had carried on with household duties and social activities much the same as ever. She enjoyed each day to the fullest therefore her sudden passing was a great shock to all.

Nellie May Mulholland was born in Picton, Ontario, the eldest daughter of the late James Mulholland, and his wife, Harriet A. Ostrander.

In her early twenties she married John Shaw, and they took up their homestead at Scoharie where she resided until the death of Mr. Shaw 11 years ago.

She lived in Picton for a time, but for the past few years has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Stone and Mr. Stone, Mrs. Shaw was a very lovable person, and her home was always open to relatives and friends.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Picton, and a faithful attendant. She was also a member of the W.M.S. of the church, a member of the Girls Club and a former member of the Live Women's Circle, Scoharie, and most interested and active in the organization.

She was a good seamstress so was the leader in the sewing circle, work of the Circle, and through her help and guidance a good deal was accomplished.

Left to mourn her passing are two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Stone and Mrs. William McGee, Scoharie, and one granddaughter, Mrs. Don Jandrow, one grandson, one brother, Mrs Brenda Jandrew, Wellington, a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Wellington, and a brother, Mr. Earl Mulholland of Bourlamaque, Quebec.

The funeral service was held from on Friday afternoon August 6th at 2.30 p.m. from the Mc Mullen funeral home, Picton. Many gathered to pay their last respects and a comforting service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. McClean.

There were many beautiful floral tributes to testify to the esteem held by the deceased.

Interment was in the family plot at Glenwood.

Pall bearers were: Burton Bayley, Howard Fairfield, Hunter Cunningham, David Campbell, George Ross and Albert Threlkald.

"And while she lies in peaceful sleep

Her memory we will always keep."

JOHN ELVIN CORNELL

The funeral of the late John Elvin Cornell, 47 South John Street was held from the Ellerston Funeral Home to the Belleville cemetery on Thursday afternoon, with the Rev. W. J. Robinson, rector of St. Thomas' Anglican church, officiating.

Bearers were Maurice Callaghan, Harry Smith, Lloyd Stevens, Ernest Bunnett, Frank Cousins and William Whalen.

ROBERT WELLINGTON ANDERSON

MADOC—The funeral of Robert W. Anderson was held on Wednesday morning from the family residence at Millbridge to Sacred Heart of Mary Church, Madoc, where requiem mass was said by Rev. Fr. Scanlon. A large crowd of relatives and friends were in attendance. Interment took place in Sacred Heart of Mary cemetery, Madoc.

Pall bearers were Messrs. Elwood Pidgeon, Roy Bandy, Wilbert Lavender, Wesley Thompson, Hiram Woodbeck, Warren Woodbeck.

MRS. JAMES (ELIZABETH) PIDGEON

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Mildred Pidgeon, Frankford, who died August 17, was held from the Rowe Funeral Home to Frankford cemetery on Thursday, with Rev. A. S. McConnell, Trenton, officiating.

Bearers were Don Farrar, Claude Moran, Grant Patrick, Clinton Cooney, Roy Lockwood and Jack McInally.

MRS. JOHN WILLIAM TAFT (Marmora)

MARMORA — The fourth occurred in Kingston General Hospital on Tuesday, August 17, of Minnie Rosebush, wife of the late John William Taft, at the age of 88. Following residency in Kingston and later Tweed, she

Lady Victoria J. Repeat Winner At Fair Races

Lady Victoria J., owned by Dr. A. M. Johnson and well teamed by Jimmy McIntyre was a repeat winner in the horse races conducted by the directors of the Belleville Fair. The horse, a pacer, was although eligible for a slower class, took on the district Provincial Futurity afternoon and was extended in both heats but pacing beautifully, she headed the summary.

Lucy Lester, a real good one in her few years ago, went off on top in the first heat with McIntyre content to snuggle the mare in behind the pacers. The lass made the second time round, the driver let out a kink and with Goldie Hall and Lucy Lester alongside, a real race to the wire was the outcome for the delight of the enthusiasts. The mare had a slight edge. In the second heat Lucy Lester took up the challenge early although Lucy Lester was in front at the half but McIntyre was ready he outpaced the field. In the two races that the mare won, she never missed or made a bad step.

Two trotters, that revelled in the soft going, were Hal Hanover from Kingston, divided the top money in the 2.26 class. Hanover formerly a veteran to win the first heat but made a bad break in the second heat, losing his head took her out and Nipper McKinney, trotting smoothly had enough to win the race. To veteran horsemen around the grandstand, it was thought the driver of Nipper lly should have waited on the first trip until the streets had wrested before making his drive at the top horses but the driver probably knew his mount better than the grandstand drivers.

The racing at the fair this year was better than in many years past but considerable annoyance was caused by the delay in heats due to the judging that took place before the grandstand. The directors of the fair meet are to be congratulated for getting the track in good condition for the last day of the meet and race enthusiasts are eagerly looking forward to the next meet of the harness horses. Wife Indentifies Husband in Group Picture With Duke

GIVEN HEAVY SENTENCE

TORONTO (CP)—As an old butcher knife attack on a woman Thursday brought a 16-year penitentiary sentence for Karl Valiinov, 43. In addition, Magistrate C. A. Thoburn recommended that Vallilnov be deported after he pleaded guilty to a charge of wounding with intent to maim, which was reduced from one of attempted murder. Valiilnov told police he struck Mrs. Marie Mc Sallides with ax and knife after an argument over money. He said he had intended to kill her.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils made a fair climb in fairly heavy forenoon trading today but the rest of the stock market showed little change.

The western oil index gained almost a point in the first hour.

First-hour market returns showed 635,000 shares; It left steels, refining oils and manufacturers mixed, slowly ahead, utilities and agricultures a little easier, and papers mixed.

Base metals eased slightly while golds were mixed.

Uraniums generally were ahead and most Manitouwadge and Bathurst-stocks drew little interest.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was steady with offerings sufficient for a quiet demand.

Quotations provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: Eggs, graded, in receiving cases: large 43; A medium 36-37; A small 29; B 31; C 24. Wholesale to retail: A large 44; A medium 41-42; A small 34; B 36; C 29.

Butter solids: Ontario, 1st grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 55¾-56¼.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle trading was active at firm prices this week at the Ontario stockyards. Veal calves, hogs and sheep and lambs were unchanged.

The run of 8,854 head of cattle was 400 more than last week. The bulk of the run was steers of the "second run grass type" which were generally lacking in finish and yielding qualities. The ability of the trade to absorb another huge volume of cattle on top of the increased supply of a week ago, without changing the price structures materially, was a feature of the week.

Choice steers, all weights, $21-22; a few single sales to $22.25; good steers, $20-21; mediums down to $19; good heifers $18-18.50; a few lightweight heifers up to $19; medium heavy heifers down to $16; common light boner-type steers and heifers down to $8. Cows gained 50 cents a hundredweight; about good quality selling at $12.50-13; beifery cows to $11; canner and cutters down to $7. Bulls closed on a par with last week with good heavy bologna bulls selling at $12-12.50 with a top of $13; good butcher bulls at last week's level; bulk bulls down to $80 meager offerings of fed yearlings sparked this class; the demand was brisk at strong prices; buyers were left with unfilled orders at the close; choice grades ranged from $22-23; several small lots to $23.50; mediums down to $20; good replacement cattle sold sparingly at $18-19; mediums $16-17.50; common cattle down to $14.

Calves totalled 1,561 head; good to choice vealers $21-23; mediums $14-20; common light dairy-type grass calves up to $8.

Hogs were 2,644 head; prices were firm to 25 cents a hundredweight higher to close with the bulk of grade A hogs selling at $28.25; B1's were $28.25; sows $16-17; stags $12.

A total of 1,576 sheep and lambs was received; lambs were steady at $23, delivered by rail and $22 delivered by truck for good ewes and wethers; bucks were discounted a hundredweight; heavy ewes were sorted out and discounted $2 a hundredweight common to medium lambs $15-18; good light sheep were $9-10; common down to $4.

Time for Coolness Says Air Force Chief of Staff

"OMAHA (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, air force chief of staff, once said today the United States already has sufficient reason for war—"if we were seeking war."

"But this is a time for coolness as well as firmness, and not a time for deliberation as well as for readiness," Twining told the Air Force Association in a prepared address.

The grey-haired air leader said that while the United States must be and will defend itself and its Allies from attack, it seeks to avoid rather than to provoke incidents.

"Our fingers are not bevy on the trigger—and we hope for peace," he said.

"We will not even consider the idea of preventive war. There is a military argument against it, as well as sound moral and political arguments."

He said the Soviets must be deterred "primarily by the certain knowledge that we can hurt them more than they can hurt us."

And he declared that the United States has no choice but to use some its army will use nuclear weapons, and to build a defence structure on that basis.

DISMISS CHARGE

KITCHENER (CP)—A charge of careless driving against Roy Fischer, former Waterloo township constable, was dismissed in court Thursday. Fischer had pleaded guilty to the charge following an accident July 24 when his cruiser left the road and hit a tree.

CAUTION URGED

TORONTO (CP) — The Public Utilities Commission has urged Weston lifted lawn-watering restrictions Thursday, but with one reservation. Residents were asked to turn off their hoses whenever they heard the fire alarm.

Fire Reels Called To Downtown Section of City

The fire reels were called to the downtown section of the city this morning when a fire was reported at the Tip Top Tailors building at the corner of Front and Bridge streets. On arrival at the scene firemen found some papers burning in the basement and the blaze was quickly extinguished with no damage being reported.

Thursday afternoon firemen were called to a grass blaze at the rear of Northern Electric near the fair grounds, while also on Thursday the reels were called to the Dussek Bros. plant on Station street where some oil got spilled on the floor. There was no fire but firemen merely stood by until the oil was cleared away.

Puppet Show Attended By Many Children

Among the towering fronts of the midway of the Belleville Fair was one which was custom made for the kids.

Hand-size can-can dancers, acrobats and all manner paraded across a miniature stage. But the show wasn't an exhibition of midgets, for the performers were made of wood. It was the puppet show presented by the Shell Oil Company, which opened and closed with the fair.

The only strings attached to the presentation were those on the puppets and crowds of youngsters attended each performance of the show, taking advantage of the fact that the show was free, and allowed them more to spend on candy floss and ice cream.

Kingston Court Gives Bandit Six-Year Term

KINGSTON (CP)—Walter Kleszvidch, 34, no fixed address, today was sentenced to six years in Kingston penitentiary after a holdup Monday morning at the Imperial Bank of Canada here.

He also was sentenced to six years to run concurrently for robbing a grocery store of $60 last Saturday.

Police said Kleszvidch, arrested on the street moments after the bank holdup, had a record dating back to 1938 when he was charged with car theft in Kitchener.

Constable Gordon Lay, who was on motorcycle patrol past the bank when the holdup took place Monday, told the court Kleszvidch gave himself away by pulling out his gun and pointing it at the constable. Lay said he drew his own revolver and had just ordered Kleszvidch to drop when Ron Smith a junior bank employee, rushed up, also armed. The robber looked at the two menacing weapons and surrendered.

Minor Baseball

Goldies Shellers are the city champs of the pee wee division by virtue of today's 4-2 decision over Point Anne on Tuesday evening.

Latchford buried a two-hitter for Bobby Green's mites to give the Shellers the best of five series in four games. Fidwell had piloted another two-bit game the night before but Latchford settled his mates effort by striking out no less than 14 batters while walking five. He fanned the side in each of the third and fourth innings and did it in the fourth after loading the sacks with none out.

Maracle and Gannon shared hurling duties in defeat, allowing six hits while fanning six. They walked three but hit another two.

Fidwell put the winner out front to stay with a grand-slam homer in the second inning when Moore had two hits. The others went to Rowbotham, Lewis and Latchford J. Gannon got both of the Point Anne hits.

Line score:

PLAN TO AID NEEDY

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, executive director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, has returned from her second round-the-world trip with plans to help needy people in Greece, India and South Korea. A campaign to raise $100,000 will be started Sept. 14 after her proposals are approved by the USC board of directors.

Visit to Crippled Children's Camp Reveals Great Humanitarian Work

John Citizen reports: Today I visited a crippled children's camp. I was among the five hundred interested guests that, attended the annual open house at Merrywood on Lake Rideau near Perth. What I witnessed was a sight to behold. Near young lads being taken from their wheel chairs and gently placed in the camp's new swimming pool and watched as they skooted through the water like trained seals. I learnt that simming helps these handicapped kiddies in two ways, besides being soother popular form of recreation, I was told that it is very beneficial in strengthening crippled limbs and muscles. I watched as Don Cowan, the ever busy program director made sure that every minute of the day was filled with activity for the 58 young lads who range in age from 12 to 18.

The boys work in groups with specially trained counsellors as their leaders. Besides swimming, they had boxing lessons; played a truthful form of basketball, modified because special rules were in play to assist wheel chairs and crutches to the hoop bases; I visited their over-night camp-out spot, under the shade, another handicapped spends a night in a sleeping bag under the stars.

In the arts and crafts building I watched enthralled as boys busied with leather work, making purses and wallets, and key cases, the finished produce I would be proud to own. I sat down to dinner with these young lads watched as they consumed huge quantities of food and drank gallons of milk. These kids are having a terrific time and there are more just like them for there are five camps just like Merrywood across this province where more than 1,200 crippled kiddies will enjoy a 2-week camp holiday this year.

These camps are all owned and operated by The Ontario Society for Crippled Children and are maintained by people like you who purchase Easter Seals each year. I felt proud as I sat through the after dinner play by the kids. In the recreation hall I was proud to feel that I was part of all this.

You know, when you and I purchased our Easter Seals this year, we bought these guys a holiday, we provided the medicine cabinet, we had a part of assembling this staff of high school and college students who give up their summer vacations for most rewarding and worthwhile employer for these youngsters. As I left Merrywood on their "big day" I couldn't help but feel that with the inspiration these kids are getting from their camp director Bernie Black of Ottawa, their nurses, their efficient counsellors, and the hundreds of service club members who take such an interest in them, and last of all you and me . . . .

Andrew Robb, 15, Receives Trophy For Best Cadet

A Belleville Collegiate cadet, Cadet Lieut. Andrew Robb, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Robb, was presented with the trophy for being the best cadet at the high school cadet camp at Camp Borden.

The trophy was presented to the Belleville cadet by Lieutenant-General Howard D. Graham, general officer commander of Central Command. Lieut.-General made the trophy Major General Graham complimented Andrew on being named the best cadet at the camp and also paid tribute to instructors and officers of the high school cadet corps at Belleville Collegiate.

Mr. and Mrs. Robb and daughter Barbara were at Camp Borden to see Andrew receive the trophy from Major General Graham.

Durable Drunk

It isn't often that an ordinary drunk causes much excitement other than making a bit of trouble but Thursday it did, causing him into custody. But it was a different story Thursday evening.

A local man who obviously had been imbibing a trifle too unwisely staggered across Bridge street while on his way to or from the fair. He staggered in front of a car and was knocked to the pavement.

A siren screamed and an ambulance arrived on the scene expecting to find a man with a broken leg. But as it turned out the man was not hurt and instead of the hospital the inebriate wound up in the "can" where he was charged with being drunk.

Altogether no less than five drunks were rounded up by police yesterday and last night.

Committed for Trial

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Alexander Ross, 41, former manager of the local Household Finance Corporation branch, was committed for trial by higher court Thursday on charges of stealing $39,000 from the company.

Leslie B. Reid of Toronto, general supervisor of the corporation testified that alleged discrepancies in the records were first reported to him last March.

He said that 79 accounts, with an outstanding value of $39,810.28, were missing.

Mr. Reid testified that he met Thrush in a Toronto hotel in Niagara Falls, N.Y., and that Thrush gave him the 79 missing index cards there. He said the shortages extended over a four-year period from August 1950 to March this year.

Britain Denies Her Ships Carry Banned Goods

LONDON (AP)—British officially denied Thursday Red China's claim British ships carried banned strategic goods into her ports.

British diplomatic and trade officials privately accused the Chinese Communists of attempting to stir up trouble between Britain and the United States.

Prime Minister Churchill's government issued a formal denial of the statement made Wednesday in Peiping by Red China's trade director Lu Shu-chang.

Lu told reporters accompanying the touring Labor party delegation British ships had delivered steel, metals, machinery and general industrial equipment from West Germany, Belgium and France.

The United States listed some under the Western embargo on the trade of strategic materials to Red China.

'The Old Cat' Best Deterrent Of Crime in World

HAMILTON (CP)—Sleuth Robert Fabian says "the old cat" was the best crime deterrent in the world.

The well-developed "third degree," intendent, who is investigating the Dec. 6 disappearance in Toronto of Marion McDowell, brought up his cat-o'-nine-tails in a speech to the annual meeting of the Police Association of Ontario.

"Let the punishment fit the crime," Fabian declared.

He said he wondered whether the people who support the elimination of corporal punishment would do so if their children or even themselves were victims of some brutal attack.

Ontario Attorney-General Porter, in introducing Fabian, said publicity given by the press during crime investigations is for the benefit of all.

Mr. Porter said the relationship between the press and policemen may at times become difficult, since newspapermen "want news and it is sometimes embarrassing for the police to find out during an investigation."

But the spotlight now being turned on the unsolved Marion McDowell case might aid in the solution, he said.

Fellow Officers Attend Service For Comrades

Fellow officers of the dead men, FO R. E. Neill, 24, Geraldton and Flt. Lt. Robert Ralph Biggar, 27, of Midland, attended a service in the station for the two officers at 1 p.m. before the remains were placed aboard two hearses en route to the railroad station.

The hearses were preceded through the air by the station band, passing the RCAF ensign, which was flying at half mast, and then past a guard of honor drawn up at the Memorial gates. As the hearses followed by a small motorcade, crept out through the gates, buglers of the station band sounded the last post.

An RCAF escorting officer will attend the remains to their homes.

CYCLIST STRIKES HEAD

TRENTON (Special) — A 14-year-old cyclist received slight abrasions to his head when he struck the back of a moving dump truck on Sidney Street, yesterday afternoon.

Harry Lowe, 14, Baptiste St., was treated in Trenton Memorial Hospital for minor head injuries where, police said, he later was released after receiving several stitches.

The youth was cycling along Sidney Street with two other boys when a dump truck, owned by Albert Ernest Ports, R.R.1, Trenton, and driven by George Davis, 38 Leopold Street, passed them, police said.

Lowe's machine lurched the bicycle in front of him and knocked him off balance. He toppled and struck his head on the back of the truck.

Would Prohibit Sale, Individual Use of Fireworks

SASKATOON (CP)—Retail sale and individual use of fireworks would be prohibited in Canada if the Association of Canadian Fire Chiefs had its way.

In the closing phase of their annual convention here Thursday, delegates passed a resolution calling upon provincial fire marshals and commissioners across Canada to obtain legislation to this effect.

The resolution further recommended that permits for fireworks displays be issued by the fire chief in each city, "the absolute authority to allow or prohibit such events as locale and conditions warranted.

THE POLICE AND THE PUBLIC

Rev. Thomas P. Brennan, director of Catholic charities in Hamilton, says that policemen are the worst advertising men he has ever known.

He made this observation as he addressed the 22nd annual convention of the Police Association of Ontario.

"For a long time," he said, "the only public relations existing between the police force and the public were when a man was picked up and thrown in jail."

Throwing people into jail cannot be recommended as an easy way in which to win friends and influence people.

When the fireman fights a blaze, he works in a dramatic setting. When a policeman makes an arrest it's frequently done in some dark alley or in the quiet of a private home. When, by courage and skill, a fireman quells the flames, a number of people benefit and nobody suffers financial loss or embarrassment. When a police-man apprehends a wrong-doer, he may save the community from as severe a loss as that threatened by any fire, but that fact is not so easily recognized. Moreover, while the policeman's act may benefit many, there is almost always a minority, generally including the jailed man, which views the situation in a different light. All the fireman has to do to enjoy excellent public relations is to make a good job of his work. Something more must be added before the policeman receives the applause he deserves.

Moreover, while the nature of the policeman's job makes public plaudits difficult to obtain, it also makes this approval necessary to success. The fireman can do a good job if the public's co-operation is merely passive, consisting of staying out of his way while he works. But the policeman, if he is to enjoy maximum success in his efforts to protect the public, must receive assistance from those he serves.

It is therefore gratifying to learn that Father Brennan believes that the policeman's public relations are improving. He believes that the shooting of Sergeant Ouimet has caused Toronto, and in Toronto and that they lost of natives flocked to the funeral in order to pay their respects. Louis Shoulders was implicated in prestige when Lieut. Louis Shoulders was implicated in the disappearance of ransom money in the Brinks case.

This may be true but we suggest that the policeman's prestige is basically home-grown. The cause of good relations with the public is helped more by the most spectacular dries the tears of a lost child than by the most spectacular gun fight with bandits and is harmed more by a surly traffic officer than by evidence that some few policemen are dishonest.

After all, it is essential that the policeman should never abuse those powers with which he is invested. The fact that most people regard a policeman, if not as a hero at least as a friend, suggests that maybe the officers in the blue are not such bad public relations experts after all.

PEDESTRIANS DESERVE PROTECTION

Under the caption "Stop! Look! and Hasten!" the Sudbury Star prints a cartoon showing a pedestrian being sandwiched between two automobiles.

A spectator is commenting: "He ambled when he should have scrambled."

The ambling pedestrian, who crosses the street in the middle of a block and delays traffic during his leisurely journey to the far side of the street, is an annoyance with which all motorists are familiar.

This pedestrian has no business to be where he is in the first place.

But we must take exception to the Sudbury Star's advice, "Stop! Look! and Hasten!"

If the pedestrian has the right to cross the street, he has the right to cross it without scrambling. He should not be required to race, even if he is physically able to do so, and some pedestrians are not.

Some motorists, however, seem determined to confront pedestrians with the choice of scrambling or being scrambled. Drivers who swish around the corner in a right turn while the light is green in front of them seem to forget that this green light tells pedestrians it is safe to cross. It is true that right turns open up a problem for the motorist. If he makes them with the light ahead is green, he must nose his way through a stream of pedestrians after he makes his turn. If he waits for the pedestrians ahead to turn red, both cars and pedestrians pass in front of him. Under these circumstances, he likes to make the turn while the light ahead is green. But this does not provide him with an adequate excuse for whipping around the corner with no regard whatever for the safety of pedestrians.

When traffic is heavy, it's almost as much as one's life is worth to step off the curb at the south-west intersection of Bridge and Front streets and head in an easterly direction. If the hazard is less going in other directions or at other intersections, it is only because the number of motorists making right-hand turns is lower.

LOST AMBITIONS

Time was, but it was long ago,
When I was but a lad,
It seemed that every day or so
A splendid dream I had.
A most ambitious boy was I.
So kind was one to me,
Like him I hoped that by and by
A milkman I would be.

One of "the finest" walked our street,
The finest I ever know.
Policeman he upon his beat
With badge and suit of blue.
I gave up thinking milk I'd sell.
At many a door to stop
I told my folks if all went well
Some day I'd be a cop.

I thought if I had luck
In time I'd wear a fireman's hat
And drive a ladder truck,
But ambition once again
A dreamer made of me.
I wished (and now I know in vain)
A carpenter to be.

At last the looked for years have flown
And I find ambitions, too.
A milkman's route I've never known
Or worn a suit of blue.
For when I was that eager lad,
Ambitious as could be,
I couldn't guess just what Time

Most Storms At Windsor And Kenora

(By Rube Hornstein in a CBC Broadcast)

This is the time of year when lightning is most frequently seen in Canada, and I have dug out some figures on the occurrence of thunderstorms in Canada which I would very interesting. The statistical information which was available to me was based on weather reports received from all first-order weather stations in Canada during the 10-year period from 1931-40. In some instances the charts included information obtained from climatological stations where observations are made only once or twice a day, but where lightning was recorded in the use of these limited data. Some of our volunteer observers supply careful descriptions of all weather occurrences, but the accuracy of the observer is not great enough for him to make copious notes.

In view of the limited number of stations reporting in Canada previous to 1940, the published records are confined to a study of just the five years mentioned. For that period, it's possible to arrive at a number of very interesting conclusions. For example, if you're one of those people who want to avoid thunderstorms at almost any cost, there are parts of Canada where I bet you should keep away from, especially during the summer months. Kenora, Ontario, and Windsor, Ontario ,which boasts 31 per year, with 21 thunderstorms recorded the period from May to August. In second place is Sydney, Nova Scotia, with 20, 24 of them occurring in the four warm months.

As a matter of fact, most of the heavily-populated area of Canada lies in the east of Canada's two major thunder-storm belts. On the average, there are 10 days of thunderstorms per year throughout all of the Great Lakes region and a similar total occurs in the south-eastern section of British Columbia. But in the west coast province, the community with the greatest number is Prince Rupert with 12, and there are 26 storms annually.

On the other hand, if you want to keep away from lightning you've certainly got to stay away from any storm which is range, although I must admit that most of the fatalities are due to people being into the Arctic area you'll seldom be bothered with this unpleasant phenomenon. In the more heavily-settled regions of Canada, Regina with 23 and the west coast having a slight edge. Victoria has only two thunderstorms per year, and Vancouver four and Prince Rupert may go for years at a time quite without one. On the east coast there are more thunderstorms averaging eight, Charlottetown seven and Saint John 11.

During the hot summers to the in-between picture, we find Quebec City 18 and Montreal 20. Winnipeg witnesses heavenly fireworks on 23 days and Regina on 22, Edmonton on 21 and Calgary on 20.

There are records of thunderstorms in Canada in every month of the year. However, they're not most as scarce as hen's teeth during the winter season. There isn't a single community in which a thunderstorm can be counted on to occur during either January or February, although there are many communities which occur during these months. Most of Ontario and Quebec can expect from one to three thunderstorm per year, as do a handful of other eastern communities. It isn't until, May, though, that they become quite common, and June, July, August and they build up to a maximum in July, although in some com-munities the peak is reached in June or August.

The distribution of thunderstorms throughout the country and throughout the year is about what you would expect from the nature of the phenomenon. They're rare in the far north and common in the south. Even though the land is bordered by quite cold water and that tends to prevent the cold development of the cloud structure which is necessary to breed a thunderstorm, the coastal communities, thunderstorms develop more frequently than the inland ones, as they're more likely to move in from other locations and is then violently pushed upward by the collision of the warm air mass to form the cumulonimbus clouds.

Duplessis' Straw Men

(Calgary Herald)

In all the vast expanse in Canada there is nobody who has made a better thing out of a trumped-up persecution complex than Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec.
